Mr. H. K. Barnard, Canadian representative of Hunt & Co., Yokohama, "I consider that it is of vital importance to the Canadian tea trade that the present duty of ten per cent. on teas imported from the United States into our country be left undisturbed. If this duty were abolished our neighbors across the border could, in order to ease their markets, when they were dull and depressed and with large stocks, unload large quantities of teas here at lower than our ruling prices and upset the equilibrium of our markets, which would not be a desirable situation for any house interested in the tea trade. If the States were to place a duty against teas shipped from Canada I do not think it would affect our business to any very large extent."

Alfred Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., wholesale grocers: "I have not given the matter any thought, in fact I do not know that it is of such importance as to warrant my giving an opinion. We are not interested in anything the United States may do in this matter that I can see. Certainly we would not care to see the present Canadian duty of ten per cent. reduced or taken off. Conditions are satisfactory to us as they are, why disturb them?"

The British Columbia Soap Works, Vancouver, are considering an offer to establish a branch factory in Vancouver.

WHOLESALE GROCERS BRANCH OUT.

THE new Peterborough branch warehouses of T. Kinnear & Co., wholesale grocers, of Toronto, which have been under construction on the corner of Simcoe and Bethune streets for some weeks past, have now been thoroughly fitted up and active business was commenced on Monday last. C. Richor, well known for a number of years as the district traveler for Kinnear & Co., will continue to look after the outside interests of the firm. G. H. Rennie, recently of the head office, Toronto, will be in charge of the business office. These two gentlemen, with their assistant salesmen, have been busily engaged placing the heavy stocks in the different departments and looking after the orders which are already being booked quite freely.

This addition to the wholesale warehouses of Peterborough has been made necessary by the rapidly growing trade which Messrs. Kinnear & Co. have developed in this district. Peterborough, with its railway facilities, having been found to be a very convenient distributing point for their goods, and also on account of the saving in freight, was selected as an eligible point for a branch warehouse. The location secured, alongside the G.T.R. track and within easy access to the business thoroughfare of Peterborough, must prove quite an additional convenience to retail grocers, and one which they will, doubtless, properly appreciate.

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

The Fruit By-Law Referred Back.

THE grocery, fruit and provision trades of Toronto will be interested to know that Dr. Sheard's proposed by-law to restrict the out-door exposure of fruit, meat, fish, etc., unless properly protected, which was brought before the City Council last week, has been referred to the city solicitor for re-arrangement, preparatory to an application being made to the Provincial Government for permission to enforce such a by-law in the municipality of Toronto.

Notwithstanding considerable opposition on the part of a large number of retail grocers and wholesale fruit men and produce merchants, it is likely that the by-law will go through with one or two modifications.

Fruit and Vegetable Markets.

Toronto, Feb. 16, 1905

GREEN FRUITS.

The green fruit trade has been seriously handicapped this week on account of extremely cold weather, which makes the shipment of fruit to outlying points impracticable except by express in limited quantities. Florida oranges are getting into small compass and are very slow of sale. Jamaica grape-fruit has appeared on the market, as well as California grape-fruit, the latter of which is selling at $3 per crate.

Florida tangerines are cleaned up on this market temporarily, although fresh supplies are expected during the next few days. There is a good demand for marmalade oranges, which it is expected will continue until April 1. Stocks of California navels on spot are still too large to suit the wholesale trade, and arrivals are increasing on account of this being almost the height of the navel season. Valencia oranges are scarce; it is thought that comparatively few Valencias will be seen on this market during the present season. The crop is very short on account of severe frosts in Spain; this, however, will not inconvenience the Canadian trade, as supplies of California navels are so plentiful. Mexican oranges are practically out of the market.

The demand for pines is improving. Cuban pines will be added to the list about Mar. 1. Sweet potatoes are scarce for the present, but are expected to arrive in liberal supplies shortly. Budd's long keeper cranberries are out of the market. We quote the following prices:

VEGETABLES.

The vegetable business has inclined to quietness during the week under review, largely on account of cold weather. Higher Prices for Tomatoes.

The Canadian Grocer has received the following official information bearing on the agitation now going on among the vegetable growers of Ontario for higher prices from the canners:

Canadian canners used to do quite a large export trade in canned tomatoes with Great Britain, which is now entirely cut off on account of higher prices prevailing for raw materials. There was also a good foreign trade with South Africa, the West Indies and Newfoundland, which is also going back to the United States packers. Not only this, but in losing their order for tomatoes, Canadian canners are losing orders for other lines of vegetables and fruits.

A short time ago a prominent Canadian canner made the statement through the columns of The Grocer that tomato growers in this country are receiving from 7 to 8c more per bushel at the present time than is being paid in the United States. It is claimed in certain quarters that an additional 5c per bushel which is what the growers want, would shut off all possibilities of an export trade and materially increase the price of canned tomatoes to Canadian consumers.

To Utilize Surplus Fruit.

THE Victoria, B.C. Fruit Growers' Association is showing commendable enterprise in a scheme it has formulated for utilizing the surplus fruit product of the province, hitherto thrown upon the market to the disadvantage of the fruit-growing industry. At the present time it is negotiating with a number of local concerns looking to the establishment of a factory for the manufacture of jams and jellies, cider and other commodities obtainable from orchard truck and small fruits.

During the coming season, according to the estimate of a B. C. grower, about 100 tons of strawberries will be raised in the vicinity of Victoria. About one-half of this product will be shipped to the Northwest. A considerable part of the remainder, which because of size, quality, condition or other reasons, fails to find a market, will be turned into the factory and converted into those table delicacies such as jams and jellies, for which there is always a ready sale.

Then there are the culled apples to deal with, of which from five to ten thousand boxes are exposed in the local markets every year, to the detriment of the trade. The idea was to have this class of fruit manufactured into cider and jelly, or put through the evaporating process.

U. S. Apples in Great Britain.

Of the apple crop of the United States for 1904, the largest for eight years, 6,254,788 bushels were exported, the bulk going to England. Canada also had a large crop. The total exports to Britain from both these countries during the year just closed were 3,894,309 packages, consisting of barrels and boxes containing 10,904,977 bushels of fruit. In this number were included 388,975 boxes of California apples. The bulk of these fruits were sold in Liverpool, London and Glasgow.

Fruit News.

S. Haigh, the new manager of the Westminster Packing Co., New Westminster, B. C., has assumed his new duties. Mr. Haigh has for the past eighteen years been connected with the California fruit-packing industry. The Westminster Packing Co. was recently reorganized, the directors now being W. J. Mathers, president, and C. G. Major, H. Ryall, J. A. Montgomery, and A. E. White (secretary-treasurer).

Georgia fruit growers are of the opinion that the recent severe frosts have not injured the Georgia peach crop and that with normal weather conditions from now on a bumper yield may be expected.

Manitoba Grain Growers Meet.

MANITOBA grain growers met in annual convention in the Town Hall in Brandon on Wednesday and Thursday of last week. The meeting was of interest to grain men generally, not only because of the numbers and influence of this association, but because in view of the loud complaints from grain growers through the West with the practical working of the Grain Act and the dissatisfaction expressed with the grain standards, buyers and others were interested to know what would be the recommendations of the convention.

It was made abundantly evident at the informal meeting held on Wednesday morning before the formal opening of the convention in the afternoon, that the average grain grower, although much dissatisfied with the present state of affairs is utterly unable to suggest any practical remedy.

The principal cause of complaint was the "spread" in prices between the various grades of wheat. When there is a difference of several cents per bushel between the prices of two grades the man whose wheat just misses the higher grade and of necessity falls into the lower one, thus causing him a considerable loss, is likely to oppose all fixed grades and to favor the buying and selling of wheat by sample.

In years when the quality of the wheat crop is good there is very little dissatisfaction, but in 1904 there was a great quantity of inferior grain and hence the dissatisfaction. The higher grades were at a permium because of their scarcity and the difference in the prices of the various grades was considerable.

MORNING MEETING.

An informal meeting was held on Wednesday morning, Dr. Young, of Manitoba, occupying the chair, and at this meeting the general dissatisfaction and the inability to suggest a remedy were apparent from the beginnning. Grotesque remedies such as the lowering of all standards in order to admit inferior wheat to be classified as No. 1 hard and thus obtaining a No. 1 hard price, and the arbitrary fixing by law of the "spread" between the prices of grades divided the attention of the meeting with proposals to recommend the abolition of all grades and the buying and selling of wheat by sample.

It was noticeable that the reasonable men were those who had had personal contact with the members of the Grain Standards Board and who had met men in other branches of the grain trade on the floor of the Grain Exchange in Winnipeg. Notable among these was D. W. McCuaig, of Portage la Prairie, the newly elected president of the association. His address at the morning meeting showed him to be a reasonable man.

He contended that the Grain Inspection Act had been improved by experience until it is almost as perfect as it is possible to make it. That was not to say that it was always carried out in its entirety, and it should be the object of the association to see that it was thus carried out. He thought it would be impossible to devise any Act which would satisfy all parts of the country. There were many complaints this year and yet the system was as good as human ingenuity could make it. Some members of the association favored the abolition of the grading system, but he wished to remind them that it would cost as much to buy one car of grain "on sample" as it cost to buy ten under the present system and the cost would necessarily be borne by the grain producer.

At the last convention a committee had been appointed to confer with railway men, grain buyers, members of the Grain Exchange, etc. The committee had been met in a most reasonable and conciliatory spirit by the members of the Grain Exchange and their recommendations had been adopted by the conference without a dissenting voice. The recommendations of the conference were incorporated in the new Grain Inspection Act by the Government at Ottawa.

The new Act having superseded the old, there was no Grain Standard Board in existence after it was passed. On October 12, Mr. C. N. Bell, secretary of the Grain Exchange, recommended the department to appoint certain men as members of this board. There was no time to spare at that late season and hence, as no nominations had been made before, Mr. Bell made certain recommendations. The majority of the board were farmers.

The Standards Board met, the speaker being a member. The great difficulty was the "spread" in prices of different grades. Could not the board make more grades and thus reduce this "spread"? The first thing to consider was how many grades the elevators could accommodate and it was evident that it was not practicable to insist on having many more.

It was decided to make two additional grades, one to come between Nos. 3 and 4, to be known as No. 4 extra, and one between No. 4 and feed, to be known as No. 5.

Having come to this decision the Grain Standards Board repaired to the sample room and found perhaps 150 samples of wheat mostly from Manitoba. There were scarcely any samples from the Territories, and there has been much dissatisfaction there with the action of the board. The fact of the matter is that the Standards Board met too late for Manitoba and too early for the Territories. The task of making two new grades was found to be a very difficult one and it occupied two days. He did not think it would be possible to strike another grade between No. 4 and No. 4 extra. As grain growers, the Grain Standards Board undertook to split grades in order to split prices. They had accomplished a little. Grade No. 5 was a benefit but No. 4 extra had not helped so much. It was an impossibility to control the spread of prices between grades.

AFTERNOON MEETING

On Wednesday afternoon the convention was formally opened. President William Ryan, of Ninga, presiding. The president delivered a lengthy address in which he referred to such topics as railway rates, the lumber combine, and the late opening of the Lake Superior ports. He argued for an experiment with ice breakers in these ports.

Following the president's address a resolution condemning all duties on lumber was passed by a standing vote and telegraphed to Ottawa. The convention then proceeded with the work of appointing committees and afterwards listened to reports from various branches. A notable feature of these reports was that although all speakers were requested to report car shortages only two trifling complaints were made.

THURSDAY SESSIONS.

New officers were elected for 1905 as follows: President, D. W. McCuaig, Portage la Prairie; vice-president, R. C. Henders, Culross; directors, William Ryan, of Ninga; C. Rogers of Carberry; J. Benson, of Neepawa: Dr. Fraser, of Hamiota, and J. Forke, of Pipestone. J. W. Scallion was re-elected honorary president.

David Home, grain inspector, of Winnipeg, delivered an interesting address explaining in detail how the work of grain inspection is done. His staff are experienced and their numbers are sufficient to enable them to attend to the work properly. He argued strongly that the present system is fair and the best that can be devised to meet the various requirements of the Western grain trade. He was of opinion that there is a sufficient number of grades now. It was a mistake to suppose that the grades had been raised this season; the whole trouble was that this year there had been a low grade crop.

GRADING RESOLUTIONS

A long discussion waged over the recommendations of the grading committee. The resolution submitted by the grading and inspection committee was as follows:

"Whereas, the present high standard of our Manitoba No. 1 hard wheat has won for us an enviable standing in the markets of the world, we deem it unwise to lower the standard of same, but would recommend that the Inspection Act be amended so as to provide for the testing of our wheat, so that the standards of the different grades may be established according to the relative milling value of the same. The difference in value between the different grades not to exceed 3 per cent. of the value of No. 1 hard wheat.

"We further recommend that inspectors' certificates show the weight per measured bushel of each car of grain.

"Be it resolved that this committee recommend the appointment of one or more, if necessary, qualified competent person or persons, to be clothed with the full power to act in conjunction with the present inspector in the interests of the Grain Growers' Association of Manitoba.

"That a charge to cover expenses in this direction be made on each car, and that he have full power to ask for re-inspection and a survey, if instructed by shippers to do so, and he deems it advisable.

"That we take steps to have Winnipeg made an order point, in order to enable shippers to sell on sample when considered advisable to do so."

After long discussion this resolution was adopted with the exception of the clause with reference to the three per cent. "spread." The good sense of the meeting finally prevailed, as it would be ridiculous to attempt to regulate the "spread" by legislation. The portion of the resolution in favor of making Winnipeg an order point and selling on samples provoked a long discussion and finally carried.

"I Am Good For One Car a Month."

Strong Advertising in local newspapers enables the grocer to more than double his sales. A prosperous grocer in Paris, Ontario, writes THE OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS CO., LIMITED, Montreal, as follows :—

PARIS, ONT., February 6th, 1905.

" Your advertising through the local papers is bringing your flours to the front in this section of Ontario, which I think the hardest part of Ontario in which to introduce hard wheat flour. It took me three months to sell my first car, but I think from now on I am good for a car a month." T. M. NICOL.

This is the way the sales double up when

"Royal Household" Flour

is once introduced. Once the women have given it a trial the WORK is all over. After that comes a steady demand—and no other flour can take the place of " ROYAL HOUSEHOLD."

Visitors to Cuba.

J. BRUCE PAYNE, of the Bruce Payne Co., Granby, Que., chatted freely the other day about his recent trip to Cuba. He visited the island ostensibly on business, and was one of a large party who were accompanied by Mr. Gagnier, of the Tobacco Journal. Mr. Payne said:

"My first visit to the island was in 1890, when I was only 25 years old; in fact, I was told that I was the youngest man that ever went to Cuba to buy tobacco solely upon his own judgment. I took $10,000 in cash with me and secured some fine tobaccos, and did not get stuck on a single bale.

"At that time very few manufacturers visited the island, and those that did were usually accompanied by their foreman or some leaf expert.

"The week I first struck there they had nineteen deaths from yellow fever. This was one of the principal reasons that kept foreigners from visiting the island, as well as the fact that all tobaccos had to be paid cash. Further, there was no guarantee as to quality, 'no money back at the end of three months for unsold goods,' and plenty of sharks to foist poor tobacco on the inexperienced buyer.

"To-day Havana is a very clean city, and very healthy; they now have sewers, and a first-class sanitary department. Many New York and Boston houses have branches in Havana, and own their plantations in the country; there is no danger of yellow fever, and cigar manufacturers can find many Americans ready to sell tobacco, thus dispensing with the services of an interpreter.

"I took along with me one of the directors who has charge of the 'Pharoah' department of our business, that he might get acquainted with the mode of buying, so when I drop out of the business there will be someone qualified to continue the work and maintain our high reputation for quality. As I have been to the island several times, the usual Latin race customs and tropical scenes did not attract my attention, so I attended to business.

"I took one afternoon, however, to visit the sugar cane crusher, the tobacco plantations, and pineapple plantations. While I am always in close touch with the Havana market and knew that prices this year were high, I was hardly prepared for the extremely high prices asked for Manicaragua, Remedios and Santa Clara. These grades are used for seed and Havana cigars, and are raised on dark loamy soil, while wrappers for clear Havana goods are grown on sandy soil. Owing to the high price for sugar this year many farmers found it more profitable to use their dark loamy soil for sugar cane instead of tobacco. The 1904 crop, therefore, was fully 100,000 bales short and as the high prices were not established till after the cane had been sown on the tobacco land, the prospects are that the 1905 crop will also be high priced.

"By that time the farmers will think their fortunes will be made in tobacco, everybody will plant it, there will be an abundant crop, and prices will tumble, at least I hope it will turn that way because by that time I will need more tobacco for our 'Pharaoh,' as I have only two years' supply on hand.

"The price for second Cappaduras is correspondingly high, so that some manufacturers may have to substitute Pennsylvania, Ohio or Brazil for their 5c. lines; but I think by personally visiting the Havana market, I will always be able to pick up good tobacco at a price that will enable me to maintain the quality of the 'Pebble.'

"When in Havana I purchased enough, together with my present stock, to keep over a million 'Pebble' smokers going for a couple of years.

"The city of Havana is still essentially Spanish. Nine men out of ten you speak to on the street will shrug their shoulders and say 'No comprendo'; even the policemen cannot speak English. Their cooking is still Cuban, and I hope Sir Wm. Van Horne may be able to build an American hotel there, as it is a necessity, and will be well patronized, as tourists are going to Havana more and more yearly."

N. Michaels, Montreal, in chatting about his recent Cuban trip, said the object of the visit was to induce more direct business connections between the Canadian manufacturers and the Cuban planters. That this object had now been attained, he had little doubt. Formerly it had been the practice of Canadian manufacturers to buy their raw materials from United States houses. Now they will do business direct with Cuban planters. The result will be to give a cigar of better quality for less money than is the case at the present time. Canadian manufacturers during the past month gave larger orders than ever before in their experience.

A number of Canadian manufacturers, including J. M. Fortier, and Alphonse Goulet, of Montreal, Bruce Payne, of Granby, and Mr. Miller, of Quebec, left New York on January 7, and had a four days' sail to Havana, Cuba. There they were met by a committee of the planters, who put them up at the Hotel Trocha on the Vedado. The Ward Line, on whose steamer, the Moro Castle, the trip was made, entertained the Canadians in royal style, as also did the Cuban planters.

News of the Trade.

Last week the Montreal grocers, Fraser, Viger & Co., had an exclusive window decorated with the famous Craven mixture. The tobacco boxes were artistically decorated and lent themselves to a pleasing arrangement in the window. A large firm like this giving so much attention to tobacco might be an object lesson to the small grocer that there is money in a good tobacco department.

Freights And Charters

A BUSINESS man of St. John, N.B., has written to say that it is not desirable to quote rates which would seem to be to the disadvantage of the port of West St. John. THE CANADIAN GROCER appreciates that fact, and would be the last to do anything to injure any port, more especially our leading Canadian winter port. On inquiry it was found that the 5 per cent. primage which is charged on berth quotations from St. John is also charged from Halifax, at least this was shipments have been made to Nova Scotia on the same basis. These are said to be in fulfilment of contracts made before the expiration time fixed by the I.C.R.

When the ss. Wyandotte sailed for South Africa she carried one of the finest cargoes that yet has been shipped from St. John. There were shipments for Durban, East New London, Port Elizabeth and Cape Town. What was especially noticeable was that the two large Canadian millers, namely, the Lake of the Woods and the given on the strength of the C.P.R. foreign freight department. So the charge would in no way discriminate against St. John. Then, further, it merely says that the goods are subject to primage which might be imposed on perishable goods and others.

Just now some interest is being taken in the shipment of hay and the market is being watched closely. There is still some hay being shipped to the Government factories at P.E.I., upon which it is understood the freight is free. It has been found out that this is true, and that Ogilvie Flour Mills Co., Limited, were large shippers to South African ports. W. Loggie shipped four cases of salmon, but what was most disappointing, from a Canadian trade standpoint in one way, was to see the large shipments of American canned meats, etc. Even though Canadian lines got the freight the big U.S. meat houses seem to get the trade over there. This is vital to Canadian manufacturers and certainly it is said that there is a lack of Canadian commission houses in South African ports. The Pedlar Roofing People of Oshawa seem to be doing well and had a cargo for nearly all the ports of destination. Arkell & Douglas were also big shippers.

CLOSING THE BOOKS.

AT the close of a financial year in almost any business, there are a large number of outstanding items prepaid or still due, as the case may be, to be provided for, also apportionments of different charges to the proper accounts. Bookkeepers, having this department in hand, would do well to keep a record as these items turn up during the year in order that it would not be necessary to go back over the work of the year to discover them. This record may be kept on cards arranged alphabetically, showing the date paid, the date to which the account is prepaid and any other information necessary to ascertain particulars in regard to the account charged.

The following outstandings should all be provided for, viz:—

Insurance—Prepaid or due.

Advertising—Permanent advertisements, such as sign boards, magazines, etc.

Fuel, Water and Light—Fuel on hand, water and light prepaid or due.

Rebates—Due on purchases or sales.

Rents—Prepaid or due.

Taxes—Prepaid or due.

Catalogues, Price Lists, etc.—Stock on hand.

Salaries—Apportion general salaries over different departments.

Wages—Apportion for unproductive labor over different departments.

Freight—Payable on goods in transit.

Cash Discount—Approximate allowable on sales or receivable on purchases.

Interest—Accrued on bills or notes.

Dr. Cash Journal. Cr.

	Ex. change	Drafts	Bank Deposits	Cash Receipts	Sundries	Folio	Date	Accounts	Particulars	Folio	Sundries	Cash Payments	Bank Withdrawals	Drafts	Sales	Bills Payable

This form of cash journal is a development of the old six column journal and comprises cash book, blank book and journal. In a small business it would be found very useful.

A FEW HINTS TO THE RETAILER ABOUT HIS RECORDS.

USUALLY a retail merchant has very little time to devote to his books of record, and, especially in a small business, the margin of profit would not permit of keeping a bookkeeper for this purpose. His object, therefore, should undoubtedly be to perform this department of his work as quickly as possible, still obtaining the desired results, but without re-writing the same material in any way.

The salesman taking the order should use a duplicate cash, sale or charge book, giving the customer the original copy, or, if the goods are delivered by a driver, send the original to the customer with the goods. The total amount of the sale may then be posted direct from the sale book to the customer's account in the ledger and the totals of the sale for the day, week, or month recapitulated from the same book the grand total being posted to the credit of "Sales" account or "Merchandise" account.

When rendering monthly statements to the customers, it should only be necessary to enter on statement the date and amount of purchase, as the customer has already the original bill of goods with which to check his statements.

The retail merchant does not demand from his wholesale house a statement of the goods in detail each month, and if the customer of the retail merchant preserves the original bill sent with the goods, an itemized account would be unnecessary. If, however, it was found that too many requests were being made for the complete statement of goods purchased during the month, a triplicate bill could be made by the salesman who originally took the order, and these bills would be filed alphabetically until required at the end of the month. As a good check on the delivery of goods, it might be well to have the clerk laying up the order, check each line on the left hand side of the order and the driver who delivers the goods double check the goods when packing in his wagon or on delivery.

FORCE AS A SUCCESS-FACTOR.

More people fail from lack of force than from lack of education or opportunity. A man may be well educated, or brilliant, and yet, for lack of force, be a complete failure in his vocation. A man or woman may succeed without education, but not without force; without capital, but not without energy.—Success.

A Two Cent Mistake

Don't amount to much in any business, but the striking point is that a clerk is just as liable to make a mistake of $2.00 as he is of two cents, and a few mistakes like this would pay for enough of Allison's Coupon Books to last a year or more. With these books mistakes are impossible.

A National Protects Profits

AGAINST PILFERING MICE AND CARELESS MEN

When Mr. Lensink and some of his clerks were cleaning up under the counters they came across a mouse nest in which they discovered a five and a ten dollar bill which the little fellows had abstracted from the till. Contrary to the custom of those animals the bills were still almost entire.—Orange City (Iowa) Herald.

The point of this odd little incident of the mice and the money is that $15 was taken from the merchant's till without being missed. Had a National Cash Register been in use in the store, the money would have been missed at once.

A NATIONAL IS INDISPENSABLE

In every retail store because it detects and prevents losses.

In writing please mention this paper.

National Cash Register Company

DAYTON, OHIO

Jos. Hyink Bernard J. Hyink

Jos. Hyink & Son
General Merchandise

ALTON, IOWA, Oct. 22, 1904.
N. C. R. Co., Dayton, Ohio.

GENTLEMEN: We enclose a clipping taken from the Hull correspondence of the Orange City (Iowa) Herald—one of our local papers. It is the story of a mouse and an open cash-drawer in which you probably will be interested.

It occurs to us to wonder, if the firm in this case missed the money, which of its clerks was blamed for the loss. If a National had been on guard the bills would not have been lost, of course, but even if they were lost no clerk would have been unjustly suspected. If the merchants did not miss the bills the mice borrowed, they certainly were in need of a National to protect their cash.

Such things as this can't happen to us. We use a National Cash Register. It is mouse-proof and gives absolute protection to our clerks. We would not be without it. The good it has done for us would fill many pages if we tried to write it.

You may use this letter as you wish.

Yours truly,
JOS. HYINK & SON.

PRESERVATIVES IN FOODS

Written specially for The Canadian Grocer by W. P. Kaufmann, Chemical Analyst and Consulting Chemist, and assistant to Professor Long, University of Toronto.

BY way of introduction, I may say that a thorough grasp of the underlying principles is necessary for the successful preparation of foodstuffs intended for consumption at some more or less remote period.

I do not intend to give any historical sketch of the subject, but rather to bring to your notice certain facts in as familiar and practical a way as possible. We must, first of all, get to have a definite idea of the meaning of the word Food, and I would suggest that any substance which is taken into our organism for its nourishment and for the upkeep of its general state of well-being, may be strictly considered to be a food.

There are, of course, certain accessories—condiments, and relishes, for instance, which are taken with our meals, and which, though they are of little or no intrinsic nutritive value, nevertheless serve a useful and important office in sharpening the appetite and affording to us, through our senses, a transcendent glow of contentment and pleasure so necessary for the maintenance of a good digestion and buoyant spirits.

On account of our staple articles of diet coming and going with the seasons, their storage for use at some future period becomes a matter of great importance. Not only must they be stored, but they must be kept under such circumstances as will tend to keep them palatable and wholesome for more or less protracted periods, so that they may be drawn upon as necessity or caprice demands.

WHAT CAUSES FERMENTATION.

Closely associated with this question are the phenomena dependent upon fermentation and putrefaction, and in order to avoid these contingencies, which may end in serious pecuniary loss, we must have a clear-cut idea of their causation. It is a matter of common experience to us that many articles of diet, if exposed to the ordinarily prevailing atmospheric conditions, sour, ferment, or become tainted. In fact, such profound changes may ensue that we characterize them as decomposition, rotting, or putresence. In point of fact, these changes are in but varying degrees attributable to a common generic cause: germs and bacteria. Again, we know that by taking precautions, varying from the refrigeration of articles of diet to vigorous sterilization, we may more or less indefinitely suspend the inception of these changes. To effect this sterilization we may use antiseptics known as "Preservatives," or we may subject our materials to more or less relatively high temperatures, so killing any germs which may be present; and, this effected, by surrounding them by a similarly sterilized atmosphere, they may be made to keep indefinitely.

Germs or bacteria are minute, unicellular living organisms; in fact, they are plants. They are classified in accordance with their physical characteristics —shape, size, and manner in which they occur relatively to one another:

1. Micro-coccus.
2. Macro-coccus.
3. Strepto-coccus.
4. Spirillum.
5. Diplo-coccus.
6. Staplylo-coccus.
7. Yeast.
8. Bacilli.

Again, these organisms are classified accordingly as they—

(1) Live in air (acrobes), or in the absence of it (anaerobes). They may become "facultative," as, for instance, if an acrobe is grown under such circumstances as do not admit of access of air, or vice versa.

(2) Parasites—organisms, for the most part, producing their effects in living tissue, thereby causing its destruction. Such, for instance, as the consumption bacillus, and other pathogenic or disease-producing germs.

(3) Saprophytes — those organisms which, for the most part, live upon the products of living tissue, which, in themselves, are not endowed with life, or upon dead tissues through their "juices," such, for instance, as the organisms which produce fermentation and putrefaction.

Our attention will be chiefly directed to the effects of this class or organisms. Before leaving this classification, however (which I may again say is by no means a complete one, but merely provisional for our purpose), let me remind you, that just as an anaerobe may live as an acrobe and vice versa, so may a parasite, under certain conditions, live a saprophytic life or vice versa. The class of ferment germs, which we have just discussed, is known as the organized ferments, and for obvious reasons, viz., their shape, size, color, etc.

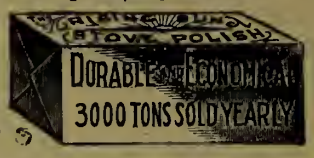
Following upon this, you may ask yourselves, Are there such things as "unorganized" ferments, and if so, what is their nature?

Rennet, for instance, is such a substance, and is used for curdling milk. It is a "chemical" ferment, and is not endowed with life, though it is the product of living tissue and of animal origin. Belonging to this category are ptylin, found in the saliva; pepsin, found in the gastric juice, and trypsin, amylopsin, and steopsin of pancreatic origin. These unorganized or chemical ferments all produce their characteristic effects under propitious circumstances.

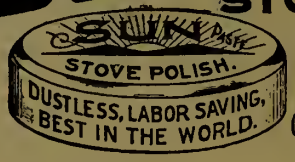
It may be a matter of interest here to mention papayin, a vegetable enzyme, or unorganized, of chemical ferment, found in the papaw tree. It is well known through the West Indies, that if a bit of tough meat be wrapped in a papaw leaf for a few hours prior to cooking, it will become tender and succulent.

In conclusion of these prefatory remarks, the theory of the nature of ferments is that all fermentative action is due to enzymes and not to germs or bacteria "per se."

During their process of life and growth these organized ferments produce their characteristic effects upon substances susceptible to their action. This theory has been substantiated in connection with the disease known to us as "lock-jaw" or tetanus. From pure cultures of the bacillus in question, a crystalline substance resembling strychnine has been isolated, and has been found to produce the identical effects of the germ in question, which are very similar to those of strychnine, which, as we all know, is also of vegetable origin.



ALCOHOLIC FERMENTATION OF SUGAR.



If a series of sugar solutions be left exposed to the air, in a day or two it may be seen to be "working," and frothing more or less vigorously. We say that it is fermenting. If our experiment is so arranged as to carry out our observations upon solutions of different strengths and subjected to different temperatures, other things being equal, we shall notice the results obtained will invariably differ in degree in accordance with governing circumstances.

The more dilute solutions, kept at a temperature of from 77 to 95 degrees F., will first of all ferment, and will do so most vigorously. Those at higher or lower temperatures will show a diminishing degree of the change according to the elevation or depression of the temperature to which they are subjected, until in each case a point will be arrived at, at which none of these phenomena are evidenced.

Similarly with the increasing strengths of the solutions, the stronger the solution the less actively will it ferment, and at a point of concentration of about 30 per cent. to 35 per cent. its disposition towards fermentation will have, generally speaking, ceased. From 2 to 4 per cent. is the optimum point of concentration, and 77 to 95 deg. F., the best temperature for fermentation. If we continue to investigate, we should find that the essential features of the chemical changes induced are:

(1) The solution is becoming turbid and aerated.

(2) The percentage of sugar originally present is gradually disappearing.

(3) Carbon dioxide is being evolved.

(4) Alcohol is being formed, and also smaller quantities of glycerin and succinic acid, and also some of the higher homologues of alcohol and ethers, in smaller proportion yet, imparting a flavor and aroma to the spirit.

These changes will not proceed indefinitely, neither will they continue to the end with unabated intensity, but will gradually slacken down and afterward cease, because—

The fermenting agent by its growth and activity in the solution is becoming weakened—

(1) Because the substance (sugar) upon which it is reacting is disappearing as such.

(2) Because substances are being concomitantly produced which are inimical to the growth action of the ferment, i. e., alcohol, etc.

When 12 per cent of alcohol is present in the solution, the fermentation is extremely slow, and when its percentage reaches fourteen, fermentative action ceases, even though there is sugar remaining yet to be broken up. This, then, is briefly the picture which we see when sugar solutions are fermented by the agency of yeast, which is always present in the atmosphere being wafted hither and thither to find a favorable soil wherein it may live, reproducing its kind, and causing its characteristic changes. Were we to contrast as above depicted, the behavior of cane sugar and glucose solutions, we should find that the latter will ferment more readily than the former; in fact, before cane sugar is fermented it must be changed into glucose. This is effected by an inversive ferment, produced by the yeast, and affords to us a striking instance of the germ in question first causing a species of digestion in a material which is not readily available to it as food, and then decomposing the resulting substances into other complex substances. These changes continue side by side; as soon as enough cane sugar is hydrolized into glucose to allow of the fermentative action of the yeast, this process is begun, while the further inversion of the cane sugar residuum is being carried on in advance.

These, then, are the main features to be observed in alcoholic fermentation. This change often occurs in fruit preserved in sugar solutions, especially those in the weaker solutions. However, in jams, or in fruit in a thick syrup, this circumstance is less prone to ensue on account of the fact that the strong, sugary syrups are markedly antiseptic, and do not easily yield to decomposition under these circumstances. From what I have said regarding the relative greater disposition of glucose to ferment as compared with cane sugar, you must not misconstrue the fact by hastily concluding that fruit preserved in glucose under similarly favorable antiseptic or asceptic conditions is any more prone to ferment than that prepared in "a pure cane sugar" syrup.

Even though cane sugar and only pure cane sugar be used, the mere act of converting it into a syrup by boiling, and that, too, in the presence of fruit acid, will cause a greater or lesser quantity of it to be hydrolized into glucose, which will afford to the yeast as favorable a start as that given in the glucose syrup.

GLUCOSE NOT AN ADULTERATIVE.

I believe that the presence of glucose in jams and preserves is considered by the Pure Food Law of Canada to be an adulteration. I see no reason why this should be so. From this standpoint, samples of fruits preserved by pure cane sugar only, which were recently submitted to me, would have been returned as adulterated had they been submitted to analysis under the food law, though during their manufacture not a thimbleful of glucose to the ton had been added; except, perhaps, that which is invariably and unavoidably present in a proportion of less than one per cent. in ordinarily well-prepared pure cane sugar.

Arguing from the standpoint of their food value, that of glucose is identical with an equal weight of cane sugar, and as far as I can see, the only objection which can be raised against the use of the former is the fact that occasionally it contains traces of arsenic derived from a poor quality of sulphuric acid which is used to convert the starch, from which glucose is made, into glucose, and this is truly a serious consideration.

HOW NATIONAL DRINK OF BRITISH GUIANA IS PREPARED

Before finally leaving the question of alcoholic fermentation, I must ask your indulgence to permit me for a while to refer to a somewhat crude, but in no way irrevelant, phase of this branch of bio-chemistry as practised by the aboriginal Indians of British Guiana. I shall tell you of the method adopted by them in the preparation of their national drink, "cassirrie," as I saw it prepared myself, during one of the trips on which I accompanied a geological survey party through our hinterland.

A large earthenware crock (a "conaree") of at least thirty gallons' capacity, sitting upon three or four stones over a slow fire, formed the centre of attraction. Around it, squatting on their haunches, was a heterogeneous collection of squaws—old squaws, young squaws, middle-aged squaws, half-dozen grown boys and girls—about a dozen or more in all, each of them with their little pile of vegetables—sweet potatoes, yams, cassava, sugar cane, and such like—chewing them and ejecting the resulting bolus with wonderful skill and precision into the conaree, which was half filled with blood-warm water. Near by the crock stood the forewoman, a very old, gaunt soul, baking cassava cakes on a hot stone disc, and every now and then throwing them as they were finished into the conaree, and, following this contribution, she grovelled elbow deep in its contents, stirring them completely. The chewing and mixing operation being complete, the crock was covered by a wicker lid and allowed to ferment for two or three days, after which the resulting brew was eagerly demolished.

A moment's reflection cannot fail to bring to your notice the eminent scientific manner in which this operation was conducted. The water in the crock was kept at blood-heat—the optimum temperature for fermentation, cakes were baked from cassava meal or farine—thus the coverings of the starch cells were ruptured, their contents were more exposed and were also partially converted by the process of cooking into dextrine. The insalivation of the vegetables by chewing and their relegation to the crock carried with each quota a supply of ptylin, a chemical, unorganized ferment which conspired to convert the starch and dextrines present through the various intermediate stages into dextrose. Meanwhile, yeast cells were gaining access from the air to the melange, and they, together with the prolific crop of bacteria from each individual's mouth, were trending towards the much-desired end—alcohol.

MILK AS A FOOD

Let us now, for awhile, pass on to a brief consideration of milk. First of all we shall tersely consider it from the standpoint of a food. The use to which milk is primarily destined is the nourishment of the infant animal, and "en passant," it may be mentioned, that the milk of each species is specially adapted for nourishment of its offspring. Upon contemplating the proximate constituents of this substance, it will be seen that all the ingredients necessary for the nourishment of the body are present, and on this account, milk affords to us the example of a perfect food. On account of its extensive use and great commercial importance in this as well as other dairying countries, cows' milk is to us the only milk.

PROBLEM OF PRESERVING MILK.

The storage of this article and its preservation in a wholesome condition for longer or shorter periods is a problem, in order that the demand may be supplied to the taste of the customer, which has to be faced daily by the dairyman. By far the most frequent and undesirable change undergone by it is that phase of fermentation popularly known as "souring," and a consequent clotting.

In the udder, milk is normally a sterile liquid. However, during the milking process, bacteria are unavoidably introduced into it, and they, finding a suitable nidus, multiply rapidly, and, if unchecked, will in a relatively short period produce undesirable changes therein, culminating, as we have said before, in "souring." During this process, by the action of the lactic acid organism, the milk is converted into lactic acid—a sour taste being imparted to the article, and meanwhile, the caseinogen is converted into casein.

VARIOUS METHODS EMPLOYED

To discuss in extenso the various changes which occur in this connection would be obviously beyond the scope of this paper, but a consideration and discussion of the means and methods adopted and their relative merits will, I think, prove interesting. Milk freshly obtained from the cow is either chilled rapidly, as in this country, or raised to the boiling point rapidly, as in the West Indies, and then allowed to cool to the prevailing atmospheric temperature—about 85 deg. F. By each of the operations the required desideratum is attained, viz.: the souring period is postponed, but, through different channels. In the former case—chilling in a stream of cold water or by ice—the temperature of the liquid is so depressed that the contained bacterial flora are placed at a great disadvantage, and not being able, on account of the climatic influence induced, to multiply, they remain dormant and go, for the most part, into a resting condition,—they form spores. In the spore condition they are more able to resist adverse surroundings and may lie latent for an almost indefinite period to develop again with surprising rapidly when a more propitious environment is given them. No degree of cold will exterminate these spores. Be the liquid frozen or even cooled down to the lowest temperatures attainable—as that of liquid air—they will develop again when a more genial climate is afforded them. It will thus be seen that the effect of this method is to retard the multiplication of the existing germs. In the latter case, raising rapidly to the boiling point, a temperature is attained at which the mature germs are for the most part killed, so that their future influence upon the milk does not again come into the count. Any spores, however, which may have been present—and they always are—are unaffected. It is only by prolonged boiling that they may be killed. To resort to this means in a single operation would result in the scorching of the milk and the imparting to it of a disagreeable flavor. In fact, the mere heating to near the boiling point without allowing ebullition to continue for any length of time, is sufficient to materially alter the flavor of the article.

FRESH AND CURED FISH

FEATURE FISH DURING LENT.

THE wide-awake grocer on the look out for practical suggestions which will enable him to infuse new life into trade during the quiet season between late winter and the opening of spring, the approaching Lenten season presents an opportunity of which he cannot afford to lose sight. For forty days beginning March 8, good Churchmen will be substituting fish for meat, and when it is remembered what a large percentage of the population of Canada falls within this class, and what a large number will be influenced to follow their example, the possibilities of the Lenten fish trade cannot but loom up big in the eyes of the grocer. No one in the trade needs to be told of the advantage of handling fresh, frozen, salt and dried fish in season, and nothing more than the suggestion ought to be necessary to induce him to make extensive preparations for capturing his share of what is bound to be a big item in trade during the next few weeks.

For the benefit of intending buyers the "Canadan Groeer" offers the following suggestions, as well as a prospective report on the fish situation, which is likely to rule until the end of Lent.

Oysters are high at the present time on account of a freeze up on the Atlantic coast, Baltimore's bringing $1.50 per gal. As soon as the weather moderates, supplies will become more plentiful, and it is not thought the trade will experience difficulty in obtaining supplies at about the present level of prices. For the country trade an excellent line to stock is Labrador herrings in 1-2 barrels, costing $2.90 per 100 lbs., and retailing at 25 cents per dozen. Frozen trout from Georgian Bay will also be in great demand, and are to be had at 7 1-2 cents, to retail at from 10 to 12 cents per lb. It is not out of place to comment here upon the wide swath frozen fish are cutting in the Canadian fish trade as a whole. During the past two years a large number of freezers have been built in proximity to the Upper Lakes for this trade exclusively, and during the present winter another extensive one has been erected on Lake Superior.

Supplies of white fish are diminishing, and will be so low within a fortnight that prices will have to be advanced appreciably. By that time it is thought the only kind of white fish available will be winter-caught, fancy stock, which will bring a fancy price. Frozen sea herring are also scarce and high in price, on account of the fishing vessels having been caught in the ice; the last car from Halifax for the season is due to arrive in Western markets this week. Frozen B.C. halibut and salmon may be had for the Lenten trade at 9c. and 10c. per lb. Steak cod and haddock are in good supply and cheap, selling to the trade at 6½c. and 4½c. respectively. Digby smoked herring are also available at from 50c. to 60c. per bundle (5 boxes in a bundle). Tullibees are in good supply, and on account of their similarity to white fish, will largely take their place owing to the scarcity of the latter.

The trade is recommended to feature shrimps, which have proved so successful in American markets. Supplies may be had at $1.15 per gal., American wine measure, in 1 and 2 gal. cans, to retail at 60c. per quart. One advantage in handling shrimps is their excellent keeping qualities. Finnan haddie is fairly plentiful, and present prices may be expected to continue for some time. Ciscoes are scarce on account of unfavorable weather conditions, and frozen smelts are higher this season than they have been for years as a result of the light catch and excessive demand from American markets.

A lively trade in Atlantic cod may be expected; dried cod, especially skinless cod in 100-lb. cases, being particularly suited to the country trade.

English Salmon Trade.

IN a review of the salmon trade in the English market for 1904, Henry W. Peabody & Company, London, Eng., say, with particular reference to Puget Sound fish: "The English market received only a small quantity of Puget Sound salmon during last year, and all the salmon that was shipped was disposed of at practically the same prices as were secured for Fraser River sockeyes. The old stocks of Puget Sound salmon were also disposed of. We have been through a very remarkable period in the Alaska salmon market. As is generally known, the two largest packers of Alaska salmon sent their shipments to England unsold, one firm by steamer from Seattle, and the other by the ordinary sailing ship route from San Francisco. For some unaccountable reason no price was named for these shipments, but these large parcels, which amounted in all close to 600,000 cases, were put into warehouses in London and Liverpool. It was hardly to be expected, in view of these heavy stocks, that the dealer would operate to any great extent, and, therefore, it was not unnatural that we should have a dragging market for Alaska, until some market was established by the naming of a price.

Whaling Industry for British Columbia

A movement is on foot to establish a whaling industry on the Pacific coast, and in this connection an application will shortly be made to the Dominion Government to allow machinery, fit and gear from Norway to be entered free of duty.

The expenditure for the establishment of the industry will amount to between $100,000 and $125,000, and skilled labor has been imported from Norway and Newfoundland to manage and carry on the work at its first inception.

Change for Nova Scotia Fisheries.

THERE is talk of a change in the fishing privileges of Nova Scotia favorable to American fishermen. At the present time they are required to take out a license in order to buy bait and other necessaries, and to ship their cargoes to market over Canadian railways. The talk is of reducing the fee or abolishing the license, and bringing more American vessels to the coast for mutual benefit.

Dealers in fishing supplies are said to be favorable to the proposal to allow American fishing vessels free privileges in Canadian ports, and transportation companies have also expressed approval. Some of the owners of fishing vessels, however, are opposed to the proposition on the ground that if American fishing vessels were able to buy bait in Canadian ports without taking out a license, many Canadian vessels would be unable to obtain a sufficient supply of bait to successfully prosecute the deep-sea fisheries. Advocates of the change say that the increased demand for bait would lead shore fishermen to give more attention to the capture of bait fish, and so assure a large and steady supply, and that, as a consequence, both the deep-sea and shore fishermen would benefit.

Close Season Regulations.

The following is a copy of the order-in-council recently issued by the Dominion Government, establishing a close season for sockeye salmon on the Fraser River, etc., during the years 1906 and 1908:

"It shall be unlawful to take or fish for sockeye salmon in any of the waters of the Fraser River, Strait of Georgia and Juan de Fuca Strait, lying east of the 125th degree of west longitude and south of the 50th degree of north latitude, with any pound-net, trap, seine, gill-net, set-net, purse-net, drag-seine or any other appliance for the catching of fish, or to sell, export, or otherwise dispose of, or to can, pack, salt or otherwise secure any sockeye salmon, whether specifically enumerated in this section or not, on the shores adjacent within the limits above mentioned, between the 10th day of July, 1906, and the 25th day of August, 1906, and between the 10th day of July, 1908, and 25th day of August, 1908."

To Discriminate Against U.S

As a result of the rejection of the Bond-Hay treaty, Newfoundland will probably enforce the bait act against American vessels as against those of France. Hitherto the United States fishermen have had the privilege of purchasing, but not of catching, bait in Newfoundland, the usual price being $1.25 per barrel. French fishermen at one time had this privilege also, and its being cut off almost completely ruined the French fisheries on the Newfoundland banks.

Fish Notes.

The smelt fishing closed on Feb. 15.

A salmon curing station is about to be started on Lechart channel, Vancouver Island, B.C.

The Capital City Canning and Packing Co. have leased property fronting on Esquimalt Harbor and will erect thereon their canning buildings for the coming season.

Independent salmon canners on Puget Sound are preparing for a fight against the project for closed seasons in 1906 and 1908.

The balance of the property of the Pacific Packing and Navigation Company was sold last week for $205,000 to an American syndicate, headed by J. P. Morgan and E. C. Converse.

An advance of 100 per cent. in the price of all kinds of fish has taken place in San Francisco, owing to bad weather and depredations by the Chinese, as claimed by the wholesale trade, and to a combine of wholesale dealers, as claimed by the retailers.

DAIRY PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS

and Cold Storage News.

The Meat Situation.

DURING the week under review local trade has been practically demoralized on account of the snow blockade on the railroads. Deliveries of hogs have been exceptionally light and the price quoted in the domestic market to-day is $5.50.

Export markets earlier in the week were quiet and dull, very little business being reported with Denmark. Later in the week conditions improved and at the close the market is brisk, an advance of 2 shillings on last week's prices being in the air, which were 43 to 47 shillings. Packers are anticipating more favorable conditions for export trade than have ruled for some time.

Trade in fresh meats is quiet and slight advances are recorded in veal and lamb, supplies of the latter being now principally cold storage meat.

Butter Brought Back from Britain.

AN event has occurred in Canadian butter circles during the past few days which is almost without precedent in the history of the trade, namely, a shipment of Canadian butter to Great Britain was returned to this country without discharging at an English port, on account of prices being higher here than there. The butter in question was shipped at 21c. and was brought back to sell for 25c. or upwards, at a small profit, on account of the freight for the round trip not being more than 1c. per lb.

The recent spurt in this market caused in the first place by the entry of United States buyers and in the second place by the comparative bareness of the market, will probably only be temporary, the position in the United States to-day being very much the same as exists at the present time in Canada—supply insufficient to provide for the home demand. When buyers from across the line came on this market the price of creamery was quoted at around 22½ to 23 cents. To-day the market price is almost anything the holder cares to ask, but sales are reported at 30 cents, with every probability of a further advance at an early date. The price on this market has already passed out of reach of United States buyers, as values there are now less than ours when the duty is added to the original purchase price. It is more than likely that factorymen over the line will concentrate all their energies to turning out butter to meet the increased demand, and it is therefore hardly probable that the recent state of affairs will be repeated during this season at least.

Advancement in Bacon Production.

THE following directors of the Bedford Dairymen's Association have been elected for the ensuing year: H. S. Foster, of Knowlton, president; Directors, Brome, G. H. Boright, J. C. Draper, and the President; Missisquoi, N. Roy, E. E. Spencer and Hy. Beattie, and Shefford, J. A. Hayes, Z. S. Lawrence and Gardiner Stevens.

Among other interesting features of the recent convention at Cowansville was an address by C. W. Bowman, manager of the packing branch of the Lovell & Christmas Co., Montreal, who pointed out that the raising of hogs in Ontario was one of the most profitable branches of farming. Since 1892 exports of hogs from Canada had increased from $5,000,000 to $16,000,000 in 1903, and of this amount the great bulk went to western Ontario. His firm were building a thoroughly equipped factory at Point St. Charles, where they hoped to prepare and export weekly 3,000 hogs, and they wanted the farmers of Quebec to supply them with the raw material. The Townships were a great creamery section, and for this reason possessed a decided advantage in the matter of the supply of skim milk, which was an important feature in the production of bacon hogs. In fact, butter manufacture and bacon manufacture almost went hand in hand. The farmers of the district were several days nearer the seaboard than those of Ontario, a great advantage. That the business was profitable for the farmer was shown by the fact that farmers during the last five years had realized $6.10 per 100 lbs. on the average, delivered at the packing house, as against $3.50 to $4.50 fifteen years ago. They had to adopt the right breed, Yorkshires or Tamworth, producing a hog from 180 to 200 lbs.

The advantages of cool-cured cheese were demonstrated by J. A. Ruddick, dairy commissioner, Ottawa. Mr. Ruddick showed that the saving offered was substantial enough to warrant every cheese factory in the country being equipped with an up-to-date cool-curing room. The average saving in shrinkage in the cool-curing room was about 1½ per cent., or about 1¼ lbs. per cheese. The improvement in quality was also unquestionable. Several lots that had been sent over to England realized on the average ½c. to ¼c. per lb. more than those cured in the ordinary way.

Great Britain's Egg Supply.

The following statistics are interesting as showing the enormous sum which Great Britain pays yearly for her supplies of eggs:

In 1904 19,942,594 "great hundreds" of eggs were imported at a cost of £6,730,574. The "great hundred" is a charitable measure which allows for breakages.

The imports of eggs for the last three years have been:

	Gt. Hund's	Value.
1902	18,966,795	£6,308,985
1903	19,848,894	6,617,599
1904	19,942,594	6,730,574

The chief countries from which last year's supply of eggs was imported were:

Countries	Gt. Hun.	Value.
Russia	7,032,906	£2,042,520
Denmark	3,602,326	1,461,450
Germany	3,554,232	1,191,161
Belgium	2,517,073	837,120
France	1,698,614	710,057
Canada	317,772	129,631

During last year poultry of the value of £1,089,914 was imported, of which Russia sent by far the largest share—viz., 31.56 per cent. of the total. The values of the poultry imports from the chief countries were as follows:

Russia	£343,761
Belgium	248,552
France	225,700
United States	219,787

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

PROVISIONS—There is nothing special to note in provisions markets this week. Meats of all kinds are quiet, as well as lard, and supplies are not much more than sufficient to meet the local demand on account of the recent heavy snow fall which has blocked the country roads. Spring lamb is scarce and slightly higher in price, the market now being supplied with cold storage meat. Veal is also slightly higher than it was last week. Our quotations are as follows:

Long clear bacon, per lb	$ 0 08½	$0 08¾
Smoked breakfast bacon, per lb	0 12½	0 13
Roll bacon, per lb	0 09½	0 00

CHEESE—The cheese market continues quiet but strong, and prices are the same as quoted a week ago. The same remarks apply to the export market where quotations dropped and rose again during the week under review to about the level of last week. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11
" twins	0 11½

BUTTER—There is almost a famine in the butter market this week owing to lack of supplies from the country, the roads being blocked up and farmers unable to market their produce. Prices are soaring, creamery having gone up to 30c., dairy prints to 25c., dairy in tubs to 20c., and dairy butter in large rolls from 23 to 24c. For the second time in the history of the Canadian export butter trade a shipment sent to Great Britain was brought back this week and sold on the Canadian market at a slight profit, our butter market being much higher that that "across the pond."

It is not thought that these conditions will continue any longer than the roads continue to be blocked in the country, but that supplies will he more plentiful within a fortnight.

We quote the following prices:

Dairy prints	....	0 25

POULTRY—The poultry trade has been quiet during the week under review and though prices are practically nominal a few turkeys and chickens have changed hands, the quotations in each being 1c. higher than last week. Our quotations are as follows:

Chickens, spring, dry plucked	0 12	0 13
Hens	0 07	0 08
Turkeys	0 16	0 17

PROVISIONS—The general tone of the market is strong and fair amount of business doing. Demand for pork is fair. Hams and bacon locally quiet with good export demand. Dressed hogs are stronger on account of good prices ruling in live hogs and scarcity of latter. Receipts of dressed poultry are light and tone of market is firmer. Choice turkeys fresh killed, 13½c to 14c., frozen stock, 12½c. to 13c., inferior to common 10c. to 12c., ducks choice 10½c to 11c., medium 8c. to 9c., geese 10c to 11c. chickens 11c. to 12c., for choice 8c. to 9c., medium, fowls, 7c. to 8c. lb.

EGGS—Supplies are limited and prices are firm. Enquiries from American points resulted in quite a lot of business during the week and this has tended to firm up the market still more. Spot stocks are light and decreasing rapidly and receipts to fill are light. The continued cold weather has retarded laying and should the weather continue hard further advances may be expected. Local demand is good. The quote:

CHEESE—Market is dull. February is generally looked upon as about the dullest month of the year. There is little business doing; price of 10½c. is considered outside figure.

BUTTER—The position of the butter market is one of unusual strength and has been an interesting subject on the street. Holders of any of the finest creamery are asking and getting astonishingly high prices. The advance since last week is from 4c. to 5c. per lb., and it is expected that another advance is bound to follow as stocks are practically nil and it will be well on into April before any new makes can be supplied on sufficient quantities to ease off prices.

New Butter-Making Process.

A new process of making butter has been invented according to which sweet cream is poured into shallow pans, the bottoms of which are covered with absorbent pads. The pads are composed of heavy white blotting paper supported on Turkish toweling, or some similar material, and absorb from the cream nearly all of its fat remains as a layer on the surface of the pads and after several hours' standing may be rolled off. In this condition the product contains rather too much water and milk proteids; on this account, and because of the absence of salt, it does not keep very well. If, however, the separated butter fat be worked and salted in the same way as the ordinary churned product, the result is a very fine grade of butter.

The process has the advantage of cheapness, since the pads may be used over and over again, lasting, it is said, for six months of daily use. The labor of churning is avoided, and, on account of the use of fresh cream instead of that that which has stood to ripen several days, the finished product keeps better than butter made in the ordinary way. The process has been patented in the United States, Canada, England, France and Germany.

The handsome cards in the car racks are certainly speaking strongly of the merits of Madame Huot's Coffee and "Condor" brand teas. Mr. Marceau's ads. in The Grocer are always strong and speak to the point and the buyer is never left in doubt as to what he can secure in the way of teas, coffees and grocers' sundries.

HAMILTON, Feb. 23, 1905.

Good morning, Mister Grocer.

Do I think sugar will go still higher? Really, I can't say. Haven't you made a mistake? I'm selling Aylmer Tomato Soup —not sugar.

Do you know I met a grocer the other day and he said, "Look here, young fellow, didn't you tell me a week or so ago that Aylmer Tomato Soup was as good as mother used to make? Well, I tried a can on your recommendation, and I'll be hanged if it is as good as mother used to make, but I will say this much, that next to mother's it's the best Tomato Soup I ever tasted. It's got the ripe tomatoes, beef stock, cream and butter all right, and I like the fancy wrapper label. You can send me five cases at once."

No, it's not too expensive for you to handle. That's where you are mistaken. While Aylmer Tomato Soup is as good or better than many of the imported soups, it costs less than half the money.

Where can you get a few cases? Why, all the leading Wholesale Grocers carry Aylmer Tomato Soup in stock. If your own jobber cannot supply you, drop a line to the Canadian Canners, Limited, Hamilton.

Well, goodbye for the present: I will see you again in a week or so.

INFERIOR GOODS.

THE charge which comes from London, England, to the effect that Canadian goods landed in Great Britain are found inferior to sample, should be investigated. It is not the first nor the second time that similar charges have been made. If they are true, the fact should be known beyond all question. When this is done and the cause ascertained, the remedy could be applied and the Dominion Government should see that it is applied. Cables derogatory to Canadian practices have sometimes their source in the correspondents of United States newspapers, but the particular charges which have just been made have their origin with the correspondents of the Canadian Associated Press. We cannot, therefore, take refuge in the plea that they are actuated by the spleen of American correspondents.

Some of these charges are, no doubt, groundless, but they cannot all be so. There are, no doubt, manufacturers here and there who neither value their own reputation nor that of the Dominion. It behooves the Government to provide the machinery to ferret out manufacturers of this type, and give them that publicity which, as a rule, is a cure for careless and dishonest business methods.

Canada cannot afford to have her reputation sullied by the acts of manufacturers who are either ignorant of what business means or are designedly crooked.

THE CREDIT EVIL.

IN our news columns will be found a full account of the proceedings at the organization meeting of the "Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada" held in Winnipeg last week. With movements of this character The Canadian Grocer is in hearty sympathy, and it is gratifying to be able to report a very successful convention. In the matter of trade associations Western Canada leads the Dominion, and Western merchants as a class are fully alive to the advantages which may be gained by united action.

Perhaps one of the most important topics discussed was the evils of the credit system as it is established in the country west of the Lakes, and the remedy proposed would seem to be feasible provided united action can be taken at a stated time by the bulk of the retail trade. Speaker after speaker at the convention last week rose in his place to condemn the credit system and all its works of iniquity, and all present agreed that the Western merchant was confronted with a serious situation. Speaking from their own personal experience, prominent country merchants said that they were now giving five dollars credit where formerly they gave only one, and that the proportion of annual sales carried over on the books from one year to another was greater now than ever before. Clearly it is time to call a halt.

A special reason why some action should be taken at the present time afforded by the invasion of Winnipeg and the West by Toronto's largest departmental store. The strength of the departmental store lies in its ability to buy and sell for cash; its weakness consists in its heavy expenses for management, and in its red tape system of sales, and division and sub-division of departments, which, although necessary to its successful management, are nevertheless annoying to customers. Were it not for the handicap of the credit system, with its interest charges and bad debts making necessary a larger profit, the small merchant would have nothing to fear in his competition with the new-comer.

But while the evils of the credit system are apparent and the advantages of a cash system can be seen by all, there are special reasons why Western merchants feel that it is absolutely impossible to change from the one to the other. The whole of the West is dependent upon the wheat crop and until it is marketed the farmer, upon whom all classes depend, has no money. He gets his money only once a year, and in the present stage of the country's development his account must be carried by the Western merchant.

Plainly, this system, although it may be necessary, has grave dangers. As several merchants at the Convention pointed out, a general failure of crops or their destruction in any district by hail, frost, must or drouth would bring disastrous consequences to merchants with so many accounts on their books. For purposes of self-preservation immediate action is required.

The remedy proposed by the Convention is a compromise between the cash and credit systems. Since the average Western farmer gets his money about the first of November, it is proposed that accounts be rendered at that date and concerted measures taken to make collections. It is further proposed that from the first of November until the first of May no credit be allowed. Thus during the six months when the farmer has least money he is allowed credit, and during the other six, when he should have money in pocket, he must pay cash.

We want the opinions of our readers, particularly in the West, as to whether this scheme is feasible provided a sufficient number of merchants undertake to carry it out. There is no subject in which the Western merchant is more vitally interested, and every reader has an opinion on this subject. Let us hear from you. Address Winnipeg office, 515, McIntyre Block.

TRAVELING SALESMEN.

COMPLAINTS are frequently heard from heads of firms that travelers are getting scarcer and more scarce every day. By this is not meant scarcity as regards quantity, but scarcity as associated with efficiency in salesmanship. There is no dearth of applicants for any and every position on the road, but there seems to be a lack of good men—men who are conscientious in their work, who make themselves familiar with all that should constitute thorough salesmanship, who study and know the goods they sell, who are posted, not only on what they are offering to their customers, but who are also able to combat claims put forward by their rivals on the road, and to meet on every point facts and figures put against them by their customers. That there is truth in this complaint is, unfortunately, too apparent to anyone having has experience with travelers.

An employer of help with a large traveling staff gave expression the other day to his experience, as follows:

"I find that our traveling men make little, if any, effort to keep posted regarding the details of the business. They do not familiarize themselves with our advertising matter, nor do they even fit themselves to deal effectively with the claims and assertions made by our competitors. For the most part, they are men who have been on the road for years, have become acquainted with the trade, and rely wholly on the old-time methods of talk and bluff to sell the goods. When a prospective customer mentions some claim or argument advanced by a competitor, the salesman is never prepared to meet it. He had obtained no previous knowledge of it, and is unable to produce any facts and figures disproving it. He is, therefore, compelled to 'bluff it out,' depending entirely on his glibness of tongue to counteract the effect of the competing claims."

It would seem that the conditions of our keen competition nowadays are not fully realized by the average salesman, nor is enough attention paid to details, to a thorough knowledge of the goods offered. As a general thing, travelers are recruited from the house staff, their ambition being to "get on the road," and to higher salary,—both commendable aspirations in themselves, only without a thorough training under good heads of departments, success cannot attend the beginner, unless, as is claimed, the "game of bluff" is worked. In the dry goods, clothing, boot and shoe, and hardware trades, a rather more thorough training seems to obtain, as salesmen in these lines require many years of warehouse experience and a closer personal contact with the goods than seems to be thought necessary by the grocery men. Why this is so does not seem reasonable to us.

In our opinion, the closest study should be made of every line sold by grocery travelers, and we are firmly convinced that a training in the warehouse is the proper step from the sample-room to the road; and not only this, but before the young man goes upon the road he should have a good knowledge of the leading lines at least, should be made familiar with the tea districts, the manner of their culture and preparation, the ports through which teas are handled; should have a knowledge of the class of teas consumed in the principal tea-consuming centres of the world. He should be posted in a general sense on the duties and the application of the same to his own country,—and over and above all, be thoroughly at home with the peculiarities of the various teas used; should watch the changing conditions of the trade, so as to be in a position to place the strongest arguments before his prospective customers. A knowledge of coffees will not be a handicap to him. To know coffee, places of growth, style, color and peculiarity of the bean, something of the manner of roasting and blending, is to every grocery traveler a good aid to sales. Canada is not, generally speaking, a coffee-drinking country, but it is becoming more and more so every day,—and if we digress a moment, we may say it is about time that our coffee trade was improved and our people educated to its proper preparation and use, for a really good cup of coffee in this country is a rarity, and such a thing as uniform quality,—that is almost a chimera. What confidence a salesman could create in his customer's mind and opinion if he could speak "by the book" on coffee.

And so on down the line of staples in groceries. "A little knowledge is a dangerous thing"—it certainly is—for the other fellow, if you have the knowledge of what you are selling; and not only knowledge, but confidence in your knowledge. A little knowledge of what your competitor is selling is dangerous—for your competitor. If you know what your competitors are advertising and pushing, and post yourself on their lines, values and arguments, you need fear no competition. Post yourself, is advice to the salesman; study your goods, know as much about them as you can; read your trade paper, which is always full of information pertaining to your goods; watch your firm's ads., and watch your competitors' ads.; keep in touch with new lines, new ideas, new methods of doing business. Keep your eyes on the world as it whirls around, but don't get dizzy watching it,—move with it.

AT IT AGAIN.

ONCE more that "'cute Canadian" advertising solicitor has cropped up in Birmingham. Our readers will remember him and his methods. They have both been pretty freely denounced in these columns in the past.

It is a shame that one man should be undoing the good work that Canadian agents and reputable trade papers have been doing to build up trade between England and Canada. Both he and the paper he represents must be severely condemned. They are a disgrace to Canadian journalism.

Here is the latest story from the columns of the Birmingham Gazette and Express:

Forty-five Birmingham manufacturers met in the Cosmopolitan Club and spent an hour in comparing notes concerning a Canadian visitor, whose pilgrimage to Birmingham has left mingled memories. A brilliant bird of passage, the Canadian offered traders a quick way to fortune by advertising in a Canadian journal associated with commercial interests.

He brought a list of firms who were said to be longing to be in communication with Birmingham, and he took away signed contracts for big announcements in the paper from about 200 houses. Many of the latter, on sending catalogues to Canada to the addresses given, received a large percentage of them back through the dead letter office.

Yesterday all were concerned as to where the distinguished looking stranger is to be found.

Announced as "the celebrated Dr. ——," the visitor explained that he had come to England to consult a specialist about a kidney trouble, and incidentally hoped to do something while over here to stimulate trade between the Mother Country and the Dominion of Canada. At this point the list of firms was produced, the stranger would produce a blue pencil, and rapidly sketch a map on a piece of blotting paper, showing the places where goods such as those manufactured by the firm he was visiting were urgently wanted.

The visit usually concluded by the doctor taking an order for a year's advertisement, and predicting that the advertiser would be compelled within a few years' time to double the size of his factory.

"You will probably come to look on this visit," he told one gentleman, "as that of a guardian angel, and bless me to the last of your—I hope many—prosperous years."

So far from orders having poured in upon Birmingham in embarrassing quantities, not one of those present was able to trace a single customer to the "guardian angel." A commoner experience had been to receive a postcard from the Canadian firms to whom price lists had been sent on the "angel's" recommendation, somewhat to this effect:

"Thanks for your catalogue, but we have never any need to use the description of goods you specify."

The journal named actually exists, is published in Montreal, and is filled almost solely with Birmingham and West Bromwich business announcements.

The dilemma of those present yesterday was whether they could now resist liability for the contracts given to the swell from across the Atlantic, who was stated to be the paper's "European editor."

The actual editor of the journal, it seems, has an admirably free and easy way of dunning his Birmingham clients for money. Occasionally the editorial "we" is dropped with delightful naivete, as witness the following specimen:

"We should feel obliged if you would send your promissory note as I am largely engaged in building operations which are taxing my finances to the utmost."

After a long discussion on the legal bearings of the matter the meeting decided on combined resistance to the demands for payment now being presented. It is probable that more will be heard of the matter.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. W. P. Lowney, of Lowney's Chocolates, Boston, is spending a few days in Montreal.

Mr. P. C. Larkin, of the Salada Tea Co., has gone to Florida for a few weeks.

Mr. M. Bull, of the Royal Soap Co., Winnipeg, is in Toronto this week calling upon the trade.

Mr. H. H. Munro, representing Hamilton Coffee & Spice Co., Hamilton, is in Montreal this week.

Mr. F. W. Mason, representing J. D. Bradshaw & Co., Toronto, was a caller on the Montreal trade this week.

Mr. L. C. Van Beaver has resigned the managership of Armour Limited, Toronto, to accept a position with the Wm. Davies Co.

Mr. Geo. D. MacAllister, representing the Dovercourt Twine Mills, Toronto, is calling on the trade in Montreal and Quebec this week.

Mr. Albert Nieghorn, of The Canada Chemical Mfg. Co., London, Ont., was a caller at the Montreal offices of The Grocer this week.

Mr. J. H. Butler, of McMahon, Loadfield & Co., wholesale crockery, Toronto, has been calling on the trade in Montreal during the past ten days.

Mr. W. Ince, jr., of Perkins, Ince & Co., wholesale groeers, Toronto, has left on an extended pleasure trip to Europe, sailing at the week end via New York for Naples.

Mr. Ed. Lowe, manager of the F. J. Castle Co., Ottawa, was in Montreal over Sunday. Mr. Lowe reports business as satisfactory despite the severe storms and heavy country roads.

In the report of interviews on the tea question in last week's Grocer, it was mentioned that Mr. Denis, of Kearney Bros., Montreal, had been seen on the subject. It should have read Mr. Geo. Leger, of Kearney Bros.

Mr. D. Byron McRae, representing the Wilson-Lytle, Badgerow Co. and T. A. Lytle Co., Toronto, is hustling in Montreal and the Eastern Townships. Must be something doing in vinegar, as D. B. hadn't time to talk on anything else.

Mr. Chas. Farnworth, representing the F. F. Dalley Co., Hamilton, Ont., was a caller at the Montreal offices of The Grocer this week, on his return from Quebec and intermediate points. He reports that "2 in 1" is still as popular as ever, and will shine during the coming season.

VISITOR FROM B.C.

MR. D. MOWAT, of the Western Canadian Fish Co., Barnet, B.C., was a caller at the Toronto offices of The Canadian Grocer this week. It may be news to the trade that the codfish industry has already assumed prominence in British Columbia. Mr. Mowat's firm handle dry, pickled and smoked codfish, halibut and salmon, all of which are being well received on the Canadian market.

JOINED THE E. W. GILLETT TRAVELING STAFF.

Mr. Walter J. Elliott, late manager of The Industrial Co-operative Society of Valleyfield, Que., has severed his connection with that company to join the traveling staff of E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, Toronto. Mr. Elliott has had a long training in the grocery trade, is thoroughly familiar with what he is selling, has a good knowledge of French, and experience on the road, and the interests of E. W. Gillett Co., Limited, should be well looked after by him. Mr. Elliott's headquarters will be in Montreal, his territory including the eastern part of Ontario, the Eastern Townships and the Province of Quebec to the Gaspe coast. Before entering upon his duties, Mr. Elliott spent some weeks in the factory and offices. The Grocer met him in Montreal on his initial trip this week, and he reported that business was most satisfactory.

The annual meeting of the Canada Grocers, Limited, was held in Toronto on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

H. N. Lavoie, general merchant, Bic, has voluntarily assigned to Lefaivre & Taschereau.

The business of J. E. Prignon, general merchant, Chicoutimi, was advertised to be sold February 22.

Freeman & Macdonald, general mer- Deloraine, has been succeeded by Freeman & Morris.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

Toronto, Feb. 23rd, 1905.

TRADE during the week has been on the quiet order on account of the impassible state of the country roads and the blockup on the railroads, which have kept travelers off the road temporarily. In fact one grocer characterized trade for the week forcibly, if not eloquently, by saying that it had been "rotten." Orders for the opening of navigation continue in fair volume. The starch business since the advance to former prices has been somewhat quiet. For the short period of reduced prices, however, an enormous quantity of starch changed hands, which means that the requirements of the retail trade are pretty well met now for some time to come.

Sugar shows a firmer tendency this week, raws being stronger and increased sales to New York refiners of raws reported. Canned goods are quiet. Large quantities of New Orleans molasses have been moving during the past week and Mocha coffees are fully 1c. higher in primary markets while Rios are firm and short in supply on spot. Teas are moving fairly well, advances in medium and high grade teas being noted.

Currants for importation have been selling hetter during the last week than for some time past. Beans continue strong; an advance of 5c. over last week is noted, and it is reported that orders will not be taken for the trade except subject to confirmation.

Fresh, frozen, and dried fish may be expected to move freely from now until the close of Lent. Trade is already looking up and the wholesalers are stocking plentifully in expectation of a big harvest.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned goods have tended a little to the quiet side during the week under review, both vegetables and fruits selling in only fair quantities. There is very little to feature in the markets and prices continue unchanged. We quote the following:

SUGAR.

The decline seems to have run its course, and beet sugar, after going to 14s. 11¼d. f.o.b. Hamburg, recovered to 15s. 3¾d., and at the close is quoted at 15s. 3d. This is equal to a parity of 5.26 for 96 test centrifugals, duty paid New York, or about ⅛ per cent. above present quotations for that description.

The improved feeling has manifested itself on this side by large purchases of Cuban sugar for account of American refiners. The Trust is reported to have secured some 150,000 to 200,000 bags Cuhans at 3¾ c. and f., equal to 5⅛ duty paid N.Y., and it is believed that refineries will still buy on this basis. The sugar has been purchased mostly for March-April shipment, and the price establishes an advance of 3-16 over recent lowest prices. Refiners are indifferent to nearby sugars on account of recent heavy arrivals, but it is believed that they would pay 3 3-16 c. and f., or say a further 1-16 advance, to secure moderate quantities for April shipment. It is more and more evident that Cuban planters are disposed to hold sugars tenaciously for forward shipment, and they are in a position to do so, having already marketed large quantities for Feh.-Mar. shipment.

The improved condition of raws is reflected in the firmer tone of the N. Y. refined market, where a large amount of new business has transpired; and this is not surprising in view of the small margin between raw and refined, which is now reduced to 78c. per 100 lbs., and we understand that one of the leading American refiners is showing little disposition to sell at current quotations, and may withdraw at any time. Present indications point to a further advance.

The Cuban situation is practically unchanged, except that Willet & Gray have increased their estimate of the Cuban crop by 50,000 tons, namely, 1,250,000 tons. This, however, is partially offset by a reduction of some 27,000 tons in the Cuban estimate.

Receipts at U. S. Atlantic ports for the week ending Feh. 15 were 55,904 tons, with meltings 31,000 tons, the same as last week, leaving total stock in all hands of 131,744 tons as against 106,840 tons a week ago. Combined stocks of U. S. and Cuba were 269,244 tons, an increase over last year of 29,942 tons. The total stock of Europe and America at latest uneven dates was 3,634,302 tons, as against 3,634,302 tons at the same uneven date a year ago.

Total stocks and afloats together show a visible supply of 2,916,244 tons, against 3,794,302 tons last year. Receipts in Cuba continue large, being 59,000 tons for the week, with 176 centrals now grinding and stock in the island of 137,500 tons.

The Canadian situation is practically unchanged; buyers appear to be taking more interest, and it would be well to watch developments across the line very closely. We quote the following prices:

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Syrups and molasses are moving fairly well although trade for this month on the whole is not up to the level of January business.

A large quantity of New Orleans molasses has been changing hands. Samples of West Indian have arrived on the market, although the regular new Barbadoes crop is not yet here. Our quotations are as follows:

COFFEES.

The feature in this week's coffee market is the firm situation of Mochas which have risen in primary markets fully 1c. Rios still continue firm and supplies on spot are reported to be very low. During the week the speculative price of 7's went down to 8c. but has since gone up 10 points and at the close the market is firm. We quote the following:

TEAS.

The tea trade has been remarkably good during the past month and satisfactory sales continue. In Ceylons medium Pekoes have advanced ½d. per pound. Some buying offers with limit based on the market during the first half of January became impracticable and cables report that buyers will have to increase their limits by ½d. if the balance of orders are to be filled. Common teas are ¼d. and strictly fine teas which are scarce have advanced from 1d. to 2d.

The feature of the past season has been the wide disparity between the price ruling for common teas and for strictly high quality, the former being low, the latter very high.

FOREIGN DRIED FRUITS.

Valencia and sultana raisins are still moving well although the most interesting item in dried fruits at this season of the year is undoubtedly prunes. Hallowees dates are quoted from ¼ to ½c. lower than last week and Sairs are ½c. lower in price. Some sales of currants for importation are reported during the week. The current market prices have fluctuated within narrower limits, viz., ¼c. less than at any time during the present season.

FOREIGN NUTS.

Foreign nuts incline to the quiet side this week and the market is practically featureless, last week's prices continuing unchanged. We quote the following:

DRIED FISH.

The trade in dried fish is fair and may be expected to take on a new lease of life during the Lenten season. One of the most interesting items in this department is cod fish, sales of which are reported to be excellent and increasing. Our quotations are as follows:

Boneless fish, per lb	....	0 04

BIRD SEED.

There is nothing new to chronicle in the bird seed market. Trade is quiet and last quotations still rule. We quote the following:

Canary seed, per lb	0 06½
Hemp "	0 05
Cottam's	0 08
Brock's	0 07½

EVAPORATED APPLES.

Quite a few evaporated apples have been moving during the present week at prices ranging from 6½ to 7c.; there are no new conditions to report in the market. Dried apples are still being quoted to the trade nominally at from 3c. to 4c.

Country Produce.

EGGS.

The egg situation may be said to be similar to that of butter this week owing to country roads being blocked and arrivals in consequence very small. Some members of the trade think that if the present abnormal conditions were to continue for a fortnight longer there would be an egg famine just as there is practically a butter famine to-day. The breaking up of the country roads, however, will adjust matters in a very short time.

Strictly new laid eggs are from 2c. to

3c. higher than last week. Cold storage fresh 4c. higher, and cold storage pickled 2c. above the level of last week's quotations. We quote the following:

Eggs, strictly new laid	0 27	0 30
Cold storage fresh	0 22	0 23
" pickled	0 18	0 20

BEANS.

The bean market continues to exhibit additional firmess, prices having advanced 5c. during the week. The situation has become so strong that it is stated in certain quarters that orders arc not taken except subject to confirmation. Hand picked beans are 5c. higher than a week ago and a similar advance rulcs in No. 1 and No. 2 primes. By one or two dealers lower prices are quoted but these are invariably for lower grade stuff. We quote the following prices:

Beans, handpicked, per bush	1 75	1 85
" prime, No. 1	1 60	1 65
" prime, No. 2	1 40	1 45
" Lima, per lb	0 07	0 07½

HONEY.

A fair trade in honey is reported for the week under review with unchanged quotations. We quote the following prices.

Honey, extracted clover, per lb	0 03	0 05

" " No. 2, "		1 65
" Buckwheat, per lb		0 03

SEEDS.

The export trade is now at an end and domestic trade well under way. The recent break in the weather has been favorable to the development of the latter and as weather conditions improve an active tradc with firm markets is confidently expected. The range of prices on red clovcr is 15c. wider than last week. Our quotations are as follows:

Alsike clover, per bush	3 10	5 00
Red clover	5 00	7 00
Mammoth clover, per bush	6 00	7 25
Timothy	1 00	1 35

MAPLE PRODUCTS.

A brisk trade has already sprung up in maple products and the consumption may be expected to increase steadily as the season advances. We quote the following prices:

Maple sugar, 1 lb cakes, per lb	0 09	0 10
" large cakes in tubs, per lb		0 08

Vegetables.

For green fruit and vegetable markets see fruit department.

Fish and Oysters.

The fish trade shows signs of taking on a new lease of life. As Lent advances wholesalers are stocking up freely in expectation of brisk business during the next few weeks. White fish are scarce and high in price. It is thought that supplies will be exhausted within the next fortnight except for fancy fresh-caught white fish, which will be high in price.

Oysters are temporarily scarce owing to freeze up on the sea coast, but will probably become more plentiful and easier in price within the next few days. Sea herring and British Columbia salmon are both scarce and firm in price, final shipments of the former being due this week. Bloaters are 25c. firmer than last week, while Labrador herring are down 25c. Shrimps are quoted 10c. lower than last week and smelts generally are easier in price. We quote the following:

Grain, Flour and Breakfast Foods.

GRAIN.

On account of scarcity of grain, Manitoba wheat Northern No. 1 is up ½c. Northern No. 2 and No. 3 have each advanced 1c. per bushel during the week. Peas and buckwheat are also firmer by 1c. than thcy were last week. Oats continue to jump, an advance of 3c. being reported. A further outline of the oat situation will be found on another page of this week's issue.

We quote the following prices:

FLOUR.

A brisk trade in flour is reported for the week at quotations unchanged from last week, notwithstanding the fact that the wheat market is considerably higher. The improvement in the flour trade is principally in the way of export business. Our quotations are as follows:

BREAKFAST FOODS.

The market for Canadian breakfast food products is very dull at the present time owing to the fact that American manufacturers continue to place their goods on this market at lower prices than Canadian trade can afford to quote. Prices continue unchanged. We quote the following:

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

Montreal, Feb. 23, 1905

TRADE during the week has been on the quiet side in wholesale circles. The country roads are in such a condition that travelers find difficulty in covering their ground. Collections are good considering the existing trade conditions. Sugars are unchanged and the easier tone of last week still obtain. In some quarters a decline is looked for. Butter is the most interesting subject and the abnormally high prices that are ruling have caused some excitement in the grocery and provision trade. Stocks are short and prices soaring. Beans are advancing and it is reported that farmers in the West are getting $1.50 to $1.55 per bushel. The first cargo of new Barbadoes molasses is reported as having arrived at Halifax this week.

SUGAR.

LAST MINUTE QUOTATIONS.

Montreal, Thursday, Feb. 23, 1905.

CHEESE—There is absolutely nothing new to report in this article, in the absence of any trade passing either locally or over the cable. Dullness seems to be the key-note of the situation in the United Kingdom. Some firms over there are large holders of well-bought cheese, which they keep offering at low prices, and until these are exhausted the real situation as to the small stocks on both sides of the Atlantic will not be realised. It is just possible that the amount of Canadian cheese held will turn out less than will be required for the U.K. consumption before new becomes available, in which case there may be a scramble after cheese, perhaps causing new to open up at high prices. Unless this state of things is realized by the merchants abroad before the middle of March holders on both sides will not make much out of their stocks, and may have to let go at almost present prices, 52s. to 53s.

BUTTER.—There has been a sensational advance in this market, 28 to 30c. having been realized for finest creamery butter. There never was such a scarcity in the article, and until rolls come in freely no lower prices can be expected.

LAST MINUTE PROVISION MARKET.

Montreal, Thursday, Feb. 23, 12.30 p.m.

CHEESE—No change. Very little doing.

BUTTER—Consumption curtailed by high prices. Supplies light. Range for finest creamery 28 to 30c.

EGGS—Firm market. Supplies light. Montreal limed, 19 to 19½c.; lower grades, 16½ to 18c.; selected Fall fresh, 23 to 24c.; strictly fresh, 30c. per doz.

PROVISIONS—Firm undertone to the market. Business good. Demand fair. Abattoir fresh killed sold to-day at $8.50 to $9.; country dressed, from $7.50 to $8, and some dealers quoted as high as $8 to $8.25.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of The Canadian Grocer,
St. John, N. B., Feb., 1905.

BUSINESS is rather quiet. It is many years since we had so much snow. Railways are either tied up as is the case with the small roads or greatly handicapped, as is the case with the big ones. The situation is worse in Nova Scotia than in New Brunswick. The disgraceful condition in regard to winter communication with Prince Edward Island is as bad, if not worse, than usual. Travelers are snowed up all along the line. The people through the country cannot get to the stores. The trade here find it almost impossible to get their goods through from the West and even after the goods arrive, the railway yards are so congested there are long delays in getting delivery. However, a few weeks at most must see a change.

In markets there is little of interest. Rice is very firm this spring and prices will have to be advanced. In about all lines of spice prices are easy. Cream of tartar is steady. The high price of oats is a feature.

Oil.

Dealers are still busy, the low price now charged by the tank waggons of 15½c. means very cheap burning oil. Lubricating oil has but a limited sale at present for consumption, but Spring business occupies the attention of dealers. In linseed oil the very low prices still rule. Turpentine is firm at full figures. Cod oil, while having light local sale, is held very firm.

Salt.

Quite a large cargo of Liverpool coarse salt has been received. The stock held is not, however, large and prices are very firm. In fine salt it is early for business.

Canned Goods.

Some little American corn continues to arrive. While giving quite good satisfaction, Canadian is preferred. Prices are firm. Tomatoes seem at least sufficient to meet requirements. Prices are held firm at full figures. Peas are in good supply. In fruits there is but a fair sale with prices unchanged. Gallon apples are dull. Salmon is unchanged in price, but is at least no higher. Lobsters are scarce. Meats for spring quoted as last year. Oysters are more freely offered. Domestic sardines, haddies and kippered herring are in light supply.

Dried Fruit.

Trade is quiet. There is a fair stock of seeded raisins held. In this line and in currants the casters have the market. Prices in both lines are low. In Valencias raisings and California loose, stocks are very light. Prunes are low. There is but a fair sale. Small sizes have the demand. Apricots and peaches were never large sellers, and this year the sale is particularly light. Apricots are high. Dates are freely offered with prices low. In peels the outlook is for higher prices this year. Figs are in light demand. Evaporated apples are firm at the higher prices. Onions are higher and sale not large. Peanuts are higher than usual at this season.

Sugar.

There has been no change since the slight decline lately reported. Market seems firm. Present price for granulated in barrels is $5.80.

Molasses.

Market is firm. Business rather light. In Porto Rico quite a full stock held.

Fish.

Some few fresh herring were received this week. It is many years since smelt were so scarce. There is a fair supply of fresh cod and haddock. In dry cod fish the extreme high price of $5.00 per 100 lbs. is still held. The fact that boneless fish has shown little change but sells at quite low figures, has been a great disappointment to dealers. With Lent coming pickled herring are held quite firm. Smoked herring are low. Haddies are being freely shipped west at full figures.

Flour, Meal and Seed.

In flour, while prices are unchanged market is very firm. Feed is high and has little inquiry. Oats are very high, stock is light. Owing to American competition, prices in oatmeal are lower than they would otherwise be. Local prices quite firm. Cornmeal unchanged. Beans have a fair sale. Prices are firm. In seeds a fair quantity have been bought. American timothy is higher. Canadian clover are firm. The high price of clover will restrict sales.

SUGGESTION TO WHOLESALE TRADE.

THE following letter contains a number of suggestions which the Canadian wholesale grocery trade will do well to consider seriously:

Editor "Canadian Grocer":

I think it is time that attention was called to a practice that has become far too common of late with certain wholesale houses of delaying the acceptance of sight drafts made on them by foreign shippers, on the plea of non-arrival of the goods.

As a rule foreign purchases are subject to draft against letter of credit, but in shipments from England, and in some instances in shipments from foreign countries (when a purchase is not large enough to warrant the trouble of opening a letter of credit), shippers sometimes waive this and sell "sight draft against documents." It is in these cases that certain buyers take advantage of the seller, and instead of promptly accepting draft, put off the bank through whom it is presented with the reply "goods not yet arrived"; and in some aggravated cases delay the acceptance even further after arrival of the goods if it does not suit their convenience at the time to take delivery.

The bank, after suffering the annoyance of presenting the documents several times, with the same result, notify the London bankers that the draft is not accepted, and they in turn notify the Continental bankers, thus placing the makers of the draft in a very unenviable, and to them thoroughly inexplicable position. The bad reputation that the houses referred to have thus earned for the Canadian trade has in some instances resulted in the absolute refusal of shippers to sell to Canada under any conditions except orders are accompanied by letters of credit.

It is only necessary to point out that goods once sold on a f.o.b. or c. and f. basis are at once "for account and risk" of the buyer; and that on presentation of the draft, with the documents representing the property shipped, the draft should be honored, and all the complication and annoyance of reporting its non-acceptance, through the various banking channels, back to the drawer, be thus avoided.

In this particular, Canadian houses have gained an unenviable reputation among foreign merchants.

Annual Meeting of Grocers' Guild

THE annual meeting of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, which includes practically every wholesale grocery establishment in the Dominion, is in session this week in Toronto, as The Canadian Grocer goes to press.

Mayor Laporte, of Montreal, is president of the Guild, and J. Stanley Cook, of Montreal, secretary.

Among matters of common interest being discussed are several connected with railway freights and transportation generally. These will shortly be brought before the Transportation Commission or the railway companies themselves. Action will also be taken in connection with steamship bills of lading, concerning which there has been a great deal of dissatisfaction among the trade of late.

The uniformity of trade discounts is also being discussed, this being the ideal of the Dominion Guild. The feeling, however, seems to be that Provincial Associations, rather than the Dominion organization, are in the best position to deal with trade discounts. Considerable interest has been shown in a general conference on the sugar situation.

Banquet.

On Wednesday evening, the Toronto Guild entertained the outside members at dinner. Col. J. I. Davidson presided and Mr. Eby and Mr. Kinnear were in the vice-chairs. It was the most important dinner in the 25 years' history of the Guild. It marked an important epoch in the history of Canadian trade. For the first time, every section of the Dominion was represented about the table. The speeches were capital, brief and to the point. Two themes ran through them all, a united Canada and the good work done in the early days by Messrs. Wm. Ince and C. P. Hebert, both of whom were, unfortunately, absent. It was not only the actual work these men did, but it was the high and honorable ideals which they held and practised themselves, and which they instilled in the trade generally.

There were only three toasts. Col. Davidson, in very few words, proposed "The Dominion Guild," to which the president, Mr. Laporte, responded. Mr Laporte, as probably all readers of The Grocer know, is also mayor of Montreal, and the head of a coterie of keen, able business men, who have lifted the affairs of that city from the disreputable position into which they had fallen in the hands of incompetent—many Montrealers would say something stronger—aldermen. His work for the Guild has been most important. In his response, he dealt chiefly with the early endeavors to fill up the Guild and the many trials through which they went before they were able to put it on a satisfactory basis. He paid a high tribute to Messrs. Ince, Hebert, and the late Mr. Childs, and Mr. Gillard for the work they had done in organizing and inspiring himself and the other members to bring to the most successful issue the numerous troubles and affairs that the Guild has had to deal with for many years. The Guild has done a great deal to cement a friendship between the French and English-speaking members in the trade.

Mr. Eby proposed "Sister Guild," making humorous references to the various sections represented. The first response came from young Mr. Hebert, chairman of the Price Committee. Mr. Hebert seems to be developing all the good points that made his father one of the most successful business men in Canada, and he seems to command the same respect in his trade as his father has. Mr. Hebert did not anticipate making a speech, but made a good one, nevertheless. One of his points that particularly interested the members from the furthermost parts of the Dominion, was the reference to the change that had come over the trade in Montreal. When he first went into business, the grocery trade in Montreal was in the hands of English firms. To-day it is nearly all French-Canadian. They had not tried to take this trade away, it was simply forced into their hands.

They did all they could to meet the interests of their English friends, for the proceedings of the Montreal Guild were invariably conducted in the English language.

Mr. McKenzie spoke for Manitoba, and referred to the birth of twins yesterday, but he relieved the gathering very much when he explained that they were two new provinces.

Mr. McMillan represented British Columbia, and said that until quite recently the trade there did not feel they were part of Canada at all. Now, however, that they were working with the Guild, they were becoming enthusiastic Canadians, and they felt more proud than ever that they belonged to a great country and that they realized that a strong bond of sympathy existed among the people of the East, which they had not realized before.

Mr. Billman, of Halifax, responding for Nova Scotia, said that they were inclined to move slowly down there, but their New Brunswick friends had invaded their territory and compelled them to work more together and take an active interest in the general affairs of the trade.

Mr. Peters, for the New Brunswick Guild, said the grocers in his province were enthusiastic supporters of the Guild, for through it they were enabled to make fair profits, which had not always been possible before.

Mr. Carrier, for the City of Quebec, also spoke of the friendly relations between the French and English, and was most enthusiastic about his reception in the city of Toronto. He wished some of the demogogues who stirred up trouble between the two people could be punished. Although they had only one English-speaking member of the Guild in Quebec,—the Hon. Richard Turner, of whom he spoke most highly,—he said that their members always were a unit on putting Mr. Turner forward on all occasions to represent them. Mr. Carrier made the hit of the evening in urging the Guild to hold its meeting in his city in 1906, and, speaking of the natural beauties of Quebec, said: "If we could live on nature we would all be millionaires in Quebec."

Mr. Craig, of the Kingston Guild, recalled interesting reminiscences of the first meeting in Kingston, about twenty years ago. He regretted that there were some firms in the wholesale trade not yet in the Guild. He said there was no community in Canada doing as much public good without reward as the wholesale grocers, unless it was the retail grocers. He gave a practical turn to his remarks by dealing with several important business subjects.

Colonel Smith spoke for London. Colonel Smith is the society bachelor of the trade in Canada, and also occupies the unique position of having inherited a fortune and a splendid business from his father,—a business which he has maintained and increased without seeming to give himself the least worry about business affairs. He has been a soldier, he rides to hounds, travels abroad, moves in the best society everywhere, and yet never loses touch with his business. He made a formal reply for his Guild.

Mr. James Ince rose to thank the speakers for the many kind things they had said about his father. He regretted that his brother,—who is now on the ocean, crossing for the first time, so active had been his business life,—was not present to speak for his father, who was not well enough to attend.

Mr. James Turner, of Hamilton, who is now the oldest member of the Guild, in speaking for that city, paid a high tribute to Mr. Ince and recalled in the early days of the Guild, that one of the most active members was a boy whom he always felt would develop into a successful business man. This was the indefatigable Mr. Beckett.

Mr. Geoffrion, Montreal, gave a most interesting account of how the first agreement of price came about. This antedated the Guild many years. Competition was so close in Montreal that they used to sell a barrel of high wines, worth about $70, at a profit of 20 cents only. In those days beggars were numerous on Commissioners Street, and they used to come in asking for one cent. He happened to overhear several beggars talking among themselves and planning how they should most effectively work the trade, and particularly his firm. It dawned on him then that if beggars would combine to work a cent, why should not common-sense business men do the same. He went over at once to see Mr Hebert, and the result was an agreement under which they immediately increased the profit on a barrel of whiskey from 20 cents to $5.

Mr. Kinnear proposed the last toast, "The Guests," who were Messrs. Malcolmson and Innes, of the Canners' Co., and Lt.-Col. Maclean, of The Grocer, and spoke of the tangible evidences they had of the success of the company, and ststed he had been informed that they had recently completed plans for manufacturing their own labels, and of making them very much more attractive, which would make them more valuable.

Mr. Malcolmson, of Chatham, who, besides being a canner, is one of the foremost wholesale and retail grocers in Western Ontario, referred particularly to the West, its greatness, and the importance of all business men taking the trip there to realize its possibilities.

Mr. Innes, who is a son of the man who made Simcoe known from one end of Canada to the other, and synonymous with superior quality, also added a few words.

Mr. Stanley Cooke, the secretary, was praised by Colonel Davidson, who said he considered his work more than his pay, and also by Mr. Laporte, and he responded with the wittiest speech of the evening, and left no doubt on the minds of the Guild that he valued his pay very highly.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Special Report from the Winnipeg Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, February 23rd, 1905.

WHOLESALE grocery trade is of average proportions this week. The influx of country merchants during the second week of the Bonspiel to attend the trade conventions, then in session, helped business last week and brought the wholesale and retail branches of the trade into personal touch. Perhaps the subject upon which the most important conferences took place was that of slow collections. The retailer is finding difficulty in getting in his money and many renewals have been asked for. Various remedies have been proposed but perhaps the remedy approved by the Retail Merchants' Association and referred to in another part of this issue is the most feasible.

Throughout almost the entire list prices are steady this week. Sugar is holding its strong position. The decline of 30 cents on all grades of refined sugars announced some little time ago by the B. C. Refinery to apply to all points between Dunmore and the B. C. boundary has been followed a few days ago by an advance of 20 cents and hence the situation in the West is practically the same as before. The sugar market is still strong. The trade are buying freely such dried fruits as apricots, peaches, prunes and nectarines in anticipation of an advance. In doing so they are well advised. The local coffee market is firm and price quoted for Rios is being pretty well maintained. Evaporated apples continue very firm and may be expected to experience another advance very soon. White beans have advanced to $1.75 per bushel for the grade known as "3 to 4 lb. picker." Bananas are cheaper.

Sugar.

The reduction noted in last issue has not been followed by any further declines at time of writing and the market seems to be firmer than before. An advance was announced last week (a few hours too late to be noticed in last week's issue) by the British Columbia Refinery of 20 cents on all grades of refined sugar to apply to all points between Dunmore and the B. C. boundary. Meanwhile the local sugar market is very firm and no immediate declines are looked for. Dear sugar seems to be assured for some time to come. We quote:

There is little of interest to add to our reports for several weeks on the condition of this market. Merchants have been buying freely California fruits in anticipation of an advance. VICTORIA B. C. BOARD OF TRADE.

At the annual meeting of the Victoria B. C. Board of Trade on Feb. 8, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Mr. William Mathers; vice-president, Mr. D. S. Curtis; secretary, Mr. A. E. White; executive council, Messrs. T. J. Trapp, F. R. Glover, A E. Rand, H. G. Brymner, C. G. Major, F. J. Hart, T. S. Annandale, L. A. Lewis, Judge Bole, D. S. Curtis, H. Ryall, W. R. Gilley, Dr. H. A. Holmes, J. W. Creighton, M. Sinclair and J. Cunningham.

Among other timely topics discussed was the proposal to place a duty on lumber exported from the United States to Canada. Statistics were given showing the amount of lumber used in Winnipeg during the past year and it was stated that the greater part of this lumber had come from the States. It was demonstrated that had this lumber been the product of British Columbia mills it would have meant thousands of dollars for the Province, which had instead gone over to the American side. The same thing was going on all over Manitoba and the Territories.

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Fruit and Vegetable Markets.

ONTARIO.

GREEN FRUITS.

THE green fruit market has brightened considerably owing to the milder weather. Shipments to country points are still delayed on account of the heavy snow, but a marked increase in consumption of fruit is shown in the cities. The navel orange situation is better, the over supplies of the last two weeks being pretty well cleaned up. Quality is also improving. Florida oranges have firmed 25c during the week. This fruit is very scarce and in great demand for table use, especially in the United States, which makes it a wonder that Florida oranges are not quicker sellers on this market. Mexican oranges are out of the market. The second direct shipment of bitter oranges is due on Friday of this week. Valencias are scarce, 714's having been crossed from our list. Owing to scarcity in the English market, California navels are largely taking their place this season, selling at from 1 to 4s. per case. Heretofore it has been out of the question for California oranges to compete with Valencias in the English market at this time of year.

Florida grape fruit is 25c stiffer in price, and Havana pines have appeared on the market, being quoted at $3.50 per case. Bananas are scarce, owing to recent severe weather; several cars having been rejected by the trade owing to poor condition in which they arrived. Sweet potatoes are 50c higher, as well as cranberries. Stocks Stocks of the latter article are within very small compass, a very different state of affairs from that prevailing last year at this time; the reason is that buyers this year have been more than cautious about repeating last year's error. We quote the following prices:

Florida oranges, per box	2 75	3 00

VEGETABLES.

Trade in vegetables continues brisk and seasonable, especially in domestic stock. Beets are 15c firmer than last week, and Spanish onions have advanced 25c as a result of large exportations from the United States to the old country. The celery market is strong with supplies arriving freely and of good quality.

It is now thought that the recent frosts in the Southern States will not delay arrivals of early vegetables more than a fortnight. In many districts where the crops were supposed to have been ruined it has been discovered that they were only slightly damaged. Hot house cucumbers are scarce and $1 higher in price Florida head lettuce is off the market, all supplies being now from domestic sources. California has had excessive rains, which have entirely destroyed the cauliflower crop; this means that there will be no more stuff from California this season. Samples, however, have already arrived from Florida. Our quotations are as follows:

QUEBEC.

GREEN FRUITS.

No marked changes are noted. City trade has been more active than during the past week. Country trade is improving. Celery is in good demand, selling freely at $5 per crate. The sale of navels has improved owing to the low prices, but it is expected within a week that the price will be from 25 to 50c. per crate higher. We quote the following prices:

Value of Fruit Marks Act.

In a late report received by the Extension of Markets Division, Department of Agriculture, from the department's inspector in London, Eng., covering the out-turn of apples ex the steamer Fremona from Portland, Me., the following reference appears:

"A striking illustration of the value to Canadian shippers of the Fruit Marks Act is shown by the following incident:

"Besides the Canadian apples there were by this steamer 992 barrels of American apples, by different shippers, which on being landed over fifty were found to be without marks of any description; as a consequence the several consignees wanted to pick and choose, thereby causing trouble and delay during which time the apples from the Canadian shippers had been placed on the market.

ON THE MARKET SINCE 1845, THE PERFECTED PRODUCTS OF THE OLD RELIABLE FIRM.

PLACING an order with the OZO CO. means something more to the buyer than assurance of the delivery of a certain quantity of goods at such and such a price. Our product not only gives the impression of neatness and wholesomeness, which is the token of carefully prepared goods, but has a fitness which attracts the customer and inevitably ends in a sale. The firm controls the planting, the handling and the making of their product, make their own vinegar, and such a vinegar as experience has taught them will go a long way towards making the best pickles. Our goods cost no more than others, their selling ability is double that of the common article. Turning your dollar over twice makes the profit of double that capital and is business.

OF INTEREST TO THE TRADE.

We have pleasure in directing the attention of readers of The Canadian Grocer to the firm of Geo. R. Meeker & Co., 11-12 Bedford Hotel Chambers, Covent Garden, London, Eng. The headquarters of this firm are in the Mattlage Building, 97 Warren St., corner Greenwich, New York City, through which the London branch imports large quantities of deciduous and citrous fruits as well as canned goods, including the products of the well-known Earl Co.

Geo. R. Meeker & Co. are also large exporters of barreled apples from the United States eastern seaboard ports. The sale of such fruits, no matter at what point in Europe, is superintended by the London firm, which is a "sine qua non" that the interests of shippers are not only strictly safe-guarded but served in the best possible degree.

WIN THE BRISTOL CUP.

The Toronto branches of the Canada Grocers defeated the Hamilton branches of the Canada Grocers at the Thistle Rink, Hamilton, Feb. 18, by the score of 3 to 1. The game was very close and fast, the score at half time being 1 all. This makes the Toronto branches winners of the Bristol cup. Stewart and Warren played the star game for the winners, while Matheson and Dewey were the pick of the losers, the latter making some brilliant stops in goal. Teams:

Referee, Harry Truesdale.

Photographs of the winning team and of the trophy will be reproduced in next week's issue of the Canadian Grocer.

The Dominion Exhibition will be held in New Westminster, B. C., this year.

ALL FALLING INTO LINE

Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, British Columbia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, Newfoundland, South Africa, Australia, Japan Just received the following letter from South Africa :

WOODSTOCK, S.A., January 25, 1905.

MESSRS. LUMSDEN BROS , Hamilton, Ont., Can.

DEAR SIRS,—We are pleased to report we have made further tests with your Yeast, and have used it for buns, rolls, and various other kinds of bread, and we are very pleased with the results.

There has been much interest shown in the working of this Yeast. We having met nearly all the up-country bakers, who are visiting the Exhibition, and they all express surprise at the quality of bread turned out.

The writer must be brief, as only a few minutes to mail time.

I have just been in to town to arrange with Messrs. Moffatt, Hutchins & Co., Canadian House, Wales street. Much as we would like to have the agency for your Yeast, we feel compelled to make arrangements with the aforementioned firm in your interest. We being bakers ourselves, we possibly would not be in a position to devote the time necessary to thoroughly push it along. We feel sure Messrs. M. H. & Co. will be able with our assistance, in demonstrating to any interested person, and in many other ways, the great advantages of this special yeast.

There is every chance of also doing a domestic trade, by having it put up in smaller packets.

Our future requirements we shall now draw from Messrs. M. H. & Co., who are now writing to you to make arrangements for shipping some by next boat.

A small shipment of 100 lbs. comes very expensive, costing delivered here, 24 cents per pound. This, of course, will be reduced when shipping in larger quantities.

Wishing you every success, we remain,

Yours faithfully, HUMPHREY & MARTIN.

BISCUITS AND CONFECTIONERY

A DEPARTMENT FOR RETAILERS.

Will Feature Easter Trade.

GROCERS are now beginning to stock up for the two breaks in the Lenten season, St Patrick's Day and Easter. St. Patrick's Day is now recognized as a day set apart from the long severity of Lent, and confectioners have not been slow to seize the chance by putting candy novelties on the market. Boxes of chocolates done up in the shape of a shamrock and decorated with the same leaf, are very attractive. Some of these are worked out very elaborately. Another novelty is in a box the shape of a silk hat, with a couple of pipes crossed on the side and the whole tied with green ribbon. These are just examples of what is being done to force the sale of candy during the usually quiet season. As the public is glad of a little relaxation, the efforts of the candy makers should meet with much favor.

French Candy Sugar Factories on the Wane.

The small sugar factories in France, says the "Chemiker Zeitung," tend to disappear. In the year 1903-4 the number has come down to 292. That is a reduction of 27. The number in 1890-1 was 377, and in 1900-1 it was 344. but whilst the industry becomes concentrated the beet plantations do not seriously decline. They remain about as before, and there is even talk of their being increased in the coming year in consequence of the important rise in the price of sugar abroad, and the increased home consumption through the lowering of the inland tariff.

New Biscuit.

Christie, Brown & Co., Toronto and Montreal, are placing on the market a new biscuit called the "Bango." This biscuit is peculiarly the people's biscuit; it is sweet, with a delicious lemon flavor and has the additional advantage of being moderate in price. Samples will be mailed to any member of the trade so desiring, on condition that the CANADIAN GROCER is mentioned in the application.

English Confectioners up in Arms.

The English confectioners are up in arms against the duty which was placed on sugar three years ago. Their representations show that the business is in a disastrous condition. A large number of men are out of work, and the past year saw more failures in their line of business than in any previous year. Without discussing the present conditions, which seem to result largely from the high price of sugar, we are reminded of the extremely peculiar conditions of the English confectionery business for years preceding the adoption of the sugar convention. As a result of a desire to cultivate the beet sugar industry, a number of European countries, especially Germany and France, paid heavy export bounties on the raw product. As a consequence, the producers of beet sugar exported their product to England, sold it for less than the cost of production, and still made a handsome profit out of the Government bounties. England, which produced no beet sugar, was buying sugar far cheaper than the countries which actually produced it. Under these artificial conditions England soon was making candy for all Europe France and Germany could not commence to compete with her, even in their own markets. By the sugar convention, these abnormal conditions ceased to exist. Now all bonused sugar is excluded from the country.

Confectionery Notes.

Mr. Bert Hare, who for the past nine months has been in the grocery department of the R. D. McNaughton Co., Moosomin, Assa., has accepted a position as traveler for Long Bros., biscuit and confectionery dealers, Montreal.

The Gardiner biscuit factory, Kingston, Ont., was destroyed by fire on Feb. 14. Loss estimated at $8,000 to $10,000.

A FOREIGN TRADE SCHEME.

IN a report from the British Charge d'Affairs in Nicaragua, he describes a system by which German firms establish themselves in business, which should interest those Canadians who are reaching out for foreign trade.

"It appears that German firms, either singly or several firms, combined, choose some young man in their employment whom they consider suitable, and send him out to the country with which they wish to do business. This man receives a salary for the first few years, as well as a share in any profits that may be made; but in addition to this he is allowed to draw on them at his discretion for a considerable sum of money for advertising, traveling expenses, etc.

"His instructions are to settle himself modestly in the principal town, with the avowed intention of setting up a little general business for himself. If possible, he is to obtain regular employment until he is able to do so. He is then to give orders to the regular commercial travelers of all nations who frequent the place, for small quantities of the goods they usually supply there. In a year's time he is probably in a position to know what class of each kind of goods sells best, and the reasons for the preference. He has also noticed what improvements could be made, as well as all the details concerning packing, weight, color, quality, size, etc., that play so important a part in the sale of goods in foreign countries. During all this time he is constantly sending home to his employers samples of these goods, and explanations how to make them still more suitable to the market.

"In the first year the little store probably pays its way, and in two or three years it is not only making a profit, but a quantity of really trustworthy information has been obtained concerning the goods in general use in the country.

"During this time the goods are being produced at home, with the improvements recommended, so that the home firms are in a position to compete with any foreigners.

"Their representative then establishes branches in other towns, and the extension of the business simply depends on the capabilities and good fortune of the man employed. Sometimes factories are established.

"Men sent abroad under these conditions have a real incentive to work, as instead of being simply employes, they are working for themselves from the first, with the prospect of gaining a good and independent position.

"A further advantage in this system is that even if the man starts an independent business as soon as he is able, as so many Germans do, the connection still remains, and the knowledge gained, even in a few years, of the actual requirements of the country is worth the money expended.

"In the case of the complete failure of the man sent out, the loss need not be a serious one, if divided among several firms who have allowed a credit of a few hundred pounds each."

"I Am Good For One Car a Month."

Strong Advertising in local newspapers enables the grocer to more than double his sales. A prosperous grocer in Paris, Ontario, writes THE OGILVIE FLOUR MILLS CO., LIMITED, Montreal, as follows :—

PARIS, ONT., February 6th, 1905.

"Your advertising through the local papers is bringing your flours to the front in this section of Ontario, which I think the hardest part of Ontario in which to introduce hard wheat flour. It took me three months to sell my first car, but I think from now on I am good for a car a month." T. M. NICOL.

This is the way the sales double up when

"Royal Household" Flour

is once introduced. Once the women have given it a trial the WORK is all over. After that comes a steady demand—and no other flour can take the place of "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD."

Oats and Oatmeal

THE oat and oatmeal situation in Ontario at present is a very interesting one and, in many respects, just the opposite of a year ago. In 1903, Ontario harvested the largest crop of els, according to the U. S. Government report giving the quantity as 110,000,000 hushels, and the quality was very fine.

The U. S. crop, on the other hand, was a small one, only 784,000,000 bushels, according to the U. S. Government report, and the quality was poor. The oats obtainable by the American Cereal Co. for their mills in the United States only averaged from the 1903 crop 26 lbs. Winchester measure, which is 32 lbs. per bushel; as against 34 lbs. per bushel, Imperial measure, in Canada. This year the U. S. crop averaged 4 pounds heavier, and the yield is estimated at 894,000,000 bushels.

Ontario oats this year, on the other hand, are only of fair quality, and although the Ontario Government gave the yield as 102,000,000 bushels, it is now plainly evident that it was overestimated, and the actual yield would more nearly approach the figures given in the issue of The Canadian Grocer of Dec. 2, namely, about 75,000,000 bushels. Even this quantity would appear ample to meet all requirements without prices going too high and it, no doubt would have done so, had it not been for an unusual combination of circumstances which have occurred this year.

Prince Edward Island grows a great many oats, this being its principal grain crop, and generally supplies the Newfoundland market largely, as well as shipping liberal quantities to adjacent points in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. This year, Prince Edward Island had a short crop, and Ontario was called upon, not only to supply a fair portion of the Newfoundland requirements, but also to make up most of the deficiency in the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick supply, occasioned by the shortage in Prince Edward Island.

In addition to the above, in spite of the relatively high price at which Ontario oats have been selling this year as compared with the price in the United States, a large portion of the oat trade to Bermuda, Jamaica and other West India Islands, which Ontario secured last year owing to the good quality of her oats, has been retained; sales being made as high as 40½c. and 41c., at Ontario points last week, for both Bermuda and Jamaica.

There has also been a larger demand on Ontario this year to supply the requirements of the lumber camps in Northern Ontario and along the main line of the C.P.R. east of Sudbury, which last year was largely supplied by oats from Manitoba. Several large shipments were also made hy boat to Ontario and Quebec points a year ago, but this year, on account of the immense immigration which poured into that country, and the probabilities of very large quantities of oats being required to supply the construction parties, not only on the Grand Trunk Pacific, but also in extending the lines and branches of both the C.P.R. and Canadian Northern, Manitoba requires all her oats to supply this demand.

Last year, and for several years back, the American Cereal Co. manufactured their oatmeal for export to Great Britain and other continental countries, at Peterhoro,' the good quality and comparatively low price of Ontario oats enabling them to do so to better advantage than they could in the U.S. This year, however, the price of Ontario oats has been relatively so high that for several months the mill at Peterboro' has only been running on orders for local consumption, being shut down the greater part of the time. This is not to be wondered at, with Ontario oats selling around 40c. and May oats in Chicago for only 31c., or say, 33c. per 34 pounds, to make the same weight as our bushel. The difference in price would mean about 80c. in cost of manufacturing a barrel of oatmeal, so it is no wonder that the American Cereal Co., and other Ontario oatmeal millers, not only find themselves unable to sell any meal for export, but that the U. S. millers are able to send their oatmeal into various points in Canada and undersell the Canadian oatmeal millers.

Canada is so often spoken of as a "protectionist country" that one would naturally have thought the duty would have been sufficient to have kept American oatmeal out, or that at least Canadian millers could have brought in American oats to as good advantage and have manufactured the oatmeal here, giving employment to Canadian citizens instead of foreigners getting the benefit of it. While this is what one would naturally expect, we find that the duty on oatmeal is only 20 per cent. ad valorem, or equal to 55c. to 60c. per barrel, while the duty on the quantity of oats required to make a barrel of oatmeal would come to $1.20. This, of course, throws the manufacture of oatmeal from U. S. oats into the hands of the U. S. miller and, instead of Canadian industries getting the benefit of the protection, it is the miller in the United States who profits.

The duty on oatmeal going into the U.S. is $1 per 100 lbs., thus shutting out the Canadian miller entirely. The Canadian oatmeal millers have on several occasions, pressed the Government to equalize the duty on oats and oatmeal coming into Canada, so as to give the Canadian mills a chance to manufacture the oatmeal here when conditions warrant it, instead of importing the finished article, but they have so far been unsuccessful. While in a season like last year it would make no difference, the mills here are now suffering so severely from the competition from the U. S. that many mills are already shut down, and indications are that most of them will be closed before very long on account of their inability to sell to jobbers in competition with U. S. prices. The only trade they are able to retain at present is the local trade at their own doors.

They cannot look for lower prices for oats in the immediate future to relieve the situation, as on Feb. 21, sales were made by Toronto dealers at 41½c. f.o.b. cars outside, or equal to about 44½c. on track Toronto for No. 2 white oats for local consumption. While there is a duty of 10c. per bbl. on American oats coming into Canada, the farmers cannot get the benefit of more than half of this as long as oatmeal is allowed to come in at 20 per cent. ad valorum, which is only equal to 5c. or less per bushel, as pointed out above.

Will Drawbacks be Allowed.

ON Feb. 14, American millers were astounded to learn that the U.S. Senate had adopted an amendment to the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, the effect of which, had it been concurred in by the House of Representatives, would have been to abolish the allowance of drawback on exportations of flour from the United States, manufactured wholly from imported wheat or in part from imported and in part from domestic wheat, and all this on the eve of the drawback of the duty being made effective by the decision of the Attorney-General, and application by the Secretary of the U. S. Treasury.

A stream of vigorous protests poured in from leading American flour milling interests, who contended that the result of such an amendment would practically destroy the United States export flour trade, and that the conditions under which the U. S. milling interests were manufacturing imported wheat into flour for the export trade were identical with those under which manufacturers of agricultural implements, woolen goods, canned fruits, etc., received drawback on exportations of such articles. The House of Representatives in turn claimed that the action of the Senate in this regard was unconstitutional. The combined result is that the amendment has been struck out and the Bill passed as received from the House, the whole situation standing where it did a week ago.

Important Decision.

A conference of grain and railway men was held in Winnipeg last week to consider the advisability of making Winnipeg an order point and sample market. The conclusion was arrived at that the time had not arrived for making Winnipeg a sample market, the establishment of which would neeessarily involve Winnipeg being also made an order point.

Too Many Mills.

ACCORDING to the London Miller, the time is coming when United States millers will have to acknowledge that their country is oversupplied with mills, and that in order to keep going they will have to import wheat in much the same fashion as Great Britain. They may get a lift now that "food fads" have narrowed down to within reasonable compass, but the broad fact still remains that there are too many mills.

There is a further tendency to increase the number of mills in the United States that are grinding Canadian wheat in bond, and there will, no doubt, be an increased supply of flour available for export from this source. There is no indication, however, at present that such can be produced at a price London can afford to pay, while on the other hand the Scotch and Irish trade may, perhaps, be able to handle it in moderate quantity. It is also among the possibilities of the future that by April or May, if the outlook is then favorable for the next crop on the American side, the small surplus which is generally conceded to exist in the States, may begin to come out and possibly for the greater part in the form of flour.

Canada Will Hold Her Own.

THE proposed reciprocity treaty between Newfoundland and the United States has brought the following interesting statement from Mr. Robt. Meighan, of the Lake of the Woods Milling Co., in regard to the passing of flour as a free commodity between the two countries:

"Canada would not be placed at a disadvantage in view of the fact that some time ago the Newfoundland duty against Canadian flour was removed. It seems as if it would be merely another instance of equal competition as the United States will not, in all probability, cease from being flour exporters for many years to come. Canada has shipped a good deal of flour to Newfoundland, especially within the last few years. In 1904 this trade was extraordinarily heavy, owing to light crops in the United States. Even in the event of good crops across the line there is no reason why we ought not to compete successfully with them. Canadian flour has already competed successfully in the markets of the world, and will do the same in Newfoundland as long as it is permitted to enter that country under the same conditions as flour from other countries."

Gossip of the Trade.

The John McNair Co., Glasgow, Scot., the big American flour importers, have failed with liabilities of $80,000.

The pot and pearl barley mills of John MacKay, Limited, of Bowmanville, Ont., lately destroyed by fire, are being rebuilt, and will resume operations about the middle of August.

The municipal authorities of Peterboro,' Ont., have granted a site and fixed assessment on $1,000 to the Peterboro' Cereal Co., a new industry which will manufacture cereal and shredded vegetable foods.

Judging from the American grocery trade press, U. S. grocers are dissatisfied with the withdrawal merely of the part cash feature of cereal coupons as found in packages of oatmeal and other cereals, and are strenuously exerting themselves to secure the abolishment of all premiums whatsoever.

At a meeting of the grain section of the Toronto Board of Trade last week the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

D. Plews, jr., chairman.
C. W. Band, vice-chairman.
F. G. Morley, secretary-treasurer.
Executive Committee—F. W. Hay, John Carrick, Hedley Shaw, W. D. Matthews, J. L. Fisher, A. V. Pearce, C. D. Watts.

A DEPARTMENT FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS.

Grocers and Tobacco.

IN calling upon a number of the large and small cigar manufacturers and soliciting advertising, the constant reply is "grocers have not the time to give to tobacco and cigars." On enquiry the very opposite seems to be the case. Grocers handle nearly all the best known brands of cigars and cigarettes. We come to the conclusion that the cigar men with swollen heads who think the grocer's trade is not worthy of attention have another think coming to them. Instead of the grocer not having time it would appear that the dude travelers sometimes are too fond of sitting around the hotels, and often fail to get after the grocer, who is generally the best tobacco and cigar seller in the town.

The hustler is after the grocer and he gets the business. Any manufacturer who is neglecting the grocer is bound to be thoroughly left in the long run. It might be observed that the big makers who are prosperous, who lead in their respective lines, and who made enough money last year and every year to visit Cuba in person, are each and every one users of the grocery trade for selling their goods. In fact most of the leaders have been using the Canadian Grocer for years, and with profit. The old cry that the local tobacconist will not handle brands that are sold by the grocer in the same town is absurd. Try him and see.

Tobacco in Ireland.

Even in Ireland the nutritive potato may be compelled to yield some share of popularity to the aromatic weed.

Professor Harper, of Lexington, Ky., who spent some months in Ireland assisting in the curing of the tobacco raised by Col. Nugent Everard, at Navan, has returned home, bringing with him some samples of Irish tobacco, which experts have pronounced first-class. This may open up a rich harvest for the green field of Ireland.

The New Tuckett Factory.

Arrangements are now under way for opening the new factory by the George E. Tuckett Cigar Mfg. Co., to replace the one in Montreal recently destroyed by fire. The company will fill all orders temporarily from their London and Hamilton factories, so that the trade will be in no way inconvenienced. Premises have been secured at 862 and 864 St. Lawrence street, and at Fraser Bros. warehouse on St. James street, to be used as storehouses for tobacco and cigars. The company are negotiating for further temporary accommodation.

Tobacco Improperly Packed.

According to the Kingsville Reporter, tobacco growers in that section are bringing in their tobacco very poorly packed, and complaints are frequent because buyers object to giving top-notch prices for inferior looking leaf.

Fake Brands.

Smart retailers would do well to watch out for a number of fake brands that are being foisted upon unsuspecting folk. Grocers, especially, should beware of any man who says he can sell you a Manuel Garcia cigar wholesale at less than five cents each. They cost in reality far more than that at wholesale. The fake brands in question are very cleverly put up with a blue band signifying the 'importers' guarantee, which may mean, however, that the cigars were made in New York and thus imported into Canada, but not from Havana.

Source of U. S. Cigars.

It may interest the trade to know that only one twenty-eighth—nearly 250,000,000 —of the total number of cigars made in the United States are Key West or Florida make. The banner cigar-making state of the Union is Pennsylvania, which manufactures in a year nearly 2,000,000,000 cigars. New York makes 1,500,000,000 in a year, and Ohio 750,000,000. The other states are practically trailers to these, with the exception of Virginia, which manufactures in a year 500,000,000 cigars, and is the only one of the big tobacco producing states which makes cigars in large numbers. Kentucky, which furnishes an enormous amount of tobacco, makes comparatively few cigars, New Jersey makes yearly nearly twice as many as Florida.

The Empire Tobacco Co., Granby, Que., is receiving large shipments of Western Ontario tobacco.

The Hilda cigar factory, Hamilton, Ont., have opened a branch in Winnipeg under the managership of E. McCoy.

Messrs. Callahan, cigar dealers, Vancouver, are opening up a new stand on Granville street, near their present place of business.

A. E. Myers, a leading Montreal retail tobacco merchant, has just distributed a dainty Russia leather-covered note book. It is a handy and most acceptable present, and has been distributed in large numbers. His name appears in small gold letters at the extreme edge of the cover, where the book opens, and cannot fail to be seen.

The tobacco growers of China have risen in their wrath against a new tax recently levied upon them. They were ready to pay the "long squeeze," which is levied upon every kind of trade, but the new tax increased their imposts four-fold. It will be generally conceded that the "long squeeze," if its name means anything, would exhaust the patience of even a Chinaman.

M. Michaels, owner of the cigar emporium at the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, and Chateau Frontenac, Quebec, has decided to take a rest. He left last week on an extended tour to the Mediterranean and different countries in Europe and Asia. Mr. Michaels has an art department in conjunction with his cigar stands and intends selecting exclusive articles while abroad that will delight the connoisseur. Mr. Michaels is accompanied by his wife and family, and will be absent over three months.

Freights And Charters

WITH the last week of orthodox calendar winter ended, all eyes centre on spring shipping and transportation. It is naturally expected that for a few weeks the means of getting about either by railway or any other method will be hampered by the storm, thaws and frosts. Last Monday, Feb. 20, the Allan R.M.S. Corinthian sailed from Halifax for Liverpool. Her cargo was larger than when five weeks ago she left St. John and Halifax.

This week the well-known R.M.S. Parisian will be the Allan boat and her cargo for departure on Monday, Feb. 27, promises to be one of the best during the winter season.

It is interesting to compare the cargoes carried by the Allan Liner Ionian and the C.P.R. ss. Lake Manitoba, which were as follows: SS. Ionian for Liverpool, from St. John, N.B., Feb. 5, 1905—Grain, C. P.R., 23,903 bush. wheat; flour, sacks, C.P.R., 210: butter, pkgs, C.P.R., 965 local; cheese, boxes, C.P.R., 254 local. Provisions — C.P.R., 431 boxes bacon, 144 boxes hams, 633 boxes provisions, 4,140 pkgs lard, 142 pkgs meats, 1,231 boxes poultry. Apples, brls.—C.P.R., 332. Miscellaneous — C.P.R., 53 cases typewriters, 5 pkgs rubber hose, etc., 1 case pipes, 38 pkgs agricultural implements, 50 pkgs cotton, 17 pkgs mica pipe.

SS. Lake Manitoba for Liverpool from St. John, Feb. 11, 1905—Grain—C.P.R., 8,443 bush. peas, 24,903 bush. wheat, 34,285 bush. corn. Flour, sacks—C.P.R., 12,413. Cheese, boxes—C.P.R. 43 local, 934 through. Hay, bales—C.P.R., 6,274 long, 2,236 cut. Apples, brls.—C.P.R., 504. Provisions—C.P.R., 67 boxes bacon, 2,435 pkgs lard, 100 cases canned meats, 96 boxes meats, 627 pkgs provisions, 166 boxes hams. Lumber—C.P.R., 45,971 pcs deals, 2,773 maple blocks, 1,005 pcs lumber, 1,981 pkgs lumber, 1,900

On Saturday, February 25th, the C. P. R. boat will be the Lake Champlain, which is one of their largest carriers. While touching upon the C.P.R's. ability to manage well their immense transportation system, which girdles a large portion of the universe, another stroke, on their part, has just been executed. By the acquisition of the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway, the purchase of which is confirmed by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the C.P.R. also secures control of the car ferry system operating between Vancouver on the mainland and Victoria on the island.

WELFARE FEATURES.

A PHYSICIAN, two trained nurses, a class in first aid for the injured and beds for emergency cases are some of the many precautions taken by the National Cash Register Company, of Dayton, Ohio, for the health and welfare of its employes.

The company believes in good health for its employes just as it believes in good materials out of which to make its products. It has followed out such a policy for a number of years, and it is safe to assert that there is not another manufacturing concern in the United States which has healthier or happier employes.

When a person makes application for employment at the factory one of the first requirements is that he shall submit to a physical and medical examination. This is required for two reasons. First, it is the aim of the company to take into its employ only strong and healthy men and women. Second, its employes must be protected from all contagious diseases.

A special study of means to promote the health of its employes is made by the Welfare Department—one of the most important departments of the factory.

A physician employed by the company is at the call of all employes while in the factory without cost to them. He conducts classes in first aid to the injured, and many of the employes have become quite proficient in the work. The physician is aided by two trained nurses, who, themselves, are in close touch with the young women employed in the factory. The rest room in which the girls may go when ill in under their charge.

Ventilation and light receive special attention. The factory buildings are models of the builders' art in this respect. They are clean and light and are supplied with pure air. Everywhere are seen unusual sanitary provisions. For instance, in the polishing room, the air is changed every fifteen minutes, and the emery dust is drawn down by suction into a general exhaust pipe and conveyed out of the building.

The young women are provided with high back chairs and foot rests. They are also supplied with immaculately clean aprons and sleevelets to protect their gowns while at work.

Every building has its bathroom with tubs and shower appliances, and employes are given company's time for bathing.

All employes are given Saturday afternoon as a half holiday the year round. The young women in the factory are permitted to take a recess in the morning of ten minutes, and ten minutes in the afternoon, and leave the factory ten minutes earlier than the men.

Dining rooms are provided where employes may secure warm lunches at a nominal charge. None but the purest of foods are served. Lectures on health and food are frequently given in the Assembly Hall for all the employes by recognized authorities on these subjects. All the known hygienic laws are observed throughout the factory. In addition to all these precautions, the employes of the factory have a Relief Association in which its members are entitled to sick benefits and the services of a physician when needed.

There is a Men's Welfare League, which is the means of providing outdoor athletics of all kinds for the men employes of the factory. A constant effort is being maintained at all times by the company to do everything in its power for the health of its employes, and the good results of this work are becoming more apparent each year.

CANADIAN TRADE INCREASING

THE trade figures for the past seven months are not as encouraging as one could wish, nevertheless, indications of a revival are not wanting. The total imports for consumption were $147,916,422, an increase of $5,768,902, as compared with the same period of the previous year. The schedules in which the increases are shown are coin and bullion, $4,085,899, and free goods, $2,732,674. The increase in the value of free goods brought in denotes that manufacturing is brisk. Imports of dutiable goods show a diminution of $1,049,674. Taking the figures for the month of January, the imports were $18,063,708, as against $17,472,980 for the same four weeks of 1904. Imports of dutiable goods fell off, but there was a gain of over $400,000 in free goods. The export of domestic goods for the seven months aggregated $125,240,493, being a falling off of slightly over $10,000,000 contrasted with the same period of the year preceding. For the month of January only the decrease of exports is just $263,147. Business has begun to pick up again. That is shown by the gain of $343,361 in the exports of manufactures last month. The farmers and fishermen share the increase with the manufacturers. This is evident from the gain of $316,008 in the value of animals and their produce, and of $335,900 in the fisheries exports. Lumber and agricultural products exhibit a decrease.

Sense and Cents

Common sense or dollars and cents—which counts for most in making a trade ?

Common sense says plainly "buy standard goods" ; dollars and cents (your pocketbook) tempts you to buy cheap, nameless articles of trade that will grow dim, dusty, dirty on your shelves. Common sense counts for most in making a trade.

None so Blind As Those Who Won't See.

THE CANADIAN GROCER can prove of valuable assistance to the selling end of any business which seeks trade among the grocery and general storekeepers of Canada.

We advance many plain, indisputable arguments to this effect.

And still there are some folks who can't see it.

Some who can't see how it's going to pay them.

And won't even invest a few dollars to find out.

Very few folks like this, but we would like to convince even them.

If we only could, we'd get a good deal of satisfaction out of it—and we know they would, too.

Don't you think they're blind to their own interests?

Here's a paper that finds a welcome in every worth-while grocery store from Halifax to Vancouver once every week—so can't you see that an announcement of any interest must surely command some attention?

The advertising columns of THE CANADIAN GROCER provide about the best way we know of keeping in close touch with all the grocers of Canada all the time.

You can see value in a paper like this—

Can't you?

Our whole aim is to give the clerks the best value we can secure.

Toronto Branches of Canada Grocers, Limited, win the Bristol Cup

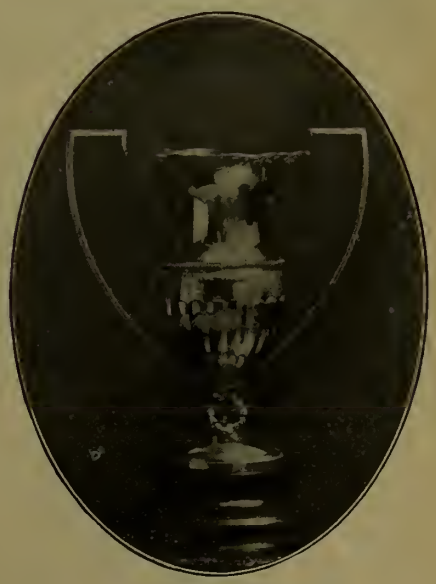
THE CANADIAN GROCER has pleasure in reproducing in this week's issue photographs of the hockey team of the Toronto branches of the Canada Grocers, Limited, of the Bristol Cup, of which the Toronto team have been the proud possessors since last week, and of Mr. G. E. Bristol of Hamilton, the donor of what is unquestionably one of the handsomest hockey trophies that have yet been given in any Canadian league.

In the Winter of 1903-1904, a series of games was played between the Hamilton and Toronto branches of the Canada Grocers, Limited, and when it was proposed to play another series during the present Winter, the president, Mr. Geo. E. Bristol, very generously donated the handsome trophy shown in the accompanying photograph, for competition between teams representing branches from the different cities where the company is located. Three games were played, the first at Hamilton on Feb. 6, at the Thistle Rink, resulting in favor of the Tofonto branches by 6-3, a recherche supper being served at the Royal Hotel after the game. The second game was played a week later at the Victoria College Rink, Toronto, the score being 6-0, also in favor of Toronto.

The third and last contest took place at the Thistle Rink, Hamilton, last week, again going to Toronto by 3-1, and the cup was, therefore, awarded to the eastern team.

Although the scores on paper would indicate that the Hamilton team was outclassed, such was not the case; every game was hardly fought for, and, individually, there was little choice between the different players. The power of combination, however, is bound to assert itself, and to this factor alone can be attributed the success of the Toronto team.

Of the winning team, Warren Bros. & Co. are represented by four players, Barnhouse, Stewart, Warren, and Smith; The Davidson & Hay Limited are represented by one, namely, Wyllie; John Sloan & Co., by Howard; the remaining player, Hortop, the energetic captain of the team, being in the head office of the company at 19 Colborne street.



To Stewart, the star player of the Toronto's, much of the credit for winning the three successive games is due. Quick as a flash, and using his head at all stages of the game, he is generally acknowledged to be fast enough for any company. Geo. Hortop, the captain, is to be congratulated on the judgment used in collecting his team, the energy displayed in the practice games, to say nothing of the untiring zeal with which he coached his confreres in the art of combination play, to which, more than anything else, must be attributed their success.

CANADA'S GROWING FOREIGN SERVICE.

BY the establishment of commercial agencies in Japan, Mexico and Bristol, England, what may conveniently be termed Canada's foreign service has, during 1904, been augmented to fifteen members. The personnel of this consular body is one that Canadians may regard with satisfaction and even with pride. Each agent is a competent, level-headed business man, and, so far as can be judged from the fruits of their labor, they are doing their work conscientiously and well.

Much of the success which has attended the efforts of the agents to interest their various constituencies in Canadian goods and stir up Canadian exporters to invade foreign markets, has been due to a good central organization. Though separated from one another and from headquarters by thousands of miles of land and sea, yet by means of an excellent system they are kept in close touch and their work made to tell with united force and directness.

The charge or superintendency of the commercial agencies is in the hands of Mr. F. C. T. O'Hara, a most capable civil servant, to whom all due credit must be given for placing the service on a more satisfactory footing. He has clear-cut ideas of his own, which he is developing by degrees, and which should, if followed to their logical conclusion, lead to a foreign commercial system second to none in the world in point of efficiency.

Under him, fifteen agents have been placed, located at the following centres: Sydney, Australia; Melbourne, Australia; Paris, France; Birmingham, Leeds, Manchester and Bristol, England; Yokohama, Japan; Mexico, Mexico; Christiania, Norway; Cape Town, Cape Colony; Kingston, Jamaica; St. John, Antigua; St. Kitts, West Indies; Port of Spain, Trinidad.

One of the most important steps taken during 1904 to increase the effectiveness of the work of the commercial agents was the inception of a series of weekly reports. Prior to February, the reports sent in by the agents were only made public through the regular monthly reports of the Department, and were thus stale by the time they reached those interested. The weekly reports largely obviate this defect. They appear with the utmost regularity and come to hand almost like personal letters from the agents.

In addition to containing the reports of the agents, these weekly publications of the Department supply lists of trade enquiries, prepared by them. The enquiries have been found very valuable, and have frequently opened up connections which would otherwise never have been contracted.

Other features of interest to be found in the weekly reports are notifications of tariff changes and new customs regulations both of Canada and of foreign countries, which affect Canada. Every six months a complete index to the report is prepared and published, thus consolidating all the reports during that period. This index covers not only the agents' reports, but the trade enquiries as well.

The agents are not left to work entirely according to their own devices. There is a system of supervision and a direction of effort, which makes their work doubly effective. Thus, when the superintendent believes that it would be advantageous to have a symposium of opinions from all parts of the globe on a certain line of trade development, he circularizes the agents, and they respond by forwarding their ideas on the subject, based on close, personal acquaintance with all its phases. When these are put together in one of the weekly reports, the combined result is of no little value to those interests in Canada who are seeking development along that line.

In spite, however, of this excellent commercial service, there are some disagreeable features in Canadian foreign trade, which are undoing much of the good work of the agents. In Mr. O'Hara's own words, "many instances have been brought to the attention of the Department by commercial agents of bad packing, goods not up to sample, negligent correspondence, disregard of promised dates of shipment and neglect of foreign customs regulations. In some cases serious loss has been entailed, in others heavy penalties have been inflicted, all of which has endangered the reputation of Canada in the eyes of the foreign buyer."

Evidence on all these points is forthcoming, which completely substantiates Mr. O'Hara's statement. Mr. Larke, Sydney, Australia, writes: "In Wellington a firm had received but three replies to forty-two letters written to manufacturers of various lines. . . . It would be advantageous to Canada that even in such cases the applicants had returned a courteous answer to the letters stating that they could not entertain the proposition, but had passed the letter to a firm which they thought might be able to do so."

Mr. MacLean, Yokohama, Japan, formerly of Ottawa, complains that a Canadian firm in filling an order for Canadian cheese in pots "took advantage of his opportunity to send, on consignment, a supply of the same article to a neighboring firm; thus placing his consignment in opposition to his own cash customer."

Lord Strathcona complains of the selling of July and August made cheese as September cheese. He also complains that "Canadian firms who profess to be interested in export trade in various lines, have never even acknowledged receipt of letters addressed to them. In other cases, comment has been made as to the great delay experienced in receiving replies."

These instances could be supplemented by many others, but they are sufficient to illustrate the tendencies of the times. It is much to be regretted that the excellent work of the Superintendent of Commercial Agencies and his agents should be thus hampered and the development of legitimate trade handicapped by the action of a few carcless and unprincipled exporters.

Fresh and Cured Fish

Selling Prepared Atlantic Boneless Codfish.

WHAT has been one of the greatest detriments to prepared boneless codfish business is owing to the fact that more attention has been centered on the exporting of our better grades of Nova Scotia codfish, known the world over as the finest flavored codfish obtainable. The greater portion of the codfish sent to this market in the past has not been strictly boneless, neither has it been pure Nova Scotia codfish.

The magnitude of this industry is hardly realized by the traveling salesmen or the grocery trade, or the enormous amount of business which can be done with very little energy or time. Codfish is to the Atlantic as salmon is to the Pacific; or, in other words, the codfishing industries of Nova Scotia, from statistics, show that the industry is as large as the great salmon industries of Canada, aggregating nearly four and one half millions of dollars.

A step in the right direction has been made by the firm of Black Bros. & Co., of Halifax and LaHave, N.S., who have, for the past year and a half, been endeavoring to educate the trade and traveling salesmen to the enormous amount of trade which can be obtained in selected brands of pure Nova Scotia codfish, and strictly free from bones. To remove the very small bones from their "Halifax" and "Acadia" brands adds to the cost of production enormously.

If, when offering boneless codfish amongst their trade, and the same applies to the grocery trade selling the consumer, more attention were paid to the fact that absolutely pure cod, strictly free from bones is the cheapest and most satisfactory in the long run the result for the salesmen would be very much more satisfactory. As it is now, large quantities of prepared so-called "boneless" codfish is sold on the market, and when the consumer procures these goods, they find them not absolutely boneless and mixed with other fish.

Grocers can now buy boneless codfish, especially prepared for keeping at almost all seasons of the year, provided ordinary care is used, packed in attractive non-porous wooden boxes and in handsome cardboard cartons, both in shredded form, and small steaks, the latter used principally for preparing creamed codfish.

Small Packers Oppose Combine.

A LARGE number of the small salmon packers in the State of Washington are taking a determined stand in opposition to the Earles Bill, which provides for a close season on the Fraser River in 1906 and 1908. They claim that the salmon combine will be able to increase its profits by at least $1,250,000; that it will secure complete control of the fishing industry on Puget Sound; that more than a thousand seiners will be driven out of employment; that the independent packers will he put out of business, and that scores of minor business men and industries dependent largely upon the fishing trade will suffer.

That there will be petitions of 10,000 names presented to the State Legislature protesting against the bill is the assertion of one of the independent packers.

The fight over the Earles Bill promises to develop into one of the bitterest of the session. On one side, in favor of the bill, are arrayed the Pacific American Fisheries Company and the Alaska Packers' Association, controlling three-fourths of the salmon pack of Puget Sound, and with them is the British Columbia Packers' Association. Opposing it are the majority of the independent packers, the Fishermen's Union, more than a thousand purse-seiners, and a number of persons who claim to represent small fishing tugs, the smaller merchants of fishing localities and a variety of smaller industries dependent upon the fishing industry for a great portion of their income.

Winnipeg Fish Firms.

With the approach of the Lenten season the Winnipeg fish firms are making preparations to handle a large trade. An increasing amount of this lucrative business is being taken care of each year by the grocers who are not content to allow the butchers to monopolize it. Winnipeg fish houses find that the grocery trade are becoming more interested in fish and they believe that a very big proportion of this year's Lenten business will be done through the grocers.

To Preserve Halibut Fisheries.

At the last meeting of the Vancouver Board of Trade, the principal question dealt with was the deep-sea fisheries on the Pacific Coast as carried on by Seattle and Tacoma companies. The general opinion was that the conservation of the halibut fisheries depended upon some alteration in the present fisheries act whereby foreign fishing vessels would be prohibited from making use of Canadian harbors for any other purpose than merely as harbors of refuge.

At the present time Americans can fish within and without the three mile limit about the Queen Charlotte Islands and market their fish on the other side free of duty, while Canadians have to pay 20 per cent. duty to take their catch into United States territory. It is proposed to have the whole matter laid before the Government at Ottawa, and thus secure an adjustment of the trouble.

Will Blast Salmon Barriers.

The removal of obstructions to the progress of sockeye salmon towards the spawning grounds of the headwaters of the Oxstahl and Copper Rivers, is to be carried out fortwith by the Dominion Government. Both streams were in the past famous spawning-grounds for sockeye salmon, but of late no spawning has occurred on either river because the fish could not pass the barriers set up by nature against their progress.

Salmon for Japan.

It is expected that 32,000 tons of dog salmon will be shipped from Vancouver to Japan during the next few months, and one firm alone is declared to have orders on hand for 16,000 tons, the remainder of the total being divided up between the smaller companies doing business there. The largest portion of these consignments will have to be shipped on steamers departing from Seattle, as there is not enough space available on the regular transpacific liners from the British port. At present dog salmon is jobbing at about $30.50, and if 30,000 tons is taken as a fair estimate of what will leave the other side this season, it will mean total purchases at Vancouver aggregating $750,000.

Cheese and Butter Situation.

CHEESE.

THE market continues in the same listless, dull state that has been the rule for more than a month past. The dullness on the other side, as borne out by reports of small sales and encouraged by the United Kingdom merchants believing that the stocks as reported from this side are underestimated, results in nothing new being put through Montreal. The reported stocks at London are about 20,000 boxes less than a year ago, and it is almost certain that invisible stocks, that is, cheese held by retailers, are much less than they were a year ago. In 1903, retailers who had, in the preceding Winter of 1902, to pay from 60 to 70s. per cwt., or say, from 12½c. to 14½c. per lb., quietly loaded up with goods, at the same time leading wholesalers to believe these were going into consumption. The heavy stocks both in the United Kingdom and Canada, however, proved the fallacy of this later on, and the losses on the part of both importers in Great Britain and exporters from Canada were severe and the largest for many years back. It is believed that there are a great many United Kingdom cheese importers selling wherever they can at slight reductions under the prevalent market prices, which range from 51s. to 53s. For instance, if an importer is receiving goods that cost him earlier in the season from 40s. to 45s., he can realize a handsome profit if he lets go some of them at 48s. to 50s. But if it is really true that retailers have been going rather short on their requirements, they may make up their minds within a fortnight or so to fill up a bit, and with the stocks in strong hands, they will then have to pay up. The Home and Colonial Stores, with their many shops, have kept up selling at 5d. per lb. (10c.), and thus have kept other retailers from looking after selling cheese at a price which meant a certain loss. The object of the Home and Colonial Stores, of course, was to draw trade for other articles in which there was a fair profit, and with cheese as the "cutting article"; doubtless they have succeeded. In the meantime they have made things dull for cheese. While fodder cheese will be made as soon as these factories which are not equipped for butter making begin to receive milk, and while, if it turns out that stocks of old cheese are smaller, prices will be high for this class of goods, with the scarcity of butter and the very high prices ruling for it, no factory that can make butter will trouble much about fodder cheese. There are some large shipments of held cheese being made this week which will further reduce stocks held here by between 15,000 and 20,000 boxes.

BUTTER.

The phenomenally high prices being made for this article still continue, 28 to 30c. being easily obtained for finest creamery. There has been some talk of shipping Canadian butter back from England, but there is very little left there and no help can be expected from that source to reduce prices.

The Bacon Situation.

Conditions in the export market remain practically unchanged for the week, steady, even trade being reported, with quotations on bacon ranging from 46 to 50 shillings. Locally, deliveries of hogs are much better than last week, and brisk trade is reported at prices 10c. higher than a week ago, viz., $5.60. Improved domestic and export business is anticipated from now on by the packers.

New Zealand Butter for Canada.

Canadians may have an opportunity within the next few weeks of testing New Zealand butter. A Montreal firm is said to be negotiating for some antipodean shipments, and are prepared to bring them over if they can make a profit. The particular New Zealand butter available for the present Canadian stringency is now stored in Liverpool. If this is secured it will be the first New Zealand butter to reach the Canadian market.

Produce Section of Board of Trade.

The produce section of the Toronto Board of Trade has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Chairman, J. T. Madden; vice-chairman, Andrew Gunn; secretary-treasurer, F. G. Morley; executive, W. J. Marshall, J. A. Maclean, T. H. Smith, Albert A. Thompson, and A. R. Willard.

Our Export Butter Trade.

A minor point in connection with our export butter trade, but one on which the provision dealers in England lay considerable stress, is the desirability of having a uniform weight of 56 pounds of butter in each box shipped. The trade in Great Britain dislike receiving shipments in which the boxes vary in weight from 56 pounds to 60 pounds, and if all our butter that is exported in boxes could be invoiced at 56 lbs. per package, it would be a decided step in advance. The following letter, received by the Extension of Markets Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, gives the views of the Liverpool Provision Trade Association, on this matter:

"I am instructed by the directors of this Association to communicate with you with the view of pointing out that considerable inconvenience and loss frequently arise through some parcels of butter in boxes being marked or invoiced as 57 lbs., 58 lbs. or 60 lbs. each. We would strongly urge that all boxes of butter should be a uniform full 56 lbs. weight—with a sufficient excess to allow for shrinkage,—and that shippers must not invoice to customers on this side any excess of that weight. This will put on a uniform basis American, Canadian, New Zealand, Australian and Argentine butter.

"Any deficiency in test of actual weights or average loss, either abroad or in Liverpool, to be allowed as from 56 lbs. only, this regulation being necessary in order to prevent confusion and disputes, and to maintain the confidence of English buyers."

(Sgd.) J. S. Harmood Banner,
Secretary.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

Provisions of all kinds tend a little to the quiet side this week. Bacon is unchanged, while hams are a trifle higher, as shown by the accompanying quotations. Word has been received that the bacon market in the old country is a little off. On account of the firmness of pork last week lard is quotably higher. Yearling lambs is 1-2c higher than last week. Other fresh meats continue unchanged. Our quotations are as follows:

Long clear bacon, per lb	$0 08½	$0 08¾

Cheese—The cheese market continues steady, last week's prices being unchanged. Export trade is limited to orders on stored cheese for English account, c.i.f. quotations being 51s. to 52s., with the future pointing to higher prices. Our quotations are as follows:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	....	0 11
" twins	....	0 11½

Butter—The butter situation is a trifle easier than last week, and prices have accordingly been reduced. At the same time very little butter is coming forward, notwithstanding the fact that the railroads are now delivering goods without delay. It is definitely known that stocks in the country are light, and that during the last week we have been getting the accumulations of the last fortnight. March is usually a very light butter-making month, which means that we may see higher prices during the next few weeks. Wholesale dealers report that receipts of creamery butter are quite 1s. 3d less than usual at this time of year. Creamery solids are scarce, and the market is practically bare of dairy butter in tubs. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Creamery prints	0 27	0 29
" solids, fresh	0 22	0 25
Dairy prints	0 24	0 25
" large rolls	0 21	0 23

Poultry—Poultry is quiet, with supplies scarce and prices unchanged from last week. Our quotations are as follows:

Chickens, spring, dry plucked	0 12	0 13
Hens	0 07	0 08
Turkeys	0 16	0 17
Ducks	0 12	0 13

Montreal.

Provisions—There is no change in the provision market to note. The undertone of the market is firm, in sympathy with the recent advance in live hogs. The demand for lard is fair. Pork is unchanged. Smoked meats are in rather slow demand with prices unchanged. Live hogs show a good deal of activity, and strong feeling has consequently developed in dressed hogs. Fresh abattoir stock was sold from $8.50 to $9.00 and $7.50 to $8.00 for country dressed. Receipts are improving somewhat, and it is not unlikely that prices may recede 25c to 50c per hundred during the week.

Butter—The butter market continues decidedly strong, and it is apparent that this does not apply solely to this market, as the scarcity of butter seems to prevail all over the country. Prices are being realized now for cold storage stock that would have been laughed at some months ago.

Cheese—No new developments in the local market are noted, and business is certainly dull, and prices in consequence purely nominal. Export shipments are away under the same period last year via Portland, while those via St. John are somewhat in excess of a similar period last year. Local market unchanged. Cable advices from Liverpool to-day report lower market at 51s. to 52s. The condition of the butter market is appreciated by cheese exporters, as with the high prices ruling in butter very little early fodder cheese will be put out.

Eggs—The egg market has shown a much stronger feeling during the past week, and prices for Montreal limed and good fall cold storage stock advanced one cent per dozen. We quote:

Selected Fall fresh	0 23	0 24
Montreal limed	0 20	0 21
Medium cold storage	0 17	0 18
Strictly fresh	0 30	0 32

Provisions—In pork the advanced prices are firmly held, there is, however, but light sales. Beef is unchanged, and dull-smoked meats are rather higher. Pure lard has again slightly advanced. Refined is unchanged. In fresh meats, beef is unchanged with price quite low. Veal more freely received, price un-

AMONG THE BOARDS OF TRADES.

Quebec City.

A SPECIAL meeting of the Quebec Board of Trade was held on Feb. 22 to receive and hear the views of a delegation of merchants from the Montreal Federation of Associations of Retail Merchants on the question of the suppression of trading stamps. The personnel of the delegation was as follows: J. O. Gareau, President; Armand Giroux, O. Lemire, P. Daoust, Allaire Trudeau, A. Fleury, W. U. Boivin, Ald. J. D. Couture, E. J. Paquet and Eug. Fleury.

Mr. Power, President of the Board of Trade, requested Mr. Gareau to address the meeting on the subject at issue, when the latter explained that it was the intention of the retail merchants of Montreal to petition the Federal Government to introduce a measure of legislation at the present session for the suppression of trading stamps, and to make it an illegal act to issue, handle or sell these articles. He said that the Provincial Legislature had already passed a law to that effect, but an appeal had been taken to the courts as to the power of the Legislature to do so, and it might take four or five years before a final decision of the matter was reached. It was now the intention to appeal to the Dominion Government for an immediate suppression of the trading stamp system. The Federation was seeking the support of the various trade bodies throughout the Dominion. The Quebec Board of Trade had already passed such a resolution, and invited the Board to name a deputation to join with the large deputation from different parts of the country, which it was prepared to gather in Ottawa on the 8th of March, next, to lay their views before the Government.

It was finally moved by Mr. G. E. Amyot that a delegation of the Board be sent to Ottawa on March 8 to join with the delegations from other cities in supporting the demands of the Federation of Associations of Retail Merchants for legislation for the suppression of trading stamps. The motion was adopted and the meeting adjourned.

Collingwood.

At the annual meeting of the Collingwood Board of Trade held last week, the following officers were elected: W. A. Hogg, president; P. Paton, vice-president; J. Morris, secretary; G. R. Carpenter, treasurer; council, W. A. Copeland, D. G. Cooper, T. F. Hodgson, F. W. Churchill, C. E. Stephens, Capt. F. Scott, G. W. Bruce, W. T. Toner, J. Guilfoyle, and W. T. Allan.

BANANA COMBINE.

A movement is on foot in the United States for a formation of a large banana shippers' combine in opposition to the Fruit Despatch. The new combine is being promoted by Baltimore and Philadelphia interests, and is looked upon as likely to be a check on the workings of the Fruit Despatch, which latter company have had everything their own way during the last four or five years; they have practically dictated terms, etc., to the trade, and it is felt that the time has arrived for a consolidation, looking to the protection of trade generally.

PARCEL POST AND MAIL ORDER HOUSE.

IN a recent debate in the Commons, Postmaster-General Sir William Mulock was questioned about the cost of the parcel post section of the public service. He answered that the cost of carrying papers and parcels was lumped under one head, and that that branch showed a deficit. The public is entitled to a report on these branches, separately.

The reasons for a public carriage of mails, whether letter or newspaper, do not subsist in a like manner in the case of parcel post. All reasons, social, political, and commercial, make a Government control of the letter and paper post necessary. They are of such a nature that their security and inviolability must be absolutely guaranteed by the Government. But no such argument can be advanced in the case of parcel post. This feature of the public service rests on a totally different basis. It is a question merely of utility. Its justification lies in its providing a convenience to the people at large, which they otherwise would not enjoy. This being so, it is reasonable to expect that the service should be self-supporting.

It was never intended that this part of the postal service should merely subserve the interests of the departmental stores and mail order houses. The mail order business is to some extent just in its infancy in Canada, but it is a pretty lusty infant. The evil is not so attractive that special privileges should be granted for its propagation. Yet that is exactly what happens if parcel post does not pay its own way. The situation is briefly this. The Government has a well equipped service for the transmission of mails By mail, in the first instance is meant letters and papers. Letter-post need not be considered here. As for the latter, as supplying education and culture to points at which the schools cannot touch, as being the vehicle of that publicity which has been worshipped as the foundation of democracy, as enlightening the public politically, and inducing good, intelligent citizenship in the people at large, as being the mirror of the laws, decrees, customs and opinion of the land, as exerting these influences to a greater or a less degree—for the press does exert these influences,—the free transmission of papers by mail is entirely justifiable. But what argument can be adduced for the carriage of parcels—merchandise—on any other basis than that of its being self-supporting? It is a straight business transaction. A man goes to the market where he can buy his goods cheapest. The cost of an article is the actual amount paid for laying it down in his house.

We have the two methods of purchasing goods before us. In the first case, there is the retail dealer who buys his goods in the regular way and pays his full freight or express thereon. He then retails them—and this is the crucial point of the question—taking as the basis of his selling price the amount he paid for them, plus the freight or express charged. Let us be clear on this point. The small dealer at no stage of the proceedings receives the slightest privilege or benefit from anybody. He keeps up his store in the town in which he does business. He pays taxes to the full on his building and stock. He employs clerks and assistants, who in turn contribute their quota to the revenue of the municipality. By his industry, he, directly or indirectly, improves the market for the farmers' produce and adds to [illegible]perity. The railway and express companies receive their proportional advantages. He does this while making a fair percentage of profit, never very large, on his investment.

On the other hand, there is the mail order house, whether it be entirely such or be a departmental store doing a mail order business. This concern has no stake in the towns in which its does business, it adds not one iota to the well-being or prosperity of the country at large; its whole interests, so far as they effect any good, are centred in the one big city which contains it. But not only have we these general evil effects of this class of business, but we have the positive unfairness of competition, resulting from a cheaper method of transportation. By the people at large paying for the deficit, which results from these companies sending their merchandise through the mails at less than the actual cost of the service, they are enabled to undersell the small retailer in a radically unfair manner. The small dealer has one hand tied behind his back when he goes into the fight. He has to pay a share of that very deficit which enables the mail-order house to take his business away from him. Such a condition is entirely at variance with our conceptions of fair and honest competition. The mail-order business is a menace to the retail dealer. It growth is viewed with alarm by all business men. At least let it not be fostered by special mailing privileges.

There is just one way to change the present conditions. Let the merchants unite in bringing pressure to bear on the Government to have the parcel post raised to a fair rate. Let each business man throughout the country make personal representations to his representative or Senator of the unfairness of the present system. A strong and united protest will accomplish much.

GRAND CONVENTION.

A LEADING Toronto wholesale grocer, in commenting on the annual meeting of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild in Toronto last week, remarked that it was, without doubt, "the grandest convention in the history of the Guild." This organization has grown steadily until, at the present time, it represents a powerful force in Canadian public opinion that must be taken into consideration in all matters affecting the trade and commerce of the nation.

We have always sympathized with the aim of the Guild in the main, namely, the organization of the wholesale grocers of Canada into one association, for the unification of individual interests wherever possible, and the better despatch of matters affecting the trade as a whole. At the same time, we do not forget that we have, from time to time, taken issue with the Guild in matters of policy, etc., and in almost every case the result has been the reverse of unsatisfactory to ourselves. But, casting all differences aside, we are in hearty accord with the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild in so far as it now stands for one of the most representative business organizations in the country, and has for its motto "the upbuilding of Canadian trade."

BE OPTIMISTIC.

DO not admit that any town is better than your own. There is too much complaining about the deadness of the town, the unprogressiveness of its citizens, and the perversity of everything and everybody. This kind of talk will never make your business any brighter. Remember that, whatever be the faults and failings of your particular bailiwick, that is the place in which you have cast your lot, and that your success depends primarily on the town's success. Be optimistic.

If there is any royal road to success, it lies in that. Convince yourself, first, that you are doing business in a community of intelligent people, who are able and ready to buy your goods, if you can show them that they are right in quality and price. Then get out and show them. That is what an advertisement is for—that is what your show windows are for. You will be surprised how infectious such a spirit of enterprise is. It will spread from you to your next door neighbor, from him to the rest of the street, and from that street to the rest of the town. That is what you want. Life and spirit in the town mean business and profits for you. Be optimistic.

TORONTO UNIVERSITY AFFAIRS.

A CRISIS in the affairs of the Provincial University of Ontario seems imminent. Charges of a grave character against the administration of the University are being investigated by a special committee of the Senate. Even if the committee make an indefinite finding and seek to smooth over the difficulty, as was the case in 1895, the people of Ontario will be in the right if they demand a more thorough and far-reaching investigation.

Two years ago and more, the Maclean newspapers directed attention to the internal troubles which were undermining the good work of the University. At that time these references were resented by many newspapers of the Province, particularly The Toronto Globe. To-day the press has awakened to the fact that there really is something wrong. We find The Globe admitting that, "within the circles of the University there is unconcealed division and discontent. There is division among the teachers and discontent among the students, and the spirit of disquiet broods over all. Outside the inner circles, among the graduates and friends of the University, there is a growing sense of discouragement, a feeling almost of hopelessness, as regards any real and satisfactory betterment of the situation."

One reason why nothing has come of agitations, hitherto conducted in and around the University, is that graduates have shown a foolish pride about having the University appear more perfect than she really is. They cannot bear to have outsiders critizing their Alma Mater. Notwithstanding, among themselves no one is more critical or more inclined to find fault on the least occasion. Perhaps it would be as well for them to remember that the University is not a private academy, which they alone are permitted to criticize, but a University of and for the people.

SPRING TRADE PREPARATIONS.

FROM the trade standpoint spring has arrived, calendar and weather conditions notwithstanding. All classes of business men are looking forward to a good spring trade. The retailer feels he should sell more goods than formerly to hold his own as to profits and show a desirable increase. Many, reaching a certain point in the volume of business done, stop there, and do not put forth energy to reach beyond. It is hustle nowadays or give up the ship. The most successful man will be he who outbids his competitors.

Granting that the store has been refurnished with new and fresh goods, the next thing to do is to make the public acquainted with the kind of store kept. This is done by the right kind of advertising, by window trimming; in fact, anything that will unfold the life within. Neglect nothing that will contribute to the betterment of your store. Represent things as they are and keep on hand the best goods the community will buy. By buying goods that you can sell quickly the value of newness is learned. It must be remembered, too, that what will sell in one locality is often a drug in another. The merchant, therefore, who would suit the people in his district, must be a close observer to comprehend the possible desires of his people. There must be accuracy in adapting purchases to probable demand.

Spring farm and trade preparations will soon begin actively. A fair crop and fair markets last year, with prices of all commodities high, will stimulate agricultural activities and bring money into the pockets of the tillers of the soil. This will increase their purchasing power for more of your goods. Are you going to get your share?

DOMINION WHOLESALE GROCERS' GUILD.

FOLLOWING up the resolution adopted by the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild in Toronto last week in regard to the undue retention of French goods in New York, a deputation waited upon the Dominion Government on March 1 in the hope of obtaining the desired re-adjustment. It is felt that the wholesale trade are suffering an injustice and that something must be done to prevent American interests from using

Mr. Albert Hebert, Montreal,
Vice-Pres. Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild for Quebec.

Canada as a dumping ground for such goods at times when they are oversupplied to the injury of direct importers. The Grocer will publish the results of the conference in next week's issue.

One of the questions on which the Guild was unanimous was the continuance of the duty on tea coming into Canada from the United States, it being the general opinion that the Canadian trade would suffer if U. S. houses were given an opportunity to flood the country with cheap lines of tea.

The grocers were also of one mind in protesting against the undue delay on the part of the railways in settling shortage claims. When complaints are registered against the railways they throw the blame on the steamship companies and so bring about a deadlock, which is not only a hindrance to trade generally, but intolerable to individual shippers. Exception was taken to the bills of lading as issued by the steamship and transportation companies. These are becoming more and more stringent every year in favor of carriers. At the present time the steamship lines are hardly liable for anything, not even bad storage. The Guild decided that both these latter matters should be brought before the Railway Commission immediately and an endeavor made to remedy the existing state of affairs.

The following officers were elected for 1905: President, Lieut.-Col. J. I. Davidson, Toronto; vice-presidents—for Ontario, H. C. Beckett, Hamilton; for Quebec, Albert Hebert, Montreal; for New Brunswick, A. H. F. Randolph, St. John; for Nova Scotia, H. G. Bauld, Halifax; for Prince Edward Island, W. H. Aikin, Charlottetown; for Manitoba, K. Mackenzie, Winnipeg; for British Columbia, Charles H. Todd, Victoria; secretary, J. Stanley Cook, Montreal.

Lieut.-Col. J. I. Davidson.

The new president of the Guild needs no introduction to readers of The Grocer, being already well and favorably known to members of the trade throughout Canada. In the Province of Ontario and City of Toronto he is one of the most prominent citizens, taking an active part in public and military affairs. During 1904 he served the Guild in the capacity of vice-president for Ontario.

Col. John I. Davidson, Toronto.
Pres. Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild.

Colonel Davidson is president of the wholesale grocery firm of Davidson & Hay, and of the Western Brokerage Co., both of Toronto, vice-president of the Canada Grocers Limited, and in addition is actively interested in a number of other large business concerns.

Mr. Albert Hebert

Vice-President (for the Province of Quebec) of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, is well known in Canadian grocery circles as a leading member of the Montreal wholesale grocery, wine and liquor firm of Hudon, Hebert & Cie. His business career dates from 1883, when he entered the firm of Hudon, Hebert & Cie., along with his brother Zephie, as a clerk. Mr. Hebert has learned the grocery trade from the bottom up, having served in almost every post, until at the present time he is one of the principal partners of the firm.

Mr. H. C. Beckett.

Mr. H. C. Beckett, vice-president of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild for Ontario, was born Dec. 12, 1860, in Hamilton. Like many other successful Canadian business men, he started out for himself at a very early age, and for two years worked in the machine shop of the F. G. Beckett Engine Works Co., Hamilton. In 1878 he entered the employ of the wholesale grocery firm of W. H. Gillard & Co., in which firm he has been actively engaged for the last 27 years. Mr. Beckett, by reason of his sterling ability, aptitude and enthusiasm in his chosen field, soon won promotion to more responsible positions with W. H. Gillard & Co., until at the present time he is second partner in the firm.

Mr. Beckett is recognized throughout the Canadian grocery trade as one who has given both his time and ability to the advancement of the best interests of the Canadian grocery trade. For instance, he was the originator of the equalization rate system of selling sugar. His recent appointment to the Ontario vice-presidency of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild shows the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow tradesmen, since it is well known that such positions are honorary and given only in recognition of services rendered to the grocery trade in its widest sense.

Mr. H. C. Beckett,
Vice-Pres. Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild for Ontario

Are You Handling CELLULOID STARCH ?

Live dealers realize that substitution doesn't pay. People enjoy being the judges of what is best for them and it is wise policy to give them what they want.

The extra profit made from trial sales of unknown brands is very insignificant compared with the continuous profit from repeated sales, sure to be the lot of any meritorious article aggressively advertised to the consumer.

Celluloid Starch does what is claimed for it and the present heavy demand is the result.

Its success is a natural result of the genuine merit it possesses.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

Toronto, March 2, 1905.

BUSINESS conditions are steadily improving throughout the country since the opening up of the railroads after the recent blockade, and the wholesale trade report a fair volume of trade for the week under review. Country orders are being hurried through in some cases, owing to the fact that the Spring break-up will occasion considerable delay in delivery during the next month or so.

Sugars show a firmer tendency, an advance of $\frac{1}{8}$c. in raws coming into effect in New York on Monday, Feb. 27, and an advance in Canadian refined is imminent. Scarcity of gallon tomatoes is reported as well as frequent importations of canned tomatoes from United States. An interesting feature of canned goods this week is the increased enquiries for canned salmon. The retail trade are evidently beginning to anticipate their Summer wants in view of the likelihood of a firm salmon market. An advance in New Orleans and West Indian molasses is recorded and tapioca is said to be slightly higher.

The market is bare of evaporated apricots and peaches, and sultana raisins are quoted $\frac{1}{2}$c. lower than last week. Cables from France advise a firm and advancing market in Tarragona almonds. The bean market continues to show an additional strength, an advance of 10c. in hand-picked being noted during the week under review. Farmers are said to be holding back supplies in the expectation of still higher prices, which will, in all probability, rule during the next few weeks.

CANNED GOODS.

A seasonable demand at unchanged prices for canned goods is reported for the week, as well as a scarcity of gallon tomatoes. Importations of American tomatoes, 3s, have taken place, on account of the fact that there are no tomatoes in first hands. Some of the wholesale houses are quoting tomatoes as high as $1.30. There are increased enquiries for canned fruits, and additional interest in canned salmon has developed during the last fortnight. Evidently the retail trade are beginning to anticipate their Summer wants, having also an eye to the fact that prices are bound to become firmer in view of the probable close season for salmon during 1906 and 1908 coming into force. SUGAR.

The situation is practically without change.

The tone of the market is very firm, and a fair business in raws has transpired at full former figures, and, in some cases, at 1-16c. advance, both for spot sugars and for sugars to arrive. It has also been reported, but so far without confirmation, that one of the Philadelphia refiners purchased 12,000 bags Cubans for March-April shipment at 3 7/8c., c and f, equal to 5¼c. duty paid, which, if confirmed, would record an advance of ⅛c. for the week, and of 5-16c. from the recent lowest point. Even should this lack confirmation, the price has been practically established by local business in Cuba at equivalent to same basis. Spot New York quotations are nominal on basis of 5⅛c., duty paid for 96 test, and the higher prices named are for sugars afloat, and for March-April shipment. A small cargo of San Domingo centrifugals nearby afloat on sailing vessel, has been sold to speculator at equal 5 3-16c., duty paid, and there are other buyers of Cubans for April-May shipments at same figure, but holders stand out for 1-16c. higher. There are no special indications of change in the situation at present, unless the article should be sympathetically affected by declines in other articles such as coffee, as in many instances, the same people are interested in both these articles.

For the week beet sugars make a net loss of ¾d. per cwt. After advancing from 15s. 3d. to 15s. 5½d., they have taken a sudden drop of 3d. per cwt. on liquidation of large March contracts, and to-day's quotation is 15s. 3¼d. Latest cable from Mr. Q. Ficht, of Magdeburg, indicates no change in the crop situation. The factory estimates of the sowings for Germany for next campaign are only 7 per cent. larger than last year, all of which will be required.

Refined is practically unchanged in all positions, with only a moderate demand in the United States and Canada. The only change to note locally, is a reduction of 5c. per 100 lbs. in quotation for Berlin granulated, giving that "make" a differential of 10c. per 100 lbs. below Montreal granulated. The reduction applies to both bags and barrels, and the differential is good for 30 days only from Feb. 24th.

For week ending Feb. 23rd, meltings at U. S. four ports, were 33,000 tons, an increase of 2,000 tons for the week. Receipts were 58,744 tons, thus increasing stocks by over 25,000 tons. Combined stocks of U. S. and Cuba, on 23rd ult., were 538,488 tons, an increase of 74,785 tons over last year. Total stocks of Europe and America, at latest and even dates, were 2,809,488 tons, or 839,215 tons less than corresponding period last year.

There are no special indications for the immediate future, and we refer to list below for current quotations.

Country Produce.

EGGS.

Supplies of eggs are coming forward more freely, and are now quite equal to the demand. The market may be said to be slowly becoming normal, and prices of new-laid eggs are fully 3c. below last week's level. Cold storage fresh eggs are quoted 2c. easier than last week, and the range of prices on cold storage pickled is 1c. less. We quote the following prices:

BEANS.

The bean market continues to jump, a further advance of 10c. being reported for the week under review. The firmness of the bean situation may be attributed largely to the increased demand for beans this year in foreign markets. Sellers are very firm in their pretensions and in certain quarters the opinion is hazarded that prices may reach $2 for hand-picked beans in the very near future. We quote the following prices:

Vegetables.

Fish and Oysters.

As Lent draws near, an increased demand for all varieties of fish is noted, and the trade are looking forward to brisk business during the next six weeks. A car of sea herring is arriving on the market this week. This will be the last of the season.

A feature of the fish market this week is the scarcity of white fish. Halibut and British Columbia salmon are 1c. easier than last week, and finnan haddie is quoted ½c. lower. Ciscoes are slightly easier and Labrador herring is selling 25c. cheaper. Sea herring is down 10c and smelts, extras, are 2c. cheaper than a week ago. Our quotations are as follows:

Grain, Flour and Breakfast Foods.

GRAIN.

Ontario wheat is unchanged from last week, and the market continues firm. In Manitoba, a marked weakness has asserted itself, in direct sympathy with the American grain market, where very large quantities are coming forward. Manitoba Northern is down 3½c., Northern No. 2, 3c., and No. 3, 3½c. Oats are also 1c. easier than last week. We quote the following prices:

BREAKFAST FOODS.

Canadian oatmeal, etc., is out of the market at present, on account of the high price of domestic raw material, and the American trade is practically having its own way. Canadian millers cannot compete, and many of the mills are lying idle. We quote the following prices:

Hides, Tallow, Skins and Wool.

The hide market is quiet, as usual at this season of the year. Hides are down ½c., on account of this being the season when grubs cause hides to deteriorate. We add to our quotations country hides, flats, which are selling this week at from 6¾ to 7¼c. The wool quotations, as given below, are for old clipped. After next week these will be discontinued to make way for new clipped wool, which will be on the market one month hence. Our quotations are as follows:

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

BUSINESS on the whole has shown improvement during the week. The country roads are getting into somewhat better shape and travelers consequently are able to get around. The outlook for Spring trade is most encouraging. In teas a better feeling is shown, more business being turned over and a better enquiry for all lines. The demand for molasses and syrups is good, and with the approach of Lent both these lines will receive more attention. Latest advice from Greece on the currant situation would indicate an advance as the season advances. Fish are receiving a good deal of attention from the trade generally. Lent opens on the 8th of March and dealers are commencing to lay in stocks. The Grocer has, during the last three or four weeks, suggested that the trade should lay in their stocks early, as prices were undoubtedly likely to advance. Our view has met with corroboration in view of the strong advance in nearly all kinds of fish noted this week. Bananas have advanced 50c. per bunch. The provision market is unchanged with a firm undertone. There has been some active demand for live hogs, which has enhanced the price for both live hogs and dressed stock. The flour situation is unchanged, despite the fact that there has been some cutting on Spring wheat grades in certain Eastern Ontario and local districts. Butter maintains a decidedly strong position, and almost anything in the butter line commands attention and will sell. Cheese is very dull. Eggs are decidedly scarce and will continue until new-laid appear.

SUGAR.

In sugar, while no advance has taken place, the general impression is that an advance is likely to occur. Buying is getting to be better from the jobbing trade and, though the volume of business is better than the previous week, the poor conditions of country roads is still retarding trade. During the past week refiners have been enquiring for Trinidad sugar, and several sales have been made, equivalent to 5⅛ duty paid New York for centrifugals, 96 degree test.

TEA.

Reports from the trade are that better demand has arisen for teas. Some considerable trading has been done in Japans. Ceylon and India greens are reported firmer, while China blacks show no change. There is a feeling in the tea trade that some action should be taken for the exclusion from this market of teas that have been rejected by the United States. It is reported that several lines that did not pass the U. S Tea Commissioners managed to find their way into the Canadian market This is certainly an undesirable feature of the business, and it is not at all unlikely that some action may be taken by the trade looking to the establishment of standards similar to those of the United States.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business in molasses is fairly good. Prices are firm and stocks light. The arrival of new Barbadoes is still an uncertainty. Reports from the Island confirm the shortage in crop, and the trade look for generally firm prices during the season. The corn syrup trade shows quite an improvement. The demand seems to be growing, and, no doubt, during the Lenten season there will be a brisk trade in corn syrups.

CANNED GOODS.

There is nothing to report in the situation of canned goods. The market remains firm. The demand is fair for tomatoes and corn, and there is an increased demand for canned fruits. No doubt, during Lent, salmons, lobsters,

Foreign Dried Fruits.

The trade in dried fruits of all kinds is most uninteresting, and news is hard to get. The demand for Valencia raisins is slow, consequently little doing. It is not improbable that some shading in prices may result, owing to the hanging off of trade, and the desire on the part of jobbers to reduce stocks. Currants are quiet, with advices from Greece reporting an unchanged situation. The feeling is that before the season closes, higher figures in currants may be looked for.

Fish.

The Lenten demand for fish of all kinds is now on, and dealers report an active trade in all lines. Prices have advanced in green cod and salt herring, as well as skinless cod; owing to the scarcity of these goods, prices are liable to still further advance. Fresh frozen fish remain about the same as previously quoted; in fact, owing to the heavy arrivals of frozen haddock and tomcods, prices are, if anything, a little easier. Frozen herring are firm, and pickerel, or dore, slightly higher. In smoked fish, the demand is improving, with prices about the same. In oysters, prices are getting back to normal conditions, as the recent freeze-up is now practically over. Lent begins on March 8, and dealers would be well advised to place orders without further delay, if they wish to have their supply in time for the usual heavy demand at the opening of the Lenten season. From present appearances, prospects are that salt fish of all kinds will be higher, although pickled lake trout and sea salmon are still quoted at reasonable figures. Stocks of salt herrings and green cod are much lighter than usual at this season, and this is sure to mean higher prices. In recent years there has been a marked increase in the demand for frozen fish of all kinds during the Winter months, and especially at the opening of Lent, and this year will prove no exception.

TO ABOLISH TRADING STAMPS.

THE trading stamp question is once more before the Canadian trade, this time in the shape of an organized propaganda to abolish by Dominion legislation the use of trading stamps in Canada. A combined deputation of some six or seven hundred merchants from the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, including the various provincial mercantile organizations, will go to Ottawa on March 8, and present their views before the Government. They expect to be armed with resolutions from the Montreal, Toronto, Quebec, St. John, and Vancouver Boards of Trade, as well as from the representative Canadian Retail Grocers' and Merchants' Associations, the Montreal Chamber of Commerce, the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, and the Montreal Dry Goods Associations, all condemning the principle of trading stamps. It is confidently felt that such a strong and representative expression of opinion from the business men of Canada will be efficacious in securing sweeping legislation throughout the Dominion against what is generally acknowledged to be a grievous trade evil.

The Parliaments of both Quebec and Ontario voted laws during the last session authorizing municipalities to enact by-laws to prevent the distribution of trading stamps. Laws were passed with this end in view by the cities of Montreal and Quebec, but the validity of these laws, and even the law of Quebec, has been contested in the courts. Many years may be allowed to pass before a final judgment is rendered and in the meantime the retail trade may have to suffer and be still further exploited by trading stamp companies.

Only last week a decision was given in Toronto by Judge Morgan, according to which the ban against trading stamps is removed, although the method of their distribution is left restricted. The claim of the judge was that the statute in force in Ontario against trading stamps did not explicitly cover the case in question, namely the Merchants' Exchange, Toronto, which has been issuing coupons or tickets and giving premiums to purchasers of goods for the purpose of bringing customers to their establishments upon a cash basis. According to the judge's ruling, the right is saved a merchant to deliver to purchasers of goods sold by him tickets or coupons to be redeemed by such merchant either in money or merchandise, whether the merchant stores his premium goods in his own shop or elsewhere, under his own management or that of his clerk or agent. In other words there is nothing in the law to prevent several persons storing premiums owned separately in one store, managed by a common clerk, who out of such premiums redeems premium tickets issued by such merchants. Thus it is patent that more far-reaching legislation is necessary, even in Ontario, if trading stamps are to be abolished.

The following resolutions by representative Canadian organizations are interesting, as emphasizing the importance to Canadian trade of the propaganda against trading stamps.

The Montreal Grocers' Association.

Resolved, that this Guild unanimously supports the petition of the Federation of Retail Merchants, and hopes that in the interest of the great majority of the merchants of Montreal and other cities, where the trading stamp business has secured a foothold, Parliament may be pleased to grant the prayer of the said petition.

The Montreal Board of Trade.

Resolved, that the Council of the Montreal Board of Trade hereby prays the Dominion Parliament to adopt at its present session such legislation as will render illegal the issuing, distribution or sale of "trading stamps" or "cash receipts," and provide also for the punishment of persons trangressing such law.

The Quebec Board of Trade.

The Board of Trade of Quebec has adopted a resolution endorsing very strongly the application to the Federal Government to have legislation adopted prohibiting the issuing and distributing of "trading stamps" and "cash receipts," and that the association of the manufacturers in Quebec have decided to write to the Minister of Justice, in Ottawa, requesting him to welcome the bill of the retail dealers of Montreal, and that moreover the secretary be authorized to write to Sir Wilfrid Laurier stating that the manufacturers of Quebec, resident of his county, and consequently his electors, wish that he use all his influence for the adoption of that measure.

The Vancouver Board of Trade is heartily in sympathy with the Federation of Retail Grocers of Montreal in their endeavor to make illegal the issuance of trading stamps.

The St. John Board of Trade heartily supports the action of the Federation of the Retail Dealers of Montreal in their effort to obtain from the Dominion Government the passing of a law against the sale and distribution of trading stamps, and would urge upon the Government the necessity of amending the present criminal code in such a manner as to declare illegal the issuing, sale and distribution of said trading stamps.

The Montreal Chamber of Commerce.

Resolved, that this body pray the Federal Government to take into its serious consideration the opportunity to amend the law by prohibiting the is-

The Montreal Wholesale Dry Goods Association.

Resolved, that the Montreal Wholesale Dry Goods Association cordially approves of the petition of the Federation of Retail Dealers of Montreal, praying that the sale and distribution of "trading stamps" be prohibited, this apparently being the only means of relieving the trade from the pernicious effects of the use of "trading stamps."

PROPOSED REPEAL OF TEA DUTY.

THE question of the proposed repeal of the duty of ten per cent. on tea entering Canada from the United States, to which reference was made in a recent issue of The Canadian Grocer, in the shape of interviews with prominent wholesale and retail grocers, tea importers and brokers, has assumed prominence in Montreal business circles. During the last few days very active interest was taken by the trade generally, and The Grocer's report of interviews was freely discussed. The following is a copy of the petition drawn up for presentation to the Honorable Minister of Finance at Ottawa last week, and it speaks most emphatically of the interest that is taken by the trade on this question of the possible removal of the ten per cent duty on teas from the United States, as the Montreal trade is unanimous on the subject, and there is not a single wholesale grocery house, tea merchant, commission and brokerage agent or representative of foreign tea firms missing. Montreal certainly is a unit on the point that the duty now in force be not rescinded.

Montreal, February 16, 1905.

To the Honorable Minister of Finance, Ottawa.

We, the undersigned, importers and wholesale tea merchants of the City of Montreal, do hereby earnestly petition that the duty of ten per cent. on teas imported from the United States into Canada, which is now in force, be NOT rescinded:

The signatures to the petition were obtained by W. H. Halford, manager of tea department of S. H. Ewing & Sons, and Alex. Anderson, selling agent for T. Nishimura, of the Central Japan Tea Traders' Association. Great credit is due to these gentlemen for their efforts in securing such a tangible expression of the opinion of the Montreal tea interests.

Secretary of Federation of Retail Merchants of Montreal.

MONTREAL GROCER IN TORONTO.

AN interesting visitor to Toronto last week was Mr. J. A. Beaudry, one of Montreal's leading grocers. Mr. Beaudry is secretary of the Federation of the Retail Dealers, of Montreal, in addition to serving in a similar capacity several of the individual organizations.

While in Toronto he interviewed the secretary of the Board of Trade, the President of the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, The Retail Merchants Association, and the Retail Grocers' Association, of Toronto, on behalf of the movement against trading stamps, which has been renewed by Montreal merchants. As a result of his visit a representative delegation will join a large number of representatives from Quebec at Ottawa on March 8, when the trade will wait upon Premier Laurier in the hope of securing Dominion legislation entirely abolishing trading stamps in Canada.

NEW PACKING INDUSTRY IN PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

The town of Summerside, P.E.I., will shortly be the scene of a new packing industry, the town recently having passed a by-law for the encouragement of a large meat-packing and curing establishment. The new venture is reported as financially strong and some leading Islanders are reported as interested. Exemption of taxation, land and bonus, it is reported, have been granted the new concern, and there is every indication that a progressive management will bring the industry to the foreground of similar concerns.

BUSINESS OPENING.

Members of the trade will be interested in hearing of a good business opening in the Canadian Northwest for a man with some capital. For fuller particulars write L. T. Mewburn, manager of the Canada Grocers, Limited, Calgary, N.W.T.

NEW BROKERAGE BUSINESS.

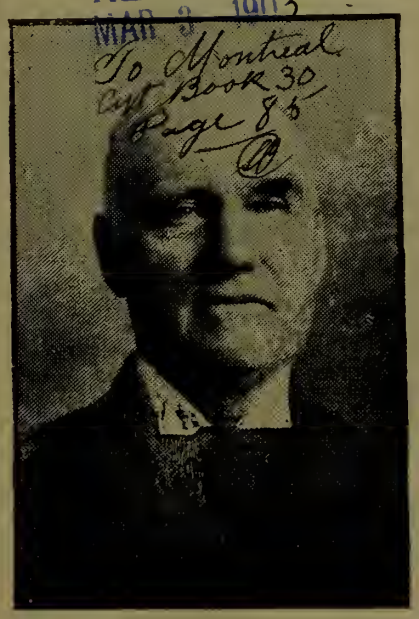
DEATH OF MR. D. L. LOCKERBY, MONTREAL.

EARLY last Sunday morning, Feb. 26th, there passed away in the City of Montreal one of the city's and country's best known citizens and wholesale grocers, Mr. David Linton Lockerby, senior member of Lockerby Brothers, wholesale grocers, one of Montreal's most respected citizens. Mr. Lockerby's was a figure known to the grocery trade of Canada, and particularly of Quebec and Ontario, and many a merchant will miss his genial face and pleasant conversation. One of the pioneer grocery travelers of Canada, his record on the road has always been one to be proud of, and when he confined his labors more to the sample rooms and offices of the firm, his many customers missed him. Such a thorough salesman was he that the environment of the sample room seemed too small and cramped, and at intervals he would take up his samples and look up his old friends throughout his old territory. His experiences in the early days of the pioneer traveler were varied, hard and decidedly interesting, and it was the writer's privilege to learn of his experience.

Mr. D. L. Lockerby was born at Lacolle, Quebec, in 1836, consequently being 69 years of age at his death. On the outbreak of the American Civil War he joined the Federal forces, and served during the earlier part of the war as a captain in the 96th New York Volunteers until 1863, when he settled in Montreal, securing a situation with Kingan & Kinlock, wholesale grocers. He left this to become a member of the firm of Kinlock, Lindsay & Co., which he resigned to take the place of the late J. A. Douglas in the firm of Douglas, Kirk & Co., changing the firm name to Kirk, Lockerby & Co., wholesale grocers. Some time later Mr. Lockerby sold out to his brothers, Messrs. W. W. and A. L. Lockerby.



He then embarked in the wholesale dry goods business with Mr. Duncan McIntyre, subsequently buying out the interest of Mr. Kirk in the firm of Kirk, Lockerby & Co., and established the firm of Lockerby Bros., composed of Messrs. D. L. and A. L. Lockerby. This was later formed into a joint stock company as Lockerby Bros., Limited, of which Mr. Lockerby was president up to the time of his death.

Mr. Lockerby was for many years a member of the Montreal Board of Trade, and sat for some time on the council. He was also at various times president of the Commercial Travellers' and Wholesale House Associations, and a director of the Midland Railway.

Mr. Lockerby brought his military instincts back to Canada, undimmed by his hard service in the Civil War, and he joined the old Montreal Cavalry Regiment as a lieutenant. Once again he saw active service at Eccles Hill, in 1870, in repulsing the Fenian Raiders. His death removes the last officer of the old corps.

Mr. Lockerby was an enthusiastic admirer and supporter of athletic sports, was a life member of the Montreal

DEPARTMENT OF ADVERTISING SUGGETIONS AND CRITICISM

Edited by John C. Kirkwood, TORONTO.

NOTE—Herein are discussed the principles and practice of advertising. Subscribers are invited to send Mr. Kirkwood specimens of their newspaper and other advertising, for the purpose of review in this department. Address care of Department of Advertising, THE CANADIAN GROCER.

PRACTICAL INSTRUCTION ON ADVERTISING

Simplicity and Force.

Good advertising usually has the merit of simplicity in high degree.

When one considers the advertisement representing several hours' work in designing and writing occupies the reader's mind less than a minute, one can appreciate the need for saying something forceful.

Force is a thing greatly to be desired in advertising. Force is that clear presentation of the essential argument.

Brevity is one of the chiefest elements of force.

A thoughtful selection of words adds to force. Words of one or two syllables are generally preferable to larger words.

Omission and condensation contribute to force, because they make for brevity.

Clearness and Definiteness.

Clearness is an important thing to secure in writing. Nobody will take time to solve enigmas in order to understand an advertisement.

Make every advertisement a definite bid for business. You will get only what you ask for.

Use simple, direct, plain language—do not burden your advertising with words that the plain people do not understand.

Avoid as much as possible technical language. The simplest form of expression is always the best form.

In preparing your advertisements, endeavor to make them definite. Something that will interest those whose patronage you want. If you have booklets or catalogues invite tradespeople to send a postal card request for them. If you have special advantages to offer, special prices that your traveling men may make, offer them to those whom your men do not call upon.

Simply naming your goods and claiming them to be superior to others is mere publicity. Real advertising asserts and then seeks to prove by sound reasoning. The public "whys" have got to be met with plenty of "becauses."

General Counsel.

The advertisement that does not convince is not likely to win.

An advertisement should show the goods, quote prices, and give information upon which an order can be given.

Repetition gives advertising its chief value.

The best advertisement is the one which most fully economizes the reader's attention.

Don't crowd your advertisements with matter, and so make them hard to read.

The first mission of the advertisement is to attract attention, the second to secure a reader, the third to convince the reader.

Educate the people on such points as may not be apparent at a glance, it may take time and cause expense, but it is worth the effort.

Having something to say is the first requisite; saying it in an attractive manner is the second; putting it in a pleasing way is the third, and throwing in an artistic eye-catcher or two is the fourth.

Some advertisers go upon the assumption that advertising is read reluctantly, or not at all. If there is one thing certain in advertising, it is that forceful, vital, informing publicity always finds an audience.

The Advertising Manager.

First acquire for your advertising manager a man who has forgotten how to write advertisements—or never knew.

Don't mistake that advice. Nothing could be more serious, nothing have better intentions. The average advertisement writer, prattling of his "style" in writing, is an unsafe investment; you need a business man more than a litterateur. There is no necessity for fine writing, either in over-cultured Boston, reposeful Philadelphia, that pandemonium called New York, avaricious Chicago, historic New Orleans or predestined San Francisco. What is needed is sense—that sense which can appreciate why a thing should be done in this manner or that; is progressive at all times and conservative on necessity; knows something of human nature; is quick to grasp the business value of an incident or occasion; can write good English and think nothing of it; has no time for senseless typographic acrobats; understands the fundamental principles that underlie all business, and can keep up with the current of the times in thought, fashion, art, politics, society, etc.

Sooner or later in the life of the modern merchant he must be confronted with the vexations riddle: "What is an ad-writer?" And the ad-writer himself must furnish the answer in deeds rather than in words. If he is a mere copy grinder—one who is content to write so many ads for so much money he is only an insignificant clerical cog in the mercantile machinery. But if he is a thinker, a schemer and an originator, and really works along such lines, he is one of the indispensable levers that moves the entire commercial mechanism. Ad-writers are many. Ad-men are few. Preparation of first-rate copy is only a detail among the duties of a capable ad-man. In order that he may be actually worth a decent salary he must be able to devise means of business growth. The ad-writer who does no more than to juggle business English into readable shape should never be allowed to get his fingers on more than $1,500 a year, for that is all he can honestly earn, whether he be employed by a brick yard or a department store. The truly valuable portion of his service—a part which determines his value—is his original conception and masterful execution of business-bringing schemes.

A NEW DEPARTURE.

The grocery trade will hear with interest that the Bennett Mfg. Co., of Pickering, Ont., are making a new departure in undertaking the manufacture of woodenware specialties. This company have achieved distinguished success with Bennett's patent shelf box or drawer, and with their kitchen cabinets. Many grocery and hardware stores throughout the country have put in the patent shelf box referred to, securing a good appearance and convenience at the same time. The Bennett Mfg. Co. specialize in this line of goods to an unusual degree, and in the extension of their business will doubtless meet the needs of many firms who have been looking for a manufacturer of woodenware specialties of an unusual character.

DEATH OF PROMINENT CANNER.

On February 24th, in Montreal, occurred the death of Mr. W. A. Ferguson, vice-president of the Canada Canners, Ltd. Mr. Ferguson had been indisposed for some weeks as a result of a paralytic stroke he received while in Montreal recently on business.

He was for years the manager of the Delhi Canning Co., and in addition to being a large shareholder in this organization was the chief promoter of the canning industry in Delhi, Ont.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Special Report from the Winnipeg Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, March 2nd, 1905.

BUSINESS is fairly active, but there is no exceptional rush in any department of the wholesale grocery trade. While reports from Eastern trade centres indicate that wholesale houses there are finding great difficulty in making shipments, owing to the snow blockades, there has been no such trouble west of the Lakes.

The price list is steady and there are not many changes to record. Sugar remains steady at time of writing at the same figure, which has prevailed for some time. Advices from outside markets indicate a continued firmness and expensive sugar seems to be assured for some time to come. Patna rice is advancing and a slight advance of ⅛ cent will be noted in quotations below: Rangoon rice, on the contrary, has declined from ⅛ to ¼ cent. Coffee is easier, but no change in Rios has been made locally. It is reported now that the California market is absolutely bare of dried peaches but there are still some local stocks on hand. Prunes are becoming firmer. Local stocks of evaporated apples are rapidly being depleted and prices are very firm. In green fruits a general reduction in oranges, lemons and bananas will be noted. Apples are becoming very scarce and there are now no Baldwins and Greenings on the local market. Fish firms are making preparations for a big trade during Lent. Some changes will be noted in fish quotations. The fish catch this winter on Lake Winnipegosis is reported to have been exceptionally good and large shipments of white fish, pickerel, jacks and sturgeon have been sent south to American trade centres. The last shipments of winter fish will be made about March 20. Strictly fresh eggs have advanced to 30 cents.

Sugar.

The sugar market seems to have found its level, for there have been no changes for some time. Advices from outside markets indicate that sugar is still very firm and that declines are unlikely at present. Apparently dear sugar is assured for some time to come. We quote:

Fish and Oysters.

Preparations are being made by the the local houses for prompt shipment during the Lenten season, but merchants are advised to get their orders in early, specifying dates of delivery desired. Some changes will be noted in the list below. Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea

The Tea trade in Canada has been blessed by the advent of package Teas, and by Blue Ribbon in particular.

True, this truth is not perceived by every Grocer, and its assertion is sometimes resented.

But conditions to-day are vastly better than they were a dozen years ago--due to the campaign of education and of publicity carried on by package tea men, and by Blue Ribbon in particular.

Blue Ribbon is everybody's good friend.

Office of The Canadian Grocer,

St. John, N.B., March 1, 1905

FEBRUARY has been a rather quiet month. While this is expected to a certain extent, this year it has been exceptionally quiet. Perhaps the particular reason is the great fall of snow a few weeks ago, with continued heavy winds and light falls of snow every few days. The wholesale grocers are reall doing nothing. Eastern mails are days late. Travelers are snowed up at different points, and even such orders as are received are shipped with no knowledge of when they will arrive at their destination. As I write, no trains are moving between St. John and Halifax or Halifax and Sydney. There are no trains running between Halifax, Annapolis, Digby and Yarmouth, or Halifax

Barnhouse, of the city of Toronto, is dissolved by mutual consent, and the business in Dobbinton will in future be carried on by W. J. Thompson and John S. Marshall, under the firm name of Thompson & Marshall. The business in Toronto will be carried on by Wm. Barnhouse. Parties having accounts in Dobbinton will settle with Thompson & Marshall: parties having accounts in Toronto will settle with Wm. Barnhouse. W. J. Thompson, John S. Marshall, Wm. Barnhouse. and Yarmouth on the south shore. All branch lines in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia are out of business. There is no communication with Prince Edward Island except by ice-boat, and the railways on the Island are tied up. It is very many years since there has been anything like it. There is real suffering in some places, particularly in regard to food for cattle and horses. Lumbermen with horses in the woods do not know what to do. Nova Scotia is particularly hard hit. There is one bright spot in St. John, mails from the West are quite regular, and Western freight does show some movement. The grocers have this to help the situation, that prices are moving up. The advance in beans is a feature of the week.

Oil.

Burning oils show a steady sale at present low prices. Lubricating oils are firm; except in futures there is little business. Linseed oil, while unchanged, is firmer. Turpentine is unchanged. Cod oil is quiet, with prices quite firm.

Salt.

The fight on the part of the railways to overcome the blockade has meant quite a sale for coarse salt. Fair stocks are held; prices are firm.

Canned Goods.

There is nothing of particular interest. The higher price of evaporated apples seems to rather improve the demand for gallon apples. Vegetables are unchanged. Fruits have but a fair sale. Oysters are firm, and stocks are not large. Salmon is at least no higher. Meats are quoted as last season. Sardines, haddies, and kippers are a light supply.

Green Fruits.

Business is quiet. Reports in regard to Valencia oranges, because of frost, are very discouraging. Prices here have not as yet advanced. Californias are low. Some Jamaicas are still offered. The price of Floridas is reasonable, particularly when you remember the damage done by frost. Lemons are rather higher. Cranberries are high. In apples, movement is slow and prices unchanged.

Dried Fruit.

There is very little business. There was quite a stock of seeded carried over from the holidays. The very low prices still continue. In other lines of raisins, stocks are light. Currants are low and a fair stock. Dates have but a limited demand; full stocks are held and price is low. Figs have little demand. The outlook for peels is for higher figures. sales at this season are light. Prunes are still held at low prices. Just fair business is being done.. Apricots and peaches move but slowly. Evaporated apples are firm at the advance. Onions are rather higher, and sales only fair.

Sugar.

Full stocks are held, as in other lines; little moving. Prices are unchanged, but firm.

Molasses.

New Barbadoes are daily expected. Price will be high. Little Barbadoes is being carried over. There is quite a stock of Porto Rico. Prices are firm.

Fish.

This is a line of interest because of the approach of Lent. Fresh fish is high and supplies light. Cod and haddock are the chief lines. Dry fish are firm, at high prices. Stocks are limited. In pickled fish, there is but a fair stock. Price is quite high and firm. In smoked herring, full supply is held and prices low. Finnan haddies are high.

Flour, Feed and Meal.

There is little movement. Prices are firm at the full figures. Feed is scarce and tending higher. American competition continues to keep oatmeal lower than price would otherwise be. Oats are high. Cornmeal is unchanged. The feature of the week has been the advance in beans. Market is said to be firm. Hay is higher. Timothy seed is rather higher. Clovers are unchanged, full prices asked.

INQUIRIES RELATING TO CANADIAN TRADE.

THE following enquiries have been received from the High Commissioner for Canada in London, England, concerning Canadian trade:

GREEN FRUITS.

Toronto, March 2.

OWING to the moderation in weather conditions and better facilities for transportation in the country the green fruit trade generally has shown marked signs of improvement during the week. City trade is brisk and orders are coming freely from the country for all kinds of stock, the orange market being active and strong with an advance in navels of 25c. for the week. In New York prices have gone up fully $1.00 per box during the last seven days and the market continues to show a very firm tendency. All this may be accounted for by reason of scarcity of supplies and the mild weather which makes it possible to ship readily.

Florida oranges are nearly out of the market, only very fancy stock being available.

New lemons are arriving, with quality first class, and the market higher than last year, owing to serious damage to the crop in Cicily from frosts, which has meant the destruction of fully 500,000 boxes of lemons. This will have no uncertain effect on the market a little later on. There are a few fancy Valencias oranges on the market, although supplies of this variety are getting into small compass.

Bananas are moving well and on account of scarcity are being quoted a little higher in price. In certain quarters the price of Almeria grapes has been advanced. Last week's quotations, however, still rule in the main.

Strawberries from Florida have appeared on the market and are selling in limited quantities at 85c. per box.

California lemons are now arriving from the coast. This fruit does not cut much of a figure in the Canadian market for which reason we refrain from giving quotations. The markets on the Atlantic Coast are, however, large consumers of California lemons. We quote the following prices:

Florida oranges, per box	2 75	3 00

VEGETABLES.

Trade in vegetables has been fairly good during the week, domestic stuff selling well and the market gradually improving for imported vegetables. Onions are slightly higher than last week, as well as parsnips. California celery is also 50c. higher than last week on account of scarcity of supplies. Canadian celery is now out of the market and California stock will be scarce during March, and higher in price on account of damage to the growing crop from excessive rain, in addition to a big general demand. California cauliflowers are off the market and will not be seen again this season. Our quotations are as follows:

A general decline will be noted in quotations below with the one exception of apples. Baldwins and Greenings are now off the market and apples of all kinds are very scarce. Oranges, lemons and bananas have declined. New arrivals of bitter oranges are quoted at $4.50 per case. Mild weather has facilitated shipment of fruits as there has being little or no danger from frost. We quote:

GREEN FRUITS.

Business has been rather on the quiet side during the past week. A car of California cauliflower is expected to arrive in a few days, the probable price will be about $3.25 to $3.50. This is the first and last car that will arrive here, on account of the poor crop in California. Celery is selling at $5.25 to $5.50, and it is nearly impossible to supply the demand even at these prices. California Navels are in good demand at $2.75, and, as prices have advanced in New York, an advance of 50c. a case, all sizes, may be looked for here. Pineapples are selling very slowly, on account of the poor quality of the stock as it arrives. The same applies to tomatoes. These two latter lines apparently arrived in good condition, but after they are placed in a warmer atmosphere they slowly spoil. Bananas advanced 50c. per bunch. Sorrento lemons, large cases, extra fine quality, are selling at $3. These are considered much better value than the Messinas, 300s selling at the same price. Florida grape fruit is in good demand, bringing from $6 to $6.50. We quote:

VEGETABLES.

The market is uninteresting and very little doing. Higher prices are expected in onions until the arrival of Egyptian onions in bags, which will be about the first week in April. From all reports, there is a very large crop in Egypt, somewhere in the vicinity of two million bags. There is a firm feeling in potatoes, and prices in a jobbing way are higher. The demand is good, and some choice stock has been sold at 80c. Car lots of lower grades have been sold at 68c. to 70c. a bag. Turnips are unchanged, and a steady demand at $9 to $10 per ton for Quebec Swedes.

Freights And Charters

THE demurrage period in freights is now in vogue. That line in freight bills which refers to the "hand of God" is of importance, for many multiplied actions would be taken against transportation companies if this line was not the savior of the contracting parties.

Freight cars are jammed up in snow banks all over the Maritime Provinces. Nova Scotia and Newfoundland have suffered from terrific snow storms, and severity of weather, generally, has tied up business. So bad has the tie-up been that food supplies have become limited, and for a time certain places were threatened with temporary famine. This rest restraint has been released, and the touch of thaw has tempered the crisis with some comfort for both consumers, shippers and railway companies.

The Allan Liner "Ontarian," which sailed over a week ago from Portland, has arrived at Glasgow. Her cargo comprised, in addition to 48,000 bush. of wheat, 8,200 bush. peas and 17,000 bush. barley, an immense cargo of general merchandise and a heavy load of lumber, comprising 2,449 pieces lumber, 3,778 pieces deals, 20 pieces timber, and 8,185 bundles shooks. The whole cargo had its consignee registered on the manifest as the G.T.R., which, while a common custom, goes to show just how this G. T.R. system feeds the Portland steamship service.

A glance at the list of recent sailings from St. John, N.B., shows the contrast of the C.P.R. consigning immense cargoes, even on the Allan Line Royal Mail SS. "Pretorian."

Of course, experienced shippers use the name of the railway as a matter of convenience in entries on the manifest.

It must be said for the credit of St. John as a Winter port that in one week no less than seven steamers sailed outwards, while from Portland during the same time there were two only.

But,—and there is always a "but" when comparing these Winter ports,—it may be added that the two steamers from Portland, one a Donaldson Liner and the other an Allan Liner, totalled a great deal more cargo than the seven boats from St. John, N.B.

A. E. Cook, freight export agent for the C.P.R. steamship department at Montreal, has been compelled to resign owing to ill health. He is to be succeeded by Mr. Kirkpatrick, son of Sir George Kirkpatrick. The new appointee has been recently chief clerk in the office of Mr. Bosworth, and was formerly employed by the same company in Vancouver.

BISCUITS AND CONFECTIONERY

Sugar in Europe.

OWING to a very dry Summer, the sugar beet crop of Europe is smaller than it has been for several years. In spite of an increased acreage, the total crop is about 20 per cent. less than it was in 1903-04. While Europe produced last year 5,772,000 tons of raw sugar, this year's production will not exceed 4,650,000 tons, and some experts put it at less than that. Reductions made in customs and internal duties have caused, in various countries which subscribed to the sugar convention, an increase in the home consumption of sugar, ranging from 15 to 30 per cent., and this has diminished correspondingly the quantities available for export. On September 1, 1903, when the Brussels convention went into effect. the world's surplus of sugar was, in round numbers, 2,000,000 tons. At the beginning of the present season this surplus was reduced to 1,427,000 tons. Adding to this the estimated production of the year 1904-5, namely, 4,623,000 tons of beet sugar and 6,900,000 tons of cane sugar, we have for the current year a total of 12,950,000 tons available for consumption. As the world's consumption in the year ended August 30, 1904, was somewhat in excess of 13,000,000 tons, it follows that sugar will have to be used somewhat more sparingly in 1905 than it was in 1904, and this explains the recent sharp rise in the price of the article.

It is, however, not likely that the present prices will continue for more than eight or ten months. There will be, in consequence of the high price which sugar now commands, not only a decrease in the consumption of the article, hut also a large increase in the acreage of beets and cane planted; and a propitious season may cause prices to be as low or even lower next Autumn than they were at the time of the Brussels convention.

Easter Confectionery.

IT is time to he considering the confectionery stock for the Easter trade. Easter is approaching Christmas more and more in its holiday aspects. Whatever the actual weather conditions may be, it is recognized as the real closing of Winter and opening of Spring. At that season there is a strong renewal of social life. There are holidays for the school children,. and this always means a round of entertainments and festivities. This is the confectioner's opportunity. Holidays would not be holidays without an abundance of candy. All that is required to insure a strong sale along this line is a vigorous display of confectionery goods. To insure this and to prepare with some certainty for advertising them, grocers should place their orders at once in order that they may know exactly what they have to deal with. As Easter approaches it will be more difficult to get the prompt service from the wholesaler that is accorded now. Naturally the lines which have proved the best sellers, and hence the ones which the trade will want, will he almost impossible to procure. For these reasons, as well as a fair conservice from the wholesaler that is acmanufacturers and wholesalers, groeers should not delay in ordering their Easter candies.

Some particular line should be ehosen as a leader. For this it is advisable to seleet a candy which will make a good, big display. By featuring something in this line and making a really attraetive display of it, a dealer will draw a large number of customers to his store who have never been there before. It then rests with himself to sell them other goods and hold their trade. A storekeeper who gets a customer into his store on some specially attractive proposition, and does not thereafter enjoy some of his trade, has nohody to hlame but himself. By coming in at all the buyer has shown himself suseeptible to a good business offer. The dealer should prove to him that he has other offers whieh are just as good.

New Winnipeg Biscuit Factory.

Foley, Lock & Larson have decided to build a large biscuit and confectionery factory in Winnipeg during the coming season. Two years ago, when this company commenced their wholesale business in Winnipeg, they had this factory in view, and hence they purchased sufficient land immediately adjoining their wholesale quarters for this manufacturing establishment. But their wholesale business required their entire attention, and the project was neglected until the present. The new factory will be one of the largest and most important in Winnipeg.

A Handy Order Blank.

A handy device has been sent out to the retail trade by H. N. Bate & Sons, Ottawa. It consists of a pad of order blanks, a receptacle for envelopes and a calendar. The whole may be hung up in a convenient place and will not let one forget that this firm sells Lang's biscuits and confectionery, Redpath sugar, and Bovril. A copy of the same may be had by any grocer or general merchant for the application, provided the name of The Canadian Grocer is mentioned.

DEATH OF MONTREAL MERCHANT.

Montreal has lost one of her pioneer merchants and foremost business men in the person of Mr. J. M. Kirk, whose death occurred on Feb. 20. Born in Dumfries, Scotland, eighty years ago, the deceased was a son of the late Mr. J. M. Kirk, also of Scotland, who died some years ago. Coming to Canada fifty years ago, the late Mr. J. M. Kirk entered business in Kingston as a commission merchant. He resided there for fifteen years, and came to Montreal in 1867. For many years he was a partner in the firm of Kirk, Lockerby & Co., from which he retired a year ago. Mr. Kirk, as a member of this firm, did business with all the large companies of Canada, the United States and Great Britain. Mr. Kirk was formerly a member of the Council of the Board of Trade, upon which he served for many years.

He was also a director of the Western and General Hospitals.

STRATFORD, CANADA.

ADULTERATED HONEY.

At the annual convention of the Bee-Keepers' Association of Manitoba, in Winnipeg, last week, it was stated that much of the honey retailing throughout Manitoba at the present time contained a large proportion of cheap adulteration. The general opinion expressed was in favor of securing legislation making it compulsory upon dealers to state on the label and wrapper when such adulterants were used. The members of the Association were unanimous that Western bee-keepers could not put up the pure article and compete with the outside "unknown mixture" on anything like the same terms.

GROCERS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

A Western exchange says: A scheme is on foot to form a Grocers' Protective Association with headquarters at Winnipeg. A representative was in the city in the interests of the proposition this week. The grocer pays an annual fee of $50, and in return buys through the Association, thus getting the lowest rates on orders of any size.

VALENCIA RAISINS.

D. Rattray & Sons, Montreal, have received particulars from Jose Riera, of Denia, of the total shipments of Valencia raisins to Feb. 8, as compared with last season, showing shipments from Denia of 457,491 quintals, or 2,157 more than last year. Great Britain, Norway, Russia, Italay and Spanish Ports have taken quantities in excess of 1903, whereas mostly all other importinb countries have not purchased as heavily, shipments to Canada being 10,392 quintals less than in 1903; the United States have only taken 8,404, as compared with 17,629 last season. Stocks in Spain are practically exhausted, and in view of limited stocks in Canada and other continental importing countries, and an improving demand, it is expected that prices will show a sharp advance as the season goes along.

The Wheat Situation.

THE wheat market for the week under review has shown marked signs of weakness. In Ontario and the East, prices have been comparatively high, owing to scarcity of supplies and the tie up on the railroads, especially in Nova Scotia. This has made business slow, even among the millers, for the week. The Manitoba markets, however, are lower than last week in sympathy with the American market, which is decidedly easier on account of the large quantities of wheat coming forward. Export business is practically at a standstill for the time being.

Visible supplies of wheat in United States and Canada on Feb. 21, 1905, were 36,528,000 bush., a decrease for the week of 930,000 bush. Visible supplies of corn decreased 322,000 and 877,000 bush., being 8,521,000 and 16,721,000 bush., respectively. Grain on passage to Europe and to United Kingdom was 40,560,000 bush., as against 37,140,000 bush. last week. This makes the total amount of wheat in sight Feb. 21, 77,088,000 bush., against 74,316,000 bush. last week and 71,357,000 bush. last year at this time. It is expected that the next week's visible supply statement will show a reduction of possibly 600,000 bush. of wheat.

Broomhall estimates the world's shipments for this week at about 10,800,000 bush., of which Europe will take about 10,000,000 bush. He predicts there will be good increases on passage to both the United Kingdom and the Continent. Arrivals of breadstuffs in the United Kingdom during the week under review were about 3,200,000 bush., against 3,348,000 bush. the previous week and 3,408,000 bush. a year ago.

A feature of the statistical position was the small exports of wheat from the United States during the week, amounting to only 536,510 bush., being the smallest for nearly twenty years.

Canadian Cereals in Great Britain.

IN his last report to the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, P. F. Ball, Canadian Commercial agent in Birmingham, says, in regard to Canada's prospects for increasing her exports of barley to Great Britain, that judging from samples submitted and placed before some of the best brewers in Birmingham, there is nothing to hinder Canada from doing a larger proportion of the total grain trade of Great Britain, if only she can produce the quality of the samples submitted and maintain it. There can be little doubt that Ontario and some parts of Quebec produce the finest barley known, large quantities of which we formerly shipped to the United States, until the heavy duties killed that trade. Farmers may be loath to abandon other industries entered into since that time; with the tremendous area opening up in the Northwest Territories, surely Canada should be able to compete with other countries for the barley trade in Great Britain.

For the year ending Dec. 31, 1904, Canada exported to Great Britain in round numbers, 352,000 hundred weights, out of a total of 27,151,328 hundred weights, one hundred weight being equal to 112 lbs., or two bushels.

Canadian shippers of wheat and wheatmeal will be interested in knowing the quantities of wheat and flour imported by Great Britain from various countries during 1902, 1903 and 1904, which were as follows:

WHEAT.

Countries.	1902. Cwt.	1903. Cwt.	1904. Cwt.

It will be seen from the accompanying table that Canada's exports hold very well, although there is still room for improvement. A change has taken place during the last few years. The great imports are going from the United States and are being transferred to India. Russia stands second in the list. Canadians might also with profit pay attention to the vast difference in trade from the Argentine Republic.

It is reported that E. M. Campbell will be appointed grain inspector at Toronto to succeed E. A. Adamson, who retired some time ago.

Price Cutting.

"THAT the practice of price-cutting seems to be falling into disfavor is, in my opinion, an excellent thing," said an old retailer. "I think that price-cutting is harmful to the trade at large always, and to the cutter almost always. There are a few cases, possibly, in which it can be practiced with profit, however. Usually, price-cutting is used as an advertisement, to attract persons to a store. Signs are hung out proclaiming that such and such brands can be obtained at certain figures, showing a more or less marked reduction from the regular price. As a general rule, these are goods which the store does not sell in large quantities and it can afford the small loss entailed. The object of the storekeeper is to attract attention and to bring customers into his store. Once he has got them in, he relies on himself to make good use of them. If he is an exceptionally good salesman he may succeed in selling them goods instead of, or in addition to, those which, attracted by the low prices, they originally intended to buy. But this presupposes on exceptionally good salesman, and it is a dangerous practice, for there are very many customers who resent the imputation that they do not know their own minds, and upon whom the importunity of the salesman will have the effect of keeping them away from his store in the future. And it is to be remembered that one customer, whom one can secure as a regular, is worth many transients. Such methods, too, can only be adopted by one familiar with all the exigencies of his business, a man who runs his own store."—Exchange.

What's in a Name?

The quaint names which adorn the signs outside the old taverns in England are a frequent source of amusement to the tourist, yet, in most cases, these names had, at one time, a special meaning. The name of "The Ivy-Plant," for instance, which designates many an English inn, arose from the fact that ivy was often hung over the doors of taverns as a promise of good wine, and customers recognized that meaning.

This is of interest to tobacco dealers in this country, because the name "Ivy" has recently been bestowed upon a new plug smoking tobacco. Following the example of the inn-keepers of old England, one may expect the tobacco dealers of Canada to display "Ivy." In this regard "Ivy" plug smoking tobacco certainly promises a good smoke, and it will not be long before their customers will recognize that meaning.

Boer Tobacco.

In Natal and Cape Colony is grown a tobacco, called Boer tobacco, which sells for 16 cents a pound, and is dear at that. White men give it to their Kaffir servants as a reward for working overtime, or doing any other meritorious action. There is no record of any white man ever having become acclimatized to it. Its taste and smell do not appeal to the ordinary epicure. It has its uses, however, as in the case of the natives, and also if you have an undesirable visitor or a hated enemy. Offer him a pipe of Boer tobacco and he will never enter your house again.

Our Tobacco Trade.

The total value of the tobacco imported into Canada during the past two years was $3,041,028 in 1903, and $3,504,775 in 1904. Of these amounts, the value of the dutiable tobacco was, in 1903, $537,511, and in 1904, $623,983; and the free, in 1903, $2,503,517, and in 1904, $2,880,792. The duty collected in 1903 was $582,689.30, and in 1904, $651,622.49. The United States supplied practically all that was used.

Tobacco users' tastes are peculiar. One man likes one thing ; another another. The tremendous increase in the number of men who prefer McAlpin's Tobaccos is shown by the steady increase in the size of their plant. And, grocers, do not overlook this fact—that McAlpin's Tobaccos are the most profitable tobaccos.

PRESERVATIVES IN FOODS *

By W P Kaufman, Chemical Analyst and Consulting Chemist, and Assistant to Professor Lang, University of Toronto.

THE above facts naturally lead us to the consideration of pasteurization of milk, which is in essence—

(1) The raising rapidly of the milk to a temperature at which most of the matured germs are killed—the spores, however, being unaffected.

(2) The rapid cooling of the heated article to such a temperature as will not allow of the germination of existing spores, or development of mature bacteria.

Pasteurization of Milk.

After this latter process, the milk may be bottled, usually in vessels more or less perfectly sterilized—usually less than more, however,—and put into cold storage until required for distribution. It is indisputable that the process of pasteurization is effectual in preserving the milk for a time. From the instant the article leaves cold storage, however, and is subjected to a higher temperature, bacterial development goes on apace, and, at the most, and under the most perfect methods of pasteurization adopted, the "souring" of the milk can only be postponed for a while, but never absolutely prevented.

Some idea may be gained as to the rate of multiplication of bacteria—one bacterium dividing at the rate of once per hour, and each it gives rise to, subsequently dividing at the same rate, will generate about sixteen thousand germs within twenty-four hours.

This method, therefore, is perfect and infallible until the milk leaves the hands of the dairyman, but, from the instant the bottle of pasteurized milk is left to stand in a warm kitchen, or opened and exposed to the atmosphere, a fresh crop of bacteria thereby gaining access, in addition to spores already present, having escaped pasteurization, the advantages of the process are undone. It is, therefore, obvious the pasteurized milk can only be kept pasteurized in cold storage—on ice—or in a running stream of cold water—and not upon the kitchen or pantry shelf.

Sterilization.

Let us go a step further than pasteurization—sterilization. By this process is meant that precautions are taken to kill not only the mature germs, but also their spores. The process is simply a repeated pasteurizing operation, but, instead of the temperature of the heated milk being rapidly lowered, it is gradually depressed and allowed to remain for a while at a temperature of about 85 to 90 deg. F., when the spores germinate into bacteria, which are in turn killed by again rapidly raising the temperature, and so on, until all the spores have first been germinated, and then the resulting bacteria killed. In order, however, that this may be ensured in laboratory practice, at least three or four days are necessary—at least 24 hours being allowed to elapse between each heating process to permit of the germination of the spores into bacteria. From these considerations, it will be seen to what extent it is possible to carry on the process on a commercial scale. Having effected this sterilization, it is obvious that the containing vessels should be rendered and kept aseptic. Live steam should be used for this, but when it is remembered that milk bottles are made of thick glass, on that account cannot bear a sudden and excessive rise of temperature without breaking, a problem in dollars and cents presents itself, and we rightly hesitate before we rush into the unremunerative investment of a "broken bottle to order" factory. Just as important, or even more so, than what we have already said regarding milk, is the water supply, by means of which dairy utensils are washed and kept clean. The water should be, of course, of good quality—good enough to drink—that is, of the best and only of the best quality; free from all contaminations by sewage, and sterile of all pathogenic germs. The organism more frequently present than others in milk is the typhoid germ, and as it does not cause the article to clot, neither does it produce any visible effect on the milk, you will observe that its presence to the casual observer is very likely not suspected, and no evidence is apparent until a case of typhoid fever occurs and can be traced to the milk. Recently in London, England, actions have been brought against one of the largest dairy concerns for damages consequent upon several persons contracting typhoid, the germs of which have been found living and thriving in their commodity. Doubtless the origin of them had been infected water used for the cleaning of their vessels, etc.

* Continued from last week.

Importance of Pure Water Supply.

Adulteration.

Upon mentioning water and milk, one always thinks of the readiness with which the latter lends itself to adulteration with the former. In Canada, I do not know if this form of sophistication is practised to any extent, but in British Guiana, where I have had long experience, on the average, from 25 per cent. to 35 per cent. of the milk sold by peddlers is adulterated. These vendors are, for the most part, East Indians, descendants of agricultural immigrants, with no very clear conceptions of cleanliness or of bacteriology. They are not at all scrupulous from what source the adulterating water is obtained, and more often than not, it is got from the irrigation trenches, which are legion in number. It is remarkable that, with this point in fact, enteric diseases are not more common, for these canals are invariably contaminated by sewage. I can remember of an instance of an East Indian Coolie being arraigned on the charge of selling adulterated milk, and amongst the incriminating evidence, other than the analyst's report, was found a tiny fish and a shrimp or two in his milk. On being asked by the magistrate to account for their presence, Baboo replied to the effect: "Ah! Boss, don't you know my cow drinks water from the trench?"

Fermentation of Meat.

The putrefaction of meat and flesh, though not commonly met with in commodities of commerce, occasionally occurs, and we may now turn our attention to this phase of fermentation.

These processes are, like those previously discussed, initiated by saprophytic bacteria or rather by a series of them, each kind acting seriatim and producing their characteristic effects. This done, just as the yeast cell is eventually killed by the toxin it produces—alcohol—and after its death another germ will make its appearance and convert the alcohol into acetic acid (vinegar), viz.: the mieroderma aceti, so in the putrefactive fermentation of meat is one species of germs killed by its own toxin, which, however, has no such effect upon the succeeding germs, and so on, until the process is complete. Amongst the effects produced we may mention the following in sequence:

(1) The meat softens and becomes easily bruised and crushed.

(2) It becomes ill-smelling and foul, reaching a crisis, and then the odor abates. It is softer than before.

(3) It no longer has an offensive smell. It is very soft.

The article may be used as food during the first stage without any complications occurring, in fact, game is allowed to proceed well into the second stage before it is cooked. It may then be eaten by most people without producing any ill effects, but, it must be kept in mind that there are people who cannot indulge in meat at this stage without paying the penalty.

The third stage mentioned is by far the most dangerous condition in which to use meat. At this period advanced putrefactive changes have taken place, and many toxic or poisonous substances have been formed by bacteria. They are known as ptomaines. They are really animal alkaloidal poisons, just as strychnine is a vegetable alkaloidal poison. It is thus seen that the danger of ingesting these ptomaines is increased by the fact that they are odorless and, for the most part, tasteless. In contrast to the ptomaines are the leucomaincs, which differ from the former only in that they are produced during life. Cases of poisoning occur from time to time from eating shrimps, oysters, and some kinds of fish. The effect being produced beyond a shadow of doubt by animal alkaloids. It must not, however, be imagined that all ptomaines or leucomaines are poisonous, for many of them are quite harmless, or nearly so. In fact, during the softening of, and the period of nauscating odors arising from the putrefying meat, ptomaines are formed, and the fact of the article not producing poisonous effects is due rather to the innocuous properties of the alkaloid formed rather than to their absence.

Upon a certain occasion I was consulted regarding a hot, burning aftertaste noticed on the eating of certain preserved fruit, in which benzoate of soda was used as a preservative to the extent of .1 to .2 per cent. Upon discontinuing the use of this antiseptic and substituting for it a boron preparation, the disadvantage referred to was remedied and the keeping properties of the fruit ensured.

Glass Jars vs. Tin Cans.

Another experience may be given here which was also in regard to preserved fruit. After preparation, these were in part filled hot into cans, and in part filled cold into glass jars. The article in the glass containers remained perfect, and no complaints regarding their quality were made. On the other hand, however, the portion put up in tin containers did not prove satisfactory; the fault found with them was "a tinny smell and taste." I selected and examined three cans of these articles, two of which were decidedly "off"—the taste was decidedly "tinny" or metallic, and the smell somewhat characteristic of "ripe eggs." Analysis showed the absence of tin and lead, but with lead papers a very distinctive blackening confirmed the presence of hydrogen sulphide. Through the courtesy of Dr. Nasmith, of the Provincial Board of Health, I was enabled to make a biological test of the samples, with the result that no bacterial life was found. The results in this direction, therefore, being negative, I was again forced to the conclusion that the causes which led to the evolution of hydrogen sulphide in these preserves were purely chemical and not dependent upon bacterial life. It must also be added that, as far as physical tests and appearances went, these tins of fruit were in different stages of decomposition. In fact, decomposition in one of them was merely incipient; and it would hardly be fair to assume, in spite of the results borne out by the fruit in glass containers, that bacteria were at the bottom of it, and having acted, had perished and disorganized. If biochemical action had been at the bottom of it, why, then, did the contents of the glass jar not show similar defects to the cans? The fruits were boiled in the same kettle, and ladled either into the one kind of package or the other. From the foregoing observations it will be seen that all phases of food decomposition or fermentation cannot be ascribed to the ubiquitous bacterium, and, that in order to follow up the cause, it is necessary to know the circumstances as fully as possible, of which, in the last-mentioned case, I was in complete possession, having, to a great extent, supervised the processes af preparation and packing in person.

Importance of Cleanliness.

As regards the invasion of foodstuffs by bacteria and their fermentation as a result, ordinary systematic cleanliness and carefulness should obviate this contingency. But, however, those in direct charge of the preparation of these commodities are absolutely ignorant or else sceptical regarding the true purport of cleanliness from a bacteriological standpoint. For instance, a dusty and dry floor is likely to be swept prior to the bottling or canning of preserves, with the effect that the bacterial crop of the floor is disseminated throughout the atmosphere from which they gradually settle, and haply in a suitable nidus for their development—to wit, a pot of jam!

That manufacturers would be amply repaid by taking such matters into their serious consideration is beyond a shadow of a doubt—the day for rule of thumb methods is surely at an end. You will observe, up to the present, I have said little or nothing regarding the use and merits of preservative antiseptics. It is not because they do not deserve attention, but rather that so much may be said "pro and con" that this matter would demand a special treatment of itself. However, all said and done, the concurrence of the highest authoritative opinions on the subject seem to find a common concensus in the fact that the preparations of boron are the most desirable and do least injury to the human system when taken regularly in articles of diet. In fact, it is yet disputed whether, in the small quantities used in preserving foodstuffs and for producing antiseptic effects, any baneful results follow their constant use.

Commercial Value of Preservatives.

By what has been said it will be seen that I have generally indicated a few of the facts which weigh heavily in the preparation of foods for storage, from a commercial and hygienic view of the matter. I will now conclude by asking you a question: Would you, as consumers or manufacturers, rather prefer to use a food to which a small quantity of an admittedly harmless preservative has been added to ensure its keeping qualities, or run the risk in tabooing such a preparation with the probable result of foods becoming more or less decomposed and, therefore, a menace to health and profit?

While the promiscuous use of preservatives by persons ignorant of their properties and consequently careless in regard to the quantity used, is to be deprecated, yet, beyond a doubt, these articles, carefully handled, serve a very useful purpose.

We must, at the outset, admit that "preservatives" are "drugs," that their characteristic physiological actions upon the human organism differ, as well as the fact that because a certain substance will act as a preservative, is no criterion that it should be used as such.

In determining which antiseptic should be used to preserve foodstuffs, and with due regard to the public health, we must satisfy ourselves on the following points:

(1) It should cause no ill effects (i.e., nausea, headache, and other digestive derangements) upon the system when taken in repeated small doses over a protracted period.

(2) Its action should not be accumulative.

(3) It should be free from any characteristic odor, flavor or color.

(4) It should be used in the minimum quantities for the production of its preservative effects.

Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada

AN explanation is due the Western readers of The Grocer for the late appearance of an extended report of the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association. In some unaccountable way the report sent from the Winnipeg office to Toronto was lost in the mails.

As most Western readers of The Grocer are aware, an informal organization meeting of general merchants was held in Boissevain last Summer in response to a circular invitation sent out by A. T. Embree of that town. At that meeting it was deemed advisable to organize a "general merchants' association of Manitoba and the Territories," and it was decided to call a general meeting for that purpose, to meet in Winnipeg during the Bonspiel. Accordingly, during the second week of the Winnipeg Bonspiel several meetings were held in the Trades and Labor Hall, Winnipeg. These meetings were well attended, and, if anything was lacking in numbers, it was made up in enthusiasm. The merchants present took part in interesting discussions, and the policy decided upon, as embodied in several resolutions, is one with which the Association should be able to "appeal to the country" with confidence.

Merchants' Present.

The following names appeared on the register:

J. G. Steacy, Crystal City.
R. Rollins, Killarney.
T. J. Lawlor, Killarney.

Jno. Jones, Grenfell, Assa.
J. K. McLennan, Treherne.
A. J. McHughes, Medora.
D. A. McIlquhan, Alexander.
P. D. Alair, Elm Creek.

As will be seen from an examination of this list, the gathering was very representative, and the promises of sympathy and support from merchants unable to attend, read by the secretary, were so numerous that the success of the Association would seem to be assured.

Officers Elected.

Officers of the Association were elected as follows:

President—T. J. Lawlor, Killarney.
First Vice-President—H. C. Hamelin, Lauder.
Second Vice-President—J. D. Bain, Boissevain.
Secretary—A. T. Embree, Boissevain.

Executive Committee.

Executive Committee—A. G. Munro, Morden; R. G. Alloway, Gladstone; W. C. McLaren, Souris; J. Brown, Portage la Prairie; R. F. More, Cartwright; E. Clingham, Virden; H. McLaren, Weyburn; G. C. Sayle, Elva, and E. H. Glinz, Oak River.

Mr. T. J. Lawlor, Killarney, Man., President Retail Merchants' Associatien of Western Canada

Scope Enlarged.

At the meeting last Summer it was decided to organize a "general merchants' association of Manitoba and the Territories," but at the recent meeting in Winnipeg it was deemed advisable to enlarge the scope of the Association, both as to territory included and as to eligible membership. It was decided to call it the "Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada." The territory includes all Canada west of the Lakes, and any bona fide retail merchant is eligible for membership.

Permanent Secretary.

In order to protect the interests of the Association properly and to push the work of organization, it was deemed necessary by the Winnipeg meeting that a permanent, paid secretary be employed. Up to the present, this work has fallen upon Secretary A. T. Embree, of Boissevain, who is, indeed, the "father of the Association," but it was recognized that the work was too great for any man to attend to without neglecting his own business. The Association requires the whole of one man's time. Secretary Embree accepted office until such time as a permanent secretary shall be secured by the Executive.

Constitution Adopted.

A constitution and by-laws were adopted after long discussion. The principal provisions are as follows:

ARTICLE I.—Name, Title and Object.

Sec. I. The name of this Association shall be the Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada.

Sec. II. The object of this Association shall be to look after the interests of the Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada.

ARTICLE II.—Membership.

Any firm, person or corporation in Western Canada engaged in retail mercantile business, may become a member of this Association.

ARTICLE III.—Officers.

Sec. I. The officers of the Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada shall be a President, First and Second Vice-Presidents, Secretary and Treasurer and an Executive Committee, who shall be nominated at each annual meeting.

Sec. II. The President and Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer, shall be elected annually by ballot and shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualify.

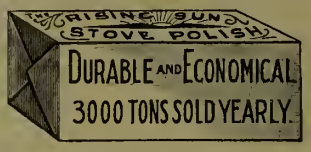
ARTICLE III.

The remaining sections refer to duties of officers and provide for the Executive paying the Secretary a salary if it see fit.

Sec. I. The annual meeting of the Association shall be at such place as may be designated by the Association at its previous annual meeting.

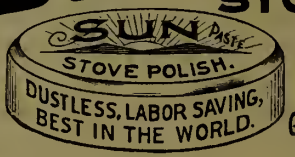
Sec. IA. Special meetings may be called by the President by giving two weeks' notice.

Sec. II. The Executive Committee is subject to the call of the President.



Sec. III. It shall be the duty of the President, or in case of his inability to serve, of the Vice-Presidents to exercise supervisory control over the affairs of the Association, and preside at all meetings of the Executive Committee and to carry out and enforce all measures adopted by the Association to improve the condition of the mercantile business.

BY-LAWS.



Art. I. The membership fee shall be $5.00, to be paid in advance, the financial year ending Feb. 1.

Art. II. Ten members shall constitute

Art. III. That every firm or branch paying the membership fee of $5.00, can have a vote by representation or by proxy.

The Credit Evil.

Perhaps the most interesting and useful feature of the convention was the discussion of a number of trade topics. Foremost among these was the credit evil, the subject being introduced for discussion by the following motion of Messrs. Rollins and Steacy:

"That in the opinion of this Association the credit system as it now exists is detrimental to the interests of the retail trade, and that this Association recommends as a remedy, the closing of all accounts about the first of November and the collection of same at that date, and the refusal of credit from the first of November until the first of May."

Messrs. Rollins and Steacy spoke briefly to this resolution, explaining that while the cash system was the ideal, they did not consider it practicable at the present time. Mr. Steacy urged that it was necessary to effect some improvement in this matter of credits in order to meet new competition, the main strength of which lay in its cash system.

H. C. Hamelin.

Mr. Hamelin followed with a thoughtful address.

"If you will pardon the expression, gentlemen, the credit system is 'rotten,'" he said. "I have been in business in this country for 13 or 14 years, and I know that the credit system is much worse now than it was when I started business. In the early days, we always collected at least 75 or 80 per cent. of the amount on our books at the end of the year: we find it hard now to collect more than 60 per cent. We give five dollars' credit now where formerly we gave one, and yet there does not seem to be any good reason why there should be so much money out. Crops and prices have been good, and I think the explanation is, that the farmers have been putting their money into machinery and land to the neglect of their store bills. This is our own fault: we allow ourselves to be imposed upon.

"Now, what is the remedy? I think you will agree with me that a cash system would be too severe, and that we could not carry it out. In the present stage of the country's development, it is not practicable. But it would be a long step in advance if we were to follow out the suggestion of this resolution. I think it is practicable, and that if crops and prices are as good this year as last, we can collect 90 per cent. of our accounts next Fall, provided we all stand together. We can do it if our neighbors join us. I doubt if we can do it alone."

President Lawlor.

President Lawlor followed, after a short general discussion by several members. He thought he had had as much to do with the credit system as any man in Manitoba. His experience had led him to certain conclusions.

"In the first place, I agree with Mr. Hamelin that the credit system is 'rotten,' but I am convinced that, like the poor, it is always with us. We can't abolish it entirely. However, there are many ways in which we can better our condition and make this credit burden easier to carry."

Mr. Lawlor then drew attention to the large number of branch banks established recently throughout Western Canada, and he thought they suggested a remedy. He would suggest that merchants should render their accounts monthly, and every quarter insist upon either money payment or a note. In the Fall these notes should be put in the bank for collection.

"If this discussion does nothing else," continued the President, "it should result in merchants paying more attention to their accounts. Some of us total up our accounts only once a year, and we don't know how much credit we can stand."

"Don't foster impossibilities upon your association," was Mr. Lawlor's last warning.

Several members objected that Mr. Lawlor's method would offend customers, and that, moreover, it was of no use in small places with no bank.

A. G. Munro, of Morden, urged strongly that it would be impossible to devise any system for the whole of the West.

H. C. Hamelin, in a short speech, urged that nothing would result unless the association decided upon one system. It was necessary that united action should be taken. Notes would be no good in a village without a bank.

"This thing is getting serious," concluded Mr. Hamelin. "A crop failure would put some of us in a bad way, just because we have so much on our books."

Resolution Carried.

The resolution was finally carried unanimously, on the understanding that for the present it bound no one. It simply embodied a recommendation which is one plank of a platform upon which the association go to the country for support. In order to succeed, it is necessary that a large number of merchants join in the movement.

"Supply Accounts."

At an evening meeting, held in the sample room of Foley, Lock & Larson, the subject of supply accounts was discussed. It was alleged that wholesale houses sometimes start "men of straw" in business in towns where there is no room for a new store, the object being to sell their own goods through this store. The practice was condemned in a strongly worded resolution.

The meeting also discussed the encouragement by wholesale houses of new firms starting up in towns where there are already too many stores. The association are prepared to take strong measures to prevent such encouragement. The wholesale houses were also requested not to sell to firms which carry certain goods only as side lines, and slaughter them for advertising purposes, to the detriment of the legitimate retail trade.

Early Closing.

A resolution was passed in favor of the early closing movement: "That the association do hereby endorse the principle of early closing, and advises that all places of business be closed not later than 7 p.m. on all days except Saturdays and days preceding holidays, when the hour shall be nine o'clock."

The convention then adjourned, to meet at the call of the executive, probably about Midsummer.

FRESH AND CURED FISH

White Fish Being Killed Out.

IN The Toronto Globe of March 6 a Canadian Fisherman refers at length to the unsatisfactory condition of the fisheries on the Northern Great Lakes, stating that the laws and regulations at present in force are not such as best to conserve the protection and prolongation of the food products of the Lakes nor in the best interests of Canadian fishermen. By way of remedying the condition of the trout fisheries on Lake Superior and Georgian Bay he recommends a graded close season beginning earlier than at present in Lake Superior and gradually getting later as the Canadian shores of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay are approached.

It may be news to the trade generally that white fish are becoming comparatively scarce in the great lakes owing, in a large measure, to the unwise licenses permitted by the Canadian Government, allowing the murderous pound net to be used for catching fish. Again, such regulations as have been adopted for the preservation of fish are not properly enforced. Everyone knows the destruction wrought upon the fish by the employment of the same nets. In spite of the half-hearted efforts which have been made from time to time to suppress this net fishing it is very extensively practiced along the Canadian shores of the Georgian Bay to the north channel, extending from Badgley Island to Sandy Island. The whole matter of fishing on Georgian Bay and the north channel should be thoroughly investigated and prompt measures taken to protect the fish and at the same time do justice to the licensed fishermen.

American Salmon in Denmark.

THE steamship Oscar II. on its last trip from New York to Copenhagen, brought 30,000 Columbia River fresh salmon for delivery to consumers in Copenhagen, Berlin, Paris, and other European cities. The fish were forwarded to New York in refrigerator cars and to Copenhagen in cold storage. It is the first shipment of the kind. The fish arrived in excellent condition. They were consigned to a prominent wholesaler here, who forwarded the greater portion of them to branch houses in Berlin and Paris.

The construction of enormous ferries for service between this island and the continent, and the opening of the new line a year ago, was destined to bring Copenhagen and Berlin into closer social and commercial relations than formerly existed. The two immediate advantages of especial importance accruing from the construction of these large ferries for service between Gjedser and Waremunde are (1) that perishable goods may now be shipped in through refrigerator cars, and (2) that there is now a through sleeping-car service between Copenhagen and Berlin.

It is now demonstrated that the improvement in transportation facilities between the island on which Copenhagen is located and the Continent is not without economic importance to the United States. In any event, the shipment of fresh salmon from the far west to Berlin and Paris via Copenhagen is an achievement in modern commerce and transportation worth recording.—U.S. Consular Report.

Closed Season Bill Will Be Killed.

IT is expected that the special fisheries legislation, planned by canners of the State of Washington and British Columbia will be given an indefinite hoist by the State Senate now in session at Olympia on account of the antagonism of the independent canners. Even those American canners who favor the bill recommend its passage only on the ground that it be amended so as to allow no fishing between Mission bridges on the Fraser River.

Many American canneries have traps in the islands of the Gulf of Georgia. No fish are to be caught, according to the plan of the weekly closed season, between 6 o'clock on Friday evening and 6 o'clock on Sunday morning. The fish which pass the traps on Saturday are headed toward the Fraser River. They may reach Westminster bridge by Sunday morning, and above that would not be caught if the terms of the order so applied. But the salmon would certainly not reach Mission bridge by that time, and would, according to the Canadian order as it stands, be caught by Canadian fishermen on Sunday and Monday.

Catches Fish Frozen.

J. S. Graves, who owns a farm bordering upon one of the inland lakes near Union City, Mich., is now not only harvesting a fine supply of ice for use next Summer, but also combining with very little extra labor the accumulation of a food supply in the form of fresh fish, which will be just as fresh and edible when he desires to eat fish next Summer as they are now.

When the ice began to form on the lake, and before it had attained any great thickness, Mr. Graves scattered angle worms and grubs over a considerable area of thin ice.

The fish in the lake, attracted by the food, which they could plainly see, but could not quite obtain, kept their noses pushed persistently against the ice. So hungrily eager were they that they did not notice the rapid formation of ice about them until they were finally frozen solidly therein, within a few inches of the surface.

Every cake of ice contains from one to ten fine fish, frozen alive in the block, and it is thought that his catch of fish will weigh over a ton.

Annual Meeting.

At the annual meeting of the Newfoundland Whaling Co. the following were elected directors for the ensuing year: President, A. F. Goodridge; secretary, Hon. R. K. Bishop; J. Baird, M. G. Winter, J. Browning. A dividend of six per cent. was declared and a sum of $18,000 put to reserve fund. The matter of arranging with other whaling companies so that this fisheries product may be placed in foreign markets to the best advantage was also discussed.

Short Pack of Lobsters.

The Winter pack of lobsters on the western shore of Nova Scotia is now completed, and, according to latest estimates, will amount to 5,000 cases as compared with 9,000 to 10,009 cases in normal years. Factories are closed and the fishermen have hauled in their gear fully a month earlier than usual. The lobster market remains dull and there is no possibility of knowing what next season's market will be in Europe until June, or possibly later. The Winter pack has found its market as usual in the United states at the prevailing low prices.

Fish Gossip.

Early forecasts of the Norwegian Spring codfishery promise well for a good yield of medicinal oil. "Fish reported small in the run, but livers fatter and larger than usual." Norwegian Spring cod always come inshore in prime condition, while on this side the Atlantic the fish are at their best late in the season and in deep water.

Large, natural oyster beds, which are known to exist at Blunden Harbor, off Queen Charlotte Sound, B.C., are to be developed by a Vancouver syndicate.

The salmon cannery on Observatory Inlet, B.C., owned by J. Wallace, is about to be moved to Matheson's Point on the Naas River. The plant will be an up-to-date one, capable of packing 12,000 cases during the season.

The British Columbia Fisheries Department has commenced to issue trap-net licenses.

W. U. Dion, of Caplin Co., Bonaventure, Que., was in New Glasgow last week in connection with the establishment of several bait freezers for the Gaspe coast.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature of Nova Scotia to incorporate fishermen's unions in Nova Scotia. The aim of these unions will be, among other things, to improve fishing and curing methods and obtain and disseminate information regarding markets and the most expedient methods of transportation.

Halifax Fishery Award.

It is authoritatively stated that the Dominion Government does not intend to distribute among the provinces interested the amount of the Halifax fishery award received by Canada, nor is the question to be submitted to the English Privy Council or the Canadian Supreme Court during the present session.

Fish Calendar for Lent.

A. Booth & Co., 99-101 Place d'Youville, Montreal, are sending out to the trade a unique calendar price list for the Lenten season. Dealers can obtain one by addressing this firm as above, mentioning The Grocer. It will be found a useful index to the fish days of the season.

To Enforce Coasting Regulations.

The Dominion Government intends enforcing the coasting regulations respecting halibut fishing in Hesate Strait, B. C., which is conceded to be the best halibut grounds on the Pacific. This action has been deemed necessary in consequence of the ravages of American packers.

Cheese and Butter Situation.

DURING the past few days there has been an improvement in the demand for cheese, both from abroad and locally. It looks very much as if the British merchants were realizing the strength of the situation, based on the smaller stocks carried this year as against those of 1904. While things have been dull for some time back, it is reported that sales have been put through at an equivalent of 11c. for white and colored, and are now quoted ½c. for white and ¼c. for colored higher. Stocks unsold here are very small, in fact, the smallest for many years, and holders, who have held till now, will not let go very quickly now that the advance is coming on.

While butter is still selling at 28 to 30c. for finest creamery, the high prices seem to have checked consumption, as the trade is very slow and too quiet for this season of the year.

How Powdered Milk is Made.

IN his last report re Dutch trade in Australia, Consul W. B. Bosschart writes to the foreign department in Holland as follows:

"At the Dairy Exhibition in Melbourne, held during September, 1901, were shown samples of dried milk, so-called powder milk, which were sent from New Zealand. Nathan & Cie., who hold the New Zealand and Australian rights for the manufacture of dried milk, have gone to considerable expense in installing machinery, as extensive boiler power and a great deal of fuel are required. The machine itself consists of a very strong cast-iron frame with parallel rollers resting on bearings, the drums being about one-eighth of an inch apart. Steam is connected through the shaft, which is hollow, by means of a pipe and ordinary packing glands, the outlet being through the other axle, which is similarly mounted. The cylinders are 5 feet long and 28 feet in diameter, and have a perfectly smooth surface; 40 lbs. of steam are indicated, and the rollers revolve inversely 7½ times per minute by means of a mechanical attachment. The milk is fed with perforated pipes about one foot above the rollers, and drops on them in a straight shower.

"All the moisture in the milk evaporates and is carried away through a large pipe leading from a cowl over the apparatus. Less than one revolution brings the roller in contact with the knives, which are fitted by set screws, so as to shave the surface without touching the metal too hard. From these knives fall away continuous sheets of dried milk resembling cream-colored crimped tissue paper. On falling into a box, this paper-like substance breaks to pieces, being afterwards scooped into a primitive wooden drum fitted with beaters, which break it down to very fine powder. This product, which is sterile, may be turned into new milk again by the addition of seven parts of hot water."

High Price of Butter.

THE butter situation is a peculiar one at present in Canada, high prices prevailing in nearly every city in the Maritime Provinces, and even in Montreal and the West.

The fact is, so good has the market been in England for Canadian butter and cheese, that shippers have been anxious to export. On this account large quantities went forward which were not of the quality to catch the market against the best Danish and Irish butter. The fact is, none but A1. quality is required on the English market. The West Indian market has also been good, and large shipments are continually made there by every boat from Halifax and St. John, some by Upper Canadian firms and some by local firms.

The result of this heavy export within the last few months has been that Nova Scotia has experienced a shortage, which in Halifax, Sydney, and other centres, was greatly accentuated by the late snow blockade on the railways when the country supply could not be sent forward. The greatest scarcity in Halifax was in fresh-made creamery for table use, which on Saturday (March 4) was retailing at 35c. per pound, the nominal price for the last year or two being 25 to 27c.

One direct result of the shortage has been the importation of butter on a large scale from Great Britain.

As it seemed to be the prevailing opinion that this "English" butter was imported on account of the snow blockade, The Grocer interviewed Smith & Proctor, who are probably the largest handlers of butter in Halifax, on the matter. They disclaimed that this was the reason for importing, the butter being purchased there merely as a matter of business, since it could be imported at a lower price than it could be got for in Montreal, admitting, at the same time, that it "was quite possible" that this "English" butter was at least "partly" Canadian. It may also be noted that this butter is not strictly for local consumption. Large quantities are shipped to the West Indies, the greater part of which was previously imported from the West.

Thus the whole matter is explained. Exporters, in their eagerness to catch a good market, have been over-shipping, with the result that their butter has paid freight and expenses both ways across the Atlantic, and is landed in Halifax cheaper than it can be bought to-day in Montreal. Though the ramifications of trade are peculiar, this does not seem to be the kind of trade extension that would benefit shippers, resulting as it has in largely increased prices to consumers in this country.

Lard Statistics.

The following comparative estimate of stocks of lard held in Europe and afloat on March 1, has been supplied by the N. K. Fairbank Co., Chicago:

Dutch cheese is well demanded in South Africa, much of the business being done through foreign, especially English, houses. It is reported that the new tins of ½ and 1 lb. find a ready sale, while, as to the quality, it is said that gouda cheese keeps best and makes a good price.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

Provisions—A slightly more active market in provisions is reported for the week, as well as a slight advance all round, largely on account of the lightness of stocks held. Long clear bacon is 1-2c. firmer, and there has been an advance of 1-4c. in all varieties of lard. In the opinion of the provision men lard has been altogether too cheap for the last year, and we are bound to see higher prices.

Fresh meats are on the quiet side, and veal has declined from 1-2 to 1 cent in price. Hogs are coming more freely and have dropped in price. Yearling lambs are 1-2c. easier, the price on this article previously having been almost prohibitive. Our quotations are as follows:

Cheese—There has been no change in the cheese situation since last week. Both at home and abroad the market continues quiet, with prices firm and steady. For export trade to-day's quotations are 52s. to 53s. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11
" twins	0 11½

Butter—Arrivals of butter have been on a much larger scale during the week under review, and although there is no surplus the supply is now about equal to the demand. The butter famine may be said to be practically over, and normal prices will be quoted in future. Creamery prints are from 1 to 2c. lower than last week, only a few of the creameries having kept to the extreme level of 29c. Very few creamery solids are on the market at the present time. Dairy prints are also down 1c. We quote the following prices:

Provisions—There is no change to report in the position of the provision market. Prices have held up well, and though a weakening was looked for it failed to materialize. The trade in pork has been quiet. Fresh abattoir killed was sold at $8.75 to $8.50. Country-dressed receipts are small, selling at $7.25 to $7.75 per 100 lbs. Our quotations are as follows:

Butter—The undertone of the market continues strong, and there is no actual change of great importance to note. The turnover in business is not large, but everything offered is being taken up readily. Sales of Eastern Townships creamery were made at 28c. to 30c. at factory. The local market is bare of fine stock, and this scarcity is generally firming up prices. We quote the following:

Cheese—Market is dull and featureless. Exports are small in comparison with same period last year. 10 1-2 to 10 3-4c. appears to be the railway prices.

Eggs—The arrival of larger lots of new-laid has weakened the market during the week, and a decline of 2 to 3c. per dozen is noted in new-laid. As the weather turns milder receipts will be heavier, and lower prices may be looked for. The demand for eggs is good, and with the opening of Lenten season on Wednesday will continue to improve. Stocks of stored eggs are getting down rapidly. Limed unchanged.

Provisions—In beef and pork, while the market is firm, there is very little business doing. Smoked meats are held very firm. Pure lard is rather higher; there is a good stock held. Refined is unchanged. In beef, prices are quite low. Lamb is beginning to be offered. Full prices asked. Mutton dull and low. Veal is more plentiful. Price unchanged. Pork is rather higher. Provisions, Etc.—Prices in the wholesale and retail provision market have not been normal on account of the blockade, and do not represent the general state of the "market." Supplies up to this week not been coming in, and as any line ran short the price went up. Even with the stoppage of the country "milk train," which comes in from Truro every morning, the price of condensed milk (retail) went up 5c. a can. Butter had gone previously to from 5 to 10c. for the various grades. Fresh-laid eggs were sold from house to house by countrymen who managed to surmount the snowbanks at 40 and then 45c. per dozen. All kinds of meats were scarce, and fortunate was the dealer who had a few carcases of the frozen article imported from the West. Prices are, however, settling down again, but it will take another two weeks before normal conditions assert themselves. The butter market, which two weeks ago advanced about 5c. on all grades, declined 2c. on Friday, March 3. Another week or two will bring it back to normal.

Canadian Bacon Trade.

Domestic trade in bacon and fresh meats is not so brisk as a week ago. Up to March 4th arrivals of hogs showed a decided improvement. This week, however, there has been a considerable falling off, and packers' price is firm at $5.75. The English bacon market has shown signs of weakness, largely on account of increased shipments from the United States to Great Britain, bringing about a sudden climax in the market and the resulting decline. Last quotations, viz., from 46 to 50 shillings, practically rule yet. In fresh meats trade is a little on the quiet side, both veal and lamb having declined in price.

Dairy and Provision News.

Dairy instruction is to be made a feature of the coming Summer's work in the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

The Canadian Poultry and Produce Co., Stratford, are making extensive improvements and enlargements in their plant, and will extend their business to include the raising of hogs.

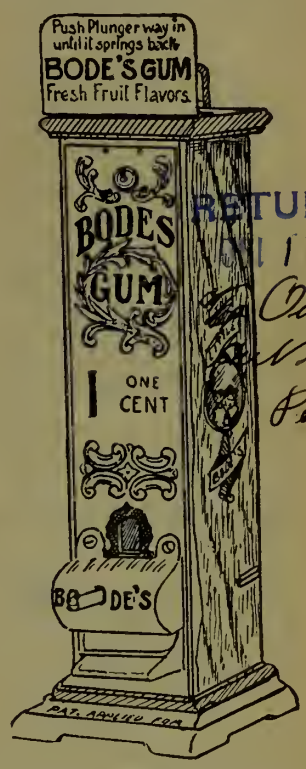
A deputation from the Western Dairymen's Association waited upon the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, on March 7, and received the official promise of an additional inspector and further financial assistance from the Government.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., March 6, 1905.

THE wholesale grocery trade, like that of all other lines, has been seriously curtailed during the month of February on account of the snow blockade; nothing like it has ever been known by even the "oldest inhabitant." With the exception of last winter, for a great many years our winters have been fairly mild, but after this experience the wish for "good old-fashioned winters" will be obsolete.

For nearly three weeks the whole D.A. Railway, running from Halifax to Yarmouth — 220 miles — was practically blocked from end to end. It is now opened (less than half the distance) to Kentville. The result has been that orders from this whole district could not be shipped, and even orders requiring goods could not be sent in except by telegraph and telephone. Coal in many places ran short, and flour was sold in Kentville at $9 to $10 per barrel. For the same reason payments due the first of this month are backward, and it will take two or three months for general trade conditions to recuperate.



Feeds of all kinds are in good demand, but stocks are running low. There is no change in price. Hay is very scarce, as it has been impossible to import. Nova Scotia's crop being almost a failure, it is reported that cattle are being slaughtered in many country districts since the commencement of the snow blockade. Hay to arrive is quoted here at about $13. It has no doubt been previously reported that large quantities of Quebec hay were brought down to the Provinces in the Autumn and early Winter over the Intercolonial free of charge. This hay was sold at cost, which was from $8 to $... according to quality.

The steamer "Evangeline," which sailed for London last Friday, carried 5,000 barrels of apples. The quantity would have been greater, but they could not be brought forward by rail.

Two events during the blockade are worthy of record, one being that for the first time for many years beef cattle were driven to the Halifax market. Bridgetown is situated 115 miles from Halifax on the D.A.R., yet for that distance, even in the midst of the storm, a drove of 32 head were brought in. The cattle were taught to walk in single file, a drover walking with each eight head to guide them, and it is stated they made over 20 miles a day and came in good condition. The second is that large importations of butter from Great Britain are reported.

Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea

You see we are not concerned about declaring the fact that Blue Ribbon Tea is made up of this quality and that.

We think we have passed the day when it was necessary to convince people that Blue Ribbon is good tea.

Our great purpose is to enlarge its sphere, so to speak.

To increase its users.

To increase the number of grocers who distribute it.

To save the grocer the waste that results in experimenting with teas less known and of less worth.

HEINZ MUSTARD DRESSING

One of the 57

It would be a capital thing to push this variety at this time. As a fish sauce it is unexcelled. Appreciated in Lent and all times when fish is an article of diet. For Spring trade when salads begin to rise in importance it is worth setting out prominently. Not a mayonaisse but a dressing of a delicate, exquisite mustard flavor.

BUYING FUTURES.

WE hear much of the wisdom of buying ahead and in bulk, and there can be little doubt that many grocers are seized with the attractiveness of the suggestion, without pausing to ask themselves whether their inventory does not already show too great a proportion of the year's profits in goods on hand instead of in cash receipts.

It is a question whether a grocer will gain in the long run by placing large advance orders and buying several months' suppy to save a fancied trifle in price. True, last year may have been an exceptional year. In some sections the retail trade may not have been up to expectations. Another season, with brisk trade, and snow and rain and sun all doing their duty at just the time that suits him, he may pull through without having to carry over any great quantity of goods. But what does he gain to compensate for the risk?

He thinks he has saved something in price by buying a few big bills in place of many smaller ones. Let's concede the point, though we doubt it. To achieve this saving he has had to tie up several times as many dollars in certain items as would have been necessary had he followed the other plan.

To buy four months' supply at one time takes exactly four times as many dollars as to buy one month's supply. Thus the grocer loses the profit he might have made by investing those surplus dollars in other goods not now sold.

When he has twelve dozen of an item on his shelf he sells no more than if he had three dozen, and the same money that bought the twelve dozen might have been used to buy three dozen each of four articles. With four items instead of one he could have made sales four times as great without increasing the investment.

And the incurable trouble about buying in big lots is that about every so many years there is a crop failure or something else happens to make trade shrink, and the year's profits are sure to suffer sorely.

Is not the compound profit that comes from turning a large variety of goods many times in a year better than the simple profit which comes from buying a quantity of each article, with the consequent smaller variety, depreciation in value, slow but sure growth of stickers, etc.?

WHY AND WHEREFORE OF DRAWBACKS.

OSTENSIBLY the reason for the recent decision of the U. S. Government allowing drawbacks on Canadian wheat to be exported, wholly or in part, in the form of flour, was because American millers were in need of our Manitoba wheat to enable them to meet the requirements of foreign trade. The precedent established, however, involves a far-reaching principle, and when it is remembered that the same rule will, in all probability, be applied to importations of pulp-wood, lumber, raw hides, nickel, fruit and vegetables, for manufacturing purposes, it is easily seen what a tremendous impetus must be given to manufacturing in the United States and the upbuilding of their export trade.

For the seven months, ending January, 1905, importations of hides, tin, fibres and wool into the United States aggregated as follows: Hides and skins, $34,439,265; tin, 43,621,612 pounds; fibres, $20,699,313, and wool, 109,000,000 pounds. In other words, manufacturers' material formed about 46 per cent. of the total imports into the United States for the fiscal year ending January, 1905.

Imports of material for use in manufacturing during this period exceeded those of the corresponding months of the preceding year by about $33,000,000, and in the month of January alone exceeded those of January last by more than $12,000,000.

The share, moreover, which manufacturers' materials are forming of the imports of the United States, is steadily increasing. In 1820 they formed about 16.6 per cent. of the total imports; by 1850 they had reached about 28.2 per cent.; in 1880, 37 per cent.; in 1900, 45 per cent., and in the single month of January, 1905, 50.1 per cent. American manufacturers are also steadily increasing the share which their products form in the exports of the United States; for instance, in the seven months ending January, 1905, the manufactures exported exceeded by $52,000,000 the total for the corresponding months of the preceding year, and in the month of January alone the total exceeded that of January, 1904, by about $2,000,000.

Canada is vitally concerned, because, under existing conditions, she will be supplying more and more raw material to United States manufacturers until her own manufacturing industries are able to work up the seemingly inexhaustible fund of raw material at hand. At the same time, our manufacturers are beginning to watch anxiously the trend of things, and are considering the advisability of taking precautions to prevent the undue diversion of national trade into a foreign channel. Developments will be awaited with interest by Canadian business men.

TO IMPROVE CANADIAN COMMERCE.

IN view of the disadvantage at which Canadian importers and exporters have been placed in the past, owing to the slow and irregular line of steamers plying between the Winter ports of Canada and Great Britain, it is not surprising that the Boards of Trade in the Maritime Provinces should have undertaken to grapple with the transportation problem, which is becoming more and more serious as Canada's foreign trade grows and American carrying lines begin to cast covetous eyes on traffic to the North not already in their hands. There can be little doubt but that they will prove formidable competitors to our own Winter carriers; at the same time, there is every reason why Canadian traffic over sea should be in the hands of all-Canadian lines, and absolutely no excuse why even a share of our export and import trade should go and come via New York and Boston. If our transportation facilities are inferior, then it is plainly a national duty to improve them; if the difficulty is one of rates, Canadian carriers must meet it as best they can.

At the last meeting of the Kings' County Board of Trade in Kentville, N. S., this question was thoroughly aired and a resolution passed requesting the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, to call for tenders for an adequate all-year-round steamship service between St. John, Halifax and London, Eng., after July 1 next, on the ground that a faster service was necessary if legitimate trade was to be kept from drifting into the hands of American competing lines.

The city of St. John has done its share in helping towards a solution of the problem by improving her harbor, which is now regognized as one of the finest Winter ports on the North Atlantic seaboard. But the fact remains that Canada is losing an enormous amount of money every year on account of traffic going via American ports and foreign bottoms. It is to be hoped the Dominion Government will second every effort in the direction of the establishment of first-class direct transportation facilities between Canada and Great Britain, and that every Canadian business man will look forward to a speedy solution of the problem as vital to Canadian commerce.

FEBRUARY FAILURES.

WITH about the same number of casualties in February this year as last, the feature of the month just closed, as shown by Bradstreet's report, is the heavy shrinkage in the volume of liabilities of Canadian business firms from the second month of 1904, namely, $242,730, the figures for the two years being $756,144 and $998,874, and the failures numbering 103 and 117 respectively. This feature is in keeping with the generally better tone of business this year than last. The February liabilities as a whole are the smallest reported for that month since monthly totals were first compiled by Bradstreet's. This shrinkage in liabilities is not confined to any one section, but runs throughout the country. Surely the business year has begun auspiciously; if normal conditions continue to rule during the remaining ten calendar months, including good grain and fruit crops, 1905 ought to prove a record year for the trade.

CANADA PREFERS THE BACON HOG.

A CANADIAN contemporary has thought it worth while to refer to the very large importations of bacon into Canada from the United States during the last two years, and to the interference the same have caused with the prosperity of Canadian farmers who require the home market for themselves.

Once more we wish to remind readers of The Grocer and the trade generally, that this so-called "dumping" of American pork on the Canadian market is not a matter to occasion serious alarm. It is quite true that Canada imports yearly a large quantity of pork from the United States, for the reason that we do not produce enough to answer domestic requirements, not that Canada is not in a position to cater to this particular trade, but the promoters of the bacon industry in Canada have for years tried to discourage the production of fat pork, which is now being imported from the United States, on the ground that there was far more money for the farmer in the bacon hog. The result is that the Canadian export trade is now almost exclusively in lean hogs, exports of bacon for the fiscal year 1904 totalling over twenty-five million dollars. Canadian packers and provision men are unanimous in their opinion that we do not want this particular trade and that we ought not to take exception to our friends from across the border if they see fit to send us a little of their surplus fat pork occasionally.

USE YOUR LOCAL PAPER.

WE are again forcibly reminded of the rapidly-growing appreciation of the value of printers' ink among the retail grocery and general mercantile trades of Canada. Most of our enterprising merchants are already systematic advertisers in the local papers, and, where they have followed it up judiciously and persistently, are unanimous in their opinion of advertising as an invaluable auxiliary to trade.

That the wholesale trade recognize the value of advertising through the medium of the trade and daily press, need hardly be more than mentioned. That advertising is the backbone of success in all of our departmental stores is patent to every consumer throughout the country who either reads or receives their catalogues and price lists. The inference is not unfair that retail grocers and general merchants have no right to say they know the alphabet of successful merchandising until they have mastered the art of newspaper advertising. The key-note of this art is to tell the story of the goods you have to sell in the most effective way, and to the greatest possible number of people. Extravagant puffs are not to be advocated under any circumstances; rather a straight announcement in the advertising columns of a newspaper of what you have to say —the all-important thing being to say it well.

WESTERN CREDITS.

THE suggestion made by the Retail Merchants' Association of Western Canada with regard to the credit system as it exists in the West has attracted considerable attention among Western merchants. As readers of The Grocer will remember, the suggestion is that all members of the association agree to close their accounts on the first of November, and give no credit from November to May. The proposal is generally regarded as a step in the right direction, but some criticisms are heard. The Grocer is in receipt of some communications on the subject.

J. & E. Brown.

J. & E. Brown, of Portage La Prairie, in the course of a letter to The Grocer, say that they do not care to enter into a discussion of the credit system. "We may say, however, that the farmers' notes are a very fine class of security, and so far as we are concerned personally, we do not desire anything better."

"Hard Cash."

A correspondent signing himself "Hard Cash" writes as follows:

Editor Canadian Grocer,—

Winnipeg, Manitoba.

I was not present at the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association, but I am interested in the plan which the association proposes regarding credits. I find in my own business that matters are worse now than they were three or four years ago, but I am afraid to call a halt on credits unless my opposition will join with me. It is easy to make a rule, but it is hard to follow it when it means driving good customers to another store. But what one can't do alone perhaps can be done if we stand together. Perhaps we will some day get down to the right basis, namely,

"Hard Cash."

"Country Grocer."

Another correspondent signing himself "Country Grocer" writes as follows:

Editor Canadian Grocer,—

I don't see any reason why we should wait until this "Retail Merchants' Association" includes us all before acting on their suggestion as to credits. We might wait a long time. In my little town, where there are only four of us in business, we made an agreement among ourselves two or three years ago somewhat similar to that proposed by the association. It worked fairly well, and no customer could be offended when we all stuck to the same policy. I could not have carried it out myself.

I believe in the association idea because I don't see why what was good for us on a small scale in one town should not work equally well when it includes a big area.

(Signed) "Country Grocer."

WHOLESALE GROCERS AT ODDS.

The Canadian grocery trade has evinced more or less interest in the reported action of Nesbitt, Gould & Dickson, of Hamilton, on Mar. 2, in issuing a writ for damages against H. C. Beckett, of Hamilton, the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild, and J. F. Eby, of Toronto, Ontario Grocers' Guild, on behalf of the Grocers' Wholesale Co., of Hamilton. The plaintiffs claim that the action of the defendents in forcing sugar refiners and other manufacturers to sell only to them at prices fixed by themselves, is in restraint of trade and tending to monopoly.

RETAIL GROCERS ANNUAL MEETING.

THE annual meeting of the grocers' section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada was held in their board room, Richmond street West, Toronto, on March 7. Mr. George Good occupied the chair.

The meeting unanimously endorsed the proposal of the Grocers' Provincial Committee to hold a convention of retail grocers in Toronto, from all parts of the province, during the last week of the Pure Food Show, the two principal days being Wednesday and Thursday, April 12 and 13. Special arrangements for reduced railroad rates have been made, and subjects of great importance to the rethail grocers' trade will be discussed.

The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year: Chairman, G. Good; first vice-chairman, J. H. Walker; second vice-chairman, M. Moyer; treasurer, J. Bond; secretary, S. C. Higgins; general secretary, E. M. Trowern.

WEE MACGREEGOR OAT CAKES.

David Grierson & Co. have opened a factory at 651 Queen street east, Toronto, for the manufacture of Wee MacGreegor Scotch Oat Cakes, Scones and Scotch Shortbread. The Oat Cakes are made from imported Scotch oatmeal and put up in cartoons, three dozen to the case. J. Mitchell, Wellington street west, selling agent for the company, reports that the products are meeting with ready sale.

THE HUMORS OF ADVERTISING.

The mistakes of the intelligent compositor are a perennial source of amusement and not infrequently of imprecations, loud and deep, in newspaper circles. The mild-mannered editor or manager is often the innocent victim of the rage of the advertiser, whose copy has been "improved" after the marvelous manner of the linotype. But even Jove nods, and once in a while the laugh is on the writer of the copy. An amusing incident of this kind happened in a recent issue of The Grocer.

As the trade well knows Silver Gloss Starch is the pride of The Edwardsburg Starch Co., while the Brantford Starch Co. are sponsors for Lily White Gloss Starch. It was with some little mystification, therefore, that Grocer readers noticed in a recent issue that Silver Gloss Starch was being advertised by the Brantford Starch Co. The explanation is that a new hand in the office of an advertising writer nodded. That is all. The Brantford Starch Co. wish their name associated with Lily White Gloss Starch only, and the Edwardsburg Starch Co. wish their name only associated with Silver Gloss Starch.

APPOINTED AGENT.

J. H. Maiden, Montreal, has made arrangements for the sale of Deerfield Water, Deerfield, Ohio. Deerfield Water has an established reputation in the United States as a table water of great merit. Several carloads have already been placed among the Montreal trade by Mr. Maiden.

BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS.

The Canadian business of the Fairbanks Co., including branches at Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver, has been bought by H. J. Fuller, Montreal. The intention is to erect a plant in Canada to manufacture specialties that have been imported in the past.

GROCERY CLERKS' MEETING.

The regular meeting of the Toronto Grocery Clerks' Association will be held in the Temple Building on Tuesday evening, March 14. Members and their friends are invited to attend.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. A. MacKay, of the Blue Ribbon Tea Co., Toronto, was a visitor to the trade in Montreal during the week.

Mr. A. M. Piper, of A. M. Piper & Co., Toronto, manufacturers of coffees, spices, etc., made a short trip to Montreal this week. The Grocer learned that his new plant on Jarvis street is in thorough working order and equipped with the latest and most improved machinery. Though only in running order during the past three weeks, orders are coming in in a most satisfactory manner. While in Montreal Mr. Piper engaged the services of Mr. T. John Fead, an experienced spice and coffee salesman. Mr. Fead will look after the trade in the Maritime Provinces, and as he has covered that territory for years his old customers will no doubt be pleased to see him on the road again.

YOU CAN'T FOOL THE COOK.

Brantford Prepared Corn Starch

won its first success in the kitchens of practical housewives. The recipes printed on the boxes were not the conventionally absurd kind, compiled as if for Royal households or millionaires palaces, but were of the common-sense kind. They "worked" and at once became widely popular, popularizing at the same time the "Brantford" brand of corn starch.

Ground slowly, without overheating, bolted through silk to microscopic fineness, free from grit or grain and with the delicate aroma and delicious natural flavor of bottom-land corn retained.

BRANTFORD PREPARED CORN STARCH

was quickly recognized as very different from and superior to other brands. Good advertising lent a finishing touch to success.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

March 9, 1905.

TRADE conditions are beginning to show decided signs of improvement as the Spring season approaches. Orders for the opening of navigation are being freely received, and the trade is showing increased interest in requirements for future trade. Sugars continue very firm, although the local demand is somewhat limited, as usual at this time of year, which, by the way, means a curtailment of trade in no small way, for, as one dealer remarked the other day, if the trade were only buying sugar they would be stocking other lines.

Canned goods are in brisk demand, tomatoes being scarce, with importations from the United States arriving on a fair to large scale. It is interesting to note that after the duty and freight charges are paid on imported tomatoes, the total cost laid down in Canada is within 10c. per dozen of twice the cost of tomatoes in American markets.

The trade generally is showing not a little interest in the future tomato situation; another association of tomato growers has been formed in Western Ontario during the week, and the vegetable growers as a whole are as firm in their pretentions as ever. If they decide to discontinue growing tomatoes for the present it may be that we will be practically without this article of food during the coming season. In conversation with a leading member of the trade this week the opinion was expressed that Canadian canners had no alternative other than to come to terms with the vegetable growers.

The usual sorting up orders for Lent are reported in salmon. Rio coffees have broken during the week, speculative quotations being 1-4c. lower than last week. Prices on Santos coffee are also lower, although so far there is no quotable change. Teas continue to move freely on account of the extraordinary values being offered to the trade.

Black pepper is firm and high, as well as cheap Rangoon rice. Cable reports from primary markets indicate a firm and advancing market in Tarragona almonds.

Fish of all descriptions are selling well for the Lenten trade, and an improvement is also noted in country produce, the demand for beans, honey, seeds and maple products showing a decided improvement for the week.

CANNED GOODS.

Perhaps one of the most interesting features of the grocery market for this week is canned goods, especially canned vegetables. Importations of American tomatoes continue on a large scale, many of the wholesalers here being practically out of supplies except what they import from U. S. Owing to the scarcity of tomatoes and the ready demand, corn and peas are going rapidly into consumption. It is thought that there will be enough corn and peas to last out until the 1905 pack is available, although corn is said to be more plentiful than peas. The retail trade are buying for immediate requirement and are even beginning to look forward to their summer trade. Meats and fish, with the exception of salmon, will hardly be in request for some weeks to come. There are increased enquiries for salmon, however, and good stuff is said to be scarce. The usual sorting up orders for salmon for the Lenten trade are reported. Our quotations are as follows:

SUGAR.

The sugar situation continues strong, with indications pointing, if anything, to an advance. It must be remembered that this is the season of least consumption during the year, and that locally there is very little of special interest to record. The raw situation is slightly firmer than a week ago. An advance of 1s 8d being recorded late last week, which was followed by a similar decline and a later advance of 1s 8d.

Receipts at U. S. four ports for the week ending March 1, 1905, were 30,509 tons, with meltings 33,000 tons, a decrease of 1,000 tons for the week, leaving total stock in all hands of 154,997 tons. Combined stocks of United States and Cuba on the same date were 364,997 tons, an increase of 84,468 tons for the week. Total stocks of Europe and America at latest uneven dates were 2,832,997 tons, a decrease of 839,532 tons over last year. Our quotations are as follows:

COFFEES

A break in the coffee market has caused a flutter of excitement among the wholesale grocery trade, speculative prices having dropped fully ¼c. on Rios. The Santos market is also quotably weaker.

As far as the movement of coffee into sight is concerned, developments in the world's markets during the week have been of a character favorable to bull interests. The total yield of coffee for the present season is estimated at about 14,500,000 bags, and with consumptive requirements of 15,750,000 bags, the indicated reduction in reserve supplies for the season is 1,250,000 bags, which, if correct, will bring the world's visible supply of coffee on July 1, 1905, to about 11,000,000 bags, or about 750,000 bags more than bull interests originally calculated upon. It is contended that owing to the waiting policy the consuming trade of Europe and America has pursued for some months past stocks in the hands of the trade are small, and indications are that there is room for good trade demand during the balance of the present crop season. January and February have proved very satisfactory months as far as the local tea business is concerned, and if March continues to follow suit as it has already begun to do the first three months of 1905 are likely to be more than usually satisfactory to the trade. We quote the following prices:

FOREIGN NUTS.

The only feature of this week's market in foreign nuts is a cable advice from France reporting a firm and advancing market in Tarragona almonds. A fair volume of trade is reported in peanuts, although as far as other varieties are concerned nothing of startling interest may be expected for the balance of the season. We quote the following:

EVAPORATED APPLES.

Evaporated apples are moving only fairly well, quotations being from 6½c. to 7c. Last week's quotations on dried apples still rule, viz., from 3c. to 4c.

Country Produce.

EGGS.

Supplies of eggs are now coming in larger quantities as conditions of transportation in the country improve, and prices show a decided drop for the week, beginning on Saturday, March 4. Eggs strictly new laid are quoted from 2c. to 3c. lower than last week, and fresh cold storage are from 1 to 2c lower. Supplies of new laid eggs are hardly sufficient to meet the demand, but it is thought will be in the course of a few days. Our quotations are as follows:

BEANS.

The bean market is firm and high at the close of the market this week, no advance whatever having taken place in last week's quotations except in primes No. 1, which are slightly higher. In conversation with The Grocer this week as to the reason for the increased consumption of beans in this country, a leading wholesaler said that it was undoubtedly because of the scarcity and high price of potatoes. Our quotations are as follows:

CANADA MAPLE EXCHANGE, Montreal.

Good morning, Mister Grocer.

Yes, I'm around again so soon. No, it's not Tomato Soup this trip. It's Beets — not dead beats—Canned Beets.

Yes, I'm willing to admit that most canned beets are not very attractive owing to the color having faded out of them, but this does not apply to Simcoe Canned Beets. The man who packs Simcoe Canned Beets has been studying the question for years, and as a result Simcoe Canned Beets are just as young, and as red and as tender as the beets pulled fresh from the garden. Yes, sir! nothing finer was ever put in cans.

You're looking for some fancy goods for the Lenten Season? Why not put into stock some of these Simcoe Canned Beets?

If you will empty a can of Simcoe Canned Beets into a glass dish and leave it exposed on your counter I'm satisfied that you will have a big call for them. Why, the other day a prominent Wholesale Merchant sampled a can of these Simcoe Canned Beets, and he was so pleased with them that he wanted the entire stock. His name? No, I won't mention his name now as the other wholesale men mightn't like it, but if you will write to the Canadian Canners, Limited, Hamilton, they will tell you where you can buy some of these Simcoe Canned Beets; but you had better move quick as the pack was only a small one owing to the difficulty in obtaining the proper kind of beets.

Well, good bye for the present. Look out for me on the next trip as I've got some interesting news for you.

Fish and Oysters.

As Ash Wednesday has ushered in the Lenten season, a brisk demand for all varieties of fish may be expected during the next few weeks. Leading up to Lent, demand has been principally for frozen fish, lake fish and sea herring, all of which are in full supply. Whitefish continue scarce and high in price. We quote this week oysters in the shell at from $10 to $12 per bbl. We quote the following prices:

Grain, Flour and Breakfast Foods.

GRAIN.

For the week under review, Manitoba wheat is a little firmer and Ontario a shade easier, red wheat being 1c lower and white from ½ to 1c. lower than last week. Manitoba Northern No. 1 is ½c. higher, as well as Northern No. 3. The feature of the week is the high price and scarcity of buckwheat. Our quotations are as follows:

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

Montreal, March 9, 1905.

THE general condition of trade is fairly satisfactory. Jobbers report themselves as satisfied, and, considering the extraordinary congested condition of country roads, think trade prospects most encouraging. Travelers' orders are beginning to assume somewhat larger proportions. The condition of the tea market shows an improvement for the better; prices are firmer, and cable offers have not been readily accepted by London shippers. Japans are doing better, while Ceylon and India greens are firmer. Molasses is stronger, and quotations from Barbadoes are 1c. higher this week. Some small lots of new Barbadoes are reported as having arrived in St. John, N.B. Canned goods are moving better, particularly tomatoes and fruits. The speculative break in coffees in New York has not affected the market here. A splendid trade is being done by fish dealers, as Lent opened up on Wednesday, Mar. 8; orders are coming in freely

SUGAR.

The sugar market locally is firm in sympathy with the stronger European and United States markets for the raw article. It would not be a surprise to hear of an advance before the end of the week. Business in only fair, no large orders coming from country points.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Molasses prices are unchanged. It was reported during the week that some new St. Kitts molasses had been offered, also some Antigua, the latter being quoted at 28c. and 30c. delivered. Advices from St. John, N. B., report the arrival of a small consignment of new Barbadoes. Latest reports from the Islands give quotations of from 20c. to 21c., including puncheons, which would mean from 32c. to 33c. laid down.

TEA.

There is a little more business doing in all lines. Ceylon and India greens are firm and cable offers have been turned down. Stocks are getting into smaller compass. Some good business has been doing in Japans. Ceylon blacks are also held firmer. In China blacks and greens business is dull, and no active change in sight. We quote:

SPICES.

The market shows no change, if anything it is a little easier. In some lines, such as nutmegs and peppers, quotations from London show a weak market, and it would seem as if this were an opportune time for the trade to buy. Locally, conditions are unchanged, with little business doing. We quote:

COFFEE.

Business quiet. Stocks are light here. Owing to the break in New York market the local feeling is that if the break continues, although it is of a speculative character, it may have a tendency to case prices up a bit. Still the feeling among the trade is that the market would have to go off many more

The last game of the series between T. Kinnear & Co. and H. P. Eckardt & Co., last week, on the Aura Lee rink, went to Kinnear's by default. This places the Grocery Brokers at the head of the League, and entitles them to receive the handsome trophies in the shape of watch charms which are to be presented to every member of the winning team by Colonel J. I. Davidson.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of The Canadian Grocer
St. John, N.B., Mar. 8, 1905.

BUSINESS begins to show improvement. The main railway lines are now open, but the branch lines are still in trouble. Owing to competition, Spring business is opening earlier than a few years back. This year it is a little behind and the roads will be so bad, owing to the great quantity of snow, that there will be further delay when the season begins to break. Our business men are very much interested this year in the city elections, and have formed a citizens' league. This not because of any dishonesty that has come to light, but chiefly because of the unbusinesslike methods of the council. There have also been some expensive mistakes made, and during the last few years the men offering for election are often undesirable.

In markets, prices are still firm. This is particularly the case in sugar, molasses and beans. Nutmegs, which have ruled so low, while unchanged, are much firmer. There is some range in the price of new rice. In all cases it is, however, higher than last season. Cream of tartar is quite firm. The change in the soda business, placing it in the hands of the American company, has led to the almost entire disappearance of American keg soda. They sell the English to our buyers. The sale of package soda does not seem to have increased.

Oil.

There is rather less business in burning oil, as the season advances and the days get longer. Prices are low. Lubricating oils have attention. It is said the contract system is not as largely followed as a few years ago. Linseed oil is reported much firmer. Turpentine is unchanged. Cod oil has but a light sale.

Salt.

There is but a light sale. In Liverpool coarse salt stocks are not nearly as large as usual at this season. Prices are firmly held.

Canned Goods.

Business is quiet in this line. There seems a fair stock of both corn and tomatoes. Some little American corn is held. Prices are high. Peas are in full supply. Fruits are unchanged. Ample stocks are held. In meats, little is done at this season. Prices are expected to rule as last year. Salmon is in full stock. Prices are at least no higher. In domestic fish, as sardines, haddies and kippers, stocks are light.

For New Brunswick fruit markets, see Fruit Department.

Dried Fruit.

In seeded raisins and prunes low prices are quoted. Sales are not large. The high price of evaporated apricots and peaches have caused even less sale for these lines than usual. In loose Muscatels and Valencias light stocks are held. Prices are low. Currants are unchanged at quite low prices. Dates have a fair demand and are cheap. Figs not wanted. Evaporated apples hold at the higher prices quoted. Onions are quite high. Dealers begin to look forward to Egyptians.

Sugar.

The market is firm, but unchanged for some time. The suit in the West against the Guild is watched with interest. Here the outside men have had no trouble in getting all the sugar they want, and the fact that the Guild held the price gave them both market and profit, so the outside men are as satisfied as those inside. In fact, several have taken on sugar and made good money who never before sold it.

Molasses.

New Barbadoes is here. Price high and firm. In Porto Rico molasses, full prices are asked.

Fish.

Fresh fish are scarce and full prices rule. Dry fish are also high. The prices this Winter have been the highest for many years. Pickled herring are firmly held. Smoked are unchanged. This is the one line that is reasonable. Boneless fish are quite low compared with dried fish.

Flour, Meal and Seeds.

In flour, a fair business is being done. Prices are unchanged. Feed continues high. Oats are very high, and oatmeal is higher than for some weeks, the cut price of American having been advanced. Cornmeal is rather higher. Beans are held firm at the advanced price. Seeds are having attention. Timothy is rather higher. Clovers, while unchanged, are high.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Special Report from the Winnipeg Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, March 9th, 1905.

CONDITIONS in the wholesale grocery market show little change as compared with last week. The prevailing mild weather has facilitated the shipment of green fruits and done away entirely with danger from frost to any class of groceries in delivery. Trade is reported fairly brisk, but there is no exceptional activity.

Sugar continues very firm, and local houses are looking for a further advance. In the far West an advance of 20c. was made early in the month to apply to all points between Dunmore and the B. C. boundary. Beans are firm, and the general price for the ordinary grade, known as "3 to 4 picked" is $1.85 per bushel. Evaporated apples are becoming scarce on the local market, and the price asked is firmly maintained.

Sugar.

Firmness still characterizes the sugar market and further advances are looked for soon. Since last issue of The Grocer, an advance of 20c. has been made on all grades of refined sugar for points between Dunmore and the B.C. boundary. Local prices are unchanged. We quote:

NEW AGENCY.

S. H. Ewing & Sons, Montreal, have secured the agency of The Gilpin-Moffatt Co., Toronto, manufacturers of chocolates and confections. These goods are handsomely put up, of finest quality and flavor, and will prove a good seller for grocers. The "Rex" brand chocolates should establish themselves favorably in the trade. S. H. Ewing & Sons will look after the trade in Montreal and vicinity.

CHANGE IN AGENCY.

The St. Charles Condensing Co., of Ingersoll, Ont., manufacturers of St. Charles Evaporated Cream, have appointed S. H. Ewing & Sons, Montreal, selling agents for Montreal and district. The various brands of cream and condensed milk put up by the St. Charles Condensing Co. have secured to themselves a reputation that speaks creditably for Canadian manufacture, and as the consumption of evaporated cream and condensed milks is ever on the increase, the Ingersoll Company's products will be much in evidence in the trade.

CROCKERY DEPARTMENT

Earthenware and China Imports.

THE imports of earthenware and china into Canada show a big increase in the last five years. In 1900 the total imports amounted in value to $966,254. This has shown an increase each year till it reached the high total last year of $1,606,343. Canada receives over four times as much of this class of ware from Great Britain as from any other country. Last year Germany captured second place from the United States for the first time since 1901. Japan and Austria-Hungary, although their exports to Canada are still comparatively small, are nevertheless making great advances. Japan sends us three times as much earthenware now as she did five years ago. The amount of fine china which comes direct from France is also increasing, but its total is small compared to that from Germany, scarcely one-third.

GLASSWARE

In glassware last year, for the first time in five years, Great Britain has taken first place. For a long time the United States and Belgium fought for the lead, with Great Britain a considerable distance behind. However, last year saw a falling off in the exports to Canada from both Belgium and the United States, while Great Britain increased her exports very materially. Germany, which was rapidly advancing to the first rank as a source for Canadian glassware, apparently suffered a crushing blow in the surtax, as the imports from that country dropped off more than one-third. These figures would go to show that Great Britain is not losing her grip in commercial matters to the extent that her own manufacturers have been claiming. In both the cases cited she has out-stripped her competitors, even where they had a big lead up to within the last two or three years. Moreover, her supremacy has been won not only through the decrease in the exports of other countries, but also through the positive increase in her own.

Bring Goods Forward.

ON the prospect of an early Spring, china and glassware should be brought to the front. They provide all the requisites for a good active sale. The profits are large and the goods attractive. A few dollars, covering a number of assortments, will allow the advertising man to talk "car-load lots of special bargains, made possible through a fortunate purchase," and the spread will back up the assertion.

This class of goods, above all others, depends for its sale on its attracting the fancy of the shopper. A customer does not go into a store usually to buy a piece of china or glassware. She goes in to buy a piece of cotton or a paper of pins, and the china and glassware must be displayed so attractively as to force her to buy them. There are so many little novelties in glassware. The advantage, too, of these novelties, is that they are usually more or less useful. If your trade will stand it, put in stock two or three little pieces of cut-glass. You may work up quite a profitable business in this line. It pays big profits. It sets off, too, your whole display. Then there are pretty olive dishes and rose bowls and countless little articles, all of which it is easy to convince a customer are necessary, if they are only attractive. Anticipate demand by suggesting the need. That is the way nine-tenths of the sales in this department are made.

INQUIRIES FOR CANADIAN TRADE.

APPOINTED MONTREAL AGENT.

John G. Bauld, commission merchant, Board of Trade, Montreal, has been appointed agent for Montreal and district for Maconochie Brothers, London, England. Mr. Bauld will have full lines of this firm's well-known brands of pickles, olives, kippered and fresh herrings, marmalades and jams and jellies. Since assuming the agency Mr. Bauld has done a very satisfactory and encouraging business.

P.E.I. BUSINESS CHANGES HANDS.

In The Canadian Grocer of February 17th it was stated that W. H. Aitken, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., had bought out Carvell Bros., wholesale grocers, provision dealers, etc., and in partnership with his sons would start in the grocery and produce business in Charlottetown. This is slightly in error. Mr. Aitken has been the senior partner in the firm of Carvell Brothers for many years, and having purchased the business will carry it on under the old firm name.

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Canning Industry for Brantford.

ON Feb. 28, occurred a meeting of some thirty farmers and gardeners in Brantford for the purpose of considering contracts for the production of tomatoes and other vegetables for canning purposes.

The Standard Canning Co., of Hamilton, of which Messrs. Lumsden are the proprietors, are desirous of establishing a canning factory in Brantford, employing some hundred hands. They will require 75,000 bushels of tomatoes, 100 acres of peas and 150 acres of corn. The growers present at the meeting promised the company their support, and agreed to provide the necessary supplies.

Ontario Markets.

GREEN FRUITS.

Toronto, March 9, 1905.

THE green fruit trade has been seasonably active during the week, especially in oranges and bananas. The price of California navels advanced 25c. on account of the very firm market ruling across the line, and at the close, the market is firm. The lemon market is also moving upward, with stocks in dealers' hands light for this season of the year. A brisk demand for bananas has sprung up, owing to the milder weather and a lively season is looked forward to from now on.

Pines are beginning to open up. From now on, pines will be a big item in the fruit market, they being the principal dessert fruit through March, April and May. At the present time they are scarce, owing to the recent cold weather, which has made it difficult to ship by freight, thus leaving the fruit liable to chilling from frost. Grape fruit are scarce and higher in price, also tangerines.

The apple market is showing signs of brightening up, reports from the Northwest saying that the market there is cleaned up entirely and that supplies are being drawn from Ontario. Valencia and Florida oranges are both out of the market for the balance of the season. Cranberries are quoted this week from 50c. to $1 lower than last, Jerseys only being available instead of Howes. Trade in figs is practically over, as far as the present season is concerned, and quotations are only given on figs in layers. We quote the following prices:

VEGETABLES.

A fair demand for vegetables is reported for the week under review. Domestic stuff is moving well, although imported vegetables are slow as yet; supplies of the latter are quite two weeks late in arriving, on account of the setback from frost in Florida. Celery is scarce and firm, with prices slightly in advance of last week. The novelties on the market this week are green peppers and new beets. Our quotations are as follows:

Montreal, March 9, 1905.

Celery is continuing in good demand, in fact, it has never been better, selling at $6, which is an advance of 75c. per crate over our last week's quotations. Almeria grapes are selling well at from $8 to $9 per keg. Navel oranges are in good demand and prices have advanced from 25 to 35c. per box f.o.b. California. A car of Jamaica grape fruit arrived on Monday, Mar. 6, the first straight car that has ever reached here. Condition of fruit is fine and a good demand exists, at prices ranging from $4 to $5.50. The demand for apples is fair, prices being $2.75 to $4. Bananas are slow sellers. Onions have advanced ¼c. Spanish onions being quoted at $4.

GREEN FRUITS

St. John, March 9, 1905.

With rather milder weather, there is improved trade. Prices in apples remain quite low. In oranges, Valencias are likely to be scarce, owing to frosts in Spain. Jamaicas are about done. Californias remain quite reasonable in price. Floridas are quite high. Some Bahama oranges are on the market, the first to come here. They are nice stock. Cranberries are high, and grapes about out of stock.

Tomato Growers Organize.

A tomato grower's association has been formed in Bloomfield, Ont., with a membership of seventy, the object of which is to secure better prices for all produce furnished the canning factories. The canners have refused to raise the prices this season, so the association is considering the formation of a joint stock company, with $20,000 capital stock. Over half the stock has been subscribed already, and it will be known in a few days whether anything will be done.

Fruit Trade with Australia.

The following letter, received by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, is published for general information:

Sir,—Mr. J. S. Larke, the Canadian agent of your Government in this city, requested me to correspond with you in the interests of fruit exports to Australia. I have received some small consignments of apples from Canada, which realized from 15s. to 18s. 6d. per case of about 40 lbs. If your fruit growers are exporting these next year, I advise their being carried in cool space if same can be obtained, as the apples that came in cool space came to hand in perfect condition. It is not wise to send pears unless cool space is available, as pears will not carry without refrigerator at about 40 degrees. These boxes of pears,

Cream Tartar

(This will not interest the buyer to whom price is the only consideration—who wants cheap goods, no matter what they are—so long as they are marked pure).

WHY pay for STARCH, TERRA ALBA, etc., at exorbitant figures, when you are buying Cream Tartar? It is cheaper and infinitely better to pay several cents per lb. higher for the actual goods than to buy so-called pure Cream Tartar. If you must have inferior goods, wouldn t it be cheaper to add your own adulterant? Unquestionably there is much Cream Tartar being sold (ground from so-called first white crystals), at figures less than the crystals can be imported for. WE CANNOT OR RATHER WILL NOT compete with this so-called pure Cream Tartar. IF YOU WANT ACTUAL QUALITY and MERIT, goods absolutely guaranteed to be pure ground first white Cream Tartar at as close figures as same can be consistently offered, get S. H. & A. S. EWING'S CREAM TARTAR backed by a reputation of 60 years.

Some people will tell you that they pack bulk pickles which will keep. We go considerably further than telling.

Every order given to one of our travellers is put on a duplicate guarantee, one of which he gives to you. This guarantee clearly states that we hold ourselves responsible for any of our pickles that may go bad in the six months following the date of shipment of the order, providing the following precautions are taken—that the barrel or pail is kept covered; that you do not use tin or any metal vessel to dip the pickles with (use a crockery bowl—it's cleaner, too); that the vinegar is taken in proportion to the pickles, so that they are always kept slightly covered with vinegar; that no sweepings, particularly nails, are allowed to get into the barrel; and that the pickles be kept from any extreme of heat or cold. We give this guarantee to your wholesale grocer. If you buy through him the guarantee stands the same.

Lion Brand Pickles are a perfect mixed pickle—small cucumbers, small white onions, and hard, white branches of cauliflower, cut close, pickled in whole spice and in the most perfect pickling vinegar made. They come out crisp and firm, perfect in color, delicious and wholesome.

Fruit Growers' Wants.

An influential deputation, representing the fruit growers of the Niagara district, waited upon Hon. Nelson Monteith, the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, last week to ask for a series of experiments in their district to discover suitable methods of fighting the black rot of grapes and the San Jose scale. They also petitioned for continued assistance in supplying material for spraying purposes and for the establishment of a permanent special fruit experimental station in the district.

Bahama Oranges.

Several cars of Bahama oranges were sold last week on the Montreal market by J. G. Bauld, Montreal. They were the Patriot Brand, grown and packed by British labor, carried by British ships and offered for sale in British America. The growers and packers were the Canada-Bahama Fruit Co., controlled by G. C. Cook, Halifax, N.S. The reception the first shipment met at the hands of the trade augurs well for a good trade between Canada and the Bahamas.

New Canning Industry.

G. Jordan and J. Ellis are making preparations to build a canning factory in Lindsay, Ont., to cost from $30,000 to $45,000. The new industry will give employment to between 200 and 250 hands and have a yearly output of about 35,000 cans of tomatoes, 10,000 of beans, besides large quantities of corn and berries.

Fruit News.

Thanks to the first-class cold storage accommodation on the direct steamship line plying between Canadian ports and South Africa, fresh peaches and plums of South African growth were served at the Paardeberg dinner at Government House, Ottawa, last week.

FINANCE AND INSURANCE

ANOTHER phenomenally successful year has been added to the records of the Bank of Nova Scotia. Four years before Queen Victoria ascended the throne this bank entered the financial world, and for seventy-two years has been pursuing a successful career. Although its chief business lies in the Eastern Provinces, its branches are now found in every province of the Dominion, and also Newfoundland, the West Indies, and the United States. On a paid-up capital of $2,000,000 it paid 20 per cent. dividend last year, besides making liberal allowance for sinking and other funds. The reserve fund now stands at $3,200,000, or 160 per cent. of the capital.

THE Central Canada Loan and Savings Company has celebrated its majority by issuing a very attractive booklet containing its twenty-first annual report, together with interesting facts connected with its business. The report shows that the company is in a very strong position. Besides paying 6 per cent. dividend and 2 per cent. bonus last year, it increased its reserve fund so as to bring it up to 64 per cent. of the paid-up capital

EXTRACT from a speech of S. J. Johnson, Sioux City: "It seems almost impossible to believe that merchants doing business in what are called the 'wooden towns' of the State carry so little insurance. The excuse for carrying little or no insurance seems to be that the rate of insurance is so high; but suppose it is high, it would be exceedingly cheap to you should you have a fire, and you ought to carry at least sufficient insurance to cover every dollar of your indebtedness and a little besides, so that you would have something on which to start into business again, and not be flat on your back. Insurance is a splendid, good thing, and the man who keeps his stock well covered is a wise man."

THE belief exists among financial men that the movement having for its object the amalgamation of the Merchants' Bank of Canada and the Royal Bank will be resumed, and that in June next, when the retirement of Mr. Fysche, the general manager of the Merchants' Bank, will take place, the amalgamation will be completed. Mr. Fysche will receive a handsome retiring allowance from the Merchants'. That gentleman is, it is stated, opposed to the amalgamation, and his retirement will obviate difficulties which might otherwise arise.

James Gardner Thompson is chief agent of the company in Canada, and the head office in Canada is established at the City of Montreal.

The annual meeting of the National Trust Company was held last month. The report, submitted by Mr. J. W. Flavelle, the president. was in every way satisfactory, showing net profits of $92,620.90. After provision had been made for increasing the reserve fund by $30.000, a dividend was declared at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

The Canadian Manufacturers' Association is making a strenuous effort to keep the insurance business in Canada. A special committee has been appointed to cooperate with E. P. Heaton, the manager of the Insurance Bureau. The Bureau will strive to lower the rates by decreasing the losses from fire. Canadian fire losses amount to nearly twenty million dollars annually.

The comparatively small increase which has taken place in the paid-up capital of the banks in the last ten years is a very marked feature in their business record. In 1894 the paid-up capital amounted to about one-third of the deposits, and bore much the same proportion to the discounts, whereas now the paid-up capital is less than one-sixth of the deposits and loans. In the same period the reserve fund has risen from being 44 per cent. of the paid-up capital to be now over 67 per cent., that is, in 1894, for each $100 of paid-up capital the banks had $44 in a reserve fund, or rest, while to-day for each $100 of paid-up capital they hold $67 in a reserve fund, or rest."

Candy in Boxes.

A STRONG feature of the candy department, particularly during the holiday season of Easter, should be a line of boxed goods. A show case filled with an attractive line of candy in boxes should occupy a prominent place in the store. Customers do not usually come in with the intention of buying confectionery. They come in to buy groceries, and the candy must be suggested to them by a good display. It is these sales by suggestion which supply the real gilt-edged profit to the dealer. No especial expense is required in handling this business. The stock carried is not necessarily large. No extra help is needed for the sales. Everything that is made on it is clear, straight profit.

An additional reason for handling a good line of boxed candies is the actual friends the retailer will make for his store by this means. In an ordinary sized town it doesn't take long to become known as the dealer who handles a particularly good line. The grocer who becomes recognised as the one who keeps good candy in attractive packages will soon have people coming to his store who never were in it before. This will react with great advantage to his grocery business, as it is comparatively easy to establish a business relationship with a person who has once dealt in the store.

Presentation.

On Wednesday evening the offices of the Cowan Co., Limited, Toronto, were the scene of a pleasant meeting between employes and management. The employes gathered to congratulate the firm's city traveler, Mr. Austin Dixon, who has joined the noble army of benedicts. "Dickie," as he is familiarly known among the employes, was taken completely by surprise when the president, Mr. John W. Cowan, in a nice little speech, presented him with a cheque from the firm and hall rack and jardiniere from the employes.

Mr. Dixon made a suitable reply, and in addition to thanking his friends gave each one a standing invitation to his new home, No. 89 Hamburg avenue.

"We want a bag of Ogilvie's New Flour."

This is what the consumer is saying to the grocer, every day, throughout the whole of Canada.

Mr. George Lamothe, a prosperous grocer of Mattawa, says

> "I can only say it affords me great pleasure to give an expression on all good things. Amongst the users of Royal Household in our town, we have the General Hospital, Messrs. The Order of Oblait Fathers, and some of the leading hotels, together with many of the private families. They, one and all, speak very highly of Royal Household as a Pastry flour, and also say that it makes the very best home made bread, buns, rolls, etc. When ordering from us they say,—We want a bag of Ogilvie's new flour, it is the very best and saves lots of work."

"Royal Household"

"Ogilvie's New Flour"

is what the people want, because "It is the very best and saves lots of work." The grocer who pushes "Royal Household" gets the trade. It always pays to push THE BEST in any line.

FLOUR AND CEREAL FOODS

THE PRICE OF WHEAT.

THE spectacular action of wheat lately has attracted considerable attention. The quick advance of 5c. a bushel in the price of May wheat to $1.21, which took place in Chicago, followed by an even more rapid decline of about 8c. a bushel, and the drop of 6c. a bushel in the price of May wheat in Fort William, makes one wonder what causes these rapid and wide fluctuations, and what is the real commercial value of these wheats.

To form an approximately correct opinion, we must first consider what grades of wheat can be delivered to the buyer of the May option or any other option. This varies according to the market you are dealing in. In Winnipeg, the option is supposed to call for No. 1 Northern wheat, but No. 1 hard is also deliverable on the purchase at 1c. a bushel over the contract price, and No. 2 Northern at 3c. a bushel under the contract price. In like manner, in Chicago, there are only two grades legally tenderable at par, that is, No. 2 Red Winter and No. 1 Northern Spring, but No. 2 hard may be delivered at a penalty or discount of 2c. a bushel.

It was said that three or four weeks ago there were fifty or sixty million bushels of Chicago May option sold; some by millers and flour dealers in the United States, Canada and abroad, who had it sold as a hedge against flour and wheat which they were actually holding in their mills and warehouses or had purchased for future delivery or shipment from Australia, Argentine, India and Russia; some by grain dealers throughout the United States who sold against the wheat in their elevators, which they were buying from the farmers from time to time. Not that they intended to deliver this identical wheat on the option, because in the great majority of cases it would not be of a quality deliverable on their contract and also the sellers would be generally so situated that there would be a heavy loss in freight if the sellers should ship their wheat to Chicago. Their idea likely was that the Chicago May option was above its value, based on the price that they were buying their wheat at from the farmers, and that by the time they sold their wheat, either the Chicago option would be lower, or their cash wheat would be worth more money. Then, when they sold their wheat, they would buy in their Chicago option or take off their hedge, as it is called.

The rapid advance referred to above caused many of the shorts to cover and many of the longs thought it was a good time to take profits, with the result that it is now said that the quantity of May option sold is reduced to about 30,000,000 bushels, which is said to be largely owned by Wall Street interests.

The total stocks of wheat of all kinds and in all positions, both public and private elevators in Chicago, is not much over 3,000,000 bushels, and the contract wheat will probably not amount to more than one-third of this amount. From this it would appear as if the shorts were in a very dangerous position and the market could be easily cornered. This is what makes these rapid and wide fluctuations and causes conservative brokers to advise their customers against dealing in the May option, recommending July or September instead. As cash No. 1 Northern and No. 2 Red in Chicago are selling above the option price, it would look as if the stocks of contract grades would not increase materially between now and May. There is, however, comparatively speaking, little of this high-priced wheat used in milling, almost the whole of the flour now manufactured being madeifrom wheat of lower grades, than those deliverable on the May option, which are selling at a big discount.

The surrounding markets, from which shipments can be made with advantage to Chicago, are Kansas City, St. Louis, Minneapolis and, especially, Duluth. Until the late bulge, these markets were relatively higher than Chicago, which made the position of the bulls very much stronger. Now, however, this advantage has been lost, and it is reported that sales have already been made of Duluth No. 1 Northern wheat, which will be delivered at Chicago after the opening of navigation to apply on sales of the May option in that market.

The price of wheat in the United States is away above an export basis, and the question as to whether the price of wheat will be maintained in the U. S. at its present high level depends entirely on whether the supplies on hand and the quantity the farmers will be willing to deliver before the new crop comes on the market, at current prices, will prove sufficient for the consumptive requirements for the ensuing three months.

The Winnipeg May option, as well as cash wheat, is in an entirely different position. The lower grades have been going for export in greater or less quantities ever since harvest, but the export of the high grades has been limited. Before the late break in the market, when May wheat was selling about $1.05, No. 3 Northern was about 3c. a bushel above an export basis, and No. 1 and No. 2 Northern 5c. a bushel above. With the May option down to 99c., Fort William, this wheat is still above export value, as the foreign markets have also declined somewhat, but nothing like the decline in Winnipeg. In fact, some No. 3 Northern has been worked for export. Before, however, the market there can be considered in a healthy condition, the price of all the grades should be down to an export basis. If a few millions could be moved out for export, then we would probably see another sharp upturn in the price of May or July wheat in that market, but a permanent advance cannot be looked for until the quantity offering on the market is largely reduced by sales for export.

The Food of the Plucky Jap.

THE recent announcement from London that the largest contractor for the Russian army had asked for quotations on Triscuit delivered at Vladivostock has revived discussion of the dietetic habits of the Japs. Upon what does the plucky little Jap feed that he can out-general and vanquish the big and lusty soldiers of the Czar? The people are not greatly interested in the rations that are adopted for the Russian army. What they want to know is: What sort of food and what kind of life have developed the valor and physical hardihood of the little men of the island empire?

Triscuit is the shredded whole-wheat cracker made by the same concern at Niagara Falls which makes shredded whole-wheat biscuit. Being compressed into a wafer it contains all the nutriment in the whole-wheat berry in small bulk, and is ready cooked. That it should be regarded as a good ration for an army is significant of the growing belief in whole-wheat food as having first-class strength-giving properties in proportion to bulk.

The popular notion is that the Jap subsists largely upon rice and dried fish. We know that he gets little beef or pork. We are rather surprised, therefore, to learn from Dr. Eastlake, of Japan, head of the school of foreign languages in Tokio, that cooked whole wheat forms such an important part of his daily dietary. In an interview in Philadelphia the other day Dr. Eastlake said:

> "The army biscuit consists of a cake one-fourth rice and three-fourths wheat, flavored with both sugar and salt. It is placed in water and allowed to swell up before eating. I have seen Japanese eat four of these cakes, but two were all I could manage."

We know what the valiant Jap has done at Port Arthur. Twice he has driven the ponderous Cossacks from this apparently impregnable stronghold. We know what he is doing in the arts and industries of fair Japan. And now we know that whole wheat—not rice—is the principal part of his dietary.

English View of Export Duty on Wheat.

IN view of the recent decision of the United States Government authorities to allow a duty draw back on exported flour made wholly or in part of Canadian or other foreign wheat, the following comment in the latest issue of Broomhall's Corn Trade News is significant:

"We are of the opinion that, notwithstanding the help the new arrangements will afford American exporters, the movement of flour to Europe from this quarter can only be on a very small scale, while wheat prices rule so high on the other side of the Atlantic.

"Canadian millers do not take kindly to the idea of their raw material going to the United States to be manufactured and exported. They claim that not only will the home millers lose trade, but also the transportation companies, whilst stock raisers and dairymen will be deprived of cheap mill offals; therefore, it is contended that Canada should put an export duty on all wheat taken out of the country by American millers for the purpose of grinding and exporting the same in the shape of flour. It is perhaps hardly necessary to say that the proposition is meeting with considerable opposition in the West, where the bulk of the wheat is grown. At first glance it seems absurd that a country which raises wheat for export should try to limit the market for its product, and one would be inclined to say there is not the slightest chance of any such law being passed. We believe, however, that the farming vote in Canada is not a heavy one, for the settlers who have gone in with the great rush of the last year or two have not yet qualified for voting, and in the older provinces the biggest voting power is in the towns. The imposition, then, of such an export duty as that alluded to may be possible, but we shall be rather surprised if ever it does become an accomplished fact."

Bread Up in Montreal.

The price of bread has been advanced to 10 cents a loaf in Montreal, beginning on Monday, March 6. The high price of flour is the immediate reason assigned for the rising qualities of the price of bread. The bakers say that six months ago flour was $4 per barrel. To-day it is $5.75 to $5.80, and the difference has wiped out their profits. The reason why they did not raise the price before is that many of them had large stocks of flour bought when it was cheap. In addition, the bakers' expenses are much heavier than formerly.

Unprofitable Grain Rates.

At a meeting of the Canadian Marine Association in Toronto on March 3, the question of grain rates came up for discussion. Owners of grain boats contend that on the present basis the handling of grain is unprofitable, and they are devising plans for increased freight charges.

Canadian Tobacco Culture.

THE yield of Canadian tobacco last year was 5,000,000 pounds. The tobacco itself was of a good quality, though the finished leaf might have been much improved by a better system of curing. The principal sources of it now are Kent and Essex counties, Ontario, and Montcalm, Joliette L'Assomption and Berthier, Quebec. This area could be greatly increased, and no doubt will be as soon as better methods of treatment of the leaf are instituted.

The advisability of experimenting with the growth of tobacco in the Canadian Northwest is being considered by the Government. A number of agents are in Wisconsin now, studying the seeding and curing operations. The State has placed a farm at the disposal of the Canadian agents to enable them to pursue their investigations to greater advantage. It is suggested that the Government establish experimental stations at various points, similar to the one in operation at Ottawa. By this means a fair idea might be given to the farmers of the actual possibilities in tobacco culture for their own districts. An estimate of the cost and profit could also be given.

U.S. Tobacco Output for 1904.

According to official returns, the output of cigars in the United States for 1904 was 6,891,980,786, as compared with 6,678,979,588 for 1903, an increase for the year of 213,001,198. In little cigars the total for 1904 was 606,758,871, an increase over the output for 1903 of 121,745,422. The output of cigarettes for 1904 was 3,167,181,482, an increase over the previous year of 19,328,091. In manufactured tobacco the output for 1904 totalled 320,814,160 lbs., as compared with 328,654,493 lbs. for 1903, an increase of 7,860,333 lbs.

Advice to Clerks.

THE following maxims, issued by a large tobacco corporation for the guidance of its employes, contain valuable suggestions for clerks engaged in the tobacco department of a grocery or general store:

No sale is complete until the customer is satisfied.

Every customer should have a reason for coming again.

Keep thinking what the man in front of you will say when he goes out.

You know how you would like the salesman to act if you were the customer—that's the way.

And, above all, be cheerful, smile and say "Thank you."

There is a good deal more to salesmanship than selling.

Never forget that what a customer asks for he wants.

To get a customer's attention give him yours.

Know your stock as well as you know your way home.

Good salesmen study the book of human nature.

The store floor is not a waste basket nor the counter a catch-all.

Hand things—don't toss, or throw, or tumble them out.

How to Light a Cigar.

AN experienced tobacconist prefaces his advice in regard to the lighting of a cigar by declaring that not one man in ten knows how to do it properly.

Fire is necessary, but a precious little of it lights a cigar. One man goes at it with a suction-pump sort of a struggle, as though he were determined to suck all the gas in the pipe through his cigar and in a hurry to accomplish the job.

He deliberately holds the cigar in the flame and puffs away for dear life until a third of it is burned up and the rest of it spoiled for smoking purposes.

There is a difference between burning a cigar and smoking it.

Overheat a cigar or coal up the tobacco and you have a rank-tasting, badly-burning cigar, unfit to smoke, no matter how good the tobacco is or how well made the cigar may be.

A spark or a single touch of flame will light a small tuck cigar thoroughly and well. Don't puff away like a steam engine and then let the fire go out. A cigar never tastes as good after relighting.

First light it, let it cool a little, then keep it so; smoke regularly, mildly and moderately, and you will have a cool, sweet smoke to the finish. A little art and common sense will make a good five-cent cigar taste better than a fifteen-cent Havana improperly handled.

Grocer Makes Money.

W. B. Murray, grocer, East Sherbrooke, P.Q., is but one of the many who realize the possibilities in a well-conducted cigar and tobacco department in a grocery store. Mr. Murray, after a good deal of persuasion, was induced to stock cigars. Fortunately, his cigar department was conducted in an energetic and progressive manner. A showcase was installed and good lines carried. In conversation with The Grocer, Mr. Murray waxed enthusiastic over his cigar and tobacco department, outlining its possibilities, in the way of financial returns, and the slight attention needed. A year's trial has convinced him, by actual results, of the money in this department, his sales for this period having exceeded his most sanguine expectations. A good share of the success of his department is attributed to the merits of "Royal Sport" and "Hogen Mogen" cigars, which have proved trade winners.

Trust Wreckage in Australia.

The complaint is made in Australia that the Anglo-American tobacco trust is forcing private dealers into bankruptcy, and the matter has been made a political issue. There is a demand for a royal commission to inquire into and report upon the position of the tobacco trade in relation to the production, manufacture and distribution of tobacco. It will be the further duty of that commission to ascertain the extent to which the trade is controlled by a monopolistic combination and the best method of regulating that trade, whether by nationalization or by anti-trust regulation.

The agitation has progressed far enough now to show that it will be one of the issues on which the next national elections will be fought out in Australia. The question will be nationalization or control.

STANDARD OF THE WORLD

Sold by all Leading Wholesale Houses.

SINNING of the weather has again ceased and a general loosening of the transportation companies taken place. The congestion in the Maritime Provinces has been broken, and once more the mails and freight trains are moving with orthodox regularity. The roads are in a terrible condition, and it is generally expected that for the next six weeks the breaking-up period will curtail shippers. Plenty of merchandise of all descriptions is being shipped from all the leading terminals in Canada. The big railways have been busy lately, and, all things considered, freights have improved more than was expected. Ocean cargoes are reported very heavy, especially from Portland, while St. John and Halifax have made a good showing. From Portland this week the steamer Cornishman will carry an immense cargo. Large quantities of grain have been loaded during the week. Speaking of cargoes, the load taken by the Manxman on February 22 was a record breaker, comprising in part 119,895 bushels of corn and 24,997 bushels of barley, in addition to 13,479 bushels of barley for Antwerp, as well as an immense cargo of general merchandise. The s.s. Dominion, of the same line, which sailed from Portland on February 25, also took a large cargo, including 40,200 bushels of wheat, also 400 sacks of oatmeal and a large quantity of provisions, such as 717 cases of bacon, 16 boxes of hams, 2,940 packages of lard, 1,907 packages of provisions, 3,588 boxes of frozen meats and 375 boxes of pork products. In addition, there were 7,902 barrels of apples and a large quantity of lumber and maple blocks. It was reported that when the Dominion was entering the Mersey, near Liverpool, she collided with the steamer Vancouver, but no details were available as to what was the result.

The Allan Line boats for the week are the Bavarian, from St. John, and the Hungarian, March 18, from Portland to Glasgow. The Bavarian is a fine, large boat, and a heavy cargo has been booked for this sailing. Great interest has been taken in Montreal over the new charters of The Dominion Coal Co., which include a large fleet of coalers for the coming season. The probabilities are that Montreal and the St. Lawrence trade will be better than it ever was this season.

Mr. James MacLean, son of Mr. Charles MacLean, of MacLean, Kennedy & Co., shipping agents and head line agents, has been appointed to a position in the freight offices of the C.P.R. Atlantic steamship service at Montreal.

WALL PAPER

BURLAP.

BURLAP, as a substitute for wall paper, is opposed by physicians on sanitary grounds. The rough surface gathers the dust quickly and provides a breeding place for numberless kinds of germs. This objection is met to some extent by covering the burlap with a coat of paint, but even then the hairy surface soon becomes dusty. This is an unfortunate defect, as the effect of burlap is exceedingly rich and attractive.

A substitute for burlap is made in Japan, which obviates the difficulty, and has the additional merit of being cheap. It is made of pulp, and so is free from the hairs which are the chief source of trouble in the original article. The success of the Japanese in the manufacture of mattings would lead one to believe that this product will become a noticeable feature in the wall decorations of the future.

A modern example of scroll and floral design in coloring suitable for parlor, hall or dining-room decoration, manufactured by Stauntons Limited, Toronto.

A SYSTEM OF DECORATION.

THIS month will see a general renovation of house furnishings. Dingy rooms can be made bright and new with a little fresh wall paper. Artistic displays of interior decorations will cause many a person to renew a room or two. Large, leafy and flowered designs in rather subdued colors are being extensively shown. There is something luxurious about them which is attractive.

While it is impossible to give any hard and fast rules for interior decorations, for after all the local conditions of light and the style of woodwork must govern the choice, yet some general principles might be laid down in recommending a system of papering. For the dining room, the most popular thing is a red burlap or unfigured paper up to a high wainscoting, with a light paper ranging from a grey to a yellow, in either case plain, from the wainscoting to the picture moulding. The result is very effective. For the drawing room, the flowered papers mentioned above, or an absolutely plain green tinted paper, is artistic and correct. For bedrooms, the quiet effects are desirable, whether in figured or plain papers. A general harmony in the interior decorations must be preserved. A light, bright room is in all cases to be desired. The warm effects of some of the flowered papers in red are some of the commendable features of the Spring offerings.

KNOW YOUR STOCK.

A correspondent writes to an exchange:

"Good male help is the only kind we employ in our paper department. We compel them to become perfectly familiar with the stock and every detail of the business, as herein lies the success or failure of the department.

"The stock must be kept in such a way that any pattern or roll can be found at once, and it must be free from all small lots. We employ our own paper hangers, for the reason that they will do their best to hang it in such a way that it will insure us future work, while outsiders often lay poor work on the paper, while they themselves are to blame."

Just like fishing

Building up trade is just like fishing.

If you use the right kind of bait and cast your line where the kind of fish you want are most plentiful, you'll quite likely get a number of bites.

Then if you go about it right you are pretty sure to land most of them.

Apply the illustration to business

If you want to catch the grocery trade, cast your line where all the good grocers in Canada congregate every week—looking for bait to build up their businesses with—in THE CANADIAN GROCER. But

Suppose results don't come at fust
What be yew goin' tur dew?
Take out yewr ad, and kick yewrself,
An' go ter feelin' blew?
Uv course yew hain't; yew're goin' tew fish,
An' bait an' bait agin;
Bimeby some nibbles 'n bites 'll come,
Then yew'll pull 'em in.

Our Department of Advertising Service is now providing good bait for a number of our advertisers—and stands ready to help a few more in this connection.

Drop us a line about it.

GOSSIP ABOUT OURSELVES

An Invitation.

THE Grocer has often extended an invitation to its readers to make the office of The Grocer their headquarters when visiting Montreal, Toronto, or Winnipeg. It will do no harm to repeat the invitation. Members of the trade are always welcome visitors at our offices. We are often able to be of service in affording information, and we on our side are always glad to get the point of view of another. By the interchange of ideas progress is occasioned, and an editor can never be more profitably employed than in discussing trade conditions with visitors from outside places.

It should not be thought, however, that it is necessary to come to Toronto, Montreal or Winnipeg to talk to the editor. If you have a difficulty, an idea, a suggestion, that might be solved to interest or help some one else in the trade, write to The Grocer. As the organ of the trade, The Grocer should be a changing house of ideas. Its columns are open for the discussion of matters of trade interest. Give the trade the benefit of your ideas. Write now.

Getting Busy.

The Special Spring and Export Number of The Grocer has begun to absorb the attention of all our departments. The engravers have in hand the design for the cover, which promises this year to be the finest we have used. The editors have been laying plans and developing ideas for months, and believe that the new features which will be found in this Spring's special will not do them any discredit. The advertising men have not said much so far but are convinced that with strong editorial features that are being worked out, they will have no difficulty in breaking all records. The mechanical department are prepared to do their part, if given a chance. By a chance, they mean time. It takes time to do a fine job in printing; when, therefore, the advertising or make-up man gets after the advertiser for copy, let him not think it is the result of innate cussedness or a preverse desire to drive the adverliser to drink. Remember, that the mechanical department is after the make-up man, and the latter is after the advertising man, and that his insistence on getting copy early is born of an ambitition to do you a good job and to turn out the finest copy of The Grocer, typographically, that can be printed.

A Friend Down by the Sea.

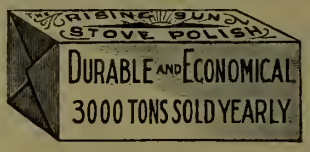
The Grocer is in receipt of a letter from Mr. M. G. DeWolfe, a well known business man in Kentville, N.S., and an ex-president of the Maritime Board of Trade. The letter is particularly interesting in view of the graphic description it gives of the facts of the sever snow storm which the Maritime Provinces experienced recently. He says: "Hope you are not having our experiences as to Winter. The first through mail train for sixteen days from Halifax arrived at noon to-day, February 27. No Montreal papers except dates of February 13 and 20, and they came both to-day. Our mails have been sent from Halifax to St. John, to come to Digby by boat, and are still there. Halifax mail of February 13, 16, 17, 18, and 20 has not yet reached us. The D.A.N. has had a fearful time, and out of coal. No freight since February 10, and towns along the line are short of fuel, food and flour. Our Board of Trade, and all the volunteer citizens available, have helped shovel and pick out the road, but wind and storm seem to rage each day. No train west of here for some time. A storm of snow and wind is now in evidence, but the train has returned to Halifax and I trust will reach us again to-morrow. Business has been at a stand still, even the banks being idle. So far, no suffering has occurred here, as we found quite a lot of flour and some coal at Port Williams and Wolfville, but that stock is now exhausted. It is quite a treat to get a week's mails at once, and to find that the world did move all the same. I feel sorry for the poor chaps out on the country roads, a long distance from supplies. Some of them have had a hard time to get to market. For over two months we have had this bitter weather, only fit for Siberia. Am looking forward for The Grocer of February 10 and 24. The issue of February 17 arrived to-day."

This reads like the old time experiences of half a century ago, when railways did not exist in Canada, and communication between different parts of the country were delayed on account of Winter storms.

Word From the Indies.

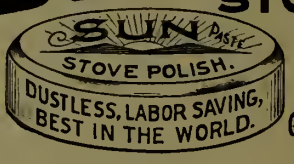
The Grocer's travelling representative, Mr. John Cameron, so well known throughout Canada, is enjoying to the full his trip through the West Indies. In a recent letter, Mr. Cameron says: "I leave here, Hamilton, Bermuda, some time to-morrow, per steamer Ocamo, for St. Lucia, Barbadoes, Trinidad and Demerara. The Ocamo does not call on all the islands going south, but on my return trip will do so. This will afford me an opportunity of visiting them all. I also ran out to St. George, twelve miles from Hamilton, and to Somerset, an equal distance away, and I am pleased to say did well in both villages.

"I find the stores are located far apart from each other, taking considerable time to get at them. I am afraid it will take me a long time to get back to Toronto."



The latest report from Mr. Cameron, dated Georgetown, Demerara, indicated continued success, and go to show that The Canadian Grocer is being received very cordially by the West Indians, who manifest a strong desire to develop their trade with Canada.

All Read Grocer



The Grocer is in receipt of the following letter from Mr. Horace Haszard, M.P., of Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Mr. Haszard, as business man, Member of Parliament, and ex-President of the Maritime Board of Trade, is extensively known throughout the western as well as the eastern provinces. The fact that he should notice, mark and go to the trouble of having corrected a typographical error in one of The Grocer's articles, shows how widely, and how closely The Grocer is perused. It is worthy of notice that the same article should have been read and noted by Prof. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy Commissioner.

The Maclean Publishing Co., Limited.

Gentlemen: Upon looking over The Canadian Grocer of January 13 last, page 21, I noticed an error in the figures showing the increase in the dairy industry of Canada, in so far as they related to P. E. Island, and on January 18 I wrote to Professor J. A. Ruddick, Commissioner of Agriculture, calling his attention to the matter, and later I received a reply from him stating that he intended writing you to have the correction made.

Owing to the continuous stormy and severe weather, our mails have been very much interrupted, so that since 13 January, I only received one number of The Grocer, dated 3rd February.

If the correction has been made, would you kindly oblige by mailing me a copy containing the correction. When writing to Prof. Ruddick, I pointed out that according to the table presented, P.E. Island was made to appear as having stood still, whilst the other provinces showed wonderful progress, during ten years, 1890 to 1900. The industry in this province was only just getting under way in 1890, but the figures for 1900 were used in both instances.

Yours truly
Horace Haszard.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., 21 Feb., 1905.

Appreciation.

That appreciation of The Canadian Grocer is not restricted to the confines of Canada, is evidenced from a recent letter received from The Cumpson-Prentiss Coffee Co., Buffalo, N.Y., in which they remark that they find The Canadian Grocer "A hustling and up-to-date journal, of great interest."

Among Ourselves.

Mr. Richard Quayle, of Ishpeming, Mich., writes that The Canadian Grocer is the best publication of the kind he has ever seen.

EXPORT SHIPPERS' LIST.

The value of having at hand a selected list of shippers' agents and manufacturers arranged alphabetically under their different towns must be apparent to every business man, and the general arrangement of the 1905 edition of "The Export Merchant Shippers of Great Britain and Ireland" is most convenient for ready reference. The publication is now in its fortieth year, and the present volume has received thorough revision, with special attention given to index to class of goods shipped. It should be even more useful than before to buyers of British goods. It is published by Dean & Son, 160a Fleet street, London, Eng., and the price is 15s. 6d. net. Members of the trade desiring the same will kindly mention The Canadian Grocer in application.

BACK TO IMPROVED PREMISES.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie, wholesale grocers, Montreal, whose premises on Des-Bresoles street were destroyed by fire, have removed to their rebuilt and renovated premises. The new building is thoroughly improved in every respect, the sample rooms and general offices enlarged and brightened up, a new room for use of travelers arranged, typewriters' room and private offices added. A tour through the building under the guidance of Mr. Armand Chaput, of the firm, by The Grocer representative, showed a most completely rehabilitated and improved establishment, the shipping, receiving, packing and bonded warehouse and cellars being such as to admit of careful and speedy receiving and delivery of goods. The sample room is most conveniently altered, the re-arrangement of the showcases and desks tending to quick attention to customers. The lighting seems to be about as perfect as can be arranged and their new telephone system the most modern attainable. When thoroughly equipped with the introduction in a few days of magnificent office counter and bank railing compartments the edifice may be considered as one of the most complete on the continent. L. Chaput, Fils & Cie should certainly be proud of their new quarters.

A REFLECTION OF THE PAST.

William Pinkerton, the detective, was praising the various cash-registering devices that have come of late years into world-wide use.

"These machines," he said, "have undoubtedly diminished crime. They have saved many weak persons from a daily, an hourly temptation hard to withstand. They have also saved employers a great deal of money, for they have driven the dishonest out of a field of work wherein they loved to labor in the past.

"I heard of a clerk in a grocery the other day who was getting $8 a week. He had to be on duty at 7 in the morning, and he was not through till 7, and sometimes 8, at night. The poor fellow had no time for anything but work and sleep.

"He found time, though, to get married, and the week after the ceremony he asked his employer for a raise.

" 'Why, Horace,' the employer said, 'you are getting $8 a week. What ails you? When I was your age I kept a wife and two children on $8 a week and saved money besides.'

" 'They didn't have cash registers in those days,' said Horace bitterly."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Fresh and Cured Fish

Interview With a Montreal Fish Dealer.

A REPRESENTATIVE of The Grocer, in speaking to D. J. Byrne, of Leonard Bros., Montreal, learns that the fish trade is growing to an enormous extent. This, Mr. Byrne states, is largely due to the manner in which the leading fish houses of the East have improved conditions appertaining to the trade. The manner of packing, curing, storing and shipping is a revelation to those familiar with the conditions that prevailed some fifteen or twenty years ago. Their own particular branch in Montreal is now one of the largest and best equipped fish distributing warehouses in the Dominion. There are four floors; a magnificent storage cellar, storage tanks, ice houses, etc. The interests of dealers are closely looked after and every attention is paid to the prompt and proper shipment of fish. Mr. Byrne gives personal supervision to even the minutest details pertaining to this work.

This is the best time to put in a stock of fish, which are usually required by customers, and as the Lenten season, which opened on March 8, lasts for seven weeks, until April 23, there will be a steady demand for fish of all kinds. Fish can be handled by merchants on a profitable basis. The general public is beginning to realize that the fish diet is not only an economical, but a beneficial one, as regards health, and a change from the heavy meat diet which Canadians in general follow during the winter season. It is also a well-known fact that although the cost of various kinds of food has increased to a great extent in recent years, the price of fish continues reasonable, and owing to the improved facilities of transportation, it is now possible for country merchants to handle fish to the same good advantage as city merchants. That this is a profitable business for the merchant there is no gainsaying. Frozen fish during the cold weather can be kept for any length of time in good condition, as the fish are frozen at the fisheries where they are caught and the fresh flavor thereby retained.

Salted and pickled fish can be handled at all times, and this is true, not only of salt herring, which have always been in good demand, but also of the other varieties, such as lake trout, salmon, codfish, etc. There is an ever increasing demand for prepared fish which is now a considerable factor in the grocery business, and this article is being put up ready for table use in attractive, as well as clean, wholesome form, and is attracting considerable interest from the consumer, with the result that the largely increased demand is growing right along. It is not generally known to what an extent the importance of the fishing industry of Canada has attained. The estimated value for the past year was from $25,000,000.

Canadian fish are now supplied, not only in the home market, but are exported in immense quantities to all parts of the globe, including Australia, Japan and South Africa, as well as the continental countries of Europe. Large quantities are also exported to the United States, Great Britain and the West Indies. Canadians should post themselves on the importance of the great fisheries of Canada, and the more this industry is enlarged and expanded, the better it will be for Canada, and particularly for the fishing industries of the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia. The immense quantities of fish taken from the lakes of Manitoba and shipped to the United States is but a bagatelle to what, if properly exploited, the business may become.

Fisheries of Ontario.

DEPUTY Commissioner Bastedo's annual report on the commercial value of the fisheries of Ontario, contains the following valuable information:

The total yield of all kinds of fish in 1904 was 24,009,970 pounds, an increase over 1903 of 3,030,295, the estimated value being $1,793,229. There was a decrease in the catches of sturgeon, eatfish and tullibe of 9,000, 181,000 and 16,450 pounds, respectively. The increase in the catch of herring was 1,164,430 pounds, of whitefish 841,530, lake trout 488,120, and pike 236,375.

The largest producing water in the province was the north channel of Lake Huron, 4,343,225 pounds of fish being taken there. In the channel was also taken the largest yield of trout and whitefish in the province, namely, 2,101,050 and 1,532,200 pounds, respectively.

Lake Erie was the most productive of herring, 2,641,300 pounds being taken there, or 63 per cent. of the total herring catch of the province. There was a decrease of 22,000 pounds in the sturgeon taken in the same lake. Lake Nipissing produced an increased catch in all kinds but sturgeon and coarse fish, the decrease being 2,000 pounds of the former and of the latter 5,000 pounds.

The fry distributed by the Dominion hatcheries aggregated 77,359,000, compared to 93,701,000 in 1903.

In the business there were engaged during the year 128 tugs, valued at $313,512, employing 672 men; 1,477 boats, valued at $105,747, and employing 2,453 men and boys. Gill nets totalling 3,490,036 yards, 108 seines, 513 pound nets, 275 hood nets, 75 dip nets, and three machines were licensed, their estimated aggregate value being $931,097.

The revenue of the Fisheries Department from all sources was about $50,000 and the expenditure $34,315, leaving a balance of $13,531.83. The maintenance of the fisheries cruiser Gilphie on the Georgian Bay cost $4,500.

Close Season Salmon Bill Killed.

Following the defeat of the Close Season Salmon Bill in the State Legislature at Olympia, Wash., on Mar. 3, another Bill has been introduced, providing for weekly close seasons in Puget Sound waters. The measure is known as the Meigler Bill, and it is thought that it will pass the Senate and the House without opposition.

The Bill thrown out provided for absolute close seasons on Puget Sound in 1906 and 1908. The Meigler Bill provides merely for a weekly close season of thirty-six hours' duration. Members of the Puget Sound Salmon Association consider that the Earles Bill having been killed, the Meigler Bill offers the next best solution of the problem of the conservation of the sockeye fisheries.

Many of those who bitterly opposed the Earles Bill are in favor of the weekly close season measure; notably is this so in the case of the individual fishermen. Assurances have been received from British Columbia canners that should the Meigler Bill pass, the Dominion Government will pass an order in Council providing for a thirty-six-hour weekly close season on the Fraser River and the Gulf of Georgia.

Cheese and Butter Situation.

STOCKS of cheese in Montreal are assuming very small proportions; especially is finest white getting down to practically nil. There was some buying of cheese during the past week, from 11c. to 11 1-4c. for colored, and 11 to 11 3-8c. for white being paid. A good deal of this business was done on cable orders, which strengthens the belief that things in the United Kingdom are looking up. Now that the season's business is practically over, it might not be amiss to give a resume of it. Not for many years was the cheese situation in the United Kingdom in such a deplorable state as was the case at the end of 1903 and Spring of 1904. Holders of cheese lost their heads and hammered down prices from 52s. to 42s. without much rhyme and reason, and the result was that fodder cheese opened up very low indeed. While in January the prices were 10 7-8c. to 11c. here, and 52s. to 54s. at Liverpool, 53s. to 54s. at London, and 53s. to 55s. at Bristol, they got down to 9 3-4c. by the end of March, and some of the holders of old had to let them go as low as 8 1-2c., or say 41s. 0d c.i.f. Liverpool. Fodders started in at about 8c. in the country in April; by May they got to 7 and 7 1-4c., but were further pushed to 6 1-4c. by second week of that month; they quickly reached to 7c. again, and ended up at 8 3-4c. by end of May.

June again showed many changes, ranging from 8 3-4c. for eastern and 8 5-8c. for western, to 7 7-8c. for eastern and 8c. for western. As quite a large amount of June cheese had been sold short by Montreal shippers at from 42s. to 38s., the range of prices enabled them to fill their contracts at a fair profit. In July prices touched the lowest point for grass cheese at 7 1-4c. to 7 1-2c., but closed at 7 5-8c. to 8c. August showed steady advances from this to 9c. September started in at 9c., advanced about 1-4c. by the 12th, and remained steady for the rest of the month. October continued steady at some range until the 17th, when it touched 9 1-2c., at which range the month closed. Prices early in November eased off a bit to 9 3-8c., but advanced quickly to 9 3-4c.; by the 5th they touched 10 1-4c., easing off 1-8c. by the middle of the month, but quickly recovering themselves, finishing strong at 10 1-4c. This constituted the range until the 12th, when 10 1-2c. was recorded; a week later saw it at 11c., and it kept at that since, reaching 11 1-4c. to 11 3-8c. An odd sale was put through at less money, but owing to dullness and indifference of the U.K. market the price of 11c. was held by those holding stocks on this side.

Mr. J. T. Madden

Stocks on both sides of the Atlantic are smaller than they were a year ago, and if the U.K. consumption attains its nominal consumption demand, it is more than likely that the new season will start with "clean boards." One of the most powerful factors in the dullness in the U.K. cheese trade was the persistent cutting of cheese at 5d per pound retail by a large trading concern, which made the retail cheese trade a most unprofitable one for all who had not covered their Winter requirements at 45s. to 48s.

Butter—A slightly easier tone is apparent in this article, for Australian grass butter brought from the other side, after paying the import duty, could be sold at a margin of profit at 29 cents. The high price ruling also curtailed the consumpton to a large extent, as butter at 35 cents retail gets to be quite an article of luxury to the average workingman's family.

The make of butter the past season was very large in the Province of Quebec, as the low prices ruling for cheese caused factorymen to turn their attention to make the more profitable article.

The range of prices was as follows:

May make	17 to 17⅞c.	82s. to 85s. 6d.
June make	17⅜ to 18¼c.	85s. 6d. to 88s.
July make	17¾ to 19½c.	85s. 6d. to 92s.
August make	18¾ to 20c.	90s. to 96s.
September make	19 to 20⅝c.	91s. 6d. to 98s. 6d.
October make	19¼ to 20⅝c.	94s. to 98s. 6d.
November make	20¼ to 21⅛c.	98s. 6d. to 101s. 6d.

Prices c.i.f. Liverpool.

And the advance after that is fresh in the minds of all, and quickly put it out of consideration as an article of export.

Mr. J. T. Madden.

THE subject of the accompanying biographical sketch, Mr. J. T. Madden, of the Wm. Ryan Co., Toronto, who was recently elected chairman of the produce section of the Toronto Board of Trade, is well and favorably known throughout the Canadian provision trade. Mr. Madden is of Irish parentage, and came to Canada when he was five years old, settling in Montreal and later in London, where he received his early education. Moving to Toronto later, he entered the offices of the Grand Trunk Railway Co. Subsequently he moved to Chicago, where he was employed in the provision business on South Water street, returning to Toronto in 1878 to enter the employ of Wm. Ryan, wholesale provision and commission merchant, who was then located at 23½ Church street.

In 1892, Mr. Madden temporarily severed his connection with this firm to take over the management of the Brantford Electric Street Railway, of which concern he had full charge for three years. At the end of 1895, Mr. Madden returned to Toronto to enter into partnership with Wm. Ryan, who died shortly afterwards, leaving Mr. Madden to succeed to the business of this firm, in partnership with Mr. Ryan, jr.

In conversation with The Canadian Grocer recently, Mr. Madden remarked that he had witnessed a phenomenal development in the provision trade of Toronto and of Canada during the last 20 years, as well as a marked improvement in methods of handling and shipping goods.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

Provisions—Provisions are on the quiet side this week, and on account of the price of live hogs having gone to $6 and $6.10 prices are generally firmer. This is by no means a bad sign, as there is little question but that bacon can not be made for what it has been selling at. Long clear is up 1-4 cent, and it is surmised that the price will go as high as 10 cents. A similar advance is noted in smoked breakfast bacon and large hams. Backs are 1 cent firmer, and heavy mess pork and short cut each 50 cents higher.

The fresh meat trade is only fair, business at the close of the market showing some improvement in the earlier part of the week. We quote the following prices:

Long clear bacon, per lb		$0 09
Smoked breakfast bacon, per lb	$0 13	0 13½
Roll bacon, per lb	0 09½	0 10
Small hams per lb	0 13	0 13½

Cheese—A firmer tendency is noted in the cheese market. Stocks held locally are getting low, and at the same time a good local demand is reported with active inquiry for export trade, and prices stiffening at from 54s. to 55s. One Toronto firm is reported to have sold 1,500 boxes for export during the week. Quotations are revised below as follows:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11½
" twins	0 12

Butter—Receipts of butter are improving, although sales are not what they might be. Retailers are evidently afraid of getting caught, and are watching for lower prices. Only a fair demand is noticed for first-class stuff. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Creamery prints	0 26	0 27
" solids, fresh	0 25	0 26
Dairy prints	0 23	0 24
" large rolls		0 22

Poultry—Although we are still quoting prices on poultry, arrivals at the commission houses have practically ceased, and retailers are buying very little. Our quotations are as follows:

Chickens, spring, dry plucked	0 12	0 13
Hens	0 07	0 08
Turkeys	0 16	0 17
Ducks	0 12	0 13

Montreal.

Provisions.—A strong feeling prevails in provisions; both live and dressed hogs are firmer. Receipts of country-dressed hogs are light, and live hog shipments have not been heavy lately. Fresh killed abattoir sold at $8.25 to $8.50, and country dressed at $7.25 to $7.75 per 100 lbs.:

Canadian short cut mess pork	$16 50	$17 50
American short cut clear	17 00	17 50

Cheese—Business is unchanged from last week's conditions. Stocks are very light here, and this is being held at high prices—11 1-2 cents is asked for choicest white Ontarios. Liverpool cable quotes market steady at 53s. to 55s.

Butter—Market is easy. Stocks are light and demand none too active. The volume of business is not very large, and this is not unexpected, owing to the high prices ruling. New milk creamery was sold at 30 cents:

Finest creamery	0 28	0 30
Fine	0 26	0 28
Medium	0 24	0 27
Fine western dairy	0 23	0 25
Fair to good western	0 22	0 23
Undergrades	0 18	0 20

Eggs—Business is good, the Lenten season and arrival of new stock have brought down prices about 6 to 8 cents per dozen. Dealers are buying carefully, as the continued larger arrivals will cause prices to drop day by day. Cold storage eggs are practically cleaned out. Receipts are gradually becoming larger, which will cause another break in the market:

Selected Fall fresh	0 19	0 21
Montreal limed	0 16	0 17
Strictly fresh	0 22	0 24

ST. JOHN.

Provisions—There is little change to report. Barrelled pork is rather higher. Everything in the local market is very quiet. Beef is firm. Smoked meats have a fair demand, and full prices are obtained. Pure lard is firmly held at rather advanced price. Refined unchanged. Fresh meats are quiet. Beef continues low. Veal is quite freely offered. It is still early for Spring lamb, and the price continues high. Mutton is dull, and pork firm at full figures. We quote:

Mess pork, per bbl		$16 00	$17 00

Provisions are coming in more plentifully, and the depleted state of the provision market has been somewhat relieved. Butter has declined slightly, but it is still higher than for years—in fact, higher than even the market warrants, prices being gauged by Montreal and the Western market. Eggs are also very scarce, and the price for the fresh-laid article abnormal. Beef, pork, lamb and other meats are not quite up to the demand, as this is the Lenten season and fish is in greater demand. The shore fishermen are bringing in fair catches, which keep the market well supplied, and when this is short the various salted or smoked fish are resorted to.

HEINZ MUSTARD DRESSING

It would be a capital thing to push this variety at this time. As a fish sauce it is unexcelled. Appreciated in Lent and all times when fish is an article of diet. For Spring trade when salads begin to rise in importance it is worth setting out prominently. Not a mayonnaisse but a dressing of a delicate, exquisite mustard flavor.

OUR TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA.

TO quote figures from the British South African Export Gazette, Canadian exports to South Africa during 1904 reached the very respectable total of $2,750,000, showing an increase of about $500,000 over the preceding year. Of this total, nearly one-half was represented by food products, the chief item being flour, amounting to $650,000, and preserved meat, totalling $345,000, showing increases of $115,000 and $335,000, respectively. Metals and metal manufactures totalled $121,000, agricultural implements accounting for nearly one-half this amount. Timber and wooden products made up nearly $190,000, of which deals and plank represented $390,000. Miscellaneous items, including $159.000 for agricultural produce, totalled over $400,000. Only a small percentage of the whole consisted of goods in transit, presumably from the United States.

Canadian manufacturers ought to be encouraged to put forth redoubled effort to capture a lion's share of the foreign trade of South Africa. The opinion is expressed there that, notwithstanding the competition of Australia in flour and poultry, Canadian exports will assume much larger proportions in the near future. Considerable headway has also been made in apples and canned salmon. South Africa seems to be dependent on Canada for match blocks, and the timber trade is booming in all parts of the country. Formerly it all came via New York, but the inauguration of a direct line of steamships from Montreal has changed all this, and consignments are now being shipped from that port.

Incidentally, it may be stated that gratifying increases in trade returns between the two countries is due almost entirely to the favorable conditions of the preference and the steamship service. Canadian trade with the sub-continent is now on a firm basis, and with enterprise and prudent cultivation on the part of Canadians themselves, there is no reason why it should not speedily become one of the most important links in the great imperial commercial chain now being forged.

AN IMPORTANT DISCOVERY.

THE TORONTO NEWS has made what it considers an important discovery, although the same can scarcely be said to be complimentary to Canada, namely, a Canadian who has a high sense of honor. Fortunately, the type is not rare in Canada, and the case singled out a particularly interesting one. In fact, reference to Mr. Telford, M.P., for North Grey, as a high type of man, has been made more than once in these columns. At the same time, we believe that the men who would have done as Mr. Telford has done, are the rule rather than the exception. Those who are the exception should be ostracised. Whom do the editors of The News associate with, anyhow? Certainly not with representative business men.

The News says:

Some people imagine that the last unconquerable Spartan passed into the grave with Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, but now and then little things crop up which show that the rigid Puritan spirit still persists in Canada. One of the examples of this type is Mr. Telford, of North Grey, one who emphatically believes that the office should seek the man. His friends are telling this story of him, which receives greater point when it is remembered that North Grey has been for some years past alternately held by a Conservative and a Liberal, and in some cases by the narrow majority of 1. It will be recollected that November 3, polling day, came in the middle of the deer hunting season and a Conservative sportsman was put in the delicate and trying position of having to decide between his love for his party and his love for the chase. His solution was to pair with a Liberal neighbor. When election day came, party spirit caused the Liberal to break his "pair" and deposit his ballot. When Mr. Telford heard of this, he announced that he had intended to vote for himself, but that in view of this he would abstain from voting so that the "pair" would be kept, and he kept his word and declined to cast his ballot.

WILL TRAVELERS BE TAXED?

AN interesting question has arisen in British Columbia, where the Assessment Commission recently made a report in favor of increasing the taxation of agents and travelers representing houses with headquarters outside the province. The proposed action has been introduced into the legislature, fathered by Premier McBride's Government, and, as it aims to place restrictions upon the trade of the province, the Bill has met with general opposition.

In discussing the proposed legislation, The Daily Province, of Vancouver, says:

"It does not seem as if the Finance Minister's proposed Bill for the licensing of commercial travelers would meet with general acceptance, however much it may be amended. The opposition which developed to it on the part of the manufacturers' agents resident in the province, has been responsible for one delay in submitting it to the House, and now it appears that the wholesale commercial firms, with established business here, have reasonable grounds for objecting to proposed changes such as were suggested at the recent meeting of the Board of Trade in this city. There may be some truth in the representations which have been urged by the opponents of the Bill as it stands that it would be difficult, if not impracticable, to collect the license fee from all non-resident commercial travelers; but it certainly does not seem fair that while non-residents should be entirely free to solicit trade and sell goods to be imported, the travelers of British Columbia houses should be handicapped with a license fee in coming into competition with them."

The subject was fully discussed by the Vancouver Board of Trade, and the report of a special committee was adopted as follows:

"1. That while this board approves of the principle of equalization of the burden of taxation, it considers that the Bill now before the House is unfortunate in title and form.

"2. That if it be impracticable entirely to re-draft the Bill in a less objectionable and more workable form, this board considers that it should be amended as follows:

"3. That all reference to 'commercial travelers' should be omitted from title and text.

"4. That all persons or corporations paying $100 or more to the Provincial Government as personal property tax upon merchandize stocks in their possession or under their control, and their employes shall be exempt from the operation of this Act.

"5. That the amendment to clause 4, excmpting all residents in the province from the operation of the Act, be omitted, as rendering the Act absolutely useless for the accomplishment of the object in view.

"6. That clause 7 of the Act be struck out, as injurious to the legitimate interests of retailers established in the province, e.g., tailors, liquor merchants, etc.

"7. That in the opinion of this board it would be impracticable to collect the license fee from non-resident commercial travelers, and that it is, therefore, inadvisable to include these in the operation of the Act.

"8. That this board reiterate its opinion that an income tax should be substituted for the present system of taxation.'

A large deputation of travelers approached the Government regarding the Act and received assurances that clause ten would be withdrawn. It reads as follows:

"That resident agents representing persons, firms or corporations carrying on business outside of British Columbia, and having no branch within this province, be taxed at a rate equal to one-fourth of one per cent. of the amount of their annual sales, and that for the purpose of ascertaining the amount of such sales it be made compulsory for all such agents to keep proper books of account, showing all transactions carried on by them within the province on behalf of such persons, firms and corporations."

While the Vancouver Board of Trade has expressed itself as opposed to collecting license fees from travelers representing the Eastern houses, the decision was only arrived at by the casting vote of the chairman, and the matter cannot, therefore, be considered as decided. As one member pointed out, the B. C. advocates of the tax seem to have forgotten that the stocks from which the East ten that the stocks from which the Eastern travelers sell, are taxed in the locality where they are situated, and B. C. jobbers should be able to compete successfully with Eastern wholesalers on account of enjoying the advantage of cheap freight rates by the water haul across the Pacific. It is to be hoped that B. C. will not take a step which will place heavy restrictions upon Eastern houses. Canada should be considered as one united country rather than a series of disconnected provinces.

OATMEAL MILLERS HAPPY.

IF rumor spells true, the tangle in the Ontario oatmeal situation is likely to be straightened out during the next few days. Already some of the big mills have assumed their wonted air of activity, and proprietors are daring to cultivate the smile, which, let us hope, may not come off for a long time to come.

It is all because one of the principal milling concerns of the American Cereal Company has gone up in smoke, and a market been created within the boundaries of the Republic for the surplus output of U.S. mills. This has had the effect of stiffening prices, until they are now about on a par with Canadian oatmeal products, even at an advance of the latter of from 15 to 20c. within the past two or three days. The tide had begun to turn before this fortunate occurrence, an advance in the price of American oats having taken place several days ago. Unless something unforeseen occurs, the immediate future of the Canadian market appears to be safe.

We cannot refrain from expressing the hope, however, that something will be done to render impossible a recurrence of the unfortunate crisis in oatmeal circles just passed. Our American cousins recently secured legislation allowing drawbacks on importations of Manitoba wheat for their export trade in flour. Is it not equally important for us to afford reasonable protection to our oatmeal millers?

DON'T KNOW IT ALL.

CANADIAN manufacturers and business men unfortunately do not enjoy the distinction of "knowing it all," as some would have us think is the case, and certain influential gentlemen are very properly wearing the meek and humble air as the result of a mistake they made a few days ago.

These gentlemen traveled to the Capital to interview the "powers that be" concerning what they claimed to be an outrage on Canadian importers, namely, the practice of New York houses of keeping French, Spanish, and Italian imports in bond at New York for some months, and in the event of a slump there shipping them to Canada as a direct importation and dumping them on the Canadian market at the French rate of duty, which is lower than that levied on goods from the States.

When they got there and proceeded to air their grievances they discovered that, according to the treaty of 1893, special commercial privileges had been extended to "all goods of French origin entering Canada." The French Government are perfectly satisfied with existing circumstances, which means that overtures will have to be made to them if the present customs regulations are to be amended to suit the needs of the Canadian trade. It seems rather odd that the gentlemen referred to should have had to take such a roundabout way to find out what might have been learned by glancing over the Dominion statutes for the past twelve years.

CREDIT IN MANITOBA.

THE GROCER is in receipt of another interesting letter from the West on the subject of "Credits," which we reproduce in full, as follows:

Editor Canadian Grocer,—There is no disguising the fact that the credit system is being abused. Farmers buy too much goods as long as they can get credit—more than they can pay for—and, to my mind, united action by all retailers in the province to curtail credit to, say, six months in the year, and united action by all retailers in each town, is what is required to save the retailer from failure. United action by the retailers in each town would save us from a system by which we are being fleeced. A customer runs a bill with one merchant, and when he is pressed for payment, he stops buying in that store and commences buying in another. At the second store he pays cash for a little time and then gives merchant No 2 the same dose he gave to No. 1. In time, he is indebted to all the merchants in the town. If we merchants in every town would club together and report delinquents, this would be stopped.

As profits are getting less every year, the credit system has to be curtailed or failure for the merchants will be the result.

Yours truly,

Merchant of 17 years' experience in Manitoba.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, B. C., March 1, 1905.

A VERY great deal of interest attaches to the coming Dominion Exhibition to be held at New Westminster this year, under the auspices of the Royal Agricultural and Industrial Association, which has for years held what virtualfy amounts to a Provincial Exhibition, as it is the principal one on the mainland of B.C. and is patronized and assisted in every way hy the City of Vancouver, which has never yet held or organized an exhibition.

In connection with the holding of the Dominion Exhibition at New Westminster, the directors of the Royal Association are under a deep obligation to the directors of the Victoria Agricultural and Arts Association. That body met in the capital a few days ago and decided to forego the holding of an exhibition this year, in order that the larger Dominion affair, now that it has been secured for the province, should be a more pronounced success. The hroad-minded spirit displayed was the more marked, when the majority vote prevailed, hy those who had held that there was nothing to be gained by closing down their exhibition this year, immediately moving and voting to make the decision unanimous.

There is no question of the success of the fair with the three cities, Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster uniting in the endeavor to make it so. Great as was the success attending the Dominion event in Winnipeg last year, it will be undoubtedly surpassed at New Westminster this year.

The Provincial Government has received the report of the assessment commission appointed to look into the workings of the Assessment Act of last year. One of the most serious objections urged against the Act was that wholesale dealers in the province, who carried stocks of large proportions, and whose interests were bound up here, were taxed (under the personal property tax), while agents and representatives of wholesale houses not carrying stocks in the province, were practically exempt. Two provisions are suggested by the commissioners to cover this point, which are being embodied in amendments to the Act. One is to tax resident agents of houses not carrying stocks in the province, the rate suggested being one-fourth of one per cent. on the amount of their annual sales, and that for the purpose of arriving at such annual sales correctly, such agents be compelled to keep proper sets of books, showing all transactions carried on by them in the province in behalf of the firms they represent. The other provision, which is being met with considerable opposition, is to tax commercial travelers doing business in the province, and not carrying stocks within the province, for houses not established here, at the rate of $100 per year. It is anticipated that some modification of this proposed regulation will be secured. As the suggestion was submitted from the commissioners, it read that all travelers pay this before doing any business in the province, and a provision was added, that in case such license exceeded one-half of one per cent. of the amount of business done by the holder, within the province, he should be entitled to refund, provided that such refund did not exceed $75. Suggestions as to income tax were also submitted by the commission, and the opinion offered that, as it seemed a difficult proposition to secure an equitable working of a personal property tax, it would be better to direct the system of taxation to the ultimate object of having an income tax instead.

Vancouver, B.C., March 9, 1905.

As the time is approaching when the freight for the Yukon will begin to move, it is interesting to note that the transportation companies have succeeded, after a number of meetings, in coming to a decision as to rates. Practically the same transportation charges will be paid this season as last. The difficulty which had to be solved was the division of the business between the White Pass & Yukon Railway and the ocean steamship lines engaged in traffic to Skagway from ports of B.C. and Puget Sound. The three steamship lines engaged in the Northern traffic, the Canadian Pacific, the Pacific Coast S.S. Co., and the Alaska S.S. Co., had agreed that the proportion of the charges which fell to their lot last year was not great enough, and they undertook to convince the White Pass Railway people, the party of the other part, that the percentage should be increased. The latter, however, could not see the matter in the same light, and the result was a number of meetings at which no progress was made. In the end, it is understood that the railway company stood "pat" and the steamship companies take what they got last year. In some minor matters, slight concessions were made to the steamship companies.

Through bills of lading will not be issued until May 15, as usual, but the White Pass will receive goods at White Horse as early as April 15, subject to forwarding in order of receipt, on the opening of navigation. The special commodity rates in effect last year will again go into force on July 1st, lasting till August 15. This year it is anticipated that a large amount of freight, formerly shipped via the lower Yukon from St. Michaels, will go to Dawson and other Yukon points via Skagway and White Horse and down the river. The White Pass Railway Co. operates a large fleet of steamers on the river in conjunction with the railway.

Marking the beginning of a new movement in Oriental trade, it is stated that Frank Waterhouse, a shipping agent of Seattle, usually said to represent the Great Northern Railway, has chartered four large cargo carriers to take out freight for Japan. The chartered vessels are the new steamer Ocean Monarch, 9,600 tons' capacity; the Nairn, 6,000 tons; the Foreric, 7,000 tons, and the Forest Brook, 5,000 tons. The latter steamer is now at Seattle, lying at the Great Northern docks, ready to take on cargo, and the other three are en route to Puget Sound from Pacific points. The reason for the chartering of these steamers is given that the regular steamers of the Hill line, including the immense new Minnesota, cannot take care of all the freight now being carried across the continent by the Hill railway system for shipment to the Orient. Thirty thousand tons of barley, flour, and manufactures of steel and iron, now in demand in Japan, will form the principal items of the cargoes of the four steamers.

The Blue Funnel liner Tydeus, which had 1,500 tons of cargo from Liverpool direct for British Columbia merchants and importers, reached port and discharged on Sunday last, completing the discharge of the whole consignment of 1,500 tons in little over twenty-four hours.

Another cargo-carrier, the sailing bark Cedarbank, is due on this coast at any time, from Liverpool and Glasgow, with general cargo for this port. The Cedarbank is owned by Andrew Weir & Co., the big shipping firm, which has entered into contract with the Dominion Government to provide a steamship line between Vancouver and Mexican ports.

LILY WHITE Gloss Starch

is that kind of a combination for the dealer.

When a stock of this well-known brand of Laundry Starch is put in, the grocer feels that he is not taking any long chances. It is distinctly a case of "backing the favorite." He knows it will "move"—and quickly; no bargain sales from tubs at the season's end, of miscellaneous nondescripts. What a satisfaction it is to sell a Starch that you know from trial in your own home to be the "real thing."

Attractive packages, heavy advertising, everything in fact that could be done to help the grocer has been and will be done continuously.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

Toronto, March 16, 1905.

AN air of quiet has overtaken the grocery trade this week, partly owing to the bad condition of the country roads, and partly because it is now between seasons. Reports from Western Ontario indicate an optimistic feeling among business men, for the coming Summer and Autumn trade.

CANNED GOODS.

Sales of canned goods are quiet, although for this season of the year, the market is extraordinarily active, particularly in tomatoes. The firmness of the tomato situation continues and further importations from the United States are reported. The Grocer in the course of the week, heard the opinion expressed that it looked as if the market would soon be practically bare of tomatoes. It was altogether likely that there would be tomatoes available; even if the canners persevered in their present pretensions; there would be independent growers, and it looked as if there would be more independent canners: at the same time, there could be very little doubt but that prices for the season of 1905-06 would be on a higher level than at present.

The usual Lenten inquiry is noticed for canned fish. Kippered herring are scarce and Finnan Haddie to arrive in June are going to be dear. A seasonable demand is reported in canned fruits. We quote the following prices:

SUGAR.

An easy sugar market is reported for the week under review, with declining beet market, but no quotable change in Canadian Refined. Domestic trade is a little slack as usual at this season of the year. Our quotations are as follows:

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

A first class demand is reported for syrups and molasses of all descriptions for the week. This is largely due to the extraordinarily firm situation of provisions at the present time. Reports from Barbadoes say that the molasses market is very firm and that the yield of molasses per ton of sugar will be much below the average of previous years, viz. not above 30,000 puncheons, due to the fact that the cane juice, though not abundant, is particularly rich this year. We quote the following prices:

COFFEES.

The weakness in the speculative coffee market noted last week, still continues, with perhaps a slight exaggeration, although there has been no quotable change. Domestic continues steady, and in fair volume. We quote the following prices:

TEAS.

An advance of 1-2d. in the price of low grade and medium teas is making them better property on this market. In London, the situation is firm, specially in high and low grade teas, and it is reported that if one or two of the English houses were to begin stocking up to any extent, it would mean a jump in prices. Local trade is satisfactory, and without special feature. We quote the following prices:

EVAPORATED APPLES.

Evaporated apples are in firms' hands and are quoted this week ¼c higher than a week ago, this week's prices being from 6¾ to 7c. Only a fair volume of business is reported. Quotations in dried apples rule as last week, namely 3 to 4c.

DRIED AND CURED FISH.

The wholesale trade have now completed their sales of dried and cured fish for the Lenten season and are now sorting and cleaning up remaining supplies. Regular trade continues without special feature. We quote the following prices:

Country Produce.

EGGS.

Receipts of eggs are now comparatively regular; at the same time the wholesale trade do not report an extraordinarily healthy egg market as buyers are holding back expecting lower quotations. With the difference in price between fresh cold storage and new laid eggs, only 1c., bakers find it to their advantage to stick to the cold storage eggs. The average consumer, however, is now beginning to use more fresh eggs and improved conditions may be expected shortly. We quote the following prices:

Eggs, strictly new laid	0 21 0 22
Cold storage fresh	0 20

BEANS.

The firmness of the bean market continues although the volume of business is slightly below the level of last week. Dealers are prophesying higher prices for beans, and one firm quotes $2 as the limit on bean quotations. We quote the following prices:

" prime, No. 2	1 50 1 55

HONEY.

A brisk demand for honey is reported at slightly easier prices. Up to the present farmers have been holding supplies expecting a firmer market. As their expectations have not been realized they are now unloading and are quite willing to sell available supplies on consignment. We revise quotations below as follows. Inadvertently one or two errors crept into last week's quotations:

Fish and Oysters.

As the Lenten season advances increased sales of fish are reported and dealers say that trade on the whole is proving satisfactory. The recent cold weather seems to have stimulated the fish trade to the extent that within the next week or two the balance of fresh frozen and pickled stock will have been moved. This is now between the seasons and we shall shortly be getting into the fresh fish trade. Finnan haddie are ½c. easier for the week. Grain, Flour and Breakfast Foods.

GRAIN.

The Manitoba grain market is down this week, Northern No. 1 and 2 being each 2½c. lower. Northern No. 3 is also down to $1. Red and white wheat are quoted 3c. below the prices ruling a week ago. Buckwheat is also down 1c. We quote the following prices:

BREAKFAST FOODS.

A general advance in breakfast foods is noted this week. Business on the whole has improved, immediately owing to the burning of the American Cercal Co.'s big mills at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. This was perhaps the largest mill of the sort in the world, with a capacity of 5,000 barrels per week, which means that the Great Western Cereal Co. and other American manufacturers will now have all they can do to attend to their domestic trade. The oatmeal men here are of the opinion that they have not much to fear from their American competitors from now on as previous to the above circumstance the price of oats had advanced on the other side and at the present time quotations there are about on a parity with Canadian prices. Oatmeal is up 20c. and rolled oats from 15 to 20c. all round. We quote the following prices:

Oatmeal, standard and granulated, carlots, on track, per bbl	4 90
Rolled wheat in boxes, 100 lbs	2 90

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

Montreal, March 16, 1905.

TRADE in grocery jobbing circles is reported as somewhat improved lately, due to the better weather and improvement in country roads. Country produce is now being more freely brought in to the towns, and this has stimulated trade with country merchants. Remittances are fairly good, though no marked improvement will be apparent until the new cheese markets open. Sugars are easy. Teas show a better condition, buyers claiming a firmness and holders not anxious to accept bids. New Barbadoes molasses has advanced 1c. per gallon in the islands, and would cost more laid down here than the trade is asking now. Attention is directed to our special remarks on coffee in the division on this article. Fish are going out rapidly during the Lenten season, and prices are hardening up in many lines, owing to scarcity of supplies. Green fruits are dull, hard weather holding back business. Provisions are firm, and good trade doing. Eggs are tumbling down cents a day now, new arrivals filling up the late scarcity.

SUGAR.

Sugar market bears a weak tone, beet being quoted very low. Buyers are holding off, waiting for a change in the market. Country orders are of a hand-to-mouth character.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Reports from Barbadoes are that molasses has advanced 1c. per gallon, quotations being 21c. in the Island, making a laid-down price of about 34c. The market is reported strong, with liberal buying. Local prices are unchanged and trade is none too active. Corn syrups are going out better, the Lenten season being a good one for this class of goods.

TEA.

Trade is somewhat on the quiet side. Ceylon blacks are fully 1d per lb. higher for teas from 7d to 1s. Indians are also very firm. There is some inquiry for China greens, particularly Pingsuey gunpowders. Stocks are getting low now for such teas, and there have been several large parcels turned over within the last four or five days. There has been some considerable demand for all grades of Japans, principally for teas from 17c. to 20c. The market on low grades has advanced about 1c. per lb., and there is nothing now under 11 to 11½c. in big lots. In Formosas, it is surprising to note that there has been some inquiry for fine Formosas recently, but the market is absolutely bare. The general feeling among the trade is that teas will maintain a good, firm tone and, no doubt, this will hold until arrival of ner crop.

CANNED GOODS.

On account of scarcity of tomatoes on our local market some further importations of United States pack stock was received, prices laid down at $1.17½ to $1.20 per doz., as to quality; prices are firm at $1.30 with prospect of scarcity ahead. No changes in other lines. Canned fruits in fair demand at quoted prices. Salmon unchanged with fair demand for all kinds of canned fish, with single exception of finnan haddies, packers of which are making calculations this year of putting these on a basis where a profit can be had; for several years these goods have been practically put up at a loss to the packers. Foreign Dried Fruits.

Trade is quiet. Local stocks of raisins are practically cleaned out, holders have been anxious to realize rather than hold on longer, notwithstanding recent advices from Spain of an advancing market. Currant market is inclined to become easier, possibly 1s. under former quotations in Greece. No heavy stocks are carried here and no effect will be noticed through the easier tone abroad. California fruits are not receiving much attention outside of apricots and peaches. Prices unchanged. We quote as follows:

Fish.

The extremely heavy demand during the past week has had the effect of cleaning up this market in all lines, in fact green cod are sold out and there will not be any more this season. Salt herrings are also very scarce and prices have advanced. A very active trade has been done in frozen fish and an upward tendency in prices is noted. Frozen herrings are very scarce, but there are still some offering. Tom cods are moving freely and the present cold weather is helping sales along. A very large trade has been done in frozen haddock, but owing to the liberal arrivals prices are somewhat easier. In smoked fish the demand for finnan haddies has been exceedingly good and stocks are fairly well cleaned up here. New cured haddies are now beginning to arrive, and are meeting with ready sale at higher prices than are being quoted for the frozen stock which dealers have been handling for the past three months. There is the usual demand for bulk oysters. Shell oysters are very slow, in fact the season is practically over. There is a fairly good business reported in smoked, and prepared boneless fish, though the quantity of fresh frozen fish available has a tendency to check this trade a little. Some dealers report good sale for boneless fish. On the whole trade in all lines has been very brisk, and if anything has exceeded expectations as predicted in our columns some few weeks ago. Skinless cod is higher and owing to the scarcity a further advance may be looked for. Reports at hand state Norwegian catch of codfish about half of last year's catch, in fact it is given as the lowest for twenty years. We quote as follows:

BEANS.

Bean market very firm. Recent arrivals brought $1.80 to $1.90 for carload lots of choice primes. The scarcity has forced up prices and holders are chary of letting out stocks too freely at even the above high figures. We quote as follows:

MAPLE PRODUCTS.

Business is very quiet. The arrival of new goods will improve conditions materially; it will be some weeks yet before new stock can be safely counted on as the weather is still hard. The legend "New Maple Syrup" may be noted here and there, but no new goods are as yet offered by the townships:

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of the Canadian Grocer.
St. John, N.B., March 15, 1905.

THE failure of the Bank of Yarmouth effected business much less even in Nova Scotia, than one might naturally expect. It was a local bank without branches. It is thought there will not be any direct loss in St. John. It is, however, a matter of very great regret. Business continues quiet. Collections are slow. The immense quantity of snow throughout the Maritime Provinces must result in Spring businesses opening late. Values as a rule remain firm. Rice for later shipment is quoted rather lower than present prices, which have shown a slight advance over last year's figures. Our market takes chiefly a medium. Rangoon rice selling price 3 1-4 to 3 1-2c. In spices nutmegs are firmer, but keep very low. Cloves are rather lower. Ginger is low. Pepper is unchanged, but rather easier. Hops continue unchanged. Higher prices are the report, but it seems very difficult to advance the price, and not further interfere with the sale. Cream of tartar keeps quite firm.

Salt.

A large cargo of Liverpool coarse salt arrived during the week and found a fairly good demand at full prices. Stock held is not large. At this season business is dull. There was a small quantity of Liverpool factory filled in the cargo.

Fish.

Lent is here, but fish stocks are light. In fresh fish the supply is small, and there is little variety. A few fresh gaspereaux are offered. Dry fish continue very high. Pickled herring are firmly held. Smoked are plentiful and prices reasonable. Haddies are high.

Flour, Meal and Seed.

While flour is firm, prices are unchanged. Supplies come forward very slowly. Feed is high, also oats. In oatmeal prices have been advanced. American competition is largely over. Cornmeal is firm. Beans are held at the advanced prices, and there is but a fair business doing. Barley and peas are scarce. Seeds have increased attention. American timothy continues to advance slowly. Canadian clovers are unchanged at full prices.

BUSINESS in wholesale grocery circles is reported more active this week by most houses. Another fall of the "beautiful," following a fortnight of Springlike weather, has improved sleighing in the country and has had a beneficial effect on business.

in sugar, but another advance has been announced by the B. C. refinery, to apply to all points between Dunmore and the B. C. boundary line. This further advance of 15c. spells very dear sugar for the far Western points. Coffees are reported easier, with no local changes, although slight concessions are said to be obtainable. All foreign dried fruits are firm, and the quotations given by The Grocer are the rock-bottom prices. Evaporated apples are advancing, and the general range of quotations seems to warrant an advance of from ½ to ¾c. over the figures quoted last week. The fish trade is experiencing great activity since the beginning of Lent. Fresh eggs are becoming more plentiful, and they are now quoted at 25c. per dozen.

Sugar.

No change has been made locally, and the sugar market continues very firm. An advance of 15c. has been announced by the B. C. refinery to apply to all points between Dunmore and the B. C. boundary. We quote (subject to possible corrections in "Last Minute Manitoba Markets") as follows:

OF INTEREST TO GROCERS' CLERKS.

READERS of The Grocer are presented in this week's issue with portraits of the newly-elected executive of the Toronto Retail Grocery Clerks' Benefit Association.

Mr. H. Treblecock
Recording Secretary, Toronto Retail Grocery Clerks' Benefit Association, 1905.

Mr. E. C. Mathews, the newly-elected president, has served the Association previously in the capacity of vice-president, which office he filled during the year 1904. He came to Toronto from the old country in 1879, and since that time has been engaged exclusively in the retail grocery business, having spent some years with the People's Wholesale Supply Co., formerly of King street east, and five and a half years with H. Tolchard, of Yonge street north.

Mr. Mathews is enthusiastic over his chosen trade, and represents a type of business man which might profitably be emulated by his fellow clerks throughout the country. The following letter from Mr. Mathews to The Grocer will be read with interest by Canadian grocery clerks and the trade in general:

Editor Canadian Grocer,—Having been elected President of the Toronto Retail Grocery Clerks' Benefit Association for the ensuing year, I thought I would write a few lines to your paper. I do not know whether any of our members have ever explained to you in detail the aim of our Association. In the first place, it is a social gathering, the avowed purpose being to get the grocery clerks of the city better acquainted with oneanother. In the second place, our proceedings aim to be instructive, as we frequently have essays on subjects of general interest to the trade. In the third place, our Association has a beneficiary side; we have a slight benefit for a member if he is sick or otherwise disabled. At our last meeting we had the pleasure of welcoming no less than three new members.

Mr. Editor, I think there are clerks in the city of Toronto who have got the impression that this Association is composed of a lot of undesirable clerks. This is not the case. Some years ago, I must plead guilty to having held the same idea. The mistaken impression, however, was removed when I joined the Association, and to-day I am proud to be President of one of the finest aggregations of grocery clerks on the North American continent. If there is a suspicious clerk in the city, I wish he would look us up.

With the object of cultivating a wider interest in the Association among the clerks of Toronto, I am offering a prize of $5 to the member bringing in the largest number of new members during the coming year.

E. C. Mathews,
President Toronto Grocery Clerks' Association.
Mar. 13, 1905.

Mr. M. Anderson
Corresponding Secretary, Toronto Retail Grocery Clerks' Benefit Association, 1905.

Mr. R. H. Hudson, the treasurer for 1905, dates his experience in the grocery business from 1882, when he entered the employ of the late Wm. Beatty, of Parry Sound, remaining there until 1893, when he removed to Ashville, N.C., owing to poor health. In that

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

McWilliam & Everist, Toronto, who have been making extensive improvements in their Church street warehouse, expect to occupy their new offices during the present week. These have been moved from the ground floor to the front of the first storey and now comprise a suite of rooms which for spaciousness, light, convenience and general appearance bear favorable comparison with anything of the kind in Canada. The space on the ground floor formerly utilized for business offices will afford extra warehouse space. Several minor changes are also being made which will materially enhance the appearance of the interior.

The McPherson Fruit Co., Winnipeg, are erecting a warehouse at Calgary to cost $12,000.

A new independent banana company has been incorporated in Delaware—the Honduras Banana Co., of Baltimore, capitalized at $200,000.

There are rumors this week that one of the Toronto wholesale fruit firms is about to change hands.

A movement is on foot to establish a Dominion Fruit Growers' Association, for the consideration of questions affecting the Canadian fruit growing industry as a whole, such as freight rates, packages, statistics, and amendments to the Fruit Marks' Act, etc.

Negotiations are pending with the G.T.R. regarding the securing of more space for the Toronto Fruit Market. The trade have been considerably handicapped every Summer for want of room, and the change will be welcomed The Grand Trunk will handle all fruit at Yonge street and sundries at their Simcoe street sheds.

On March 14th the House of Commons, Ottawa, finally accepted the principle of the Hon. Mr. Fisher's Bill to provide for uniform boxes for packing apples for export, an innovation in the trade which it is expected will prove of great value to Canadian apple shippers and producers. The new box will be equal in capacity to one-third of a barrel, and will measure 10 x 11 x 20 inches.

GREEN FRUITS.

THE green fruit trade continues brisk and satisfactory in every respect, owing to favorable weather conditions. Final shipments of marmalade oranges are expected this week. Navels are selling well, stocks being in prime condition and free from frost. Some slight waste is noted in the cars, which has necessitated icing them at a cost of 25 cents per box of fruit.

The banana market is somewhat glutted, arrivals for the week totalling 17 cars, an excessive quantity for this time of the year. New lemons are arriving in good shape, and are moving well. A sprinkling of strawberries is noticed on the market this week, and it is expected that shipments of this article will assume larger proportions shortly.

Jamaica grape fruit is now out of the market, and its place has been taken by Bahama fruit, selling at a range of prices higher by 50 cents. Pines are coming more freely and are selling 50 cents cheaper than last week. Lemons are also down 25 cents, and bananas have dropped from 15 to 25 cents. It is difficult to give a range of quotations on apples, which are selling all the way from $1.25 to $3.50. Almeria grapes are out of the market, and cranberries are quoted $1 per box cheaper than last week. Our quotations are as follows:

Florida grape fruit, per box	5 00	5 50

VEGETABLES.

The feature in vegetables this week is the arrival of new potatoes on the market, which are selling at $2.75 per crate. Spinach will also be on the market during the week. It seems to be the policy of the trade to open up the green vegetable business earlier this year than usual, notwithstanding the lateness of the season in the country of production. Shipments of California celery will be over this week for the present season, owing to the crop being exhausted. One California grower writes that he has lost no less than from 400 to 500 carloads in the fields owing to excessive rains. California celery is being replaced by Florida stock, which will come to this market in limited quantities quite late in the season. Odd stocks of green peppers are noticed this week, and will be more in evidence shortly. Trade in domestic vegetables continues steady at unchanged quotations. We quote the following:

Business has had somewhat of a setback, the recent cold spell interfering with trade. Country orders are light. Celery is in very good demand, and stronger than the supply. Navels are going out to city trade fairly well. A car of fancy navels is expected at the end of the week, and will bring good figures. With the advent of warmer weather, which should materialize shortly, it is expected that more activity will develop in the fruit trade.

Some people will tell you that they pack bulk pickles which will keep. We go considerably further than telling.

Every order given to one of our travellers is put on a duplicate guarantee, one of which he gives to you. This guarantee clearly states that we hold ourselves responsible for any of our pickles that may go bad in the six months following the date of shipment of the order, providing the following precautions are taken—that the barrel or pail is kept covered; that you do not use tin or any metal vessel to dip the pickles with (use a crockery bowl—it's cleaner, too); that the vinegar is taken in proportion to the pickles, so that they are always kept slightly covered with vinegar; that no sweepings, particularly nails, are allowed to get into the barrel; and that the pickles be kept from any extreme of heat or cold. We give this guarantee to your wholesale grocer. If you buy through him the guarantee stands the same.

Lion Brand Pickles are a perfect mixed pickle—small cucumbers, small white onions, and hard, white branches of cauliflower, cut close, pickled in whole spice and in the most perfect pickling vinegar made. They come out crisp and firm, perfect in color, delicious and wholesome.

orange grove at "Cookville," brought here by two schooners about 600,000 oranges, as well as a large quantity of grape fruit. These were sold in lots of 1,000 (loose) at the wharf for $10. Retailers sold them at $1.35 to $1.50 per hundred, or 18 to 20c. per dozen. Owing to the blockade on the railways, the outside sales were comparatively small, but there was a remarkably large home consumption. Many of the larger firms bought one, two or five thousand lots and gave them to their customers at cost prices in lots of 50 or 100.

St. John, March 16, 1905.

The outlook for Valencia oranges shows little improvement. There is no doubt that the damage from frosts in Spain has been great. Such stock as is held has been but slightly advanced, as Jamaicas and Californias are quite freely offered. Lemons, while firm, show little change. There is but a fair demand for apples. In bananas rather more business is being done, and it is yet early. The season can hardly be said to open till the frost is out of the air. In Cape Cod cranberries prices are reasonable for the season.

Trading Stamp Legislation Wanted

OTTAWA, on Thursday last, March 9, was stormed by one of the largest delegations that has ever visited the city. Being the Mecca of all having grievances to lay before the ruling power, Parliament Hill, a delegation or two is no unusual sight in the capital, but the body of men that marched to the House of Commons, at noon, on March 9, was so unusually large and important, that the appearance of the procession from the station to the buildings occasioned wonder and comment. The army consisted of retail and wholesale merchants from Montreal and Quebec, as well as representatives of all the Merchants' Associations from Toronto and the West, to Quebec on the East, who came to interview the Premier and Cabinet, seeking legislation against the use of that modern bete noir, the trading stamp and cash receipt. There were over 500 retail merchants from Quebec, Montreal, Brockville, Belleville, Kingston, Ottawa, and Toronto, and the large railway committee room of the Parliament Buildings was taxed to its utmost capacity, to hold this vast number of protestors and supplicants.

The Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, entered the Committee room promptly at 12 o clock, accompanied by Sir Wm. Mulock. His arrival was the occasion for loud applause, and it was evident that the Premier was clearly impressed by the magnitude of the delegation. Shortly after his entry, the following Cabinet members arrived and took seats behind him on the platform: Hon R. Prefontaine, Hon. S. Fisher, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. C. Fitzpatrick, Hon. C. S. Hyman and Hon. L. P. Brodeur.

Mr. Honore Gervais, M.P., introduced the delegation, which he said represented all the leading commercial organizations in Canada. All important trade associations in this country had for years been opposed to the use of trading stamps, which had become now a great evil and injustice to the retail merchants.

He explained the operation of the Trading Stamp Company, and showed that the retail merchant who handled their wares issued stamps to his customers at a highly fictitious value. The company had a monopoly and their operations were really a conspiracy in restraint of trade. Some doubt was felt as to whether their operations could be declared illegal otherwise, so the merchants asked Parliament to pass a measure which would clearly define this business as a conspiracy in restraint of trade.

Indirect Taxation.

The trade was an indirect taxation upon retailers and had driven many to bankrupcy. The Ontario Legislature had passed a law against the use of these stamps, but the courts had declared the act ultra vires. Quebec had also taken similar action, but the company were threatening to appeal to the Privy Council, and so a definite act of Parliament was desired upon the question.

"Did you say that the legislatures of Ontario and Quebec had passed laws against this practice?" asked the Premier.

"Yes," replied Mr. Gervais.

"And this legislation was declared beyond their constitutional powers by some judges?"

Mr. Gervais replied in the affirmative, but claimed that the Canadian Parliament had power to deal with the matter throughout the country. The Provincial Governments had no power to impose fines or imprisonments for breaking their laws, and the companies could find means of evading their enactments. What was wanted was a Dominion measure.

Mr. S. Geen, of Belleville, president of the Dominion Retail Merchants' Association, was then introduced by Mr. Gervais. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, he said, the use of cash receipts was looked upon as a great evil. Their use was a great hardship to retailers, and in the interest of trade should be abolished. If the consumers benefited, then, perhaps, their use should be welcomed, even if some retailers suffered, but the consumer did not make any such corresponding gain. Through the spread of this system, the spirit of getting something for nothing was being disseminated throughout the whole country, and this had a bad effect on the morals of the people.

Hon. J. I. Tarte gave his idea upon the use of trading stamps as gained from newspaper work. Last year "La Patrie" had taken up the system and he said it was wonderful the amount of money handled in this business. He looked upon their use as thoroughly bad, and an imposition on retailers, many of whom had to buy them from the company or go out of business.

Worse Than Lotteries.

Mr. Major, of the Quebec Board of Trade, said that retailers in that city had appealed to the Quebec Board of Trade against the use of stamps and that after investigation into their use, the board came to the opinion that it was an unmixed evil. They had decided to support the agitation against their legal use, and had sent three of their members on this present delegation. The trading stamp evil was doing more harm, he thought, than the lottery system, which had been put down by law.

Mr. J. O. Gareau, president of the Montreal Federation of Retail Merchants, showed that the delegation represented really all the trade of Canada. The trading stamp, he said, was worth half a cent, but was represented to the public as worth ten cents. Mr. Gareau's remarks were forcible, and his exposition of the evil caused by trading stamp system so eloquently and clearly set forth, that it was noticed the Premier and members of the Cabinet were impressed. The Trading Stamp Company employed canvassers, usually women, to go round from house to house explaining to people that by trading at certain stores, they could get lamps, chairs, etc., for nothing. Then the dealer who does not give the stamps, loses custom and many are forced to bankruptcy unless they also can handle them. In some instances, these stamps are costing from 8 to 15 per cent., not the 5 per cent. as usual. The hardship caused the traders would warrant the government in making illegal the use of trading stamps, cash receipts and all kindred devices.

Mr. Brault, of the Montreal Chambre de Commerce, speaking in French, expressed his confidence in the Government taking steps to abolish this evil, if they would look into its effects. Mr. Gervais then read a resolution passed by the Montreal Board of Trade at a recent meeting, expressing in strong terms their disapproval of the cash receipt system.

The Proper Remedy.

Mr. J. C. Either, K.C., city attorney, Montreal, denominated the trading stamp system as almost a fraud. He outlined the fight between the corporation of Montreal, and the Trading Stamp Company in the effort of the city to do away with the use of the stamps.

He considered the federal government had power to abolish this trade as they had done away with lotteries, which had not so widespread an effect. The proper remedy would be to pass a law against the use of stamps and make the penalty for breaking it imprisonment.

The deputation trusted that something practical would be done to help those suffering from this evil. Local legislation had hitherto proved ineffective and they now looked for a general law.

Mr. G. Sumner, of the Wholesale Dry Goods Association of Montreal, said that the Association he represented was in perfect sympathy with the ideas of the retailers on this question. He thought it the duty of the Government to help the deputation accomplish what it was endeavoring to.

Mr. Z. Hebert, grocer, Montreal, also gave his opinion, expressing his decided belief that the use of stamps was against the well-being of legitimate trade, and should be abolished.

E.M. Trowern, secretary of the Dominion Retail Merchants' Association, said one thousand delegates could have been brought down from Ontario if necessary. The fight against the use of stamps had been successful in the Ontario Legislature, but this was a Dominion, not a provincial question, and so the members of the deputation had come to Ottawa to ask the Government to place on the statute books an act making the use of stamps a penal offence.

A resolution to this effect had been signed by organizations of merchants from all over Ontario, and had time been allowed, similar organizations all over Canada would have signed it.

Mr. Gervais then said that the deputation would like to know what action the Government would take upon the representations made.

Serious Consideration.

Sir Wilfrid remarked that Mr. Gervais was a little premature in expecting him to state immediately what would be done. He assured the delegation, however, that he, and he was sure his colleagues, had been greatly impressed by the representations of the speakers. These would receive their very serious consideration.

It would not do for him to express his judgment, but personally he could say that if this system were a lottery in disguise, as had been represented, then the duty of the government was clear.

But every question had two sides, and already the Government was in receipt of letters from the Trading Stamp Companies, asking to be heard. They also would be given the opportunity of presenting their side of the case if they wished.

The Government, the delegation could be assured, would do its duty without fear or favor.

Among the Montreal delegation were: Major Leph, Hebert, of Hudon, Hebert & Cie; Armand Chaput, of L. Chaput Fils & Cie; M. Dorsenens, of Demers, Fletcher & Cie; Ald. N. Lapointe, Ald. L. A. Lapointe, Ald. Couture, R. Langlois, of Gunn, Langlois & Co.; P. Daoust, president Retail Grocers' Association: A. Laurendeau, secretary R.G. Association; N. Chartrand, J. A. Maynard, H. Poirier, T. Bergeron, E. Masse, E. Venne, O. Gratton, G. Beaulieu, G. Ouimette, P. Bruneau, treasurer Retail Grocers' Association; A. Bissette, John P. Dixon, J. O. Levesque, of Hudon & Orsali; M. Picard, Geo. Sumner, of Hodgson, Sumner & Co.; H. Brock, of W. R. Brock Co.; Fred L. Cains, of Brophy, Cains & Co.; A. Racine, of A. Racine & Co.; M. Caverhill, of Caverhill & Kissock; C. Filiatrault, of Filiatrault & Lesage; M. O. Lemire, of Lemire & Co., the latter representing the Wholesale Dry Goods Section; Mr. Armand Giroux, G. O. Gareau, president Dry Goods Association; H. A. A. Brault, of the Chambre de Commerce, Jos. Lamoreaux, president Butchers' Association; John G. Watson, president Boot & Shoe Dealers' Association; M. Edmond, of Cunningham & Strain, wholesale Wine & Liquor Agents; W. Fogarty, of Fogarty Bros.; Geo. Gale, C. R. Lavallee, T. Hickey, L. Adelstein and about fifty other boot and shoe dealers. Arsene Lamy, U. Boivin, M. Prevost, Mr. G. Martin, of P. P. Martin & Cie.

Among the delegates from Quebec were: Mr. J. Rouillard, of Z. Paquet; O. W. Bedard, representing Quebec Board of Trade; Dr. Ed. Morin, representing Quebec Board of Trade; Achille Cote, representing Syndicat de Quebec; Theophille Beland, representing Dry Goods Association, Quebec; B. J. Cote, representing Dry Goods Association, Quebec; J. A. Chabot, J. A. Moisan and S. Martel, grocers; Quebec butchers were represented by Messrs. Roger and Turcotte. Mr. H. D. Barry, represented Quebec cigar interests.

STATUS OF CANADIAN MAPLE SUGAR INDUSTRY

MR. G. R. SMALL, proprietor of the Canada Maple Exchange, Montreal, recently remarked that too much free advice and comment by unqualified parties on the subject of maple syrup would have a tendency to create undue suspicion and prejudice against maple products generally in the public mind.

"The facts are," continued Mr. Small, "that at the demand of the consumer, nine-tenths of the maple sweets consumed in different forms, are consumed only because they are blended with milder flavored sugars; and such will, undoubtedly, be the case in the future, regardless of how the goods are labelled. This is easily explained, when it is known that the great bulk of maple sugar consumed in Canada, is produced in the eastern portion of Quebec, about 7,000,000 pounds being produced annually by the County of Beauce alone. It comes from the producer in large ten pound blocks, and, owing to the soil of that section, is of a very dark color, and of too harsh a flavor to appeal to the average taste. It is at this point that the much abused manufacturer steps in, and by scientific refining, blending, and packing, produces the article in the wholesome and palatable shape demanded by the public.

"In the past, legislation has been rendered inoperative, because of the impossibility of analytically detecting or separating maple from other sugars. Recently, however, chemists have ascertained the fact that maple sugar contains an element peculiar to itself, and they can now accurately detect its presence or absence in any form presented. This places the authorities in a position to enforce the present law, the immediate results of which will be the proper labelling of all maple syrups on the market. As manufacturers, we are heartily in accord with the authorities in putting the regulations actually into force, and will welcome the day when the much vaunted, abused farmers are compelled to put a label and guarantee on their cans, and four quarts to the gallon inside of them. The statements expressed by some of late, to the effect that syrup companies are causing a decline in, and will eventually destroy the maple sugar industry in the Province of Quebec, are not founded on precedent or present prevailing facts. The reverse is the truth. There are more sugar orchards being operated now than ever before. There is one hundred thousand dollars per annum being now spent in sugar making utensils, where one thousand was spent twenty years ago, and the price of Beauce sugar has advanced about 200 per cent. during the same period. This state of affairs can be proved to be the result of practice and scientific methods adopted by the manufacturers in the packing, introducing, and placing of the maple product on the market.

"By way of proof of this statement, permit me to say, that since January 1, 1905, one wholesale house alone has taken over four cars of our standard brand, for which we received a higher price, wholesale, than two of our leading grocers of Montreal (who have recently expressed opinions on the subject) are receiving at retail for what they claim to be farmers' choicest pack. Now the low price for farmers' pack is due not so much to their mixing as to the lack of uniformity in measure, flavor, color and constituency. For an example, on March 4, we ordered by phone two gallons of maple syrup from these same two grocers. The bill then came with one can, read as follows: 'One gallon can maple syrup—$1; the bill being all there was to distinguish it from a can of paint, oil or varnish, as it was not labelled. It was not hermetically sealed, and we had to chop in the top in order to get at the contents, which we found a little tinged with sediment at the bottom. The can referred to weighed but eight pounds, where it should have weighed thirteen and one half pounds. The same is now in the hands of the analyst.

In conclusion, Mr. Small stated that indications pointed to an average yield of sap this season. As to price, he says: " We are offering a little less than last year, somewhat due to the fact that present legislation necessitates that we will have to test analytically every package that comes in, which will, of course, result in considerable expense to the manufacturer.

Flour and Cereal Foods

May Import Russian Flour.

A NEW and interesting feature has developed in the Ontario flour situation, and the possibility of importing foreign product to relieve the present shortage of supplies is being actively discussed among local dealers, says The Toronto News.

It appears that local dealers have of late received inquiries from London regarding the situation of the local flour market, and asking as to the possibilities of disposing of a large quantity of foreign product here. The flour is from Russian and Roumanian wheat, and is offered here equal to $4.70. It is said to be of splendid quality, equal to the Manitoba and Ontario blended product.

What is said to be equal to the same flour cannot be obtained in Ontario at less than $4.60, and many holders are demanding $5.10 for the product of Canadian mills. Very little can be purchased at the former figure, and one dealer remarks that there might be some small imports of the Russian product, though the movement will hardly reach large proportions, unless a greater scarcity of the domestic article should develop.

U. S. Flour Comes Home Again.

An unusual deal in flour made recently was that in which the D. L. Marshall Company of Boston, Mass., bought 35,000 sacks of a consignment of 40,000 sacks of flour originally shipped from Tacoma, Wash., to Liverpool, and 10,000 sacks started back from that port for Boston, March 13, on the steamship Michigan. The remaining 25,000 sacks will be shipped back to this country by way of New York.

The entire consignment was shipped to Liverpool by a sailing vessel that went by way of Cape Horn. When it arrived there, the Liverpool quotations on flour were so much lower than in the United States, that the owner immediately made arrangements for the reshipment to this country, where a price slightly under the present quotations already has been realized on the 10,000 sacks leaving Liverpol to-morrow.

The deal was due entirely to the present condition of the wheat market, which is far higher than it was when the flour was shipped from Tacoma. The Liverpool consignee in his counter deal made a profit after paying the two ocean freights—Tacoma to Liverpool, and to Boston—as well as the costs of storing and re-handling.

Canada's Future as Wheat Grower.

Dr. Saunders, director of the Experimental Farms, Ottawa, in a recent address before the Committee on Agriculture in the House of Commons on "The future of Canada as a wheat-growing country," said that notwithstanding unfavourable conditions, such as grain rust in the West and drought in the East, which were revealed in 1904, still about 80,000,000 bushels of wheat were produced last year in Canada. He referred to the declining exports of wheat from the United States. In 1902 they sent to Great Britain 81,000,000 bushels, or 54 per cent. of Britain's total requirements. In 1903 they sent only 45,000,000, and in 1904 only 12,000,000. There had been a like falling off in their exports of flour, which in 1903 amounted to 7,000,000 barrels, and 4,000,000 in 1904. He spoke of the great advantages possessed by Canada in wheat growing. Last year the average yield in Manitoba was 16.52 bushels per acre, in the North-West Territories 18, whereas in North Dakota it was 11.8 and in Minnesota 12.8. Dr. Saunders held that Canada's chief competitor in the future would be Russia. He pointed out the importance of maintaining the productiveness of the soil of the Canadian West.

A DEPARTMENT FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS.

HOW TO HANDLE TOBACCO TRADE.

GROCER or general merchant, the consumer has been complaining to us that you are forcing him to go to the tobacconist, the druggist, or "mine host" around the corner for smoking mixtures and cigars, and we are inclined to think he has reasonable grounds for his complaint.

Our reasons are as follows:

The average grocer handles only smoking and chewing tobaccos in plug form, and that in the crudest and most careless fashion. Yet he is short-sighted enough to overlook the fact that his carelessness precludes him from enjoying a department of trade which can be made one of the most profitable in the grocery business. The only reason why your tobacco department has lagged behind, if lagged it has, Mr. Grocer, is because you have failed to keep abreast of the times. You have allowed the hotel-keeper, the druggist and the tobacconist to get the cream of the trade. Small wonder if your untidy and careless display of smoking and of chewing plugs excites even the disgust of fastidious customers.

The difficulty may be overcome if you will only mend your ways in displaying your stock of tobacco. There is no reason under the sun why a tobacco display should be in the least objectionable to your customers. Get a silent salesman like the barber and tobacconist has,—a large one is not essential so much as a prominence of position. Put it near the front of your store, so that it will not escape the notice of anyone entering.

Do not be satisfied with stocking merely the lines that suited the trade in your grandfather's time. To-day, you must have a nicely-assorted stock of cigars and cigarettes if your tobacco department is to be worthy of the name. Then it will pay to have one clerk make a special study of tobacco. It need not be made laborious, and a little knowledge of the different kinds of tobacco and brands of cigars may be utilized to excellent advantage by an up-to-date clerk in effecting sales. He will have very little difficulty in interesting the old farmer, and as for the younger generation, he is far from being an ideal clerk if he cannot convert them to the superior value of your cigars.

The trouble with the grocery trade today is that they don't get out enough and hustle for new business, but content themselves with the aggressive work of those who have gone before, while the other man "butts" in and gets a firm hold on a certain line of trade before they know "where they are at."

Tobacco Growers Unite.

Tobacco growers and those interested in the Canadian tobacco industry held a public meeting in the Town Hall, Kingsville, on Tuesday, March 7, for the purpose of discussing the advisability of uniting with the growers of Quebec and manufacturers generally in petitioning the Government for a change in the excise laws to a uniform license and a uniform excise duty on all tobacco and placing the protection on the home-grown product to a straight customs duty of 35c. per lb. This would be a change of vital importance to all interested in tobacco culture.

U.S. Tobacco Acreage.

More than 1,000,000 acres are now under cultivation in the United States, yielding 816,000,000 pounds. The government derives $65,000,000 in taxes thereon.

Indian Tobacco.

The reasons why the Indian tobacco industry does not thrive and expand as it should, are given in an interesting lecture delivered recently by Mr. T. D. Beighton, a retired Bengal Civilian, at the Society of Arts, London. The fault lies in Indian methods of cultivation and curing. One of the strongest objections urged against Indian tobacco, especially that grown in Southern India, is the large percentage of saltpetre in the leaf. It should be noted that the tobacco plant takes up more nitrate of potash from the soil than most plants. Hence, a soil that is poor in this constituent would seem to be best suited to it, that is, from the commercial point of view. Any way, the subject promises to form an important feature of the experiments to be undertaken by the Pusa authorities. The British duty on tobacco is so heavy that it acts most prejudicially on the Indian product. It is curious to note that, with all their big talk about bringing the colonies and India into closer touch with the mother country, the authorities at home charged withlthe protection of these interests, should levy dutics on Indian products that make it almost impossible to trade with the United Kingdom, and people wonder why British capital does not flow into India!

McALPIN'S

Freights and Charters

THE transfer season is now on and every kind of transportation is more or less hampered. It is amazing how business has been hindered by the snow-bound traffic in the Maritime Provinces. Some large firms in both Toronto and Montreal are said to have large stocks on hand that usually would be in the hands of customers in the eastern part of the Dominion. All this has been caused by the heavy weather, and thus the sins are booked up against a bad year. In fact, some firms in Montreal have gone so far as to say that they have lost a very large sum of money owing to the failure of transportation companies to carry goods to their destination. Then there is always the endless chain to be considered, inasmuch as if the railways could not carry the goods, the big steamers could not get the cargo, and so the result would have been very disastrous had it not been for the immense cargoes which had already been stored in the sheds.

Big steamers, which have sailed from Portland and St. John during the week, have been copiously loaded with goods, notwithstanding the depression in new cargoes arriving. However, where the steamers will be affected will be in the next few weeks, prior to the opening of the St. Lawrence, when boats leaving St. John and Portland may have a dearth of cargo.

Within the last two weeks eight large steamers have left St. John for a number of different ports. For instance, the Allan Line S.S. Parisian sailed for Liverpool with a remarkably small cargo for such a fine vessel; the S.S. Mount Temple, a C.P.R. boat, sailed for London with a very large cargo; in fact it is worth announcing her cargo, as follows:

Grain, bush.—C.P.R., 25,698 bushels wheat, 92 bags clover seed, 65 bags beans.

Flour, sacks.—C.P.R., 25,628.

Cheese, boxes.—C.P.R., 25 local.

Provisions.—C.P.R., 3,250 cases gallon apples, 18 boxes bacon, 300 cs. cheese.

Apples, brls.—C.P.R., 699.

Lumber.—C.P.R., 1,209 pkgs. lumber, 1,240 pcs. lumber, 130 pcs. timber, 41 logs, 3,581 doors, 35,230 pcs. deals.

Leather.—C.P.R., 195 bdls., 20 cs.

Miscellaneous.—C.P.R., 7 cts. desks, 36,000 bdls. shooks, 320 pkgs. wood pulp, 907 pkgs. paper, 2,800 bags asbestos fibre, 3 cs. dry goods, 1 case cabinets, 601 boxes soap, 450 pkgs. lawn mowers, 364 pkgs. agricultural implements, 11 pkgs. furs, 900 cases whiskey, 200 brls. wood alcohol, 823 pkgs. chair stock, 132 pkgs miscl. mdse., 16 brls. potash, 20 bxs. nails.

S.S. Florence sailed also for London, and S.S. Acides and Indrani for Glasgow. The S.S. Manchester Importer left for Manchester and the Montealm of the C.P.R. sailed for Bristol. By all odds the C.P.R. have taken the cargo on their steamers, and it is only natural that their own railway line should serve their own steamers.

From Portland there have been three important sailings, namely, the Ottoman, Dominion Line; Cervona, of the Thomson Line, and the S.S. Brazilian, of the Allan Line. The Portland boats all had much larger cargoes in proportion than any of the boats from St. John and Halifax.

A deputation, including Mr. H. A. Allan, of the Allan Line, and several large grocery firms, have visited Ottawa during the past week in connection with the dumping clause and its effect, and lack of effect, upon certain importations from France. The direct steamship service between France and Canada will prevent the New York importers from dumping just whatever suits them on the Canadian market.

PROFIT AND LOSS ACCOUNTS

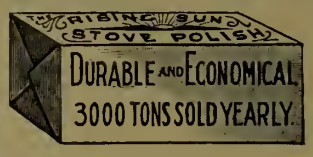
THE Profit and Loss account is and naturally should be the most essential and carefully watched account on a merchant's books, says The Tradesman. The careful merchant will keep separate accounts for both profits and losses. It is only in this way that the careful man may trace results showing what constitutes the excessive losses which will naturally develop and likewise determine definitely if the profit channels are as highly cultivated as circumstances warrant.

While the ultimate results of both profits and losses are merged in actual operation, yet each should be separately considered and the writer would call special attention in this article to ways and means for fostering and encouraging the substantial inflation of the profit account.

The first step toward a satisfactory adjustment of the profit account is to know what percentage to add to the cost and then to have the courage and backbone to sell the goods at the proper price. The knowledge as to the correct percentage to be added to the cost of the goods and whether or not the percentage snould be based on factory cost or the cost f. o. b. the merchant's city depot, is only obtained by experience, either of the merchant himself or of a brother merchant with whom he may exchange ideas.

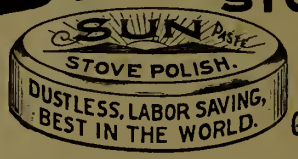
A careful consideration of the freight cost of goods from factory to merchant will convince the most sceptical that under no consideration should the freight be constituted a part of the cost of doing business, or in other words, be termed an expensive item. Expense can only be construed as cost of operating a business. Freight is certainly not an element in the cost of conducting a business, therefore it cannot be justly called an expense item. It is just as reasonable to charge the actual factory cost of goods to the expense account as it is to charge the freight to the expense account. As additional evidence of this argument many factories sell goods delivered or allow so much per hundred pounds freight allowance. It is good business policy for a merchant to deduct from the invoice cost of the goods purchased on a delivered basis the estimated freight charge and charge the same to the expense account, and run the balance to merchandise account. Frankly, there is just as much equity and philosophy in adopting this policy as in charging the freight to the expense account instead of including same in the invoice cost and running all to the merchandise account.

In taking stock, or in adjusting fire insurance losses, the freight should always be considered as a part of the invoice cost. Every invoice should be carefully preserved and the actual amount of the freight charges should be placed in each invoice. In this way freight over-charges may be more carefully watched and many dollars saved. It is to be presumed that all merchants use great precautions in checking up their invoices covering goods purchased. The prices should be carefully compared with previous prices or quotations, the extensions and additions should be scanned and any errors promptly reported. So also should the freight items be closely scrutinized. The merchant should insist that bills of lading accompany all invoices and that both the rates and weights be inserted. These bills of lading must be carefully filed and compared with the freight bills when the goods arrive. It is just as necessary to make these comparisons and have any mistakes corrected as to ask the factories to correct errors, in either prices or extensions.



Granting that the arguments that have been advanced are correct and that the item of freight should be considered a part of the invoice cost of goods rather than a part of the cost of doing business, more generally called expense, the next step is to arrive at the proper percentage which should be added to the delivered cost of goods in order that the same may yield a remunerative profit in excess of the expense account, or in other words, the cost of doing business.

The first question that will naturally arise is, what is the aggregate cost of doing business, and what is the ratio between this expense and the volume of business during any certain period? Take for instance, one year's records. A merchant does a gross annual business of $100,000. His total expense is $15,000—this consisting of all the expense or cost of handling the $100,000 annual business. This includes salaries of both employes and employers, traveling expenses of salesmen, postage, insurance, printing, advertising, rent of store and warehouses, legal rate of interest on borrowed money and capital invested, depreciation on such assets which decrease in value by reason of usage, drayage, boxing and such items.



Many merchants, especially unincorporated concerns, do not pay themselves salaries. In other words they work gratuitously, charging nothing for their services. Is this right? While it is of course true that they draw money as they need it, yet it is not charged up as an expense, in other words they are drawing on their profits. This plan has a tendency to place one's business upon a wrong basis. The houses who are following this practice imagine that their percentage of cost of doing business is so very low that they can add a small percentage of profit to their goods and yet successfully compete with their fellow merchants, yet at the end of the year they are sorely puzzled and surprised at the very small amount of their net profits. This policy has even more serious effect on the merchant's competitors. They hear of the close prices which their inexperienced or misguided competitors are making and, without perhaps counting the cost, they go around and solicit business at the same meagre margin of profit. They appreciate all the items going to make up the cost of doing business and in consequence they know the actual amount of operating expenses and are in position to determine accurately when they are falling behind and in what channels. While they may be losing money on some lines, yet on others they are realizing large profits and the aggregate results, while not entirely satisfactory, yet are not unexpected.

Again, merchants who own their own stores and warehouses do not charge up to expense account just and reasonable rent for the same. They should realize the fact that the property represents so much capital invested and that as such it should yield an interest in comparison to its worth. Merchandising at best pays very inadequately and if no consideration is taken in the expense account of proper compensation for the use of the property it's dollars to doughnuts that the merchant's net profit account at the end of the year will not afford any kind of a show when considering additional profits in return for the use of the property in question.

Another disturbing element is the practice of still other merchants in not charging up to the expense account interest on borrowed money and also legal rate of interest on capital invested. This plan is just as dangerous as those of not paying one' self a reasonable salary each month for services rendered or in charging up to the expense account rent on store property owned by partners, singly or together.

As has been shown, the merchant who does not charge to his expense account all the items of expense above mentioned is building his expectations on a sand foundation. The waves in the form of actual expense not provided for will beat upon the foundation, the sand will crumble and slip away and the house will fall. Not only will the merchant in question suffer, but those with whom he comes in competition will, to a very great extent, reap the damage and perhaps disaster.

Ignorance is the merchant's most serious danger. Few business men will rush blindly into conditions which they know to be hazardous. Knowledge is power—more to be desired in mercantile pursuits than possibly in any other profession. Statistics show that 90 per cent. of the business men fail at some period in their career. Failures in other professions are in a very much smaller proportion. The question arises, why is this so? What circumstances bring about such results? One word will tell the story. It is Knowledge. To enter a profession it is customary, and in fact often necessary, to study for years and to be compelled to stand examinations and in this way demonstrate one's ability and knowledge before he is permitted to actually enter a profession. Unfortunately, how different it is in mercantile pursuits. A man with a few dollars, of good standing and fair credit, will enter business with which he is entirely unfamiliar. He is, of course, compelled to learn by his own or others' experience. It may not be possible for him to be guided by the experience of others or he may be too bull-headed to profit by the experience of others, consequently the chances are ture will result disastrously, the natural that, nine to one, that his business venconsequence of not providing a sufficient margin of profit to cover the expense of conducting the business and leave a balance adequate to accumulate a surplus or at least provide for a reasonable amount from the capital invested and the time and attention devoted to the business.

One of the most serious obstacles confronting the merchant in his efforts to secure a remunerative profit is the fear of competition. Imaginary cutting and demoralization is often the cause of more trouble and loss of profit than real honest competition. A merchant will shut his eyes and blindly follow unrestrained competition, regardless of results. He considers prestige or the ability to meet cut prices of greater value than the stability and permanency of his house. He would rather have the pleasure of meeting cut price with a counter cut, even at actual loss, than pass the business, when otherwise he could devote his time to introducing new goods and cultivating new customers, both of which would yield very profitable returns.

The parting of the way is ever before the business man. One way leads to success and wealth; the other to ultimate failure. One way stipulates the absolute maintenance of profit bearing prices, the other leads to merchandizing at remunerative selling prices—either through ignorance or in a futile attempt to sell at prices resulting through actual conditions in some instances, but more often caused by misrepresented and untrue reports. Experience has clearly demonstrated the fact that a merchant can do business upon a profitable basis even though his competition is demoralizing the market. Local conditions must be taken into consideration, personal influence should be brought to bear upon those whose patronage is desired. Up-to-date business methods must be adopted and other methods too numerous to mention can be utilized which will prove effective.

The percentage of profit which should be added to the delivered cost of goods varies, both on different lines as well as in different localities. The goods which are termed staples and which are sold very extensively, naturally should be sold on a somewhat smaller margin than other lines which are not sold so extensively and which by virtue of their manufacture and purposes, should yield a higher percentage of profit. Sixteen and two-thirds per cent. profit added to the delivered cost of goods, is as small a profit as should be permitted on staple goods. On other lines the percentage should, of course, vary from 20 per cent. to 66 2-3 per cent. Some articles will very well bear 100 per cent. profit.

Mr. Merchant, you must realize once for all that if you expect to make your business a successful and prosperous one you must sow such seed as will bear the proper fruit. Meagre profits will bring forth an unprofitable and certainly an unsatisfactory business. Good healthy profits will place your business in a prosperous and successful condition You are the one to determine which policy you will pursue. You know full well the conditions of both propositions. Exercise good business judgment and take a firm and decisive stand for good healthy profits or no business. Experience will demonstrate the wisdom of such a course.

FRESH AND CURED FISH

Wealth of Canada's Fisheries.

ACCORDING to the annual report of the Fisheries Department, presented this week, the value of the fisheries of Canada in 1903 was $23,101,878, an increase of $1,142,445 over the previous year. Twenty-two hatcheries produced 473,000,000 fry, which were planted in marine and fresh water areas of Canada.

Referring to the dogfish pest, the report says that a large building is being erected at Canso as the first of these Government-aided reduction works, and the plant manufactured by the American Process Company. The utilization of dogfish and fish offal will be carried out next season.

Two other plants have been obtained by the Government, and reduction works will be erected this year at some point north of Canso and at some point in western Nova Scotia.

The use of dogfish as food has long been recognized in Norway, the Channel Islands and in the Hebrides and northern islands of Scotland; and, indeed, in Aberdeen, dogfish prepared in various more or less appetizing ways have found a ready market, and some such scheme is being tried by several parties in the Maritime Provinces. Recently three or four enterprising lobster packers in Prince County, Prince Edward Island, Cape Breton, and Richmond Counties, C. B., and in Shelburne and Digby Counties, western Nova Scotia, have most successfully put up canned dogfish, which have been pronounced in that preserved form as "superior to salmon."

High Price of Cod.

ACCORDING to The Halifax Chronicle codfish is so scarce as to be bringing higher prices than it has for a generation, best quality now commanding $7 a quintal. The prospect of high rates being maintained is strengthened by the first returns of the Norwegian fishery, which opened with February and up to date has been a total failure, its aggregate only touching that of the worst previous year in modern times—1903. Last season's catch with them was by no means an average, though much above the previous one, while if this year's does not improve it will be a fair assertion that the three seasons represent as disastrous a period for the Norse fishermen as the past three have been for the French of St. Pierre.

The Norwegians chiefly compete with Canada in producing cod liver oil, and in 1903, when their oil was short, we realized about $300,000 in the enhanced sales and prices this ensured for us. Already the far-seeing speculate on like results this season if the existing outlook in Norway fails to improve, but of course it is idle to forecast what may ensue in the meantime. Certain it is of St. Lawrence, that the world's markets are being swept so bare of fish of late, that an extra catch will need to be made this season if there is to be a glut. Unfortunately, western shore fishermen, who fish the Winter through with long lines on the ledges of the Burgeo coast, are having very poor fortune, their catch being almost nil owing to the presence of the immense fields of ice forced out through the Gulf and along that coast, and they are thus unable to profit by the splendid prices as fully as they otherwise could. The advance guard of the Yankee cod-fishing fleet, already on the same coast, has had similar ill-fortune, and no better is expected until a succession of westerly breezes disperses the ice-pack over the Banks and the ocean beyond, enabling the fish to resort to their accustomed haunts and the fishermen to ply their vocation with a fair prospect of securing at least a fair return for their very arduous labors.

Small Salmon Pack for 1905.

DESPITE the fact that the salmon-fishing season of 1905 will be what is known as the "big year," canners on the Fraser River are preparing to put up only 750,000 cases of sockeyes, whereas in 1901, the last "big year," their preparations were for 1,250,000 cases.

In 1901 the actual pack on the Fraser River was 990,252 cases. Had not the spawning of sockeyes been restricted in 1901, the pack of the present year might with reason have been expected to be as large as that of 1901. Canners, however, state that in 1901 the Quesnel dam effectually barred the progress of the fish to the spawning-grounds beyond, and, therefore, what fish come to the Fraser this year will be those spawned below Quesnel. This dam is blamed by the canners as being responsible in great measure for the poor runs of sockeyes in recent years. It is held that three bad years of fishing, 1902, 1903, 1904, correspond with the three years the dam was closed subsequent to 1897.

Thirty-seven canneries will be operated on the Fraser River and English Bay during the coming season, opening July 10. The canneries which will pack are the Albion, Atlas, Anglo-American, Acme, Britannia, Brunswick, Beaver, British-American, British Columbia Packing Company, Boutilier's, Canadian Pacific, Currie's, Celtic, Canoe Pass, Cleeve, Dease Island, Dinsmore Island, Ewen's, English Bay, Federation, Fraser River, Gulf of Georgia, Great Northern, Industrial, Imperial, Phoenix, Pacific Coast, Richmond, Scottish Canadian, St. Mungo, Star, Terra Nova, Vancouver, Wadhams, Westminster Packing Company, Eagle Harbor and Buttimer & Dawson's.

Canadian Salmon in France.

According to a recent cable from France enormous quantities of salmon spawn from Canada and the United States are to be imported by the French Fish Commissioners. Twenty thousand dollars have ben expended annually in stocking the rivers of France with salmon and trout spawn obtained in Scotland and the United States, and the revival of salmon in France seems now an assured fact. Only last year the salmon supply was so deficient that eight million pounds were purchased in Great Britain alone at an average price of 50 cents a pound. To-day there is such a large quantity of native French salmon on the Paris market that the retail price for the best prime cuts is only sixty cents a pound—a price ten per cent. lower than has been known there for a quarter of a century.

Promising Market.

In his latest report to the Department of Trade and Commerce, J. S. Larke, Canadian Commercial Agent to Australasia, writes that the number of British Columbia fish firms, other than salmon concerns, who are doing business in Australia, is increasing. An improvement is also noticed in the condition of the product, giving good hope of success in securing a good market.

Lobsters Scarce.

Lobsters are unusually scarce on the St. John market at the present time, being offered for sale in only two or three stores in limited quantities. Years ago they were plentiful, but owing to inadequate protection the fisheries have become depleted. The few lobsters that are caught are sent immediately to the States where they command much higher prices than in St. John.

New Firm.

The Gulf Whaling Co., Montreal, with share capital of $295,000, have been incorporated to carry on a general whaling, sealing and fishing business in the Gulf and River St. Lawrence. Provisional directors, P. Galibert, T. Gauthier and R. Prefontaine, of Montreal; N. C. Smillie and B. Sawyer, of Westmount.

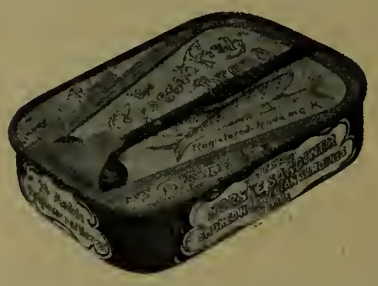
Fish Gossip.

A special B. C. fishery exhibit is being planned for the New Westminster Fair this fall.

R. L. Wambolt's new fish market at Dartmouth, N. S., has been completed and is now open for business.

The Legislature of Newfoundland now in session will consider, among other measures, regulations for policing the French shore fisheries.

The Dominion Government have purchased seven Nordenfeldt quick-firing guns which will be used for the protection of the fisheries on the coast of British Columbia.



Poacher Island, Refuge Bay, one of the best fishing stations in B. C., has been purchased by J. Dorsey. The property is to be turned over to an American firm which will develop the halibut fisheries in that section.

According to latest advices from St. John the price of oysters in the Maritime Provinces will be exceptionally high during the coming season. The principal reason assigned is the continuous depletion of the beds in winter time.

A large syndicate to control the lobster output of New England is in process of formation. Already several of the largest dealers in Boston have signed an agreement to sell to the trust. It will in all probability reach Canada.

The British Pacific Fishing and Canning Co., which has been incorporated to exploit the fisheries of northern British Columbia; will salt and smoke halibut for the Eastern Canadian and United States markets, and ship second grade fish to the Orient in large quantities.

It is authoritatively stated that the Dominion Government have spect no less than $13,807 in Canso during the last year in connection with the introduction of Scotch herring curing methods, and that as a result the superiority of these methods has been established, higher prices secured in old markets, and new markets opened up.

Canadian Bacon Trade.

OWING to the exceedingly bad state of the country roads this week, deliveries of live hogs have fallen off and the packing houses are experiencing difficulty in getting sufficient supplies to keep them going. Live hogs have firmed during the week, and at the close are quoted at from $6.25 to $6.50, the former price being for stock off the cars, the latter for watered and fed stock. On the whole, it cannot be considered that the shrinkage in receipts is remarkable for this season of the year, although it is hinted that a large number of farmers have been operating on a smaller scale of hog production since last season on account of the unsatisfactory conditions of the bacon market at that time.

This falling off in receipts both in Canada and Denmark has had the effect of firming not only the local market, but that in Great Britain, and packers, in view of the uncertainty of the future, are said to be speculating to a considerable extent. English quotations this week range all the way from 47 to 53 shillings, and both local and export trade are reported as quiet.

Britain's Egg Supply.

As usual, Russia was the largest contributor to Great Britain in 1904 of eggs—35 per cent. of the entire import—and Denmark, with its 18 per cent., was next, the United States furnishing 6 per cent. In the poultry list, the United States stands fourth, with a value of $1,069,593 out of a total of $5,299,833 —Russia leading with $1,672,913, and Belgium and France coming next. It is estimated that the total consumption of eggs and poultry in the United Kingdom for 1904 amounted to $88,000,000, the home supply being $57,000,000.

Produce Section Meets.

A meeting of the executive of the Produce Section of the Toronto Board of Trade to discuss the transportation problem in relation to the various express and railway companies, was held on Tuesday, Mar. 21, and plans formulated for the more complete organization of the produce and commission men of Toronto. The object of these meetings is to secure concerted action on the part of the trade in everything tending to the consolidation of the Toronto wholesale produce and commission business. Among those present were Mr. McLean, of the J. A. McLean Produce Co.; Mr. J. T. Madden, of the Wm. Ryan Co.; Mr. Smith, of Smith & Carmichael; Mr. Marshall, of Rutherford, Marshall & Co., and Mr. Willard, of Willard & Co. For the benefit of the trade, The Grocer will report these meetings regularly.

New Zealand Butter in Canada.

The first consignment of New Zealand butter ever imported into Canada reached Montreal last week. The shipment consisted of about 12,000 lbs., and was the result of the recent scarcity of Canadian butter, caused by too heavy shipments to Great Britain. The quality of the New Zealand article is pronounced excellent, equal to the best Canadian and resembling somewhat June creamery butter. It is milder than domestic butter and preserves its flavor well. The box packages are about equal in quality to the Canadian, but the parchment wrappers are thicker and much superior in quality to those used by Canadian shippers. In this matter of wrappers, Canadian butter-makers have something to learn from New Zealand.

Canada Can Increase Bacon Trade.

The Superintendent of Canadian Commercial Agencies has obtained special reports from agents in the United Kingdom upon the means by which Canada can still further increase her sales of butter and bacon in the British market. Last year's returns show that we sold $9,000,000 worth of bacon to the Motherland, as against $22,000,000 worth that came from Denmark. The British imports of butter in the same period amounted to $5,000,000 from Canada, as against $43,000,000 from Denmark. The reports contain many suggestions as to how our business in both these lines can be largely increased.

New German Tariff.

THE recent action of the German Reichstag, in ratifying the new commercial treaties with Russia, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Roumania and Servia completes the work of preparation of a new German tariff on which the government of the Empire has been engaged since 1897. The new tariff will go into effect some time between Jan. 1 and July 1, 1906, and will remain in force at least until the end of the year 1917. It has been framed with the avowed purpose of furnishing greater protection to the agricultural interests of the Empire. Hence the duties on grain, meats and other agricultural products have been greatly advanced, in some cases as high as 100 per cent., and in a few instances even higher. The duties on manufactured goods are substantially unchanged, while a few rates have been advanced, such as shoes, certain kinds of machinery, motors and vehicles, etc. There have been made, on the other hand, a number of reductions wherever it was deemed best in the interests of German manufacturers or exporters.

In some lines that will affect the United States and Canada the increase is enormous, for instance, the old rate on wheat, which was marks 3.50 per 100 kilograms, is now changed to marks 7.50; the duty on corn is raised from 1.60 to 5; on rye from 3.50 to 7; flour, 7.30 to 18.75; lard, 10 to 12.50; beef, fresh or frozen, 15 to 45; beef, simply prepared, 17 to 60; apples, dried, 4 to 10; prunes, dried, 4 to 10; hides, 18 to 30; shoes, from 50 to 180 in certain sizes; woods, sawn, 80 to 1.25. When it is remembered that the exports of wheat from the United States to Germany increased between 1894 and 1904 by 400 per cent.; corn, 36; rye, 150; flour, 69; lard, 75; beef, 25; fruits, 3,500; hides, 29; leather and shoes, 300; and wood 80 per cent., and that the total exports in 1904 of these goods exceeded $42,000,000, it will be seen what a blow Germany has tried to strike at the United States.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

Provisions—Local trade in provisions has been quiet during the week, with prices holding very firm and tending higher on account of the firmness of the hog situation. Live hogs have jumped to from $6.25 to $6.50 during the week, and it is reported that the packing houses cannot get enough to keep them going. This is largely on account of the bad state of the country roads, which makes it difficult for farmers to deliver hogs. Lard has advanced in sympathy, and may reach 10 cents: the consumer is bound to use lard more extensively on account of the high price of butter. Roll bacon is 1-2c. higher than last week, and shoulder hams 1-2c., and short cut pork has advanced to $19. We quote the following prices:

Long clear bacon, per lb		$0 09
Smoked breakfast bacon, per lb	$0 13	0 13½
Roll bacon, per lb		0 10
Small hams per lb	0 13	0 13½

Cheese—An active inquiry is reported this week both from the local wholesale and retail trade on account of supplies being very low. The cheese factories will probably not begin their season's operations for several weeks yet on account of the break-up of the country roads, which makes the delivery of milk to the factories a serious problem. Additional firmness is reported in the British market, quotations being stiff at 56s. to 57s. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11½
" twins	0 12

Butter—The butter situation shows some signs of improvement, although there has been practically no change in quotations for the week. Receipts continue about equal to the demand, which is brisk for good stuff. Creamery solids are a scarce article on the market. We quote the following:

	Per lb.
Creamery prints	0 26	0 27
" solids, fresh	0 25	0 26
Dairy prints	0 23	0 24

Montreal.

Provisions—Business in provisions has been only fair during the week. During the Lenten season trade is generally on the weaker side. The tone of the market, however, is firm, and the recent advances are maintained. Trade in hams and bacon is slow. Dressed hogs continue firm, and small supplies keep prices up. Fresh-killed abattoir stock holds from $9.00 to $9.25, and country dressed $8.25 to $8.75 per 100 lbs.:

Canadian short cut mess pork	$18 00	$19 00

Eggs—Eggs are receding in price daily. Receipts are beginning to increase: held stocks are pretty well cleaned up, and but few limed are on hand. Fresh arrivals selling at 20c. in jobbing way, and 21c. small quantities. Storage eggs 18c. to 19c.:

Selected Fall fresh	0 19	0 21
Montreal limed	0 17	0 18
Strictly fresh	0 20	0 21

Butter—Owing to increased receipts during the week butter is easier. The demand is only fair. Some 300 packages of Australian creamery received on the market last week showed up fine in quality and sold at from 28c. to 29c. Some Winter-made Canadian creamery changed hands at 26c. to 27c., though lower figures are mentioned as having been accepted. Trade is light:

Finest creamery	0 25	0 27

Medium	0 22	0 23
Fine western dairy	0 22	0 24
Fair to good western	0 20	0 22
Undergrades	0 18	0 20

Cheese—A somewhat better feeling exists in cheese cable advices from Liverpool, which showed an advance being responsible. Local trade, however, is very quiet, and only fair demand. Spot supplies are light, and are being cleaned up at 11 3-8c. to 11 1-2c.

St. John.

Provisions—Barrelled pork is quoted rather higher, but there is little business doing. In beef there is little change: this line is also very dull. Pure lard is firm at rather higher prices. It it not freely offered. Fair stocks held here. Refined lard unchanged. Smoked meats are rather higher. A steady sale. Fresh beef is freely offered. Prices unchanged. Veal is more plentiful, and prices rather lower. It is too early for lamb. Mutton continues very dull. Pork is scarce and higher:

Provisions—The produce and provision markets, which two weeks ago were pinched for supplies, are now in better shape, but some articles remain abnormally high. Eggs are coming in more freely, and the price has declined, but not to the figure usual at this season. Butter is following the same course. Pork is quoted at 7 1-2c. to 8c.; mutton is plentiful at 6c. to 7c.; fowls are scarce at 15c.; and turkeys almost unprocurable at 20c. to 22c.

J. Childerhose & Son are embarking in the butter manufacturing business in Eganville, Ont.

The Lambton Creamery of Petrolia, which was established by W. English and J. E. Armstrong, is being converted into a joint stock company. The new concern will widen its operations as a creamery and also engage in the produce business.

BOX PACKAGES FOR APPLES.

THE bill now before the House of Commons, Ottawa, which provides a uniform box package for apples for the export trade, will, if it becomes law, be perhaps the greatest innovation in the history of the Canadian fruit growing industry up to the present time, in addition to having a far-reaching influence on the Canadian export trade.

In the autumn of 1904 we interviewed Mr. A. McNeill, chief of the Fruit Division, who spared no pains in impressing us with the superiority of the box package for fancy fruit. According to Mr. McNeill there could be little doubt about the barrel being the more desirable package for about 80 per cent. of Canadian apples. At the same time, a barrel of Canadian apples seldom reached Great Britain in perfect condition, and everyone knew that there were certain varieties of apples which simply could not be shipped in barrels without spoiling. To the Englishman who wanted a fancy apple for table use, price was no object and a bruised apple not to be thought of. For this trade the box package was necessary. It was entirely because Tasmanian and Californian fruit came thus packed to the English market in perfect condition that it had become so popular. The box, moreover, was about as cheap a form of package as the barrel, owing to the advance in the price of first-class barrels during the last two or three seasons. Year before last a number one quality barrel cost as high as 65 to 70c. and, although the price had since dropped to 36c, there was at the present time comparatively little difference in comparison with the cost of the regulation box.

A second argument in favor of the box was that the English trade preferred it; at the same time it had to be remembered that the English consumer was accustomed to seeing Canadian apples in barrels, and, naturally enough, was suspicious when he happened upon a box package labelled "Canadian apples."

Mr. McNeill went on to say that the Canadian buyer and wholesale dealer, as well as the broker, the wholesaler and the retailer in Great Britain, favored the barrel simply because less labor and expense were involved in handling. The solution of the whole matter lay in the education of the English consumer to the superior value of fancy Canadian apples packed in boxes. Some of the authorities in Ottawa go even further than Mr. McNeill and emphasize the superiority of the box package, from the standpoint of cheapness in handling, convenience of size, and uniformity of packing.

Fruit men although interested in the proposed legislation are by no means united in supporting or opposing the bill. Some firms who are accustomed to the barrel package and know with what distinct approval Canadian barrelled apples have met in foreign markets, are inclined to doubt whether any benefit can accrue to the Canadian fruit trade, at the same time contending that the barrel will always be the more popular package. Others are inclined to view Mr. Fisher's bill with favor; they recall the Fruit Marks Act, which was viewed suspiciously by the Canadian fruit trade before it became law, and has since proved to be in their best interests. The big question is whether the box package will mean bigger profits for the shipper in Canada, and even those who are opposed to the new bill on general principles admit that this cannot be answered until the box package comes into general use.

ENGLISH CAPITAL TO BE INVESTED.

THE assurance given by D. M. Stewart, general manager of the Sovereign Bank, in London, during the past week that British capitalists were looking to Canada for investments, but confirms what has already been felt in this country. After holding back for many years, they are beginning to feel a confidence that never before existed. This is begotten only after a rigid examination into existing circumstanees. It is being recognized, slowly perhaps, but nevertheless surely, that the virgin possibilities for invested capital are unrivaled. The building of railways, the development of water-power, the operating of mines and timber limits, the establishments of manufactories and the opening up of new country offer for the conservative investor in Britain a wide range and the brightest prospects. While this movement was bound to come sooner or later, the fact that it has received an impetus recently tends to strengthen the present bond of union between this and the Motherland. Speaking of the matter, Mr. Stewart said: "Anything that will tend to strengthen that connection must be to our interest as Canadians. I have had any number of inquiries from financial houses and private capitalists regarding Canadian investments, and there will undoubtedly be a large influx of English capital this year. I was able conscientiously to recommend Canada as a safe and remunerative field for investments; but, of course, I pointed out that in such a big country there are apt to be a few "gold bricks" lying about, and investors should take proper precaution to avoid them. On the other hand, it is the duty of Canadians to facilitate investigation, and do everything they can to put the capitalists of Great Britain in touch with only really good and meritorious propositions. That is the best way to make Canada favorably known in the financial world. In the same way we cannot be too careful about the quality of the goods we export to the British consumer. We have a reputation still to make as well as to sustain, and this can best be done by sending out goods that are exactly according to representation. It behooves all Canadians, in their own best interests, to see that the interests of the British importers and capitalists are alike properly safeguarded."

SHOULD DUMPING CLAUSE APPLY?

THE question has been raised in trade circles during the past few weeks, whether or not candied peel should be on the list of manufactured articles subject to special duty according to the dumping clause of the Canadian customs regulations. Quite recently, the article was placed on the black list, and subsequently there has been a stream of protests from all parts of the country.

The intention of those who framed the dumping clause was, in the first place, to protect home industries against the flooding of the Canadian market with foreign stuff. In the case of candied peel, however, none has been manufactured in Canada for the last year, and it is claimed by importers on whom the burden of the extra duty falls, that they ought not to be taxed beyond the regular import duty. Why the Government authorities have seen fit to discriminate against candied peel is not just clear. Maybe their idea is to foster an industry which was once carried on to a considerable extent in London, Toronto and Montreal. At any rate, a large share of the Canadian trade are inclined to look upon the application of the dumping clause to candied peel as unwarranted.

SHOULD STUDY THE FACTS.

ONCE again Canada has been placed in a false position, owing to the lamentable ignorance of British citizens in regard to colonial affairs. A recent reference of Sir Howard Vincent in the Parliament of Great Britain to the falling off during 1904 of wheat importations from Canada, namely 4,606,327 cwts., and at the same time a corresponding increase from the Argentine Republic, was the occasion for an outburst of laughter on the part of the Opposition, who can see no good in a preferential policy.

Such sentiment is all right in its place, but we would like to suggest that the honorable gentlemen look into the facts of the case before asserting themselves in this unmistakable fashion. The shrinkage in the volume of wheat exported by Canada to Great Britain in 1904 was due entirely to local conditions and not to preferential treatment. Ontario's wheat crop last year was one of the smallest ever known; this, coupled with a similar shortage in the United States and only a fair crop in the Great West, resulted in the domestic price of wheat being boosted away above an export basis, both in Canada and the United States.

SUBMARINE TUNNEL TO P.E.I.

ONE of the subjects up for discussion during the week on Parliament Hill was the necessity of taking immediate steps to improve transportation facilities between Prince Edward Island and the mainland of New Brunswick. At the present time the only means of communication with the island province is a ferry, and this, during the Winter season, is often blocked for weeks at a stretch. For instance, there are to-day no less than forty cars of produce and merchandise lying in store at Pictou, with no boat to carry it to Prince Edward Island.

It is difficult to overestimate the damage such delay has caused, and will continue to cause, to trade in the island, and we are glad to see that, in consideration of its business interests, the Dominion Government has again taken up the question of building a tunnel under the Straits of Northumberland as a solution to the difficulty. The move, even if it accomplishes anything, which it is to be devoutly hoped will be the case, can scarcely be considered gratuitous on the part of Canadian politicians and statesmen, since it was part of a promise to Prince Edward Island at the time of Confederation, and is clearly within the provincial rights.

NATIONALIZING THE TELEPHONE.

CANADIAN business men incline to the opinion that Sir William Mulock's speech on Monday, Mar. 20, advocating public ownership of the Canadian telephone service, is one of the most important ever delivered in the Dominion Parliament. The reason is because the scheme proposed promises to revolutionize living conditions throughout Canada, especially in small communities and in country districts. The plans have not yet been worked out in detail, but in a general way, Sir William Mulock's idea is that the State should own and control the main system, or long-distance telephone line, and municipalities the local services and feeding lines, thus overcoming the difficulty on the part of the Government in establishing local services, collecting rates, making repairs, etc.; and at the same time dividing the cost of local telephone service among telephone users, who, in turn, will be taxed by the municipal authorities.

It goes without saying that the possibility of having general telephone communication will be warmly received by citizens in rural communities, where the need of quick communication between farm and farm and market centre, is growing as the country becomes more thickly settled. This, it is claimed, can be satisfactorily accomplished by a system of automatic telephones, whereby a dozen or so subscribers may be served without the intervention of an exchange.

Although we have not always been in accord with the Postmaster-General, his proposal of a public telephone service cannot help meeting with the hearty approval of every sensible Canadian business man. The difficulty of municipal ownership and control of the long-distance lines seems to be in a fair way towards solution, and there can be no doubt as to the indirect effect such a scheme will have when worked out in developing the resources of the country.

TEA FROM FRENCH TONQUIN.

MR. E. D. MARCEAU, the well-known Montreal tea merchant, some time in February received through the offices of the Bank of Hochelaga, samples of green and black teas grown in the district of Annam, in French Tonquin. Mr. Marceau was asked to pass his opinion upon these teas and to judge of their desirability for the Canadian trade. He made careful drawings and comparisons with teas now used here, and submitted a report to the Compagnie des Thes de l'Annam at Marseilles, France, where the head offices of the company are located.

Interviewed by The Grocer on the subject, Mr. Marceau said:

"I might say that these teas, especially the blacks, are unsuited to our market; they are mostly imitations of Java teas in the liquor, thick coarse teas. In appearance they are a good deal like the black Foochow Chinas, but entirely different in the cup. As regards the greens, there are a couple of lines which are something like the Twankay Chinas of some years ago, but a little greener in leaf, which could be used, but I have no doubt that on account of their price, especially this year, it would be impossible to handle them. The cost of production is also very high. The other samples of greens, outside of the few special lines just mentioned, are entirely unsuitable for our market, the liquor being dark and bitter. A strong reason why I think them undesirable is that we are doing away with all China black teas, replacing these with Ceylon and Indian blacks, while as regards the class of green samples shown, I doubt if they would pass our Customs."

IMPORTANT FLOUR-MILLING DEAL.

MR. DAVID RUSSELL and his associates have retired from the Lake of the Woods Milling Company.

An underwriting syndicate, composed of several financial men in the West and East, has taken over shares to the value of $1,800,000 from Mr. Russell and his friends, part preferred stock and part common.

It is authoritatively stated that Mr. Robt. Meighen, the president of the company, Mr. Robert Reford, a director, and Mr. James Crathern and others engineered the deal, while the western gentlemen were headed by Hon. Senator Geo. A. Cox.

Mr. David Russell and four other directors, it is said, have resigned from the company, four remaining, the latter being Mr. Robt. Meighen, president; Mr. Thomas Fyshe, vice-president; Hon. Robert Mackay and Mr. Robert Reford.

These gentlemen will, of course, continue to stay on the board, while five new directors will shortly be elected to fill the vacancies. Mr. James Crathern and Mr. F. H. Mathewson, of the Bank of Commerce, will be two of the five, and the others will be announced later.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. John W. Cowan, of the Cowan Co., Toronto, was a visitor to Montreal last week.

Mr. L. C. Van Beaver, representing The Wm. Davies Co., Toronto, was in Montreal last week.

Mr. Thos. Owen, of the Bloomfield Packing Co., Bloomfield, Ont., was in Montreal during the week.

W. H. Millman & Sons, 27 Front street East, Toronto, have been appointed agents for Witch Hazel Toilet Soap, manufactured by Royal Crown Soap Co., of Winnipeg.

Mr. W. Sonne, representing Lamont, Corliss & Co., agents for Peters' Chocolates, is at present in British Columbia. He reports doing a fine trade, and that sales of Peters' Chocolates are working up rapidly in the Far West.

G. F. Sutton, Sons & Co., Osborne Works, Brandon Road, King's Cross N., London, England, have appointed Galloway & Parnell, of Fairfield Block, Vancouver, as their special agent for British Columbia, and they now hold a full range of samples in their showrooms.

Mr. Geo. H. Macfarlane, assistant general manager of E. W. Gillett Co., Toronto, left on Saturday for Winnipeg, Edmonton, Vancouver and Victoria. His business is of a special nature and will probably keep him away about six weeks

Mr. John Fullerton, of Rowat & Co., Glasgow, Scotland, was a caller upon the Montreal trade this week. Mr. Fullerton leaves for Toronto and the West this week in company with Mr. Wm. Forbes, of Snowdon, Forbes & Co., Montreal representatives.

Mr. G. R. Fielders, representing Lever Bros., Toronto, in Quebec, was in Montreal during the week. Mr. Fielders' territory extends as far east as the Gaspe coast, and as he has covered this territory for some years now, he has put "Sunlight" beams along the St. Lawrence as thick as they can be planted

Mr. R. J. Sharp has been appointed agent in Montreal for The Mooney Biscuit & Candy Co., Stratford, Ont. Since taking hold of this company's goods he reports business good and prospects bright. He certainly is enthusiastic on the merits of Perfection Cream Sodas. His office is at 456 St. Paul Street, Montreal.

VINEGAR MEN MEET.

A MEETING of the vinegar trade was held in the Windsor Hotel, Montreal, on Tuesday, March 21, 1905, at which representatives were present from all the bonded vinegar factories in Canada, with one exception.

This meeting was held for the purpose of taking action in regard to the continued sale of acetic acid as vinegar, in spite of the legal prohibition of its use in that way. The matter was discussed thoroughly in all its bearings, and it was decided to memoralize the Government in regard thereto, pointing out particularly the fact that besides being illegal its use was detrimental to the health of the consumer, that sulphuric acid was used in its manufacture, and there was a possibility of some remaining in the resulting product, and that its continued use was productive of grave disorders in the constitution. It was felt that this was an opportune time to take action, as the present Minister of Inland Revenue, the Hon. L. P. Brodeur, has shown a laudable desire to protect the people by giving them pure food, and preventing the use of adulterations and substitutes of all kinds.

The bonded vinegar manufacturers have been prosecuting an active campaign against the use of acetic acid as vinegar for some years, and have met with considerable sympathy from the Department in their efforts. They have succeeded fairly well in preventing its use in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, and it is now proposed to more especially extend this campaign against its use in the Maritime Provinces, for which purpose, among others, it has been decided to request the Department to re-publish a circular which was issued by their authority two years ago drawing attention to the heavy penalty incurred by dealers selling this spurious vinegar, and to have the same mailed to every dealer in the Maritime Provinces, particular attention being drawn to a so-called "concentrated vinegar" largely sold in that territory, which from its strength could not be genuine, as no vinegar can be manufactured from spirit—the only legal way—of the strength at which this is sold.

It has also been decided, on account of the great increase in the price of cooperage stock, that it will be no longer possible to give free packages in the Maritime Provinces, but that the barrels will be charged for, as is already done in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

Toronto, Mar. 23, 1905.

THE quietness noticeable throughout the trade last week is slowly giving place to an air of general activity. Improved sales in almost all lines are noted, and travelers from the country report prospects for future business excellent, notwithstanding the break up of the country roads. Canned goods are firm, an especially good demand being noted for gallon apples and baked beans. Sugar is quiet, with the beet situation tending stronger. Syrups and molasses are moving actively, as well as teas, in which a slight advance is noted for the week. In foreign dried fruits, the most interesting feature is the scarcity and high price of evaporated apricots and peaches. Beans are higher this week than last, although it is claimed that the top notch of prices has been reached, and it is notable that the consumption has been somewhat curtailed during the last few days, on account of the high prices ruling. The egg market continues to drop from day to day, and it is thought that before long this article will find its normal level. Maple products are beginning to arrive on the market, and first-class trade is reported.

CANNED GOODS.

Sales of canned goods continue on an unusually large scale for this season of the year, tomatoes being still in active request, also corn, on which a range of prices should be quoted 5c. wider than last week, in view of the fact that some corn is being sold as low as $1.10. The tomato-growers are still firm in their pretensions, and, as a result, we already hear of one or two new canning factories which have contracted for supplies of tomatoes at 30c. per bushel. It is reported that the Canners' Combine is now inclined to pay the price stipulated for by the Vegetable Growers' Association. Thus it looks as if we are not going to be entirely without tomatoes during the season of 1905-06. Asparagus tips are scarce, some houses being entirely out of them. Baked beans are selling well on account of the firm prices of provisions.

Standard gallon apples, 3's, are beginning to move freely as are all fruits, in view of the fact that householders' supplies of canned fruits are now within very small compass.

Haddies are up 10c. per dozen and 25c. per case. The first cost of new haddies is $4, which means that higher prices are bound to rule this season. Kippered herring are also up 10c.

COFFEES.

No changes are reported in the coffee market and trade continues quiet locally. The speculative market is showing a better tone on the strength of an expected material improvement in the statistical position during the balance of the present crop year. The movement of Brazil coffee is falling to very moderate figures and the shortage in the receipts of the present crop continues at about 3,000 bags as compared with last season's crop, all of which has a tendency to revive confidence on the part of the trade in the estimate that the out turn of the present Rio and Santos crops will be between 9,750,000 and 10,000,000 bags. TEAS

Steady business in teas of all descriptions is recorded for the week under review. Following the advance of ½d. in the price of low grade and medium teas last week, another slight advance is noted in London, all of which has an indirect effect upon the local market.

Foreign Dried Fruits.

The feature of the dried fruit market this week is the high price and scarcity of evaporated apricots and peaches which are quoted at 15 to 17c. and 14 to 15c. respectively. Tapnet figs are also up ½c. and prunes 30 to 40's are scarce and ½c. higher in price. Prunes are moving well as usual at this season of the year. Latest reports from Denia say that stocks of raisins are limited and inquiries from Canada for quotations a shilling below prices at the first of the year have been refused. DRIED AND CURED FISH.

Now that the Lenten trade has been pretty well eared for by the wholesale grocer, little remains but sorting up business, of which a fair amount is recorded during the week under review. Boneless fish is quoted this week at 4 to 4½c., Codfish showing a range of prices wider by ½c. Salmon trout are slightly easier and lake herring are up in price. We quote the following prices :

EGGS.

Eggs are now coming comparatively regularly and the market has been declining from day to day throughout the week until the price of new-laid eggs is now 17 to 18c., pickled selling at 16c. and fresh Cold Storage being practically out of the market. During the last two or three days deliveries have fallen off considerably in comparison with last week when arrivals were very free. This week they are not much more than equal to the demand and the surplus is being shipped to eastern points every day to supply the trade in the Maritime Provinces where the country roads are still in an impassible condition owing to the recent heavy snow storms. We quote

BEANS.

In certain quarters it is contended that the high-water level of the bean market has at last been reached. The price of hand-picked beans ranges from $1.90 to $2 this week, while primes No. 1 are quoted at $1.75 to $1.85 and primes No. 2 at $1.60 to $1.65. On account of the very high price the consumption of beans has been checked to some extent. We quote the following prices:

MAPLE PRODUCTS.

New maple products are beginning to arrive on the market and will be much in evidence during the next few weeks. GRAIN.

The Manitoba market is up this week, an advance of 2½c. being recorded in Northern No. 1 and No. 2, as well as an advance of 1½c. in Northern No. 3. Rye has declined from 5 to 6c. The drop in Manitoba wheat is to be attributed to the fact that the recent rise was considered unwarranted and directly this article sought a normal level. We quote the following prices :

FLOUR.

The past week has been a quiet one in the flour trade and the prospects for any improvement in the near future are not promising owing to the fact that local consumers and jobbers are well stocked up and the demand of late had been principally from country buyers for car lots. Even this trade has been checked to some extent during the last few days on account of the weakness that has developed in the Canadian Spring wheat market. It is claimed that stocks of Ontario Winter wheat in millers hands are small, and this coupled with scarcity of Winter wheat and the high prices being paid, has resulted in the contention that reduction in Spring grades will have little influence on values for Winter wheat flour.

Export trade continues on a moderate scale, principally via New York. Ontario wheat patents are up 10c. and straight roller from 5 to 10c. We quote the following:

BREAKFAST FOODS.

No change in prices in breakfast foods is noted for the week and trade is inclined to show up better. The millers contend that the city trade including jobbers and large retailers is pretty well filled up with American products bought before the advance. At the same time the country trade is showing a tendency to buy, and the oatmeal market ought to be comparatively healthy from now on. It must be kept in mind, however, that we are near the end of the season. We quote the following prices:

Hides, Tallow, Skins and Wool.

Domestic trade in hides and wool is very quiet as this is between the seasons. Prices on hides advanced in Chicago during the week, and although there is no quotable change in this market, domestic prices have firmed in sympathy and buyers are holding. We quote the following:

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

Montreal March 23, 1905.

TRADE during the week has shown little change. No decided improvement is, as yet, noted. Country orders are none too large or numerous. Collections are reported as being fairly good, and the general situation of trade is rather on the good side. The tone of sugar is easier, as foreign markets, as well as New York, are weak. Locally, no change has been made in prices. The tea market is uninteresting. Latest advices, however, from Colombo indicate an advance of a farthing to ½d. on Ceylon greens. Japans have been in better demand during the week, while some enquiries have been made for China gunpowders. Molasses is reported higher at the Islands, and will cost 34c. laid down to-day for new Barbadoes. We call readers' attention to further particulars in molasses and syrup department. Coffees are firm in sympathy with strong foreign advices. In canned goods, no changes are notable, except that several cars of American tomatoes have been received here. The fish trade is very active, and the demand for some lines has exceeded the supply. In many lines, there is absolutely no stock. New smoked haddies are arriving and meeting with ready sale. The foreign fruit market shows no decided changes. The flour market, outside of the cutting that has been done at outside points, is unchanged. Buyers seem to be holding off awaiting for a drop. New maple syrup is reported on the market, but in small quantities and not sufficient to affect present prices. Provisions are much firmer. The scarcity of hogs has forced up prices from 75c. to $1 per 100 lbs. Eggs are coming down with a rush every day, prices dropping off from 1c. to 2c. under previous quotations. Some three hundred packages of Australian butter reached this market last week and were readily sold at 28c. to 29c.; quality good. Cheese is somewhat better in tone. Little trading has been done, however.

SUGAR.

Though the general tone of New York and foreign markets is weak and beet declined, there is no indication of a change in prices by local refiners. The uncertain feeling has checked trade somewhat during the week, and should a break occur in New York, which is a not unlively contingency. prices may come down any moment. Little buying is done by jobbers, and the general impression prevails that lower prices are inevitable.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Business in molasses has been quiet. Cable advices from Barbadoes give 21c as Island price, including puncheons. No heavy arrivals of new crop are expected before the middle of April, and direct cargoes not until opening of navigation. Our latest advices from primary markets are so uncertain as to present any predictions being made on the moment. We are advised that the Barbadoes crop is a great deal smaller than it was last year; in fact, some advices say that the quantity of molasses produced this year will not exceed 25,000 to 30,000 puncheons.

It is possible that this short quantity may induce some importers to buy at high prices, but the experience of those who have studied the question closely for years is, that when molasses goes over a certain point, the consumption falls away promptly. There was more molasses carried over from 1903 to 1904 after a short crop and high prices in 1903, than has been carried over from 1904 to 1905, when 1904 was a large crop and prices on a reasonable basis.

As regards Porto Rico molasses, practically the same condition of affairs exists as in Barbadoes. Owing to the absence of any reliable information as to the crop, it is difficult to judge of possibilities in these grades, but it is not unlikely that the crop will also be a short one. No new crop Porto Rico is expected on the Canadian market before the end of April. Antigua molasses is firmer and quoted at 21½c. on the Islands.

Corn syrups are in the meantime receiving good attention at the hands of the trade, and the continuance of high prices in Barbadoes, and the likelihood of further advances, has drawn more attention to these corn products.

TEA.

Trade has shown a somewhat better tone and more enquiries have been received by brokers. Bids appear to be none to readily accepted, however, by London and Colombo. Japans have received more attention, and a few good blocks of low and medium grades have been sold. Low-grade blacks continue scarce. Some enquiries have been made for China Gunpowders during the week. Ceylon and Indian greens are unchanged, and a fair amount of business coing. Activity, however, cannot be applied to any particular lines of teas.

A fairly good trade is reported by jobbers, tomatoes and corn being principal lines going out. Salmon, lobsters and canned fish also are selling well. Some more American pack tomatoes have been received, being laid down here at $1.17½ to $1.20 per doz., but Canadian pack are unchanged in prices, stocks being none too plentiful. Fish.

The demand for fish continues active, but several lines are now out af the market and will not be obtainable any more this season, in fact, with the exception of a few lines of fish, the market is pretty well cleaned up. Tom cods are plentiful and prices lower; in fact, dealers are selling at any price offered now, as the mild weather and the lateness of the season is detrimental to carrying over stock. In salt fish, there is a brisk trade, as herring and green cod are finished. Owing to the scarcity of codfish, herrings and other salt fish, there is a better demand for lake trout, which are fairly plentiful and moving freely at reasonable prices. New smoked haddies are beginning to arrive on the market, and meeting with ready sale at higher prices than offered for present held frozen stock. Skinless cod are very scarce, supplies being almost exhausted, and new stock will not be available until about July or August.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, B.C., March 15, 1905.

OF special interest at the present moment is an extended visit being paid to the Pacific Coast by F. W. Peters, of Winnipeg, assistant freight traffic manager for the western lines of the C.P.R. He arrived on Friday last, and expects to remain for at least a fortnight. Many questions respecting freight rates and transportation generally will come up for settlement while he is here. While on a regular inspection of freight offices in the West, special importance attaches to the present visit because of the taking over of the E. and N. Railway, recently purchased from the Dunsmuirs. The change in ownership of the island railway has led to a great deal of speculation as to C.P.R. plans. One of the rumors—for no report yet current can be classed as much better than rumor in the absence of official announcement—has it that the long-talked-of C.P.R. railway to the northern end of Vancouver Island is to be realized now. This is said to be in connection with changes in the trans-Pacific trade, and Quatsino or some port in the extreme north of the island is expected to become a port for ocean-going craft with rail connection via the extended E. & N. line.

Other railway matters which are current in discussion at the present time have to do with the plans of the V. W. & Y. to extend north, and with the plans of D. C. Corbin to build the Spokane International line to the boundary, where it will connect with the C.P.R. system in the Kootenay. Mr. Corbin is an old-time railway builder in the West, having built the Spokane Falls & Northern, which was the first road into the Kootenay district. He sold out eight years ago to the Great Northern, and is well able to finance a scheme such as he has announced. It would seem that Mr. Corbin is going right ahead with the construction of the new road, which will result in giving the C.P.R. access to Spokane.

The V. W. & Y. people, who represent the Great Northern, are after a land grant from the Provincial Government to enable them to build north-east into the northern interior of the province, opening up valuable agricultural and mining land, including the Cariboo district. They promise to build the first 45 miles inside of three years, and continue the extensions to Lillooet in four years, a distance of 113 miles; Quesnel, 152 miles, in five years; Fort George, 80 miles further, in six years; and Fort McLeod, 100 miles further, in seven years.

The Grand Trunk Pacific, through Mr. Morse, has presented a sort of ultimatum as the basis upon which their company will begin construction of the much-advertised line from the Pacific Coast simultaneously with commencement in the east. They ask a land grant of considerable proportions, but offer to sell it at present Government prices, and under certain conditions would return 25 per cent. of the purchase price to the provincial treasury. So far the Government has not been heard from as to railway policy, and the offer of the Grand Trunk has not really been formally made. It has been a case of sparring preliminarily on both sides. Public opinion would seem to be in favor of doing something to get action on the long-announced railway.

A railway matter which is likely to cause more trouble to the Government than all the other railway schemes combined is that of a line from the coast to the Kootenay country, via the Similkameen district. This has been practically promised in past sessions, but the Government has not yet made a move. This year, it is likely that the Great Northern will do some railway building into the Similkameen from their present terminus at Midway, in the Boundary country, without waiting for provincial aid.

That things continue to go well with the cities of the coast may be gauged from the action of the C.P.R. Land Department recently in withdrawing from the market all their unsold real estate in the City of Vancouver. Officials state that this is done for the purpose of revising prices, as there have been so many changes, all upwards, in real estate values in many parts of the city within the past few years. The C.P.R. prices have not been raised for a number of years past, though often reported.

Building continues to be active and will be likely to show a record this year fully as great as last.

Hay is not as strong in the markets now, because of extremely fine weather, making the need of heavy feeding much less. Prices are quoted from $12 to $14 per ton.

Poultry—Hens, laying, sell on the weekly market at $6.50 to $7.50 per dozen; chickens, $4.50 to $5.00; ducks, $10 to $12 per dozen; geese, $1.25 each.

Eggs are now bringing very low figures. Warm weather has stimulated the laying powers of the poultry, and prices went down to correspond. Local fresh-laid which brought anywhere from 40c. up in the market less than two months ago can now be bought at 20c. per dozen in case lots, and plenty offering. The importation of eggs against such prices at this time of the year is impossible, for East there is not yet such a supply of fresh-laid as there is here, and even in California and Oregon, whence supplies sometimes come in the early Spring, the price is such that there would be no profit in buying them to import.

Butter—Local butter is plentiful, both of dairy and creamery makes. There are to be one or two new creameries this year, and one of these is to take the field which was formely covered by the condensed milk factory at Mission. This latter plant has been closed down by the Truro people, who own it, and who operated it last year. The milk they formerly collected from the ranchers along the Fraser River will largely be secured by the new creamery of Maple Ridge district, which is being built at Port Hammond, and which will be in operation the 1st of next month.

Prices for butter, local creamery, 28c. to 32c.; local dairy, 25c. to 30c. Very small stocks of eastern creamery are now in stock.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, March 20, 1905.

THE wholesale grocery business has again settled down to normal conditions. During the last two weeks, as the railroads became open for traffic, large orders were shipped, which partially made up for the dulness of the two or three weeks during the blockade. Still, there has been a loss in trade which cannot be recovered. The worst feature is the fact that many more renewals were necessary than usual, and it may be some time before this can be remedied.

Travelers now on the road have been able to resume their regular routes, and report a fair business from all sections of the province. The outlook is good for a prosperous Spring and Summer trade.

There is no change in the molasses or sugar situation. Prices quoted here for molasses are: Choice Porto Rico, 38 to 40c.; extra choice, 40 to 42c.; Trinidad, 38 to 40c.; Barbadoes, 28 to 30c. (30-day prices). Porto Rico, since the Spanish-American war, is hard to get, and reports come from there recently that the Molasses Trust of the United States is endeavoring to buy up all the season's crop. In Barbadoes, the situation is firm, at about 21c. Lately 2,500 puncheons were purchased by Newfoundland firms, who had vessels waiting return cargoes.

Flour is still firm, but the late decline in wheat will probably tend to a decline in the manufactured article. Corn has lately advanced 3c., and cornmeal has a tendency upward, which will probably amount to 10c. a barrel. Rolled oats are firm, with the late advance of 35c. Feeds are all firm, on account of the shortage in hay. Hay now ranges from $14 to $15, and a great scarcity still prevails in many sections. In Prince Edward Island the shortage is extreme, although 40 cars for the Island have been stalled at Pictou for about seven weeks—there having been no boat connection during that time.

The steamer "St. John City," which sailed last week from London, took 14,000 barrels of apples, and the "Montrose" 4,185 barrels. There is still considerable fruit in the Annapolis Valley to be shipped R.C.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

Office of The Canadian Grocer,
St. John, N.B., March 22, 1905.

BUSINESS while rather better is still quiet. Through the country in particular roads are very bad; this on top of the long snow blockade is really a serious matter. Not only are sales light, but many drafts come back unpaid. Fish continues to be the high feature of the market; it has been a record season, particularly in dry codfish. Oatmeal is another line that is much above the average in price. Cream of tartar is reported hardly as firm, but local prices are unchanged. In spices, cloves are rather lower. Nutmegs, which have ruled so low, show signs of a change to higher figures. Hops are very firm; fair sales, and the trade are getting accustomed to the high prices. The weather continues cold for the season. There is still lots of snow.

Oil.

Burning oil is unchanged. Prices are very low. With the change in the season sales are becoming lighter. In paint oils there is a fair business. Local price of linseed oil has not changed, though import prices are higher and market firm. In turpentine, prices, which have ruled high, are lower. But market is quite strong. Lubricating oil unchanged In this line it is largely a matter of value. A fair business is reported. Cod oil is quiet and price continues unchanged.

Salt.

In Liverpool coarse salt, a fair stock is held. There is but a fair demand. Prices are firmly held. Steamer frieghts, which have such a marked effect on the cost of this line, are held very high this season. Little if any salt has arrived in the regular way by the regular Liverpool steamers. It is still early for much business in fine salt. Canadian is chiefly in demand.

Canned Goods.

It is somewhat difficult to give a trade report. Business is quiet and prices unchanged. While corn is a light stock there is still enough for the demand, and full prices are asked. Tomatoes are fair stock. Peas unchanged. Fruits are unchanged. Gallon apples, which have been very dull, show rather better business. Salmon is unchanged. Lobsters held at extreme figures, bringing about three twenty-five a dozen. Sale light. Oysters firmer. While there is a fair stock of domestic sardines, kippered herrings, haddies, clams and scallops are scarce.

Dried Fruit.

Business is quiet. There is some demand for loose muscatels, and the price is firmer. Seeded raisins are low. In prunes the low prices continue unchanged; there is some demand for the larger sizes. Currants have a fair sale at even prices. Dates are low. While prices of peels here are unchanged English quotations are much higher. Evaporated apples are firm at the higher prices. Onions are higher with stocks light; quality but fair at this season. Egyptians should soon be here. Market is likely to open quite high.

Sugar.

The market, which has seemed somewhat unsettled, is reported to be again firmer. There has been a large lot of English sugar arriving lately.

Molasses.

New Barbadoes is held very firm at full prices. The price at the island has advanced and the market is firm. It is expected Porto Rico will open high. The market here is firm. Fair stocks are held.

Fish.

Fresh fish are scarce and high, variety small. In dry codfish the extreme price is still held, nice fish selling as high as five twenty-five. Pickled herring are scarce and full prices asked. Smoked are quite low, being the one weak spot. Finnan haddies are hardly as active; smelts have been very scarce this season.

Flour, Feed and Seed.

Flour firm but unchanged. Feed is high and rather hard to get. There is a fair demand. Oats are very high and oatmeal is held at full figures. Prices are well above those of a few weeks ago. Cornmeal is also high. Beans are held firm at the advance. In seed, stocks are beginning to arrive. American timothy and Canadian red clovers are quoted higher.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Special Report from the Winnipeg Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, March 23rd, 1905.

SOME increased activity is reported by several wholesale houses this week and general conditions seem to be satisfactory. There is still complaint of slow collections, but in this respect there seems to be some slight improvement. Orders are coming in freely and indications point to a brisk Spring trade.

Price changes this week are few. Sugar is very firm at the same figure at which it has been maintained for some weeks. There is little prospect of cheap sugar this season, according to present indications. Rumors are current among commission men of a poor crop of California prunes in 1905. It is said that some insect pest has attacked the blossoms in the Santa Clara Valley. However this may be, it is scarcely likely that next season will see prunes as cheap as they have been for the last few months. The low price of prunes this season has hindered the sale of cooking figs and, in order to clear, local houses have reduced the price of figs. There has been a break in the price of green Rios, and this is reflected now in the local quotations, which show considerable reduction. The advance in evaporated apples, noted last week, has now become general. Local stocks are light. The egg market is rapidly declining, owing to the fact that fresh eggs are coming in large supplies. Beans are very firm at the price quoted last week; sales at this price are not large. N. K. Fairbanks Co. have announced that after April 1 their offer of one-half case free with every five-case order of Gold Dust will be withdrawn.

Sugar.

The sugar market shows no change at time of writing. Prices are very firm. We again quote:

Foreign Dried Fruits.

Except for a reduction in cooking figs, there has been no actual change in quotations since last issue. This reduction has been made in order to clear stocks, the demand for figs having been less than usual, owing to the low price of prunes. Rumors are current that the 1905 crop of prunes in the Santa Clara Valley in California will be seriously affected by an insect pest now attacking the blossoms. At all events, it is scarcely to be expected that next year will see a repetition of this season's low price of prunes. We quote:

It Seems Reasonable

to suppose that we can give you a better Coffee for less money than you can buy from an exclusive Coffee house, for the simple reason that we don't depend upon Coffee profit only for our living. No Coffee house could afford to sell Coffee on so close a margin as we sell our "BOSTON LUXURY" blend. While it costs you only 28 cents, it could command 32 cents, considering quality. We allow you to return it any time, and at our expense, if it don't suit your best trade. It's always sold that way but none comes back, so we know positively that "Boston Luxury" is a blend that will increase your Coffee trade and give heaps of satisfaction besides. Blue Ribbon Ceylon Tea

We remember well when some dozen years ago people—grocers we mean—looked askance at Blue Ribbon Tea.
Good men took it up.
Good men turned it down.
It had not shown its powers of endurance.

To-day Blue Ribbon is the foremost package tea in the Dominion.
None better known.
None better liked.
It has carried its honors modestly.
No wonder that the good men in the trade have shaken hands with it and welcomed it to their stores.

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

LUMSDEN BROS. of Hamilton have concluded arrangements for starting a canning factory at Brantford with a capacity for 100,000 cases of peas, corn and tomatoes. A new factory will be erected and the latest machinery installed. Contracts with growers for this season have almost been completed for full requirements. There is no factory nearer Brantford than Waterford. Lumsden Bros. will also continue to operate their Hamilton factory as heretofore.

The Canadian banana business is on the boom this week. Arrivals are heavy too heavy for the early season in fact, but the trade is taking hold encouraged by the low prices offering.

Ontario Markets.

GREEN FRUITS.

Toronto, March 23, 1905.

THE green fruit trade has been active during the week, largely on account of the milder weather. Oranges have sold briskly. The season for marmalades will soon be over, and California navels will be firmer next week, on account of the icing season beginning then. Bananas are moving more freely, and we are getting into the season for pines. Case cranberries are being offered this week at $2.50.

Word has been received from Europe that the first direct lemon steamer for the season, the "Jaeona," sailed from Messina for Montreal March 22. A second boat, the "Esealona," is billed to sail from Leghorn about April 5, although considerable doubt is expressed in certain circles as to whether there will be a second boat or not. The "Jaeona" is likely to be carrying a small cargo, the reason being the demand for lemons ex-Montreal. Previously, there have been buyers from the United States, but on account of the duty imposed on stuff entering the United States at the present time, and the increasing favor that is being shown California lemons, the demand for Montreal shipments has been practically limited to the Canadian trade.

The last car of celery to come to this market this season has arrived, and prices are low when compared with those ruling in other parts of the country. Our quotations are as follows:

Florida grape fruit, per box	5 00	5 50

VEGETABLES.

Trade in domestic vegetables continues quiet to fair, as usual at this season. Imported green stuff is beginning to arrive more freely, and sales are reported to be improving from week to week. Spinach is on the market for the first time this season, being quoted at $1.50 per bush. hamper. Florida tomatoes are out at present on account of frost, and the trade is being supplied with Cuban stock. Florida tomatoes, second crop, will appear on the market a little later. Egyptian onions will arrive about April 15. Potatoes in car lots are quoted 5c. lower than last week. Our quotations are as follows:

Quebec Markets.

Montreal, March 23, 1905.

GREEN FRUITS.

Trade during the week has been somewhat improved, the mild weather being a strong factor. Celery keeps in strong demand, selling from $6 to $6.50, the former being the jobbing price. Cauliflower is a little slower, price from $3.25 to $3.75 per case. Onions continue very scarce with the demand good, price 3c per lb. Egyptian onions are expected to arrive about April 15, but will be much higher than last year, as the onion crop throughout England and Europe is short. California navels are selling well for first-class quality $2.90 to $3.15 being generally quoted. Jamaica oranges are arriving in good condition and bringing $2.25 to $2.50. Bananas are a drug on the market, selling in a jobbing way at 60c. to $1 per bunch. This is caused by the competition of the new fruit association lately formed in Baltimore, and the Fruit Despatch flooding the market against its new competitor.

Florida tomatoes and pineapples arriving here are showing signs of frost. Blood oranges are selling at $1.90 to $2.15 for half cases. Lemons are in good demand at $2 to $2.25. The Sorrento orange crop is about 50 per cent. less than last year and higher prices are expected this Spring on first direct steamer shipments. It is not anticipated that Messina lemons will be high this season on account of the heavy crop in California, which it is claimed will be 50 per cent. more than has ever been harvested, and also the fact that there will be enough fresh cut lemons to supply the United States market with the home product. We quote the following prices:

New Brunswick Markets.

St. John, March 22, 1905.

GREEN FRUITS

There is improved business. Valencia oranges are rather higher with quality but fair. Californias are also firmer. Jamaicas are unchanged and Floridas about out of the market. Lemons are low. Apples have a fair sale for best stock. Poor stock is a drug. Prices are lower than in the west. Bananas begin to move more freely; while there will be no change in price until they begin to arrive in bulk it is thought quotations will rule quite low. Cape Cod cranberries are not high considering the season.

Manitoba Markets.

GREEN FRUITS

Winnipeg, Mar. 23, 1905.

With rather uncertain weather conditions, the green fruit trade has been at some disadvantage in the matter of shipments, but business has, nevertheless, been fairly brisk. Prices are steady, and we again quote:

Halifax, March 20, 1905.

Potatoes are worth $1.25 for Prince Edward Island stock in three-bushel bags, and New Brunswick and Nova Scotia stock at $1.50. Turnips are $1 for 150-pound bags. Parsnips and carrots are now being imported from Boston and are $3 per barrel. Parsnips will be more plentiful here a little later when the snow leaves the ground, as many leave their crop in the ground all Winter.

by themselves

There are a good many reasons why our pickles should be better than others. For instance, the cultivation and picking of the vegetables is done under the supervision of an expert in our employ; this way we get vegetables away above the average, and they come to the salt house in perfect condition not later than five hours after having been taken from the vine. This is an important thing, as it makes them firm and crisp, not tough and leathery. Brined in dairy salt and filtered water, everything is done that will guarantee perfection and cleanliness. They are cut small so as to thoroughly absorb the spices and vinegar. Put up in the best pails we can obtain, absolutely air-tight, they will keep firm and fresh much longer than any other pickle on the market. 1 gall. pails 75c., 2 gall. $1.40, 3 gall. $1.95, 5 gall. $3.00, 10 gall. $5.50. Barrels and half barrels 45c. gall.

These prices are subject to a discount depending on the quantity ordered.

cluded in the consignments, Black Hamburg and Muscatel grapes, peaches, plums, pears, passion fruit, tomatoes, etc. This is the first time that such a range of fresh fruits has been received at this time of the year from Australia, and the shipment is looked on largely as experimental. Of course, Tasmanian apples have often arrived, and have sold very well.

Local fresh fruits are, of course, now limited to apples, and not a very good line is stocked. The best grades, especially those grown in the Okanagan, have all moved out, and cheaper lines are now quoted at 75c. to $1.25 per box. A few fancy apples are imported from Oregon and Washington, and bring $2 to $2.50. Oranges come in very plentifully, and at very low quotations, owing to the heavy crop in California. Some of the shipments have been arriving in poor shape.

VEGETABLES.

Local potatoes continue to hold fast round about $25 per ton, while imported are worth $30 and over, in some cases. The supply is becoming a little more liberal since fine weather has permitted the moving of what stocks were held up country.

Onions, local, are quoted at $2 to $2.75 per sack of 100 lb. Some local cabbage offers at about 1½c. per lb., while beets and parsnips bring 75c. per sack, and carrots and turnips, 50c.

Shortage in Tasmanian Apples.

According to recent cable advices, space has been contracted on the steamers between the United Kingdom and Australasia for 400,000 boxes only of Tasmanian apples this year, these figures including shipments from Australia itself. Last year shipments of Tasmanian and Australian apples to the United Kingdom amounted to 706,000 boxes.

INTERVIEW WITH JAPAN TEA MERCHANT.

MR. C. B. BERNARD, of Yokohama, Japan, was a visitor to Montreal during the past few days. The Grocer representative had the pleasure of an interview with Mr. Bernard, who stated that this was his first visit to Canada in fifteen years. In regard to the prospects of Japan teas for the coming season, Mr. Bernard said:

"I think, owing to the very unprofitable season we have just passed through for Japan teas, we shall be on a lower basis for the class of tea generally used in Canada, that is, the medium grades. The very choice teas, which generally all go to the United States, are likely to be effected by the war, for the reason that it requires a great deal of skilled labor to roll the fine leaf, and as this is mostly done by men, of whom a large number have been taken away for war purposes, it will throw the rolling of these teas into the hands of inexperienced people. With regard to teas generally, the war has not had so much effect, as the picking and handling of tea is done by women. What I find here in Canada, and which I think is regrettable, is the small interest taken in really fine teas. People in Canada do not drink good teas. All the choice teas that are produced in Japan go to the United States, and therefore the bulk of the inferior grades are thrown on the Canadian market, the consequence being, instead of teas being bought here for quality, which should be the first desideratum, it seems to be mostly a matter of price, and instead of fine-drawing tea being the first consideration, as in the United States, the principal idea in Canada seems to be 'how cheap a tea can be bought.' It is much more economical to buy a good tea than a common one, as you can make a great many more cups out of fine tea than out of the other, and it seems to me strange that this has not yet been discovered by the consumer. I think it would be a good idea if travelers would pay more attention to and study the tea question more closely, with a view to cultivating a demand for their customers for the better grades of tea. I have been thirty years in Japan; I have known this business in Canada from the very commencement, and I remember the teas of the old days, when we used to sell large blocks at very high prices, very choice teas; but all that, owing to the desire for cheapness, has died away.

"The tea growers do not like cultivating cheap teas, as there is no profit in it for them. These remarks are made in a general sense, as applying to all teas, no matter what district or country they come from."

"The total crop this year," said Mr. Bernard, "has shown a falling off of about 2,000,000 lbs., and the quality of last season's teas has been distinctly inferior to previous seasons. This falling off in the quality, not only of Japan, but also Ceylon and India teas, is attributable to the over-anxiety of planters and tea merchants to force the sale of teas. Shipments from Japan to Canada have increased during the past season about 300,000 lbs. up to January 31 The Japan tea market has been gradually coming down in price,

Mr. Chas. M. Kittson,
New Canadian Commercial Agent to South Africa.

more nearly to the former basis, and this has created a better demand and sale for them. The introduction of package teas is hurting the business to a great extent, as Japan teas are not put up in packages.

"There has recently been a revival in the tea trade in the United States, and especially in Chicago a large business has been done. I was told in New York by one of the largest importers there that although it was unsatisfactory to shippers and importers to accept these low-priced teas, there was no doubt it would result in this benefit, that it would largely increase the demand for Japan tea at present low prices. The majority of people are poor, and reduction in the price of only a few cents is regularly taken advantage of.

"Regarding the war with Russia," Mr. Bernard stated that, "although the tax on the people is severe, there is no complaint, as they seem to have taken this war seriously and patriotically, and they are absolutely confident of their success. This confidence was a feature noticeable at the very commencement of hostilities. The idea of failure was never entertained for one moment. I was particularly struck with the perfect arrangements of the Japanese authorities and military men, and as an instance may just mention the wonderful system they have for taking care of the wounded. I used to see trains of wounded returning from the seat of war; they all looked well taken care of, and everything was conducted in the most orderly and systematic manner. No, in the minds of the Japanese there is no such word as failure!"

The Grocer is pleased to number Mr. Bernard among its oldest subscribers. He has found it much in evidence among the merchants of Yokohama and other Japanese cities, who are always on the lookout for foreign trade news. "Personally," remarked Mr. Bernard, "I read every number of The Grocer with keen interest, and am able to get pointers in almost every issue."

Mr. Bernard is visiting Toronto, Chicago and San Francisco, and will sail shortly from the latter port on the new Pacific mail steamer, "The Manchuria." While in Montreal Mr. Bernard was introduced to the trade by Mr. R. W. Forester, Canadian representative for C. B. Bernard & Co., Yokohama, for over 15 years.

MR. KITTSON'S APPOINTMENT.

MR. C. M. KITTSON, the newly appointed Canadian Trade Commissioner for South Africa, was born in Montreal thirty years ago, and is the only son of G. R. W. Kittson, the oldest practising notary in Montreal.

Mr. Kittson commenced his business career some fifteen years ago with the firm of Gault Bros. & Co., but for the last seven years has been connected with the Lake of the Woods Milling Co. as their local manager in Toronto, and for the last three years as their representative in South Africa, where his energy and determination have resulted in gratifying success for his employers and Canada generally. The Government is to be congratulated upon having obtained the services of a gentleman so well fitted to fill the position with satisfactory results to Canadian manufacturers generally. Mr. Kittson, who is one of the best known figures in commercial life between Cape Town and the Zambesi, sails from St. John, N. B., per S.S. Lake Champlain, on April 8.

His headquarters will be in Durban, Natal. Mr. Kittson is a Canadian who has unlimited faith in the future of his country, believing that ultimately Canada will be the paramount power of the New World in arts, commerce and industry, and an object lesson to the rest of the world.

INTERESTING LEGAL DECISION.

An interesting legal decision was given in Fredericton a few days ago in the case of Baird & Peters vs. the Fredericton Agricultural Society. J. J. McGaffigan and the Blue Ribbon Tea Co.

The suit arose out of a tea competition instituted by the Fredericton Agricultural Society in Sept., 1903, the only prize in which was to be a gold medal. The society, owing to objections made by one of the competitors, declined to deliver the medal to Baird & Peters, to whom it had been unanimously awarded, and the latter, after having exhausted every effort to obtain it, were obliged to resort to the equity court. According to the judge's ruling Baird & Peters were entitled to the award as well as damages.

The Canada Malting Co. have purchased a site in Winnipeg and will establish a new industry there.

WILL PAY FOR YOUR ENERGY

It is a well-known fact that no tea ever placed on the Canadian market possesses as much intrinsic value as

Red Rose Tea

There are many ways to prove it

Try the tea yourself!
Ask other people who drink it!
Ask any disinterested tea man!

Put the energy into selling Red Rose Tea that you put into other brands, and you will sell more tea and make more money.

If you are not selling it, I think these facts will be proved by a single case. Is it not worth ordering one?

A RECORD RIDE.

The story is told of two of the traveling fraternity, J. Hayden of John Sloan & Co., Toronto, and J. Charles of H. P. Eckardt & Co., Toronto, that in their zeal for business they actually essayed to drive all the way from Dundalk to Toronto during the recent snow blockade.

In company with A. G. MacKay, M. P. P., of Owen Sound, they struggled manfully for two days, but gave it up as a hopeless job at Orangeville, after having covered 26 miles. They claim that it is only owing to the herculean strength of Mr. MacKay, who carried the horse over numerous mountainous drifts, that they are alive to tell the tale.

"Royal Household" FLOUR

I Would Pay Freight 50 Miles rather than Go Without It.

WINCHESTER SPRINGS, Feb. 27, 1905

"I read about Royal Household which is purified by electricity. I also read about the woman paying freight 25 miles before she would be without it. Royal Household was not sold in our town. I was asking about it and my grocer told me to wait a day or two and he would get some, and I am glad I did so. My wife is a good baker and made good bread out of other flours, but what she has now made out of Royal Household is so far ahead that I would be willing to pay freight 50 miles instead of 25, rather than go without it. There is no flour just as good as Royal Household."

(Sgd.) JOHN HENDERSON.

FREIGHTS AND CHARTERS

THE reduction of rates on all freights will take place about April 15th. With an eye to this, many large buyers and sellers are gauging their orders to meet that date.

Dates are now being fixed for the opening of navigation with Montreal, and sailings for that port will be announced shortly.

The season at Halifax and St. John, as far as Winter trade is concerned, will continue to dwindle until the end. Portland reports show that business has been better than it was expected to be early in the season.

The chief topic in shipping circles regarding Montreal is embodied in the coming out of the new Allan Line turbines. R.M.S. "Victorian" will be on land about the middle of May; she is chartered for June 9th to carry the party from the Canadian Manufacturers' Association going abroad.

To match the efforts of the Allan Line, or for purely commercial reasons, the Dominion Line has chartered the well-known White Star steamer "Germanic," for the St. Lawrence trade. Her name will be changed to "The Ottawa," and it is generally supposed she will be a great acquisition.

In Montreal great interest is being taken in the erection of the new steel sheds, and already the harbor looks like any of the large seaports of the old world. Some knowing ones are prophesying floods this year, but this is the annual occupation of the men who get employment from the results of floods.

It will be remembered last year that the upper harbor was disrupted by floods at Verdun, and there were severe losses to property. New arrangements have been made to prevent the possibility of a recurrence, and no fears are entertained on that score.

It will be at least three weeks before any actual shipping outside the movements of tugs and small craft can be undertaken.

W. L. Bailey, of Colborne, Ont., has amalgamated his soap business with the Sovereign Mfg. Co., of Toronto.

The Oatmeal Situation.

ALTHOUGH the oatmeal market in Canada shows some signs of improvement, millers do not hope for materially increased business or profitable prices for the present season at least. In the larger cities of Canada the retail trade is pretty well filled up with supplies of the manufactured product bought largely from the United States before the recent advance. It will be some time before these stocks are used up, and then a comparative rejuvenation of Canadian business may be expected. The situation is slightly better in the country where the trade buy in less than car-load lots and an increased demand may be expected from this quarter now that the danger of American competition is removed for the time being. It is interesting to compare the price of rolled oats at the present time, $4.35, with the price ruling a year ago, $4.50, especially considering the price of oats in the two years, viz., 44c. and 36c.

The inequality of the duty, which is responsible for the recent crisis, which meant practically the closing down of many of the largest oatmeal industries in Canada, has been referred to before in the reading columns of The Canadian Grocer. A complete re-adjustment is necessary in order that the Canadian trade may be protected against a recurrence of the recent disastrous conditions. Overtures have been made repeatedly to the Government authorities at Ottawa, who promise that the whole difficulty will be re-adjusted. What Canadian millers are agitating for is a specific duty on imported oatmeal, instead of the ad valorem duty of 20 per cent., which has been in force for 10 years.

Britain's Wheat Supply.

THE trade and navigation returns of Great Britain for 1904 throw a highly interesting light on the position of Canada in the world's wheat trade. Last year Great Britain imported from Canada 6,195,800 cwts. of wheat, while the previous year it took 10,802,127 cwts. The shipments from the United States also show a great decrease, being 7,090,700 cwts. in 1904, as compared with 24,197,895 cwts. in 1903, and 43,000,000 in 1902. The stortage in shipments from the United States and Canada, however, is more than made good by other countries. Great Britain imported 97,813,600 cwts. of wheat in 1904, as against 88,131,030 in 1903, and 81,002,227 in 1902.

In 1902, the United States sent to the United Kingdom five times as much wheat as was sent from any other country, but last year it was only fifth on the list. The British East Indies came first in the list, sending 25,485,000 cwts.; Russia second, sending 23,529,500 cwts.; Argentine Republic third, sending 21,440,400; Australia fourth, with 10,272,600; and the United States next, with one-fourth less than Australia, and Canada a close competitor.

The imports of wheat meal and flour into the Kingdom were 14,722,893 cwts, as compared with 20,601,448 in 1903, a decline due principally to the erection of a number of large milling establishments. Of this total, 8,252,602 cwts. came from the United States, as against 16,223,639 during the previous year, and 2,045,767 from Canada, as against 2,637,617 in 1903.

The Board of Trade returns show that the percentage of wheat imports coming from within the Empire has considerably increased, owing principally to the increasing shipments from British India and Australia. The wheat imports from India in 1904 were just three times as great as they were in 1902, while in the case of Australia they doubled during the same time. In 1904, some 43,000,000 cwts., or about forty-four per cent. of the total came from within the Empire, as against 30,000,000 cwts., or thirty-five per cent. in 1903.

Oats for Japan.

No less than 2,000,000 bushels of oats and barley have been sold in Minneapolis within the past few weeks for shipment to Oriental ports. While ostensibly the bulk of it is going to the Philippines, everyone knows the Philippines have no need for any such quantity of feedstuffs, and that its ultimate destination is Japan.

Cereal Notes.

The American Cereal Co., Peterboro, are now running their mills at full time on account of the destruction of their plant at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, by fire.

Robt. Greig & Co., Toronto, report an active demand for their new package cereal King's food, orders from points as far apart as Halifax and Calgary being filled last week.

A DEPARTMENT FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS.

Tobacco Growers' Protest.

A MEETING of the Essex County tobacco growers was held at Kingsville last week. The object was to discuss plans for the betterment of conditions in the Canadian-grown tobacco industry. A number of speakers urged that the duty and excise be combined and one tax levied on the leaf when it comes into the country. The details of this scheme were not fully worked out, however, and it was decided to ask the Government to send two experts to address a public meeting and explain the duties more fully. The Government will also be urged to establish an experimental station in Essex County, to develop the science of tobacco growing and put the industry on a strong basis. This was the view of J. A. Auld, M.P.P. He took the stand that the real salvation of the Canadian leaf was in improving the processes of growth, drying, curing, etc., so as to make it equal to, or better than, United States tobacco.

The cigar manufacturers of London have entered a vigorous protest against any increase in the duty on foreign leaf. Their contention is that Canadian tobacco is only used in plug tobaccos entirely, and hence there is no real conflict between the foreign-grown and native weed. The importance of the industry from an economical standpoint is so great that the Government will undoubtedly give the fullest attention to the representations which are being made.

The Match Problem.

"WISH there was one place here to buy matches instead of 7,000,000 to buy orangeade," said the indignant man carrying an unlighted cigar around between his fingers. The paragraph quoted from a St. Louis newspaper, formed the text for a characteric discourse from the habitual but forgetful smoker.

"One of the worst troubles," he said, "that besets the ordinary smoker in any of our large cities, is to be found in this match problem. A man with a cigar and without a match, is indeed in a condition of helplessness. Several alternatives present themselves to him, but all of them are unpleasant. He can go into a store and use the lighter, but this serves for but one light, and he may want another later, in which case the process must be repeated; furthermore, there are many men who do not care to avail themselves of the facilities offered by cigar shops, which they reason are meant for customers. Or he may go into a store and ask for a match. Several will, in all probability be willingly given, but such a method is even more repugnant to delicate sensibilities, with reason indeed, for it certainly is taking a most unwarranted advantage of the storekeeper's courtesy.

"Again he may go into a store and buy a cigar, in which case he will not feel the same delicacy about asking for a match or two. But he may have no use for another cigar, and it may reasonably revolt the mind of the economic business man to pay ten cents or so for a mere light. Finally, he may go into a store and buy a box of matches, just like any other merchandise. This would seem to be the obvious course, yet it is often the last adopted. Here is an opening for the grocer. In other countries matches are regularly sold over the counter just the same as cigars or tobacco, usually in small boxes convenient for the pocket. Of course the explanation is to be found in the lordly attitude of the Canadian and American storekeepers with regard to transactions of a cent or two; but now that the round sum idea is so often abandoned in fixing the retail prices of popular cigars, there seems to be no good reason why the penny procured by the sale of a box of matches should be scorned, especially when the convenience of the smoking public is so vitally involved.

Used Tobacco for 94 Years.

One hundred years old, sixty-seven years a resident of Iowa, and ninety-four years a user of tobacco, is the record of Mrs. Moses Fountain, of Corydon, Iowa.

Mrs. Fountain has used tobacco ever since she was six years old. She has the best of health for one of advanced years; fair eyesight, good hearing, a wonderful memory and a conviction that tobacco is one of the great aids to longevity.

"I've had folks tell me I might have been one hundred and twenty-five years old now if I hadn't ever used it," she says, "but somehow I doubt if they know."

Letters to Tom, the Grocer.—No. I.

HAMILTON, March 24, 1905

Dear Tom:

Keep paid up. Some men wouldn't pay their accounts at all if their creditors were careless and didn't ask for payment. It hurts your manhood when you don't pay your debts, and your manhood is your best business asset.

By the way, keep T. & B. Smoking Tobacco (the 10-cent size). Will forward. It does you good and stamps you as a good grocer.

Yours truly,

GEO. E. TUCKETT & SON CO., LIMITED.

The insistence of leaders in the grocery trade in all parts of the Dominion in offering

"Sterling Brand" Pickles

to their most fastidious customers is one good proof of the superiority of these famous Canadian-made Pickles. Grocers know they must cater to the taste of their customers. They know how serious it is to blunder in this respect. A mistake is never made when they offer customers pickles marked "STERLING."

If you have Money to Burn

Why! Go burn it. There is 10 times more satisfaction in burning money than in losing it in driblets, through carelessness of clerks, or disputed accounts. Who that has "pass-book" customers has not had accounts disputed and partially repudiated? The best way to avoid all complications and misunderstandings is as follows:

IF A MAN WANTS CREDIT

for $10, give him a $10 Allison Coupon Book, charge him with $10, and there you are. No trouble at all. If he buys a plug of tobacco for ten cents, just tear off a ten-cent coupon—that's all. And so on for all his purchases up to limit of the book. NO PASS BOOK. NO WRITING. NO TIME LOST. NO KICKING. There are other Coupon Books, of course, but why not have the best? OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR

ST. LOUIS, U. S. A. December 5, 1904.

Gentlemen:

After careful consideration of all other systems for handling cash, it was decided that, for the quick and accurate accounting of the daily receipts, the concessionaires on the grounds of the Exposition should use the NATIONAL CASH REGISTERS.

We are entirely satisfied with the working of the one thousand or more registers which were in use on the Exposition Grounds.

Your machines furnished information and protection to both the concessionaires and the Exposition Company which could not have been obtained in any other way.

We believe the NATIONAL CASH REGISTER is the best means of protection to all concerned wherever cash is handled.

Very truly yours,

SUGGESTIVE ADVERTISING.

EVERY man his own thinker—if it were only so! How different is it in this day of light and reason! Instead of men and women thinking out things for themselves, there is a leaning, a dependence upon other people. Teachers think for their scholars, preachers for their hearers, politicians for the masses. Encyclopedias have the wisdom of the world gathered conveniently for the man who would know much at the smallest cost of time and thought. Men have no time to think, they say,—that is, for themselves; their thinking is for other people, to reduce other people's discomforts, to add to their leisure, to provide enjoyments.

J. A. McCREA

Phone No. 48 - No. 2 Day's Block - Guelph.

Here is a woman whose complexion is her pride. How shall she maintain it? And some one else answers her question with soaps and cosmetics declared to be sufficient for her need. There is a man troubled with the thought of the future of his family; will he be able to leave them well-provided for on his modest earning in the lifetime that Providence may allot him? And an insurance company answers his question, and gives him peace of mind by selling him a life-insurance policy. Christmas comes, the season of gifts. What shall husband give wife, the lover his betrothed? And the jeweler answers the question in a catalogue. The home, the fireside, is the dream of those whose chief joys are domestic in character, and the makers of musical instruments tell of the power of music to satisfy the deep cravings of the soul. And so it goes on throughout an endless chain of needs, fancied or real, of human kind—sanitary appliances, furniture, lighting devices, office fixtures, medicines, wearing apparel, pleasure and health resorts, literature and art, beverages and foods. Thus man makes his thinking a means of livelihood rather than of culture, and his constant endeavor is to find a market for his thoughts. True, he deals in substantial commodities, but these are but the visible expression of his thinking. To suggest powerfully to an inquiring world the merit of his answer to its desires, is his supreme aim, and his advertising is framed to stimulate desire, to direct consumers his way.

This dependence of people upon others is at once the reason for and the hope of advertising. The more highly civilized the world becomes, the greater will be the reliance of men and women upon their fellows; the greater, therefore, will be the field for advertising, for suggestive advertising.

A specific application of the truth contained in the foregoing is the campaign being carried on at the present time in the advertising columns of The Canadian Grocer and in the daily and weekly papers of the Dominion, by the firms dealing in salt and prepared fish. In a recent issue of The Grocer, I find, by referring to the Classified Index, no less than twelve wholesale and jobbing firms advertising fish. And among these are four whose sole commodity is fish. Twelve guns, four of which are constantly in action, trained on the retail grocery trade of Canada, are sure to break down the walls of indifference to the importance of fish as an article of merchandise. Many grocers have been induced during the past year or two to give a large place to fish, fresh, salt, prepared and canned, in their stores, with profit to themselves and with advantage to their customers. The minds of both distributers and consumers have been directed as never before to fish as an article of food, and one is safe in saying that "fish for Fridays" will disappear from the household calendar, to be replaced by "fish for all days."

The fish counters in the stores of a growing number of grocers suggest to every visitor fish for supper; for breakfast, for dinner; and to inlanders fish is an ever-welcome change from meat. Time was, not so very long ago, when fish on many tables was a comparatively rare provision, limited to the juveniles' Spring catches and the boom of the Lenten season. Now, fish is bought freely from January to December.

FISH FOR LENT

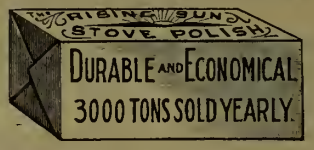
Quite apart from its religious aspect, the Cath lic Church's rule of a fish diet during Lent is excellent from a health standpoint. Medical authorities all agree that an extended diet of fish is one of the best things in the world to purify the system.

People are waking up to the fact more and more. They are eating more fish and less meat, and drinking less blood bitters. Especially in cities where fish is easy to get. Trouble is that fish is harder to get in the country.

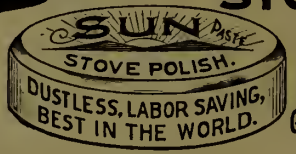
During Lent, however, I shall have in a constant supply of Fresh Fish at reasonable prices—

Whitefish — Trout —Pickerel—Sea Herring—Finnan Haddie.

Cut out patent medicines. Try fish. The result will surprise you. It will clear your head and string up your muscles.



MARTIN - Myrtle Station.



I sell Everything, and won't "sell" you.

This altered condition of affairs is attributable to the stimulus of the exclusive fish dealers in the first place, and joined to their efforts the help given by the jobbers and retailers. The retailers, as coming closest to the consumer, are first-class agents in the matter of increased fish consumption. Just at this season it is but natural to give fish particular prominence, and I am glad to be able to reproduce one or two advertisements sent in by retailers of Ontario. I should like to think that there are countless grocers throughout Canada doing equally good advertising.

KENTVILLE BOARD OF TRADE MEETS.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Kentville, N.S., Board of Trade on March 10th, the discussion had principally to do with the changing of the civic year, so that it and the finance year may be commenced at the same time. As it now stands, the financial year of the town, as in other businesses, ends in December, while the civic year ends in February. There would seem to be no sufficient reason why municipal elections should not be held before the end of the calendar year, as are the County Council elections. The existing conditions prevent any one administration seeing the absolute result of its work.

It was finally decided that the only way of getting rid of these conditions was through the Legislature, and it was therefore moved that resolutions to this effect be drawn up and sent to Halifax for presentation at the present session of the Provincial Parliament, and that copies be sent as well to each town council and board of trade in Nova Scotia.

B. T. Rogers, manager of the British Columbia Sugar Refinery, has returned from the Fiji Islands, whither he went to investigate the possibilities for establishing a sugar mill for treating sugar cane It is believed that a crusher will shortly be erected as a result of Mr. Rogers' trip.

While in Fiji Mr. Rogers made arrangements for the supply of raw material for the Vancouver refinery. Last year his company bought 3,000 tons of sugar in Fiji, all of which was shipped by the Canadian-Australian liners, and many cargoes were received from Honolulu and Java. A sailing vessel is now on the way from Sourabaya with a cargo.

INCREASE IN CONSUMPTION OF TEA.

According to statistics supplied by Gow, Wilson & Stanton, London, North America took more British-grown tea last year than in 1903, the importations for the two years being 34,464,966 and 33,009,665 lbs. respectively. To these amounts India contributed 15,294,509 and 19,170,457 lbs. in 1904 and 1903, and Ceylon 19,170,457 and 20,912,455 lbs. The figures are significant, considering the smaller export of green tea last year from Ceylon which previously contributed so much to the progress of the British-grown tea trade in North America.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR GUELPH.

It is rumored that a party of Chicago capitalists will shortly erect a gelatine and glue factory in Guelph, to cost between $60,000 and $70,000. The new concern will be known as The Canada Glue Co.

Nova Scotia Lobster Fisheries

WORD comes from Boston that a syndicate—as yet unnamed—backed by millions of dollars, is about to obtain control of the Boston fish industry, or rather the purchase and sale of fish, especially lobsters, in that market. As the lobster industry is of special importance to Nova Scotia fishermen, particularly on the south shore and the Bay of Fundy, where they are principally shipped alive to the Boston market, this report has caused considerable uneasiness among them.

THE PRESENT MARKETS.

Should this syndicate secure its end, and it is reported that already a number of the Boston dealers have signed an agreement to do so, the trust will have practical control of the lobster markets of the United States. At present Maine, Massachusetts, and Nova Scotia (we should include the other Maritime Provinces) supply all the live lobsters consumed in the United States, and at least one-half the quantity goes from Nova Scotia direct to Boston. The output of Maine goes principally to Portland and Rockland, which markets are also to be included in the trust.

RESULTS ANTICIPATED.

Serious results are anticipated, for although the syndicate claims that its object is not to increase the cost of lobsters, but to reduce the buying and selling price, it is feared by Canadian fishermen that, like all trusts, this one is not in the business "for its health," and that while the price may not be advanced in Boston on sales, the price paid for Nova Scotia lobsters may be materially decreased. They fear that if the scheme works they will have to sell to the trust, and the trust only, which will virtually be in a position to fix its own prices, regardless of supply and demand.

EXTENT OF FISHERIES.

The fishermen of Nova Scotia are more numerous than even a good many people in the Maritime Provinces are aware. They number some 25,000, and though only a limited number of them engage in the lobster business, that industry is of interest to all. On the south shore of Nova Scotia and the Bay of Fundy the lobsters are taken in traps and exported by the steamers running daily from Yarmouth. The season for them opens December 15, and closes early in the Spring. About the time their season closes that on the north shore and Cape Breton opens. Here the fishermen, having less easy access to the Boston market, can their catch, and sales are made principally in Europe.

THE PRESENT EQUIPMENT.

Some interesting statistics were given a few days ago in the Local House by a member of that body conversant with the subject, and who represents one of the south shore counties largely interested in the fishing industry. He estimated that the fisheries of Nova Scotia give a product annually valued at $9,000,000, equal to half that produced by the whole of the Dominion. The fishermen are equipped with 551 fishing vessels of various sizes, and 1,472 boats, representing a capital expenditure of $3,486,000. They use 7,000,000 traps and require 183 fishing smacks. LIVE LOBSTER BUSINESS.

The lobster-canning business of the province is large, but this can in no way be affected by such a trust as that outlined. The live lobster business of the Maritime Provinces, which began in a very small way some years ago, has enormously developed, and is now valued at a million and a quarter dollars annually—enough, probably, to tempt the cupidity of a trust. Of this amount the western counties of Nova Scotia—Lunenburg, Shelburne, Yarmouth and Digby—contribute about one million dollars. This is accounted for by their easier access to the market via Boston steamers. The figures for Yarmouth and Shelburne alone are given as $788,000 annually.

HOW BUSINESS IS HANDLED.

During the season, from December 15 to May 31, coasting steamers ply along the coast, so that there is very little time in getting the crustaceans to market. The Massachusetts law prohibits sale of anything less than ten and a half inches, although New York and other markets accept them down to nine inches. The fisherman sorts up his catch according to size, and places them in crates of one hundred and forty pounds each. Each fisherman acts independently in shipment, and thus saves the commission that would come to a middleman. On shipment each man sends a letter of advice to his particular consignee or commission merchant; the lobsters are sold to the best advantage, and the following mail brings back a cheque as the proceeds of the shipment. The system has been reduced as far as may be to a science, neither time nor expense being wasted.

HIGH PRICES OBTAINED.

The net proceeds for crate varies from time to time under the usual law of supply and demand, the price running from $20 to $40, and on rare occasions somewhat higher. This season, for example, the weather all along the coast was boisterous, commencing shortly after the season opened, and the catch so small that the price soon ran up to the maximum mentioned. Indeed, two weeks ago the price was as high as $64—the highest on record.

WHERE THE TRUST COMES IN.

There are still some points along the coast where the fishermen do not control the coasting steamer, with the result that the steamer is enabled to refuse or neglect the crated lobsters as freight, thus compelling the fishermen to sell to the owners of such steamers, cutting down the gains of the fishermen. It may thus be readily seen that a trust for handling lobsters in Boston would be in the same position to dictate terms to the shippers.

FISHERMEN'S UNIONS.

Noting this as a possible contingency, M. K. Nickerson, M.P.P., who represents Shelburne County in the Local Legislature, has put a bill through legalizing the organization of fishermen's unions, which may place the fishermen, through community of interest, in a position to maintain their right and reap the full reward of their arduous and perilous labors.

Close Season in Manitoba.

On the representation that prohibition of Summer fishing in a number of the smaller lakes of Manitoba was necessary to the preservation of the fish supply, the Government have passed an order-in-council establishing a close season from April 1 to Nov. 30 on Lakes Manitoba, St. Martin, Portage Bay, Water Hen, Dog and Shoal.

Bacon Situation in Canada.

DELIVERIES of hogs have been light during the week on account of the breaking up of the country roads and are likely to continue so for a fortnight. Meanwhile, prices continue firm at from $6.25 to $6.50, and packers report the local demand as seasonable. In Great Britain the bacon market is steady at the moment, quotations being slightly higher than last week, viz., from 49 to 54 shillings. The Danish market has fallen off slightly, owing to larger receipts during the week and an easier feeling is reported.

In fresh meat a slight advance took place early in the week, although the level has fallen again and at the close of the market prices remain at about the level of last week. The fresh meat business is reported as satisfactory for this season of the year.

Preserved Meats in France.

THE market for preserved meats will probably be a growing one, with a steady demand for such commodities. Animals raised for butchering are barely sufficient to supply the demand for fresh meats, and, except what is used in the charcuteries (pork butcheries), where smoked and fresh sausages and cooked meats, in the form of headcheeses, pates, hams, tongues, gelatins, etc., are prepared, the supply of canned or salted meats practically comes from foreign countries.

Smoked hams, shoulders, bacon, salt pork and lard are in good demand. The price of each of these articles is about one-half higher than that at which it is sold in America. Most of the smoked hams, bacon, and little pigs sold in France at the groceries bear American abattoir marks, although they pass under the name of "York." There seems to be quite a demand for shoats, weighing from 50 to 100 pounds, dressed, smoked, and uncut; these are sold in large quantities at Christmas time and in the Spring before and after the Lenten season. They are considered great delicacies, and bring high prices.

Corned beef and pork and canned meats, such as may be used for army supplies, find a ready sale. The demand for preserved meats that may be used by the working classes and farmers is growing. It is noticeable that the diet of the working people consists more and more of meat, especially at the noon meal; this change is pronounced in large cities, where the people have left the country districts to work in factories.—U.S. Consular Report.

Canadian Eggs in Great Britain.

ACCORDING to latest cable advices stocks of Canadian fresh and pickled eggs in Great Britain are practically cleaned up, and English buyers will be ready shortly to contract Canadian eggs for Fall delivery. Already several houses have signified their willingness to pay 7s. per long hundred of 120 eggs, but prices here will have to decline considerably before shippers can think of selling at 7s. c.i.f. Liverpool or Glasgow. For instance, Canadian shippers could not afford to pay more than 9c. in the country or 10c. at shipping points if they were contracting at 7s., and even at this price there would be very little profit. Dealers in Canada are inclined to think higher prices will be offered. Last year they realized from 8s. 2d to 8s. 4d, and the trade didn't open up much before June.

In reviewing the trade conditions for 1904 one English firm writes that unless Canadian glycerined eggs can be imported this year to compete with continental and domestic glycerines, which will in future be offered in 30 dozen cases, similar to Canadians, the volume of trade in Canadian glycerined eggs must be seriously curtailed. Experience in the trade, coupled with the improved pickling and glycerining of the continental and home eggs, has convinced them that Canadian eggs will be put into keener competition with this class of goods in the future. Up to the present time it has been possible to secure a considerable premium on Canadian glycerined eggs, and, notwithstanding that a higher price will still be paid for the Canadian article, this premium must be materially lessened. Owing to the high prices of Canadian eggs during the last two years, contractors having been driven to continental goods, appreciated their improved quality, and will not easily change again. Mr. Bowes, of the J. A. McLean Produce Co., Toronto, who spent some time in Great Britain last year investigating trade conditions there, says there is little question but that we shall have to meet English and continental producers in the matter of glycerined eggs.

Hints to Exporters.

CANADIAN exporters of dairy produce will be interested in the following suggestions by W. A. MacKinnon, Canadian Commercial Agent to the port of Bristol, Eng.:

Complaint having been made that "June" butter is sometimes sold as "August," it has been suggested that there should be a system of inspection to insure the reliability of the description. Details need not be gone into, the essential point being that every box should bear an official date stamp, which will command entire confidence here.

Some Welsh importers complain that cheese is now often invoiced in bulk. They express a strong wish that the system of invoicing the weight of each cheese by itself should be reverted to, as this plan would greatly facilitate checking and other transactions.

Canadian hams do not find the favor which is accorded to some other brands in the south of England. One importer claims that they are not as well cured as they should be. His recommendation is that the curing should be accomplished by rubbing in the salt, instead of "pumping" pickle into the hams. He states that Canadian hams find a much better market in the north of England than in Bristol, and expresses a hope that this market will be more carefully catered to hereafter.

The same dealer states that while Canadian lard is of the very best quality, some of it is displaced by inferior brands on account of its relatively dark color. Pure white lard is distinctly in favor in the English market, and it is regrettable if any trade is lost through neglect of this preference.

Improved Cheese Cutter and Weigher.

W. H. Scott, grocer, Bank street, Ottawa, has invented and patented a new cheese cutter and weigher, and The Grocer was shown the machine by Mr. Scott last week. The new cutter has advantages claimed by no machine so far on the market, and dealers who desire accuracy and quickness in serving cheese to their customers should write Mr. Scott for particulars.

Provisions—The usual demand for provisions at this seasou of the year continues to rule. Prices are firm, and the volume of business comparatively small. Hogs remain at practically the same level as last week, namely, $6.25 to $6.50, and prices are unchanged throughout the list with the exception of long, clear bacou, in which the range of prices rules higher by 1-4c. Our quotations are as follows:

Long clear bacon, per lb	$0 09	$0 09½
Smoked Breakfast bacon, per lb	0 13	0 13½

Butter—Supplies of butter are coming more freely, but as yet are no more than equal to the demand, which continues brisk for both dairy and creamery butter. Regular arrivals from the country may be expected from now on, and as the market becomes better supplied a corresponding drop in prices may be expected. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Creamery prints	0 26	0 27
" solids, fresh	0 25	0 26
Dairy prints	0 23	0 24
" large rolls	0 21	0 22

Cheese—The firmness of the cheese situation continues unabated, an active demand being reported from wholesalers as well as retailers, and in addition stocks of old cheese are believed to be comparatively small, judging from the fact that the wholesale grocery trade is buying from the produce dealers. Similar conditions rule in the markets of Great Britain, where the ruling price hovers about 57s. Our quotations are as follows:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11½

Provisions—The scarcity of live hogs is the principal feature of hte market and is the cause of strong feeling. Scarcity seems to be general throughout the country. Fresh abattoir-killed marked up 25c. per 100 lbs, from $9.50 to $9.75; country-dressed hogs $8.50 to $8.75 per 100 lbs.:

" cases (24 3-lb. tins)	0 08¼	0 09¼

Butter—Butter is higher, and as old stocks are practically cleaned up it is altogether likely that a still further advance must follow. Fresh new-milk butter is quoted at 27c., and even as high as 28c. is obtained. Supplies are coming slowly, and this tends to keep prices high:

Finest creamery	0 27	0 28
Fine	0 25	0 26
Medium	0 23	0 24
Fine western dairy	0 23	0 24
Fair to good western	0 21	0 22

Cheese—While the market shows a quietness, holders of stocks are firm and not too ready to sell. Some holders believe higher prices must rule shortly, and are holding back in consequence. Choicest white held at 12 to 12 1-2c., which is an advance over our last quotations.

For egg quotations, see Quebec Markets.

Halifax.

Provisions—The provision market is now about back to its normal condition as far as supply is concerned, but prices in some lines remain high. Beef is now coming in plentifully from Nova Scotia points, and any shortage is easily supplied by western importations. Pork is in good supply and quoted at 7 1-2 to 8c., principally Nova Scotian raised. Mutton is plentiful, the supply coming from the Annapolis Valley. Chickens are quoted at 13c., fowls 10c., turkeys 20c., geese and ducks 15c. There is not an abundant supply of the latter list.

Butter is not coming in very plentifully, and importations still come from the west. Large shipments are still being made to the West Indies, and shippers report extremely good profits, subject, however, to some losses through shipment to irresponsible parties. Prices are quoted as follows: Large tubs, local, 20c.; small, ditto, 21c.; rolls, imported, 19c.; 2-pound plats, 22c.; creamery, local, 26c. The latter is now retailing at 30c., whereas two weeks ago it was selling at 35c.

Eggs are in good demand, but the supply is not abundant, 22c. being quoted for fresh, with a retail price of 28 to 30c. The vegetable market is about the same as last reported, with potatoes, parsnips and carrots very scarce—the two latter still coming from Boston.

One cause of the extreme scarcity of beef, pork, butter, eggs and vegetables is that the usual supplies of these articles coming from Prince Edward Island have been cut off for about two months.

St. John.

Provisions—In barreled meats rather higher prices rule, but there is a limited

SHOULD COMMERCIAL TRAVELERS BE TAXED?

THE Canadian trade are up in arms this week over the action of the British Columbia Legislature in allowing the new Commercial Travelers' Bill to pass its third reading.

The Grocer referred editorially to the measure several weeks ago, while it was in its initial stages, condemning it unequivocally on the ground that British Columbia had no right to discriminate against Eastern Canadian houses, and that the national interests of Canada required a perfectly free interchange of trade between the various provinces. In the interval it has gradually dawned upon manufacturers and wholesalers in the east how seriously their own interests will be affected by the new bill, and this week a big deputation of commercial travelers, including representatives from Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Winnipeg and other centres, are in Ottawa bombarding the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

They contend that the imposition of a tax of $100 every six months on liquor and cigar travelers and $50 every six months on other travelers representing firms outside British Columbia is clearly a violation of the British North America Act, as it will undoubtedly act as a restriction upon trade. They further hold that it is the duty of the Dominion Government to veto a measure which cannot do other than injustice to wholesale manufacturing and mercantile interests throughout the Dominion; for instance, it is roughly estimated that such a tax will mean an annual outlay to the merchants of Toronto alone of over $14,000.

We would again remind readers of The Grocer that the successful working-out of the scheme of Confederation postulates unrestricted and unhampered trade and intercourse between the people of the different provinces, and that anything which does not conserve this end cannot be viewed as other than a barrier in the way of our commercial development as a nation. For this reason it is to be hoped that the boards of trade and mercantile associations all over Canada will continue to raise their voices in protest against what is not only short-sighted policy on the part of the British Columbia Legislature, but contrary to the spirit of Confederation.

UP-TO-DATE CREDIT.

CHARGE accounts are variously regarded as the bane or the blessing of retail trade. While they accord a profitable use of capital, they are inconvenient to the small dealer who needs every dollar. However, the progressive retail store when it gives credit is, nowadays, practically on a cash basis. The charge customer is on little better footing than the cash customer. Charge accounts, payable monthly, are the same as cash, and afford an opportunity for generous purchases. Credit to-day is chiefly a matter of mutual convenience.

It is a good thing for the store as it is apt to throw trade into one establishment, and avoids the delay in purchasing as well as the sending out of goods C.O.D. It is a fact that more than one store which started out to do a cash business has found it necessary to adopt this form of credit.

This does not mean a return to the old-fashioned style of allowing a customer to pay when he so pleases. In the country store conditions are somewhat different. A storekeeper has to carry his customers from season to season, and the collections are dependent upon the moving of crops.

If everyone did business on a strictly cash basis, bankers would be out of business, jobbers would be a minus quantity, and many retailers would find their business curtailed one half. The business of the world is done on credit. The columns of The Grocer are open for a discussion of this much-mooted question.

QUICK TURNOVERS.

THE oftener a merchant can turn his capital the better, is a fact well understood by all retailers, but not all succeed in accomplishing what they know to be the best thing to do. A great deal depends upon the place of business and the class of goods in demand by his customers. We realize the country merchant is at a disadvantage when compared with the city retailers. It is even nowadays often necessary in some lines for the former to lay in a stock of goods for the whole season, while the latter can replenish weekly. The city retailer rarely has to contend against dead capital. The country merchant on the other hand has to make a prospective investment for a trade possibility.

While this latter condition cannot be entirely avoided, business experience clearly shows that too much capital is often invested in goods to be sold in small communities. By calculation the retailer can invest in goods to be easily disposed of in accord with his trade limit.

It is surprising what can be done in this direction if merchants only try hard. There will be less anxiety over express charges, and not so much placing of orders in advance and having them come along by slow freight. It is not short-sighted to pay expressage on merchandise. Many merchants are incredulous when told of the number of times the average retailer turns over his stock during the year. If he turns his stock only three times a year he may by a little forethought be enabled to turn it five times.

NEWFOUNDLAND RETALIATES.

THE cry of annexation to the United States will, in all probability, not be heard again for some time in Newfoundland if one is to judge from the recent action of the Newfoundland Government in revoking the privileges hitherto accorded to American fishermen of buying bait and fishing within the territorial waters of that colony on account of the refusal of the Senate to ratify the Hay-Bond commercial treaty. According to this the colony was to be allowed a market in the republic for its fish and a limited number of other products in return for baiting and other privileges to United States fishermen.

It appears strange to the average Canadian citizen that there should ever have been a time when the "powers that be" in Newfoundland saw their destiny elsewhere than as a part of Confederation. In spite of the fact that negotiations to effect this end have been blocked again and again when almost ready for the finishing touches, let us hope that the time is not far distant when the ideal of the framers of Confederation will be realized and Newfoundland decide to complete the chain by becoming the tenth province of the Dominion.

The leading financial journal in the United States comments as follows on the situation:

The Senate, acting on the one-sided idea that reciprocity means benefit to one party only, so amended that instrument that it was of no value to Newfoundland. These fishing and bait-buying privileges have been granted to us while denied to others as a matter of comity and in the hope that by a liberal policy something might be gained in the way of access to American markets for the products of the big northern island, whose resources were almost limited to its fisheries and its mines and forests. It has not the facilities for developing and making use of these, and was ready to sell the products to us and take our manufactured goods in return on favorable terms.

The Gloucester fishermen, who were accustomed not only to take fish in Newfoundland waters, but to buy those taken by the people of the island and smuggle the latter in without payment of the duty, objected to having the duty removed so that Newfoundlanders could compete with them by reaching a free market for themselves at Boston. So Senator Lodge prevented action on the first Hay-Bond treaty. It was modified to meet this narrow and selfish objection of a local interest, but it provided for admitting coal and iron from Newfoundland free, a matter of importance not only to the colony, but to the mechanical industries of New England, which are shut off from getting these materials from Nova Scotia or Newfoundland for the benefit of Pennsylvania, with the result that its old iron and steel industry has been killed and others are handicapped by the cost of iron and coal. This provision and some others of benefit to Newfoundland were cut out of the treaty, and it was left with little or no compensation for a liberal reduction of duties on her part. As a result, there has been no exchange of ratifications.

The most that Newfoundland could do out of resentment or in self-defense was to revoke the fishing and bait-buying privileges, which have been of considerable value to American fishermen, and it is the least that she could be expected to do. The immediate and direct effect upon United States trade will not be serious, but we have wantonly forfeited the goodwill of Newfoundland, and it is likely to dispose her to joining the Dominion of Canada in giving preference to the trade of the Mother Country. The action of Congress, and especially of the Senate, toward our neighbors on the north has for many years been most unneighborly and equally unwise from the point of view of enlightened self-interest. The policy pursued is one of purblind selfishness in behalf of narrow special interests.

THE EVOLUTION IN RAILROADING.

HOW customary it is for us to take things as a matter of course, without expressing any surprise at any wonderful change or new invention which has been introduced. It is only a few years ago since Jules Verne wrote a book about a submarine boat. Now these boats exist in all parts of the world. Surprise might be expressed if we were told that we would be making every-day trips in air-ships ten or twenty years hence, yet the evolution of aerial navigation will probably creep along so gradually that our first voyage will be made with as little excitement as we experienced on our 21st birthday. Evolution is like the growth of a child or a chicken. We realize its coming while yet in the embryo, the bursting of the shell causes a little excitement, but the after development is all taken as a matter of course, until finally, surprise is occasioned by the realization of the fact that the child is full grown and a man like ourselves.

The evolution of railroading is of a similar nature. Only 75 years ago the crude steam locomotive was on trial, and to-day the electric locomotive is a living fact. Chauncey M. Depew, one of America's greatest railroad kings, recently awoke to the wonderful development being made in transportation. He presents the evolution in a graphic manner, as follows:

"This is the age of electricity, and we have yet to discover a limit to the wonders of which that energy is capable. It seems only yesterday that we marvelled at the electrically-driven street car, yet to-day we are preparing for the electric railways which will run from the Atlantic to the Pacific. I do not believe that the public is aware of the immense task that the railways have assumed, nor what its completion means. I am staggered myself when I contrast the arising conditions with those that prevailed when I entered the service in 1866. Then a freight car of ten tons' capacity was almost a freak, and a locomotive weighing 25 tons a marvel. Now a 50-ton freight car and a 125-ton engine are commonplace. Then it cost shippers six cents a ton a mile to have their freight carried, now it costs about .66 of a cent for the same units, and that notwithstanding the fact that operating expenses have been radically increased, while wages have ascended 50 per cent." He predicts that the new power will grow cheaper as its use is extended, and that still further reductions in freight rates will result.

ANNUAL MEETING OF TORONTO RETAIL MERCHANTS.

THE annual meeting of the Toronto branch of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, held in their board room, Richmond street, on Tuesday, April 28, was largely attended by representatives from all sections of the Association. The annual report of the work done during the year showed it to be the most prosperous in the Association's history. The financial statement showed that all liabilities had been met and there was no indebtedness. The President, S. Corrigan, who was re-elected by acclamation, congratulated the members on the work done during the year and the increase in numbers.

The meeting endorsed the recommendation to ask for the following legislation at the present session of the Local Legislature' To amend the Pedlars' and Hawkers' Act so that the license for a basket might be increased from $1 to $100, and for a push-cart from $10 to $200; to amend the Transient Traders' Act forcing them to pay $250 to the City Treasurer, which shall be applied on their taxes should they continue in business: to amend the Division Court Act so as to simplify and reduce the fees for the collection of small debts; to amend the Trading Stamp Act so that the giving of coupons, exchange tickets, or similar devices by merchants or manufacturers will be abolished.

In view of the city's movement to obtain legislation to get a by-law passed forcing merchants to keep meat, fruit, etc., inside their shops, the Legislative Committee will wait upon Dr. Sheard and the Board of Health to discuss the matter. They claim that the proposed by-law is unreasonable, and that if the city were more active in keeping clean streets it would be time enough to insist on meat being kept inside.

A resolution was passed that the Association's representation on the Industrial Exhibition Board be increased from two to five.

The following officers and representatives were elected: President, S. Corrigan; First Vice-President, F. C. Higgins; Second Vice-President, J. A. H. Carnahan; Treasurer, W. Dineen; Secretary, E. M. Trowern.

Representatives to the Exhibition Board—J. Willmot and Walter Mann.

Excursion Committee—J. Willmot (Chairman), S. Corrigan, F. C. Higgins, J. A. H. Carnahan, Geo. Good, M. Moyer, W. Mann, Wm. Dineen, E. R. Reynolds, E. M. Trowern.

Toronto Grocers' Section.

The regular monthly meeting of the Toronto Grocers' Section of The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada was held on Monday evening, March 27, at eight o'clock, Geo. Good (chairman) presiding.

Mr. S. Corrigan,
President Toronto Branch, Retail Merchants' Association

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. There was a large attendance of members present, and matters of great interest to the retail grocery trade were preesnted for consideration.

The report of the Pure Food Show Committee was brought in by the treasurer, M. Moyer. He reported that they had met with excellent success, obtaining the best class of manufacturers to exhibit their goods, and all the spaces had been taken. He was pleased to say that the retail grocers were taking a very active interest in it, and over one hundred thousand tickets had been distributed among them to give to their customers.

Lecturers had been secured from the Ontario and Dominion Governments to give addresses on the advantages of pure foods, and they had also secured two famous ladies' orchestras, Harold Jarvis, Harry M. Bennett, and a number of other attractions. He estimated that it would be the best pure food show ever held in Canada

The report was received with applause, and every member present promised to give it his hearty support.

The proposed provincial legislation regarding the Pedlars' Act and Transient Traders' Act, the reduction of fees for the collection of small debts, and the amendments to the Trading Stamp Act were all fully discussed and unanimously passed.

Full arrangements were then made for the reception of the delegates to the Annual Convention of Retail Grocers. Complimentary tickets had been sent out. The meeting recommended that the prices of baking powder sold by some firms be discussed at the annual meeting. No further business coming before the meeting it then closed.

COMBINATION OF U.S. CANNERS.

Representatives of 80 per cent. of the canned fruit and vegetable interests in the United States composing a committee appointed by the Western Canned Goods Association and the Atlantic States Packers' Association met in Pittsburg last week for the purpose of organizing what will be known as the National Fruit Packers' Association. The object of the new association will be to secure an equalization of freight rates to all shippers, to promote both domestic and foreign consumption of contracts, to gather statistics which will give the shippers an idea of the production and secure the enactment of state and federal laws for the protection of shippers.

Mr. Jardine came to Canada in 1860 from his native place, Oxford, England, at the age of eighteen, and settled in Montreal. Fifteen years ago he came to Toronto. In 1900 he was Canadian Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, and later he went to South Africa.

Deceased leaves a widow, three daughters, and five sons. The funeral took place on Monday, Mar. 27, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Brantford Prepared Corn Starch

is no commonplace staple. Unique methods of manufacture and a fine discrimination in selecting the right kind of corn, have produced a better grade of corn starch than the trade has ever known before. Based on merit, and backed by heavy advertising, the inevitable result has been a demand, and progressive dealers should be prepared to supply it.

The dainty food prepared from Brantford Starch brings the customer back again many times. The common sense recipes on the packages delight the cook.

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

Toronto, Mar. 30, 1905.

ALTHOUGH business begins to show signs of wakening up, an air of quietness is still noticeable throughout the trade. The roads in the country, which last week were practically impassable, are improving, and the next two weeks will see a return to normal conditions in suburban districts. Sugar is quiet, generally, and an advance of 5c. in Berlin granulated is recorded, bringing this article to within 5c. of the price of Montreal granulated. Canned goods are very firm, especially tomatoes. The trade which was beginning to talk famine prices for the 1905 pack is viewing the situation rather more optimistically in view of the fact that the canners are contracting regularly for tomatoes at 25c. per bushel as last year.

Haddies are scarce and high in price.

Coffees have eased in primary markets, although business has been blocked by the high rate of sterling exchange in Brazil.

In foreign dried fruits the feature is that the market is practically bare of apricots. Trade in dried and cured fish has eased off during the week and dealers are making a special effort to clean up supplies.

CANNED GOODS.

Canned vegetables continue very firm. If the present demand continues for tomatoes, it will not be long until the 1904 pack is exhausted. Importations from the States continue on a considerable scale. In regard to the 1905 pack it looks as if the difficulty between the growers and the canners was going to blow over; a large number of the canners have already made contracts at the old price and with a normal crop of tomatoes this Fall, it is thought that the factories will have all the tomatoes they can handle, even supposing they run their fullest capacity. Gallon apples are not moving so well as last week, and canned fruits are only beginning to come into general demand. In haddies there has been some trade for futures. This article is scarce, however, and we believe that some of the packers will ask fancy prices.

The local sugar market continucs quiet and uninteresting, with no change to note except an advance of 5c. in Berlin granulated effective during the week, bringing it to within 5c. of a parity with Montreal granulated. Our quotations are as follows:

COFFEES.

The coffee market has eased again during the week without, however, affecting local quotations in Rios. Canadian business with primary markets has been blocked for the time being on account of the high rate of exchange sterling in Brazil.

According to latest reports fromTrinidad deliveries of cocoa are still restricted. The ripening of the pods now on the trees is being retarded by the continued dry weather. The end of March ought to have seen some increase although the prospects after March-April pickings are most discouraging and a considerable shortage in the crop is now beyond doubt. TEAS.

A fair trade is reported locally in teas. In Ceylons the quality showing at the present moment is the best so far this season. Weather conditions in Ceylon from April to June are unfavorable to the production of fine tea and hence a good deal of business is being done in flavory tea at the present time by importers who are wise to the fact that it will be impossible to secure these during the next three or four months. RICE AND TAPIOCA.

A seasonable market in rice and tapioca is reported at unchanged quotations. The New Orleans mills, according to latest reports, will get rid of all surplus and start with the new crop. This has not been the case for many years. It is estimated that the reduction of rice acreage in Texas will not be over 10 to 15 per cent. and not over 15 per cent. in Louisiana. Foreign Dried Fruits.

The most interesting feature in the foreign dried fruit market this week is the scarcity of apricots and the extraordinarily brisk demand for this article which it is practically impossible to obtain. Prunes are moving fairly briskly. Reports received in regard to the visible supply of prunes of 1904 crop state that the quantity left on the coast and now in the hands of eastern merchants is far below what it has been for several years, and that there is no reason with the large consumption during the Spring months why the entire product of prunes should not be cleaned up and consumed.

Currants and raisins are both moving well for this season of the year, the former in particular selling more freely for importation.

It may be of interest to the trade to know of the failure of the retention law in Greece, which has to do with the marketing of the currant crop there. Instead of acting in the interests of the grower by maintaining at least a minimum price for export, it has had the effect of causing the grower, in expectation of receiving this higher price, to increase the area of his vineyards and produce more currants of poorer quality which it has been found impossible to market on the basis intended to be established by Government regulation.

There is now an agitation in Greece for the abolition of Government restrictions and a return to normal conditions. It would appear that the Greeks have learned to have faith in the fundamental principle that supply and demand, after all, are the ultimate regulators of price, and that when the demand is insufficient to pay a remunerative price for the quantity of any article produced, the producer will automatically rectify this condition by producing less quantity in order to avoid loss.

An actual market opinion has been obtained from Mr. Demschisas, of Patras, Greece, who is usually looked upon as one of the best authorities. He says that any lower price than that existing to-day is not likely to be established. On the other hand, he is not very sanguine about prospects for an advance. The facts appear to be that currants are between the upper and nether millstone of an artificial support to prices by legislation and an over-production under this influence, with the result that the price is ground until there is absolutely no money for any one in the business, either by market fluctuation or actual profit; that is, no money for anybody in Greece. There is no reason, however, why merchants and traders on this side of the water should not buy and sell to profit.

EVAPORATED APPLES.

Trade in evaporated apples is quiet and the market without special feature. Prices rule as last week at from 6 3-4 to 7c. Dried apples are selling at from 3 to 4c.

BIRD SEED.

Normal business at unchanged quotations is the order of the week in bird seed. We quote the following:

Brock's	0 07½

DRIED AND CURED FISH.

The wholesale trade are making a special effort this week to dispose of stocks of dried and cured fish. Since Lent began the demand has lessened, and prices are easing in sympathy. Labrador herring in barrels are scarce. Half barrels are quoted this week at $2.85, and scaled herring are from 1-2 to 2c. easier than last week. Salmon trout $1 easier and lake herring 25c. lower in price per keg. We quote the following:

Country Produce.

EGGS.

Eggs—The price of eggs continues to drop, 17c. being quoted at the close of the market this week for strictly new-laid. Cold storage, fresh, as well as pickled eggs are out of the market, and since bakers and confectioners have now no alternative but to use fresh eggs an improved demand is noted. Supplies are barely more than sufficient to meet the demand.

BEANS.

Beans are not so lively as they were a few weeks ago. For the week under review the market is reported quiet, the high level of prices having apparently curtailed the consumptive demand. Our quotations are as follows:

Beans, handpicked, per bush	1 90	2 00

" prime, No. 2	1 55	1 60

HONEY.

A brisk trade in honey during the last month, due to the high price of butter and provisions, has been succeeded by a quieter week owing to the arrival on the market of new maple syrup. Quotations continue unchanged. We quote as follows:

SEEDS.

The general feeling in regard to the seed market is firmer this week, without, however, affecting quotations. The fine weather has brought a rush of business, and the season's trade may be said to be getting under way. Our quotations are as follows:

MAPLE PRODUCTS.

Fish and Oysters.

The Lenten trade has eased off very much during the week, and this, coupled with the warm weather, has practically knocked the bottom out of the fish trade for the time being. Fresh-caught fish are now beginning to arrive on the market, cod steak being quoted at 7 1-2c., halibut at from 14 to 15c. and haddie 6c. Our quotations are as follows:

A very quiet and dull grain market is reported for the week. Manitoba wheat is easier all round, Northern No. 1 being quoted 4c. lower than last week; No. 2 is 4 1-4c. and No. 3 3 1-2c. easier. Red and white wheat are each down 1c., and rye has declined a similar amount. We quote the following prices:

FLOUR.

The flour situation continues practically unchanged from last week, the market being quiet with no change in quotations. QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

Montreal, March 30, 1905.

CONDITIONS of trade during the past week show no change. Business on the whole may be considered as on the quiet side. The chief deterrent to business is the bad country roads. Serious complaints are being received by the jobbing houses from their travelers as to inability to get around. Collections are fairly good, and no doubt with the better roads more business would be done by country merchants. Sugars are unchanged, though cable advices report beets advanced 1 1-2d. There has been some slight improvement in teas during the week. Ceylon and Indian greens are a penny higher. Stocks of Japan are decreasing and more business turning. A strong feeling maintains in China gunpowder and Young Hysons, which are 1-2d up. Reports from Barbadoes place molasses on basis of 22c. first cost. This is an advance. Spices and coffees unchanged. No features to note in canned goods. Fish market is quiet, on account of the mild weather; stocks, however, are getting into smaller compass, with the exception of lake trout. An unsettled feeling seems to prevail in the flour trade, and some cutting is still being done by outside dealers. The rumored amalgamation of the Ogilvie Co., Limited, and The Lake of the Woods Milling Co., Limited, has been promptly denied by the presidents of both these large concerns. The report naturally caused some interest. New maple syrup and sugar is arriving, but not in sufficiently large quantities to effect ruling prices. Provisions continue high, due to the scarcity of live hogs. Eggs, which were expected to decline, and had shown weakening lately, have firmed up and prices advanced. Butter also has advanced from one to three cents per pound for new milk butter. Cheese is unchanged, and holders having stocks are disinclined to let go.

SUGAR.

Beet market advanced 1 1-2d. Local prices unaffected. A fair amount of business is passing between the refiners and the jobbers. Country orders are fairly good considering the heavy roads New York market for raws firm, but no heavy business done. Reports from Cuba as to crop are pessimistic:

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

Molasses is strong. Cables from Barbados quote 22c. first cost, puncheons included. It is reported that crop will be shorter this year than last. Buyers are holding off, however, and believe prices will recede. Newfoundland has been buying freely. Corn syrups in good favor, and increased business growing up in these grades:

TEA.

Ceylon and Indian blacks are firmer. Bids from local buyers are not readily accepted by brokers; in fact, some brokers appear reluctant to offer freely. Ceylon and Indian greens are 1d higher. Stocks of Japans are decreasing, and more business has been done during the week than for some weeks past. It is expected that the new Japan market will open at higher figures than last year. China gunpowders and Young Hyson are advanced 1c.

Foreign Dried Fruits.

There is little change to report since last week. Business remains quiet. Markets are easy with exception of shelled walnuts, which, as we anticipated, have shown a marked advance, and are now quoted 5 francs higher with strong demand. Sultana raisins are easier owing to absence of demands. Currants also can be bought slightly lower, but this is mainly on account of the low rate of exchange at present ruling in Greece. Other lines remain as reported last week.

Flour, Feed and Meal.

FLOUR.

Demand from local and country buyers limited. Country roads breaking up have had effect on trade. An unsettled feeling seems to prevail on account of cutting on part of some of the larger mills and dealers. The cutting, however, is not general. The rumored amalgamation of the two largest flouring concerns in Canada has had no effect on the market; the report was not credited, and its appearance in the press promptly denied by the heads of both concerns.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., Mar. 29, 1905.

BUSINESS continues to improve, but it is still quiet. While the snow in the city is largely gone and wheels have been the order of the day for the past week, roads through the country are impassable. There is little of interest in markets, but values are held firm. The Winter port business is about done. It has been quite a successful season. Already we are looking forward to another season. With the increased size of the new steamers increased accommodation is needed. It is felt the Government should do something. The railways, while admitting that we have the best, if not the only, port for Winter export business, that is, the best Canadian port, refuse to build wharves. In spite of the immense amount of money the Grand Trunk has spent at Portland, Maine, the C.P.R. flatly refuses to do the same here. They say the railways have not had to do anything of this kind at Montreal or Quebec. They admit no port has spent its own money as freely as we have, and, further, they even admit that we have spent all we should be asked to. National ports for national business is their stand. We certainly feel the time is here when the Government should do something. In fact, something must be done at once or the business will be lost.

Oil.

In burning oil a steady business is reported. Prices are low. Dealers are giving much attention to lubricating oils and advise a satisfactory booking of Spring orders. Paint oils have rather more attention. Linsced oil, while low, is firmer. Turpentine is unchanged at the rather lower price of last week. In cod oil little is doing.

Salt.

A fair stock of Liverpool coarse salt is held; prices are firm. In fine salt Canadian manufacturers are beginning to book for Spring business.

Canned Goods.

There is little change. Canners of domestic fish are not at all satisfied with the ruling prices. While dry and pickled fish have been at extreme prices, canned have shown practically no change. This, in the face of light stock. It is reported that several factories will not run this season. The canners are somewhat to blame, as they compete so actively against each other. Vegetables are firm; fruits and meats unchanged. Oysters tend to higher prices. In salmon the market is quite well supplied. Lobsters are very high.

Dried Fruit.

Business is quiet. In seeded raisins prices are low. Loose Muscatels are rather scarce, particularly good stock. Currants continue low. Cartons have the demand. Dates are low; just a fair sale. Prunes are low, with sales only fairly active. Apricots and peaches are high and very little in demand. Evaporated apples, while held at the advance, show little business. In onions the market is bare, and for good American stock, which is being brought here, high prices are asked. Prices from Liverpool on Egyptians are daily expected.

Sugar.

Market is unchanged. Prices are held firm. Dealers have full stocks. There are full stocks of foreign granulated sugar held by the dealers outside the association.

Molasses.

Market is firm. Barbadoes, in which new goods are offered, is high. Porto Rico, of which there is a fair stock of old still here, is also firmly held at full figures.

Fish.

Fresh fish are very scarce and high. In dry fish, particularly cod fish, the extreme prices still rule. The West Indian business has been particularly good, but Western Canadian business has been very disappointing. Pickled herring continue scarce and high. Smoked herring are freely offered. Haddies are quite firm.

Flour, Feed and Seed.

Flour is unchanged, but firmly held. Feed is scarce and high. Oats and oatmeal are firm at what are high prices. Cornmeal is also high. While beans keep high there has been no advance during the week. Split peas and barley are scarce and high. Seeds, particularly best red clovers and mammoths, are higher. Already large quantities are being received.

HINTS TO BUYERS.

Contributors are requested to send news only, not puffs of goods they handle, or the arrival of standard goods that everyone has in stock, or that they are offering goods at close figures, or that they have had an unusually large sale this season.

S. H. Ewing & Sons, Montreal, have received a consignment of Schweitzer's cocoatina in ¼-lb. tins. This seasonable line should command attention of the trade.

Jas. Rutherford & Co., Montreal, are offering special values in China Young Hysons and gunpowders at 8½c., also Ceylon and Indian blacks at 12½c.

McWilliam & Everist, Toronto, report the arrival of three cars lemons, two cars bananas and four cars navel oranges this week.

The Dawson Commission Co., Toronto, have received a car extra fine bananas during the week, also two cars California navel oranges.

A very useful accessory to any well-kept grocery store is an automatic molasses pump. The Eby, Blain Co., Toronto, are sole agents for this line, and at their quotation no grocer should be without one.

Tobler's genuine Swiss cocoa is now offered by The Eby, Blain Co., Toronto. Some retailers report it to be an equally as good seller as their well-known lines of Swiss milk chocolates, a full line of which is always carried in stock by The Eby, Blain Co.

Warren Bros. & Co., Toronto, are clearing out their stock of fish at greatly reduced prices.

In addition to their regular lines of fruit and produce, White & Co., Toronto, are handling fresh-caught fish of all kinds, this branch being under experienced men.

Another large shipment of pineapples arrived to White & Co., Toronto, this week.

Warren Bros. & Co., Toronto report the arrival of a shipment of Rio coffee, all grades.

Mr. E. D. Marceau, Montreal, calls buyers' attention to values in Japan teas. The merits of Madam Huot's coffees are being appreciated by the trade, judging by the increased inquiry received for same through The Grocer.

Buyers of salmon trout should communicate with H. P. Eckardt & Co., Toronto, who are selling at a low price.

Buyers of fard dates may procure same from H. P. Eckardt & Co., Toronto.

L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, have 200 cases fresh-shelled walnuts to offer at very attractive prices.

The firm of L. Chaput, Fils & Cie., Montreal, have made a nice deal on "Japan tea." They have bought some 600 or 700 packages much under value of invoice. They are offering this to their customers. See advt. in another page.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, B.C., Mar. 23, 1905.

THERE are so many railway stools, that with them all the Province of British Columbia is very likely to fall to the ground another year from inability to come to an agreement on one. The Grand Trunk Pacific delegation which stormed the provincial capital about the time of the opening of the Legislature, has withdrawn private ears and all, with the ultimatum rather petulantly given by Vice-President Morse that there will be no "core" for B. C. for the road will be built from the east, as the Government has failed to give a big land grant which the railway company had expressed its willingness to accept. The V. W. & Y. Railway, which is a Great Northern subsidiary company, is still in the fight for a grant to aid northern construction, beginning from Burrard Inlet; but appearances are all against any grant from this session of the house. The Coast-Kootenay proposition, of which there are several alternatives, including C.P. R., V.V. & E. (another Great Northern project), and the Coast-Kootenay Railway, for which a charter is privately owned here, is also slated to be left out from all accounts. On this subject, which has been a hardy perennial for the past decade, business men are very strongly worked up. It has long been pointed out that such a short line would give much-needed direct communication from the commercial centres of the coast to the wealthy districts, mining and agricultural, of the Okanagan and the Kootenay, and in addition would open up the Similkameen district, rich in both mineral and agricultural resources, but now entirely without railway communication. The Vancouver Board of Trade held a special meeting on Tuesday to urge action in this very important matter. The meeting passed a resolution endorsing aid to the Vancouver and Coast-Kootenay road, but not favoring a grant to either the C.P. R. or the Great Northern. The latter was opposed as an American line, while the majority of those present inclined to the view that the direct line on the south side of the Fraser River was preferable to the line from Spence's Bridge to Midway, proposed by the C.P.R.

The Royal City Exhibition Association is working hard to make the coming Dominion Fair a success in every way. The acceptance of the invitation to open the fair by the Governor-General has added to the interest being aroused, and Mayor Keary, who is also manager of the fair, has recently returned from a successful tour to the interior districts of the province. The Okanagan district is in line to present a magnificent exhibit of the wonderful fruit grown in that section, every different settlement vying with the others in preparing a display.

Fruit-growing is receiving greater attention than ever this year, and efforts to put it on a proper commercial basis are unsparing. The Fruit-Growers' Association has a number of matters in hand which are in the nature of improvements to the industry. Recently they waited on the Provincial Government in regard to some of the regulations which bear hardly on nurserymen, and at the present moment a move is being carried out which will be a very valuable aid to the industry. This is the taking charge of an orchard by the Association for purposes of demonstration in methods of handling trees and fruit. An orchard has been selected at Langley, on the Fraser River, where W. J. Brandrith will conduct spraying operations for the Association, as well as pruning and every process in the care of the trees. This work will be in the nature of a series of demonstrations, and the Association will continue the care of the orchard until the season's fruit crop is picked and packed for market. By these object lessons it is hoped that valuable training in commercial methods of Fruit transportation from some of the Fraser districts is also receiving attention. At a meeting of the Association in Chilliwack this week, the subject of transporting the crop from that district across the river to reach the C.P. R. main line was discussed. An improvement in the present steamer service is to be inaugurated so that all the small fruits will be carefully and speedily carried from orchard to railway and shipped at once to the Northwest, obviating delays which have in the past resulted in leaving the fruit in bad condition and in making a bad impression when it reaches market.

Shipping fruit from B.C. to the Old Country market is to be taken up by W. F. Johnstone, of Nelson, who has gone to England to make arrangements for a market for crops which will in the near future become available in the Nelson district of the Kootenay. A large amount of land suitable for fruit culture has, of recent years, been laid out in orchards, and the trees are coming into bearing with very favorable results. Last Fall experimental shipments of Nelson, and also of Okanagan fruit, were sent to the Old Country, and Mr. Johnstone thinks there is no question that there will be a good field of industry worked up.

Late advices from Dawson tell some interesting things of the way prices on various articles soar in that northern community when stocks run low and the means of replenishing by shipping in are precarious. Eggs are quoted at $19 per case and lemons at $35 per case. Cheese is selling at 30c. and Canadian creamery butter 40 to 50c. per lb. Apples sold at $7 per box. Oddly, while potatoes are very dear in B.C. markets, they are over-stocked in Dawson, and sell at 6 and 8c. per lb., which is low for this season of the year in Dawson. Other prices are equally interesting as showing the very speculative market which conditions create in all produce in the north.

Local markets are very quiet as yet. Prices of butter keep up, nothing less than 25c. is quoted on good stock, and stocks are small. Eggs slightly lower. Oranges are a little firmer in price, though quotations are still about $1.75 to $2.50. A carload of Colorado potatoes for the local market arrived a few days ago, selling at $32 per ton to the trade.

NOVA SCOTIA MARKETS.

Halifax, N.S., Mar. 27, 1905.

THE wholesale grocery market has about recovered from the unnatural and unexpected state which prevailed during the whole of February and part of March, and trade is reported good in almost every line. Payments, however, are still short and may be expected so for a few months. The retail trade is good, and weekly and monthly accounts are being settled with fair promptness. The outlook for Spring and Summer trade is good.

Although no change has recently taken place in the sugar prices, the market is still in an unsettled condition, owing to the weakness in the European market for raw beet sugar, prices in London being reported the lowest for two or three months. It is believed that this dulness is only temporary and that prices will be higher later in the season. The molasses market remains unchanged at prices formerly quoted. The Barbadoes market is still firm, and new crop is quoted to arrive here at about 33½c. Though the planters are firm in their ideas, the price may be affected by the weakness in sugar.

The boats crossing from Pictou have cut their way through the ice, but are still shut in by ice-floes in the gulf. However, Spring has opened now, and with the opening of the harbors along the coast of the island, schooners will be able to ply to Sydney and Halifax. When these supplies come forward, prices will drop very materially.

The fish market is fairly well supplied with fresh fish, but prices are high, and unless compelled by the necessities of the Lenten season to use fish, meats are found to be cheaper. So high has been the price of lobsters in the Boston market of late that a very ordinary lobster costs in this market 15 to 25c. This makes the crustacean a luxury.

R.C.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Special Report from the Winnipeg Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, March 30th, 1905.

INCREASED activity is apparent in wholesale grocery houses this week. Travelers are sending in good orders and trade is more active now than for some weeks past. The only change in the sugar market has been a decline of 10c. on all grades for points west of Portage la Prairie, but not including that town. No change has been made in Winnipeg prices and none is expected at the moment, as advices from outside markets all indicate a firm sugar market. The bean market continues very firm and a further advance is looked for in the near future. Oatmeal is selling lower than the condition of the market would seem to warrant, but, owing to local conditions, no advance is likely. Fresh eggs are in abundant supply and, at time of writing, the wholesale price is down to 13c. Pickled stock is off the market now, of course.

Wilson's fly-pads have been advanced in price for the coming season. The price is now $3 per box; 3 boxes for $8.40.

Sugar.

As noted above, there has been a decline of 10c. on all grades of refined sugars to apply to all points west of Portage la Prairie, but not including that town. No change has been made in Winnipeg and the decline to the west is not taken to indicate a turn in the market, as outside advices still indicate a firm sugar market. We again quote as follows:

Forest City Baking Powder

You cannot afford to handle a poor, cheap brand of Baking Powder.

Your profits on it for a time may be greater than on a better and slightly more expensive brand.

Your customers will soon discover the poor brands and then they'll look around for the good ones.

And when they stop buying Baking Powder from you the chances are they'll stop everything else.

Better make sure you are right and handle only Forest City Baking Powder.

Good morning, Mister Grocer.

You've had a great run on those Simcoe Canned Beets? I knew you would. I felt sure when your customers saw that glass dish on your counter filled with ripe, red, tender beets, they would keep you busy passing out Simcoe Canned Beets. You can always depend that anything I recommend to you has real merit, and will be an easy seller.

Have we any high-grade Catsups? Isn't it singular that you should be thinking of the very same thing as myself? I'm here on purpose this week to call your attention to our DELHI "EPICURE" CATSUP.

Now, we have excellent Catsups at lower prices than our DELHI "EPICURE" CATSUP, but our DELHI "EPICURE" CATSUP is extra excellent, and is made especially to compete with the high-grade imported Catsups, such as you now have on your shelves. The quality is quite as good, to my taste better, the style of package is equally as attractive, if not more so, and, most important, the price is a great deal lower.

The only fault (if it can be called a fault) you can find with our DELHI "EPICURE" CATSUP, is, that its flavor is so seductive you are apt to dine off the Catsup, and neglect the rest of your meal; but then, that's a fault that's good for trade.

Let me send you a few cases each of Pints and Quarts. Five cases of each did you say? Thank you. You'll thank me when I next see you.

THE CANNERS' DRUMMER.

CHINA AND GLASSWARE

FEW merchants realize the attractiveness of a well-kept glass and china department. If these goods are properly displayed, and kept clean and fresh, they will not only sell themselves, but will help the sales of other departments. We have but to instance the glass vases which the wholesale glass dealers are showing this Spring. The design of studded glass which was just introduced last year is this season shown in white and colored glass in very attractive designs. Where they were shown last year they met with an instantaneous popularity. They will, undoubtedly, prove good sellers this year and should form a part of every glassware department.

CUT GLASS.

The exquisite fineness of cut glass, of course, places it far above any other kind of ware. The high price of cut glass dishes makes it impracticable for most grocers to carry a stock, but where there is any possibility of a good trade, a few pieces could be kept to advantage.

IMITATION CUT GLASS.

Imitations of cut glass are being made with fine success. The stock of such goods which is being shown in Toronto is most attractive. It is difficult to see the difference between a piece of this glass, which retails at fifty or seventy-five cents, and a piece of genuine cut glass. The color is good, the patterns closely follow the originals, and they are of good weight. The great success of this style of glassware during the coming Summer is assured. When a water pitcher which bears close scrutiny when placed beside a piece of cut glass can be purchased for seventy-five cents, it requires no foresight to see that it is going to be on most tables during the coming hot season. The vases are in the same class. They sparkle like the real thing, they are heavy and solid, and they have the most intricate patterns. There are no goods in the store which will allow of such good display. The customer thinks she is getting much for her money, as, indeed, she is. The goods admit of a good profit even at the low figure.

NOVELTY BON-BON DISHES.

Novelties in glassware which are assured of a good sale are the line made in the shape of clubs, diamonds, spades, and hearts. The idea is bright, and a new thing of real originality is quickly picked up.

These are but samples of what is offered in fancy lines. The artistic effects which are worked with glass enter into all the range of dishes and vases. In the latter are seen some noticeably pretty things in green glass with burnished gold ornamentation. The designs are conventional. No less attractive are the vases of opalescent glass in crystal, blue and green.

FEATURES FOR SUMMER TRADE.

IT has occurred to The Grocer representative in going the rounds of the Canadian china and crockery houses this season that manufacturers could make no mistake in putting a line of earthenware on the market suited to the needs of the Summer cottager and suburban resident. Something cheap, clean and bright looking in cups, saucers and plates, that when arrayed on a background of snowy-white linen, would help to produce the proverbial Summer appetite, and no one who has lived on a farm or spent a Summer holiday in the country can deny that an array of china or earthenware, with suggestive decoration in bright, fresh colors, goes a long way towards producing the desired result.

This want has been admirably met by Mr. E. W. Klotz, Toronto, who has just imported from England a line of earthenware known as "Persian" ware, especially designed for use in Summer cottages. In decoration the old-fashioned floral design, in bright blues, greens and reds, is utilized on a white background, combining to produce an effect which is the prettiest the writer has yet seen in this style of goods. "Persian" ware comes in three sizes of plates, cups and saucers, oatmeal bowls, in addition to three other sizes of bowls and fruit saucers. The cups and saucers retail at $1 per dozen; the other lines are correspondingly cheap, so cheap and such good value in fact that no one should be without them.

Among novelties of the season in dinnerware are the "Dainty" and "Baltic" patterns, the former in "flown blue" being especially attractive. English designs in odd pieces of earthenware, such as teapots, cream and sugar bowls, etc., known as the "Toby" pattern, are also popular in regular and miniature sizes. The usual variety in lobster cabarets, pudding sets, decorated Bohemian and irridescent glass, china ash and pin trays, are also seen, while in Austrian cut glass a new line of soda jugs is taking well among the higher-class trade. In earthenware, one of the fads of the season is the "110 Japan" decoration, the "Tom and Jerry" punch bowl sets in china, consisting of bowl and 12 mugs, being equally popular. Umbrella stands, steins and odd figures in Flemish stoneware, are also in unusually attractive variety this season.

The Pottery Gazette has issued a diary and trade directory of the glass, china, porcelain and earthenware manufacturers and dealers throughout the British Empire, which, as a compendium of information, ought to be invaluable to the trade.

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

THERE is to be an opening for modern canning-factory machinery and appliances in China before long; indeed it may almost be said that there is an opening at the present time. The new industrial school being established in Hangchau by the gentry of this province includes in its curriculum training in the canning of fruits and vegetables on a large scale.

There are reasons why factories of the sort are likely to succeed. While there are not many fruits in China which can be canned to advantage, there are one or two varieties which can be put up for some classes of trade for far less money in China than in other countries. The fruit is cheap, and labor can be had at rates impossible anywhere else than in Asia.

In South China and the Straits Settlements there are several canning factories which have proved a great success. They have a brand of pineapples on the market which is fair in quality, cheap in price, and yet put out at a very good profit. In China it is probable that some vegetables could be handled by canning factories with good returns, the low price of the vegetables and of labor offering advantages which would enable the projectors to enter markets now held by other nations. The Chinese themselves appreciate the possibilities in this direction, and the proposed school course in Hangchau is significant. It is merely another form of the present policy of the Chinese officials — "China for the Chinese."

GREEN FRUITS.

Toronto, Mar. 30, 1905.

A GOOD volume of business in green fruits is reported during the week, largely on account of the seasonable weather. The leading sellers, of course, are oranges and bananas; the former are not arriving as freely as last week and are exhibiting signs of waste, notwithstanding the fact that fruit is now coming under ice. Pines are more plentiful and showing excellent quality. At the close of the market the price of Havanas has advanced to $4.50. Tangerines are up 25c. in price, while marmalade oranges are 25c. easier on account of the demand for the latter having eased off for the season. Cranberries are quoted $1 easier than a week ago. Strawberries are beginning to arrive regularly in small quantities and the market fluctuates from day to day according to supply and demand. Our quotations are as follows:

Florida grape fruit, per box	5 00	5 50

VEGETABLES.

Business in imported stuff is beginning to assume considerable proportions, although trade in domestic vegetables is quiet and will continue so until fresh out-door stuff comes on the market. A lot of American cabbage is arriving, and selling at from $22 to $25 a ton. Spanish onions are off the market, and their place will be taken by Egyptians in the course of a couple of weeks. Potatoes are low in price, carlots in bags being quoted fully 10c. below last week. Some cold-storage cauliflowers from Chicago are noticed on the market. Greenhouse rhubarb, new potatoes and spinach are all down in price on account of freer supply. New asparagus is quoted for the first time this season at $2.25 per doz. bunches. Cuban tomatoes are up $1 to $1.25 in price because of scarcity of supplies. We quote the following prices:

Apples are low except for the very best stock. The banana season has opened, the first car of green fruit in bulk arriving last week. Prices are quite low. Oranges show little change but are rather firmer. Few Valencies are seen for the season. Lemons keep low. There is a fair demand. Some little green stuff is seen, but prices are high.

Relating to Canadian Gum Factory.

ALMOST everybody has chewed gum, is chewing gum or will chew gum at some time or other. In the minds of some people, chewing gum is an undesirable acquisition, but these highly aesthetic critics are in the minority, and as physicians the world over have endorsed and recommended the chewing of gum as an aid to digestion, the general public pays no attention to the carping critics—and keeps on chewing gum. It is a well-known fact that the chewing gum industry of the United States is one of the largest in that country of mammoth enterprises. In Canada, also, there are a number of very extensive factories located in the larger cities, and the industry is developing in every direction. One of the most up-to-date is that of A. Bodenweiser, better known as A. Bode, located at 28-30 St. George street, Montreal. Less than a year ago, Mr. A. Bodenweiser came to Canada from the United States with a view to establishing a plant for the manufacture of his special brand of gum known as "Bode's Brand of Gum." At that time he was located in a small room at 18 St. George street, with a plant having a capacity of about 6,000 packages per day. As a result of the energy displayed in pushing his goods to the front, he was forced in less than a year to take larger premises at 28-30 St. George street, which he still occupies.

A visit to the factory by a Grocer representative leads him to the conclusion that in every respect, cleanliness, up-to-date machinery and systematic arrangement, it stands in the very front rank of similar Canadian industries to-day, with a daily capacity of from 60,000 to 80,000 packages. From the foregoing statement it is evident that the Bode Gum Co. are giving to their Canadian patrons a gum that must give satisfaction in every respect, and as high quality of gum as can be offered. Their motto is "Cleanliness and quality."

As an advertiser of his wares, Mr. Bodenweiser (Bode) is right in line with the most modern ideas, and the City of Montreal bears visible evidence of his determination to place the merits of Bode's gum before the dealer and consumer. The Little Bode Slot Machine is ubiquitious, and the click of the falling pennies is to be heard from Maisonneuve to Lachine and Point St. Charles. These little self-vendors are ornamental, popular and profitable for any class of business. The demand for the same is ever on the increase, and Mr. Bode stated that in order to meet it there were at present in the factory 10,000 of these little money-makers. It will not be long before every city, town and hamlet in Canada will have them "out for business." These machines may be obtained through any jobbing house or direct by application to the L. B. Slot Machine Co., 28-30 St. Charles street, Montreal.

Consumption of Candy in U.S.

The consumption of sugar in the United States has been steadily rising for 20 years, says The New York Sun, and now exceeds that of any other country. It amounts to 72 pounds a head of population, the figures being as follows for other nations: England, 68 pounds; Denmark, 35; France, 30; Holland, 30; Switzerland, 27; Germany, 20; Sweden, 20; Italy, 10, and Spain 6.

The consumption of sugar in the United States exceeds in a year 2,500,000 tons, and it approximates the total consumption of sugar on the whole European continent—equalling that of all Europe, exclusive of Great Britain, in which the consumption amounts to 1,500,000 tons a year.

The American craving for sugar, so far from showing any indications of decline, seems to be on the increase, as is shown by the fact that the average consumption per capita has increased half a pound in five years.

Confectionery News.

Plans are now under way for the further extension of the Mooney Biscuit & Candy Co.'s plant at Stratford.

P. N. Hamm has begun operations at his biscuit factory, Moncton, N.B., and is already supplying the local trade.

W. White has severed his connection with the White Candy Co., St. John, N.B., and will shortly start in the confectionery business on his own account.

During one year, 1,150,000 pieces of chewing gum were taken from slot machines located in 400 Santa Fe Railway stations. The traveling public, therefore, chewed $11,500 worth of gum while riding on this road.

BRUSH DISPLAYS FOR SPRING TRADE.

VERY few grocers and general merchants make any attempt at a proper display of household goods, as required by the average purchaser, writes a correspondent signing himself "Traveler," and many dollars are lost every season owing to the carelessness of store keepers in neglecting to display scrub brushes, brooms, pails, wash boards, wash tubs, mop sticks, clothes pins, etc.

It is a good scheme for the grocer or general merchant to keep his barrel tops and hoops. Wind a hoop with turkey red or other suitable material, and place small screws, hooks or nails on the inside of the hoop. Adjust a small eye or hook in the end of each brush, and fasten the whole with hanger from the ceiling or window, just as you would hang a picture. This method of display may be utilized with all classes of brushes. Barrel covers can be used to good advantage by tacking or glueing them together, covering them with some colored material, and fastening brushes with tape, elastic or wire on both sides, and hanging the whole from the ceiling or window. You will be greatly surprised at the increased sales of brushes in Spring cleaning time if some such schemes for display are inaugurated.

The Question Answered

The question of two weeks ago is answered this week in the light of science.

We submitted a package of Orange Meat

bought in the ordinary way in the open market for analysis in the laboratory of Queen's University, Kingston.

The report is as follows:

Moisture	6.56	per cent.
Fat	.67	"
Ash	.217	"
Proteids	10.61	"
Dextrin	14.40	"
Maltose	23.76	"
Other Carbohydrates	41.73	"

Extract by shaking with cold water:

Specific gravity	1.012	per cent.
Total solids dissolved	46.20	"
Soluble nitrogen	.228	"
Proteids	14.25	"

Show your physician this report—he will understand it. We may say, however, that nearly half the weight of the food is composed of Maltose and Dextrin—substances most easily digested.

This is enough for this week on this phase of the subject—but it's good stuff.

The Frontenac Cereal Co.
Limited.
KINGSTON, Ont.

Flour and Cereal Foods

Wheat Situation.

THE quietness of the wheat market, noticeable during the last few weeks, continues to rule at the close of the market this week. Manitoba is down fully 5c. in price, while Ontario remains at about last week's level with a slightly upward tendency. It is a little early to prophesy about the coming crop; reports received from the country so far, however, indicate that grain has Wintered fairly well, and if nothing untoward happens between now and the early Summer, a good yield in all varieties may be expected.

A report was current last week in Toronto grain circles that the Ontario Fall wheat market had been cornered. This turns out to have been partly true in so far as four or five of the big grain interests have combined to put up the price of Fall wheat. They have not succeeded as yet; at the same time it is commonly known that Fall wheat is in a few hands, and it is believed in certain quarters that there is comparatively little more to come. In the event of the latter being true, the price of Fall wheat might easily advance in the near future; at the same time it must be remembered that there is plenty of Manitoba grain available at present, which factor would tend to prevent wheat in the east being boosted by speculators.

The bull interests have estimated that there are only between 100,000 and 150,000 bush. of the last crop left in the province, a ridiculously small amount, with practically no wheat in farmers' hands. Of the amount mentioned, the bulls claim to have cornered at least 90 per cent. of the available supply.

The Toronto Pure Food Show.

A PURE food show, under the auspices of the Toronto Grocers' Section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, will be held in Massey Hall, Toronto, from April 3 to 15, inclusive. This enterprise is the outcome of an agitation on the part of the Retail Merchants' Association for more stringent Government regulations in regard to the manufacture and sale of pure food products, which has already been productive of excellent results.

The main object of the management is to assist the Retail Grocers' Section of the Association in the good work they have already accomplished by securing remedial legislation for safeguarding the interests of the trade and consuming public at large. Lectures and talks on food and cooking will be given by the best available persons with a view to educating the public and creating a greater demand for pure and wholesome food. Every possible effort will be made to bring the manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers closer together and into direct touch with the consumer.

During the last week of the show a convention of retail grocers, including 55 branches of the Retail Merchants' Association from all parts of Ontario, will be held. Special railway rates have been secured, and it is expected that there will be a very large attendance from all over the province. The committee hope to make this one of the most important events in the history of the grocery trade of Ontario, and are sparing no efforts to secure a representative gathering of the different branches of the trade, including manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and the consuming public.

Among the large list of exhibitors are: The Walker Bins, Todhunter & Mitchell, McClure & Langley, E. D. Smith, Candy Floss, Fairless Milling Co., Dominion Canister Co., Windsor Salt Co., T. A. Lytle & Co., United Factories, Cowan & Co., Cerebos Salt Co., Pure Gold Mfg. Co., Edwardsburg Starch Co., Truro Condensed Milk, Bates Mfg. Co., J. J. McLaughlin & Co., John Klees, Grierson & Co., Imperial Extract Co., Mr. Fralick, Eby, Blain Co., Christie, Brown & Co., Canadian Shredded Wheat Co., E. W. Gillett & Co., City Dairy Co., John Sloan & Co., White & Co.

The committee of management is composed as follows: Chairman, G. Good; Treasurer, M. Moyer; Secretary, F. C. Higgins; General-Secretary, E. M. Trowern.

Mr. B. H. Blakeslee, who has been so successful in placing Orange Meat on the Canadian market, has resigned his position with the Frontenac Cereal Co. Mr. Blakeslee's interests are still in the trade and he is promising his friends an interesting announcement in the course of a few days.

The Snelgrove-Waddington Co. are about to erect a large general store in Fort William, Ont.

Tobaccos, Cigars, and Smokers' Accessories

A DEPARTMENT FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS.

Increase the Tobacco Department.

THE grocer cannot sell tobacco without making an effort. It is good stock and the sale of it is immense; but if the dealer keeps it carefully stored away in some obscure corner or under the counter, he is likely to go on keeping it there. Tobacco, like most other things, must be shown, if it is to be sold. It allows of good display, and, instead of being a cumbersome and unsightly department, as it is made in some stores, it should prove an attractive part of the store.

The grocer has a number of advantages over strict tobacco stores. The latter draw the entire trade of the youth who patrol the streets at night. But in very many cases the older man has a prejudice against these stores. This arises from the very causes which induce the young man to frequent them. The tinsel and glitter of the cigar store which is usually accompanied by the objectionable billiard room, while it attracts the impressionable young man, has just the opposite effect on the older and staider man. Quietness and respectability are what he seeks. Accordingly, he would prefer to make his purchases in the grocery store and smoke his pipe or cigar at home.

Of course, if the grocer is to secure this trade, he must have what his customers demand. A man soon becomes an epicure in tobaccos, and a fair assortment must be offered him. But the largeness of this class of trade justifies him in making big efforts to capture it. He cannot afford to lose it.

Cuba's Cigar Output.

Cuban Treasury returns of internal revenue collections upon cigars give the consumption as a trifle over 184,000,000 cigars per year, and which would be at the rate of 100,000 smokers about five cigars per day. At the same time over 3,000,000,000 cigarettes were consumed in one year in the Island of Cuba, or a trifle over twenty cigarettes per day for 400,000 cigarette consumers, as the latter number includes some women and half-grown boys. The actual consumption must be larger still, as the farming population does not pay taxes on their own "vegueros" and as the free cigars in the factories which are given away or surreptitiously taken will swell the total figures considerably more. The Island of Cuba, therefore, can be safely said to manufacture and consume 54 per cent. of her own tobacco production, or say 300,000 bales, while only 46 per cent., or 250,000 bales, are exported from there to all countries.

We've All Been There.

He swore off smoking, so he did,
And thanked his lucky stars;
His resolution gained, alas,
A lot of jolting jars;
For every friend he met for days
Would proffer him cigars.

He told them all he had sworn off,
His smoking days were o'er,
And when they laughed at him, of course
It made him very sore;
The chaffing of his wicked friends
He deemed a downright bore.

For three whole days he kept his pledge,
As cross as any bear,
As nervous as a setting hen
And prone to curse and swear,
And then went back to his cigars—
I guess you've all been there.

A Tobacco Monopoly.

Sometime when the troubles of the tobacco business press heavily on you, take a glance at the conditions in France and it will restore your good humor. There the Government has a monopoly of the tobacco business, and the consumer or manufacturer contributes $71,000,000 to the Governmental octopus for the pleasure of smoking. Curiously enough, the largest sum is derived from the sale of two-cent cigars.

Letters to Tom, the Grocer.—No. II.

HAMILTON, March 31, 1905

Dear Tom:

We think you need a word of warning Young buyers are apt to over buy. The offer of an extra 10 per cent. discount on gross lots is a temptation, but it may be bad business to yield to it. If your business won't stand the safe purchase of more than a dozen, don't buy 11 dozen more just to reduce the price of one dozen by 10 per cent. We once knew a man who bought a gross of tubs this way. He sold most of them at a loss.

Made in Canada

These words are the key to the success that every true Canadian heartily desires for this fair Canada of ours!

Why should we buy goods of any description that are made in a foreign country? The making of foreign goods does not give employment to our artisans. It does not retain money in this country.

Why use Foreign Salt? We have CANADIAN SALT that is superior to any foreign salt that is made.

Why not help build up Canada by using

Canadian Salt

and thereby employ Canadian labor, Canadian works, and Canadian capital?

Demand of your wholesale grocer Canadian Salt, and if he does not keep it write to us for prices and samples.

TORONTO PURE FOOD SHOW

Under the auspices of the Toronto Grocers' Section of Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, Toronto, April 3 to 15, 1905

IF frequenters of Massey Music Hall, Toronto, will only allow themselves to be transported to the ground floor of this splendid auditorium during the next two weeks they may have the pleasure of experiencing the novel sensation of "not knowing where they were at," so complete is the transformation wrought by the directors of the Toronto Pure Food Show. The entire floor space has been planned as a miniature village, only, instead of ordinary every-day houses, the streets are lined with gorgeous booths representing no less than fifty Canadian manufacturers and dealers in footstuffs. The Grocer representative spent an hour or two at the show on Monday, April 3, the opening day, being jostled about by good-natured throngs of sight-seers, and imagining he was once more going the rounds of the Canadian National Exhibition or, as is more familiarly known, the Toronto Fair, of which it is practically a miniature reproduction. The free lunches are quite as numerous, the kaleidoscopic color effect, a veritable feast for the eyes, and the incidental entertainment provided a distinct credit to the management. Judging from the frequent nods of approbation and general satisfaction expressed by the numerous visitors on opening day, the success of the show is already assured. A pure food show is something out of the ordinary for the Canadian retail grocery trade, and it is, perhaps, largely because of this fact that the idea has taken from the very first.

Among the Exhibits.

At the entrance to the show you are confronted by the ubiquitous sign "White & Co." The Grocer had been prepared beforehand for something out of the ordinary from these people and was not disappointed. They have, to all intents and purposes, transported a whole southern vegetable garden to Massey Hall, and are showing in addition an attractive display of tropical fruits, including orange and banana trees.

A brawny Scotchman and a typical lassie in Highland costume are in charge of a booth close by, which has very appropriately been styled the "Wee McGregor." A hearty greeting and the ever welcome: "Will ye no hae an oatcake?" convert the most skeptical in short order, and ere you are aware of it another crowd is forming in the background waiting their turn to taste the national food of Scotland, cooked in old-time fashion before the open fireplace.

Farther along Society Row you meet the Imperial Extract Co., with a very attractive exhibit of "Shirriff" marmalades; and the Eby, Blain Co., with their "Gold Medal" coffee, "Kolona" tea and "Kin Hee" coffee-pot. Mr. John W. Maybee is in charge of this booth, which he had built after a special design of his own, and if you want a delicious cup of tea or coffee, served under the immediate direction of one Maybee—who knows all about it—just tell Mr. Maybee what a fine booth he has.

Attractive Displays.

We note with pleasure that the sign of the "Peacock" which, as everyone knows, is associated with the Bates Mfg. Co.'s mincemeat products, is looming up larger and more resplendent than ever. This firm are making an elaborate showing of their special brands of cream cheese and hard-boiled candies. The Grocer overheard a buxom housekeeper asking the man in charge of the Bates Mfg. Co.'s exhibit whether they were demonstrating mince pies like they did at the Toronto Fair. The worthy lady in question looked as if she could have departed this life in peace directly she was assured that she might again have the opportunity of tasting those delicious pies.

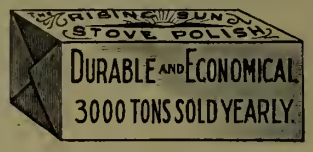
"Reindeer" brand of condensed milk, and "Jersey Cream," occupy a position of prominence where they rightly belong. Demonstrations are given daily and refreshment provided for the hungry, tired and curious. Tea and coffee are delicious, but it is the "Jersey" ice-cream that brings back the days when, as a small boy, the writer hoarded his pennies until he could afford to buy a certain luxury called "Jersey" ice-cream. He is forced to the conclusion that the old-time stuff must have been made of "Jersey" cream, or something very like it.

Mr. Hewitt is on hand as usual directing the faithful to the headquarters of "Shredded Wheat" and "Triscuit," where they are freely regaled with "pure food." The name of "Shredded Wheat" has become associated at our exhibitions and fairs with attractive booths and pretty girls. How is it?

"Pure Gold" is much in evidence, on account of its lavish display and the sterling quality of the products shown; for further proof watch the crowds of samplers hovering about the booth any hour of the day. Nearby you are face to face with Christie, Brown & Co.'s biscuits. For quiet elegance, nothing about the show excels C., B. & Co.'s booth. It is, so to speak, among the aristocrats, and the 445-odd varieties tell their tale most effectively behind as many glass cases.

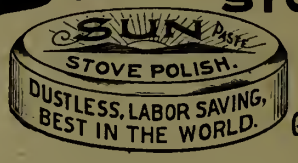
In confectionery, almost an entire row of booths is devoted to leading lines, including Cowan & Co.'s and Tobler's. In condiments and pickles, T. A. Lytle & Co. deserve special reference for their excellent display of "pure goods" products."

Over Fifty Firms Represented.



Among other exhibits may be mentioned the Walker Bins, which exhibit was described perfectly by an out-of-town grocer when he remarked that "this was the only way to keep pure foods pure." E. D. Smith, of Winona, in the opinion of many, is sure to come in for special commendation when the lectures on pure foods begin later in the week, likewise E. W. Gillett & Co., the Cerebos Salt Co., the Windsor Salt Co., John Sloan & Co., D. Grierson & Co., and the Frontenac Cereal Co., all of whom are making creditable showings at Massey Hall. It goes without saying that "Blue Ribbon" and "Ludella" teas would receive a lion's share of attention from the grocers and their friends, and in their search for representative pure-food beverages, the management of the Pure Food Show have chosen wisely in selecting these brands for purposes of demonstration.

But, for lack of space, The Grocer would like to comment on the remaining exhibits, including the Fairless Milling Co., the Dominion Canister Co., J. J. McLaughlin & Co., and the United Factories, the latter of whom have a claim to a place in the show on account of pure foods being so closely associated with cleanliness in the store.



Grocers' Convention.

We recommend our readers in Toronto and nearby towns to take a day off and visit the show, which is not only entertaining, but instructive in the extreme. Next week, as a fitting climax to the first pure food exhibition ever held in Toronto, will be held a conven-

GLEANED FROM THE TRAVELERS.

HENDERSON & CO., Acton, have improved the appearance of their store by putting in a handsome new front.

Mr. D. Cain, Bobcaygeon, is dead. Mr. Cain was known to the trade as one of the veterans in the general mercantile trade. His business will be continued by his son.

Hopkins Bros. & Marks, Kinmount, have been doing a strictly cash business since April 1.

Mr. H. Wilson, Cannington, has entirely recovered from his recent attack of grippe and is able to be about his store.

Mr. J. S. Ireland, Mount Forest, played the part of host on Mar. 15 to a number of his Winnipeg friends. Among the numerous guests present were several members of the traveling fraternity from Toronto, all of whom are enthusiastic over the enjoyable evening spent.

Mr. T. H. Ellis, of T. H. Ellis & Co., Mount Forest, has improved much in health since his return from Toronto a few days ago.

McClarty Bros., Owen Sound, are improving the appearance of their place of business—a difficult thing to do. Their policy is to spare no pains in making their store attractive and to provide a perfect service for their customers.

Mr. J. Lindsay, Orangeville, who has engaged successfully in the general mercantile business for many years is retiring in favor of his nephew, Mr. E. C. Clark. Mr. Clark's many friends wish him a continuation of the prosperity enjoyed by his predecessor.

Mr. E. Berwick, Shelburne, the proprietor of one of the handsomest departmental stores in the north country, reports business as fair considering the state of the roads.

Mr. H. J. Colwill, Arthur, is looking forward to a big Summer trade. Mr. Colwill is in a particularly happy position to buy farmers' produce this year.

J. Reith & Co., Grand Valley, are buying extensively in anticipation of a big Spring trade. They enjoy the distinction of being one of the leading mercantile firms in the Grand Valley district.

Painters and decorators have been refurbishing the premises of McFarland & Stafford, Markdale, who are anticipating a big Summer business.

W. A. McClean & Co., Owen Sound, have one of the most up-to-date groceries in Northern Ontario. The traveling men are unanimous on this point and say their store bears comparison with anything in the country as far as appointments and service are concerned.

Mann & Ewing, Teeswater, have redecorated their store throughout, and in anticipation of a heavy season's trade placed a large stock of good goods, which they are offering at attractive prices.

Mr. Wilson, of the Eby, Blain Co., reports prospects for business at the Soo as excellent. The weather is exceptionally mild for this season of the year, and the ferries have already been placed on the river service.

BACK IN BUSINESS AGAIN.

Mr. Jos. Lord, an old grocer, of St. Johns, P.Q., who retired from business some time ago, is opening up again in his old stand with a new and complete stock of groceries and meats. The old premises are being thoroughly overhauled and improved, and when opened, which will be about April 15, will be most modern and up to date. Mr. Lord is installing a large refrigerator for the careful handling and keeping of his meat stock.

CHANGE IN FIRM.

Reference was made in last week's Grocer to a change in firm of Girard & Corbier, Lacolle, P.Q., to Girard & Landry. This should have read that the business has been sold to Corbier & Landry. The new firm are young and energetic men and enjoy the confidence of their patrons. Mr. Landry was a clerk for Mr. Girard, of the late firm, and the change is one that will be beneficial with increased trade. They carry a general stock, large and well assorted. The business will be specially indicated as The Corner Store.

MR. CAMERON ENJOYS SEA BATHING.

MR. JOHN CAMERON, traveling representative of the MacLean Trade Newspapers, which form a distinct feature of Canadian journalism, has been touring Bermuda, British Guiana and the West Indies, in the interest of his firm, and has spent the last week in Barbadoes. He has largely added to the MacLean subscribers' list. Trade, Mr. Cameron said on Saturday, is steadily growing between Canada and the West Indies, and the Canadian manufacturers are getting a firmer footing in these markets. The excellence of Canadian goods is now so acknowledged that all the goods are specially marked "Made in Canada." Mr. Cameron spoke in high terms of the Barbadian climate for those seeking to escape the rigors of the Winter, and for the bracing effects of our sea-bathing he could not say too much. He leaves for St. Lucia this evening by the Pickford & Black steamer on his return home.—Barbadoes Advocate, March 20.

Truth in Indifferent Rhyme.

At a counter fresh and pinky—
At a pink-topped corner counter
Sat a tiny brown-haired maiden,
Such a little English maiden !
Crying — "Won't you taste my cheese ?'

And she gave us tastes of salad—
Tastes of cheese so fresh and creamy,
Looking up with blue eyes dreamy,
Saying softly—very softly,
"Come and taste MacLaren's Cheese !"

'Till one day an idle fellow—
Passing idly—only passing,
By the cheeses richly yellow—
Glanced down at the tiny maiden,
Tasted of MacLaren's Cheese.

"Why ?" he queried, sniffing Roquefort
(Grafting idly, only grafting)
"Don't you demonstrate Limburger
Far more lasting than most perfumes,
Cheesier than MacLaren's Cheese ?"

Quoth the maiden, sneering slightly,
Looking up, and smiling brightly,
"No, we never employ Ladies,
Sir, to demonstrate that cheese,
Only mild MacLaren's Cheese.

We employ great strong men only—
Strongest of the strong men only—
Pugilists and ex-weightlifters,
Who have chains and ropes all ready,
To secure—that powerful Cheese !"

Fresh and Cured Fish

Codfish Scarce.

THE demand for prepared boneless codfish continues brisk, and as there is no codfish to be had at the present time, it is very difficult for dealers to secure sufficient stocks to enable them to supply the market.

Reports just to hand indicate extremely high prices for bank codfish at Halifax, which, by the way, is the largest fishing centre on the Atlantic coast. The enormous price of $6.25 per quintal was paid for a cargo of bank cod last week from Lunenburg, N. S., which it is stated is the highest price ever paid for this class of fish.

This condition of affairs not only exists in Canadian waters, but abroad. A reference to the Norwegin cod fisheries shows that the output there is considerably smaller than that of last season, notwithstanding 1904 being a very poor year for the cod fisheries.

In an interview with Mr. A. H. Brittain, agent for Black Bros. & Co., Halifax and La Have, N.S., we are informed that his firm in trying to fill the demands for their Halifax and Acadia brands, made arrangements to secure a large quantity of codfish from Newfoundland sometime ago and sent two of their schooners down to collect it. Owing to the weather conditions there it was found impossible to get away as they had hoped. When, however, the first vessel was released, the beginning of the present month, she was caught in the ice and badly damaged, and had to be put into St. Pierre Island for repairs. Through the courtesy of the Governor of the island, Black Bros. & Co. were allowed to tranship a portion of this cargo by the steamer "Propatre."

This consignment of codfish arrived in Halifax last week, and Mr. Brittain states in the course of two or three weeks an abundant supply of this fish will be on the market. Weather conditions all over the Atlantic coast for the past month have been most severe, and the oldest captain of a large schooner, who has made over 150 voyages to St. Pierre during many years, stated he had never experienced such a quantity of ice so near the Island as this season.

A Lenten Suggestion.

During the Lenten season fish should be made a feature of the window display.

While salt fish are not in themselves very attractive articles for window display, yet there are other kinds of fish that can be used in the windows.

As a suggestion, a large fish might be cut out of paper and suspended in the window by small wires.

A little crayon—black or colored—can be used to mark its tail, fins, etc.

Under this some of the various fish on sale can be displayed.

There are many kinds of fish in packages that are perhaps unknown to much of the public. Besides the salmon and the sardines there are codfish in packages, clams, lobster, shrimp, mackerel, brook trout, Russian cavier, etc., all put up in attractive packages.

With these a complete "fish" window can be trimmed. A box or two of salt fish may be opened and placed so as to be visible. In fact, about any fish in the store can be displayed and should make an attractive showing to all that observe the Lenten season.

With such a trim as this there should be some placards calling attention to some of the various kinds of goods, especially those that are not so well known.

Occasionally through Lent this fish window may be repeated—with variations, of course—and it will be found a new idea in most places.

Whale Fisheries of Newfoundland.

During 1904 the Newfoundland whaling fleet comprised eleven steamers, whose total catch was 1,270 whales, or an average of 115, whereas in 1903 there were only four steamers employed, they killing 859 whales, or an average of 215. Eleven steamers and crews and 14 whale factories and gangs of workmen have had to be maintained out of a catch only 50 per cent. larger than that of the four ships of the previous year. When it is considered that the price of whale oil has been cut in two, it is doubtful if the aggregate gross earnings have exceeded those of 1903. Only three out of the eight whaling companies have paid any dividend, two paying 6 per cent. and the third, which operated under exceptional circumstances, 15 per cent. Still other companies will be in the business the coming season, and with more steamers employed the tendency will be to still further reduce the kill per ship.

salmon concessions on the Kamchatka peninsular and along the coast of that portion of Siberia. It is understood that a merger will be effected with the Alaskan plants of the defunct salmon combine now owned by the Northwestern Commercial Co., and a new syndicate financed by eastern capitalists will be formed to exploit the entire undertaking under the name of the Northwestern Pacific Fisheries Co.

Another Cold Storage Plant.

Petrie & Co., Louisburg, C.B., have begun work on a cold storage plant, to have capacity for 400 tons of ice and 60 tons of bait. This bait will be sold to the fishermen of Louisburg, Big Lorraine, Little Lorraine and Baleine, where the firm of Petrie & Co. carry on a general fish business. This firm will also shortly begin the erection of the smoke house and canning factory in connection with their Louisburg business.

Will Seize Canadian Fish.

Canada's refusal to stop seine fishing in Missisquoi Bay, Lake Champlain, has resulted in the introduction of a bill in the New York State Legislature prohibiting transportation lines from carrying into the state fish shipped from Missisquoi Bay, and providing for the confiscation of all fish consigned from that locality.

It is believed that Massachusetts will pass a similar law. If such legislation becomes effective the markets of New York and Boston will be shut off to Canadian fishermen and there will be no sale for the perch, pike and bass taken by the ton from Missisquoi Bay at this season of the year.

Fish Gossip.

There is talk of a sardine factory being established in the near future at St. John, N.B.

The fish catch for the season 1904-05 in Lake Winnipegosis was the largest in the history of the lake.

J. H. Todd & Sons and W. Munsie, Victoria, B.C., are preparing to construct a new cannery at Esquimalt.

Manager Kenry is planning a special fishery exhibit at the Dominion Exhibition to take place in British Columbia next Autumn.

D. Hatton, fish merchant, Montreal, has been granted a building permit for the erection of a fish market on Craig street to cost $15,000.

P. Birrell, formerly of the B. C. Co.'s cannery, Annieville, is reported to have purchased the Industrial Cannery from C. Windsor, of Vancouver.

According to latest advices from the French colony of St. Pierre and Miquelon, the inhabitants have been reduced almost to the verge of starvation owing to the failure of the fisheries.

Another cannery is being built on the Fraser River at Westham Island this year with equipment for handling a pack of between 20,000 and 25,000 cases. The promoters are A. J. Buttimer and G. W. Dawson, both well-known canners.

Plans are on foot for the establishment of a cold-storage plant for the preservation of bait at Gloucester, Mass., in view of the decision of the Newfoundland Government that bait shall not be sold to American fishermen at Newfoundland ports.

The proposal of the Newfoundland Government to impose an export tax on herring will mean a loss of nearly $100,000 a year to the port of Bay of Islands. The tax will drive American fishermen outside the three-mile limit to take cargoes instead of permitting a continuance of the present custom of buying the fares of Bay of Islands men.

A remarkable run of fish took place on Mar. 30, at Springhill Mines, N.S., when thousands of small fish like minnows were found on the snow covering the fields. It is believed the fish must have been drawn by the clouds from some southern sea on the Gulf Stream and carried till the clouds came over Springhill.

and Cold Storage News.

The Bacon Situation.

THE present week has seen a decided improvement in the country roads, followed by much larger deliveries of hogs to the packers than there have been for some weeks past. Prices as quoted last week are still maintained, viz., $6.25 to $6.50, but there is an easier feeling in the market and prospects are that lower prices will rule very shortly. Domestic business continues in about the usual volume for this season of the year.

The export market is exhibiting an easier feeling, this week's quotations being 48 to 53 shillings. Slaughtering in Denmark for the week is keeping up to its usual average, and the Danish packers have reduced their selling price from 2 to 3 shillings. The prospects in foreign markets point to a continuation of present conditions; in any event it is unlikely that there will be any appreciable improvement for some weeks.

Canadian Produce in Great Britain.

IN his latest report to the Department of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, dated March 15, P. MacNamara, Manchester, states that stocks of bacon and ham held in Liverpool on March 1 of this year were nearly fifty per cent. in excess of same period of 1904. In the case of butter the stock was one hundred and eighty-five per cent. less, and in cheese nearly twenty per cent. less. The inference is that better prices should be obtained for these products in the ensuing season than prevailed last year. The trade condition of the entire kingdom has improved, as shown by the trade returns just issued. The imports for month of February have decreased £1,588,632, $6,150,777, whilst the exports have increased £1,588,632, $7,720,762. The chief articles affected in the decline of the imports are corn, flour, drink and tobacco, and in connection with the decline of drink might be mentioned the assertion of some chairmen of brewery directors, that the consumption of beer is materially decreasing, and dividends as large as formerly cannot be expected, and from this fact might be evolved the conclusion that the purchasing power of the public in the direction of food necessities would be increased.

REFRIGERATORS.

The use of the refrigerator is gradually extending throughout England, and it seems strange to a Canadian who deems it indispensable in his house, to find its use so restricted. It is true that ice per season may cost more than in Canada, as it has to be carried a considerable distance by rail and water, to the large centres of distribution, and this may have a tendency to restrict its use, but only amongst the class that could not afford it under any conditions.

The German and American refrigerators are the only kinds to be found in Manchester, and the reason alleged by the dealers is that the Germans construct theirs to suit the public idea of ice compartment. The American Alaska is exact to the lines of the Canadian in almost every particular, and why the latter is not to be found on sale is surely the fault of the Canadian manufacturer.

Quebec Leads in Cheese and Butter.

Mr. J. A. Ruddick, dairy commissioner, Ottawa, has made the interesting announcement that the Province of Quebec now probably leads in the production of cheese and butter. Quebec has for many years been a larger producer of creamery butter than any other province, and it must be conceded that parts of the province also have a reputation for making the finest creamery butter in Canada. The Maritime Provinces, although eminently adapted for dairying, have not, barring Prince Edward Island, shown as much progress as some of the other parts of Canada. A considerable quantity of butter and cheese from the Maritime Provinces now goes to supply the West Indian markets, where it is already taking the lead. Northern Alberta is also a very promising district, and the indications are that it will be one of the great dairying districts of the Dominion. Considerable development has also taken place in the lower mainland of British Columbia.

Municipal Abattoir.

The London, Ont., City Council has made application to the Government for an amendment to the Municipal Act, in order that they may enter into an agreement with a local company for the establishment of a public abattoir and stockyard for the city. It is the intention that the abattoir be under the supervision of the Board of Health.

Fire in Pork Packing Plant.

Fire did $25,000 damage to the stock and plant of J. Y. Griffin & Co., in Winnipeg, last week. The frame annex was completely destroyed and a large stock of lard was lost. The loss is almost entirely covered by insurance, and, although the fire will inconvenience the firm, they will still be able to fill orders.

The building burned was the original packing house built eight years ago, and it contained a lot of expensive machinery, installed only last October. The departments destroyed are the beef plant, cooler, and slaughtering rooms, ice-houses and storage rooms. These are a total loss.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

Provisions—Trade is hardly as brisk as it has been, on account of buyers waiting for the opening of navigation. Hogs remain at practically the same level as last week, namely $6.25 to $6.50, and cured meats continue unchanged throughout the entire list. Lard is up from 1-4c. to 1-2c. all round. Fresh meats are quiet and without special feature except yearling lamb, in which there has been an advance of 2c. owing to scarcity. We quote the following prices:

Long clear bacon, per lb	$0 09	$0 09½
Smoked breakfast bacon, per lb	0 13	0 13½
Roll bacon, per lb	....	0 10
Small hams per lb	0 13	0 13½

Butter—Provisionmen are complaining of scarcity of both creamery and dairy butter and say very little is coming from the country. In fact the local butter situation is almost as bad as it was stveral weeks ago. Last week's quotations still rule, although in some cases even higher prices are being paid. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Creamery prints	0 26	0 27
" solids, fresh	0 25	0 26
Dairy prints	0 23	0 24
" large rolls	0 21	0 22

Cheese—A good local demand and firm export market are reported for the week, quotations for the latter ruling at 56s. to 59s. The cheese factories will begin to operate about the end of the present month. It is interesting to note, however, that cheesemakers are not paying nearly so much attention to fodder cheese of late as to grass, and rightly. We quote the following:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11½
" twins	0 12

Montreal.

Provisions—The weakness developed in live hogs has been the feature of the local provision market. Supplies have been coming in very much better, due, no doubt, to the strong position held here for some weeks past, and the sudden influx of liberal supplies has eased off prices, the decline ranging from 50c. to 75c. per 100 lb. Fresh abattoir killed $9, country dressed $8 to $8.25. Other lines of provisions slow, and the market is quiet.

Butter—The butter market is maintaining a strong position, and prices have advanced from 1c to 2c per pound since our last quotation. The consignment of Australian butter received her two weeks ago was tried by the trade as an experiment, and from opinions gathered it would appear that it will not be popular. Best creamery Canadian is coming in very slowly, and this is keeping up prices. The make does not as yet appear to be as large as usual at this time of the year:

Finest creamery	0 28	0 30
Fine	0 26	0 27
Medium	0 24	0 26
Fine western dairy	0 24	0 25
Fair to good western	0 22	0 24
Undergrades	0 21	0 22

Eggs—The egg market has declined and is gradually getting down. Old stocks are exhausted, and the demand for fresh stocks is good. The grocery trade is buying at 17 1-2c. to 18c., the former for ten-case lots. Supplies are not coming in freely yet, and what does arrive is readily sold.

Selected Fall fresh	0 17	0 18

Cheese — Local market unchanged. Undertone is firm. Supplies are light on spot. Fine wheat is going at 12c. to 12 1-4c., though no heavy sales are reported.

Butter—The dairy produce market is now fairly well supplied in most lines. Butter is coming in more freely, but high prices are still maintained. Dealers are not free buyers, as they anticipate a decline to normal prices in a very short time. This will, however, depend on the western market, which is still firm. Producers note the prices there from week to week, and are accordingly firm in their ideas for prices here. Eggs continue comparatively scarce, and prices though slightly declined, are still too high. In the open market on Saturday fresh-laid brought 27c. to 30c., according to color and size. Many country dealers and producers are holding stock for high Easter prices, but it is predicted that so much will be thrown on the market before that date that prices will be easy.

The market for cheese is dull.

Provisions—The provision market is now well stocked, and beef, pork, mutton and lamb are coming in in good quantities. Beef prices are considered high, but other meats are normal. Fowls, chickens and turkeys are scarce, and consequently high.

St. John.

Provisions—Pork is rather firmer, particularly domestic mess pork. Business is not large. Beef, while not selling freely, is rather higher. Pure lard is held at full figures. Refined is still quite low. Hams and rolls are high. In fresh meats beef is freely offered at even prices. Veal is quite firmly held. Mutton is dull. It is still early for lamb. Pork is held at quite full figures.

Your Store is Judged by the quality of the goods you sell. Low prices are a temporary help, but high quality builds up permanent trade. Remember what a famous philosopher once said, "You can fool some of the people all of the time and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

When you sell Windsor Salt (pure, white, dry, crystaline), you are establishing confidence in the quality of all the other goods you sell. You are building up permanent trade with Windsor Salt—establishing a reputation for high quality. "Your store is judged by the quality of the goods you sell."

If you handle our extracts you get all the benefit of the best that experience, training and money can buy.

CANADIAN TRADE VIA U.S. PORTS.

READERS of The Grocer may be surprised to know that there has been a very large increase in the percentage of foreign Canadian trade handled yearly by steamships sailing from United States ports. For instance, the value of actual shipments of Canadian in-transit breadstuffs from the port of New York for twelve months ending December, 1904, was no less than $11,128,818. The biggest item was wheat, valued at $6,869,534. Of this $816,697 was apportioned to the United Kingdom, and $214,037 to Belgium. Canada's foreign customers for wheat flour via New York last year were also large and numerous, being represented in the main as follows: United Kingdom, $283,967; Newfoundland, $290,772; British Africa, $152,931; British West Indies, $144,200, and Denmark, $132,708. The United Kingdom bought Canadian oatmeal in 1904 to the value of $118,117, and British Africa to the value of $104,597, while Canadian oats worth $139,583 were forwarded by New York steamships to the British West Indies.

Such statistics are ample justification for re-opening the whole question of foreign transportation. Is there any reason why over eleven million dollars' worth of trade should be lost to Canada every year? Our railroads and ocean steamship companies are responsible in the main for the abnormal situation, and it is difficult to understand why they, who are most immediately concerned, are content to allow American concerns to meet our export shippers in the matter of freight rates and transportation facilities and capture the trade before their very eyes. The objection will probably be raised that a good share of Canadian foodstuffs going to foreign countries in 1904 via New York was on account of New York houses, which bought Canadian goods to fulfil regular contracts. This we believe to have been true in a measure. It does not, however, account for a shipment of Manitoba beef to England via New York a couple of weeks ago. An American exchange says it was "an experiment to see if the American route to England for Canadian Northwest carcass stuff and cattle was not shorter and more profitable than the old ice-bound route through the Dominion and from a Canadian port."

DEMURRAGE COMPLAINT.

THE Canadian railways are having their own time of it in the face of the multitudinous requests that are pouring in from manufacturers and wholesale and retail merchants throughout the country for more satisfactory arrangements in regard to freight regulations. No one seems to be satisfied with existing conditions and directly a man registers a complaint he is passed to the Government and back again to the railway authorities, until he loses himself in the tangle and prefers to put up with the inconvenience rather than to be subjected to so much fruitless annoyance.

As an example of the unfair treatment that is being meted out to Canadian manufacturers every day, we may cite a case in Hamilton, where the railways take their own time in delivering shipments of clay to private sidings, regardless of the convenience of the consignee, whereas extra charges are imposed on the latter if a car is not emptied within the time prescribed in the railroad schedule. Anyone conversant with the pottery business knows that clays are very susceptible to weather conditions, and that to unload in rainy or damp weather practically means their ruination. It is a pity that those in charge of Canadian transportation cannot secure an equitable adjustment of such grievances.

HAVE APPLE GROWERS COMBINED?

THE Canadian Associated Press is authority for the startling news that Canadian apple exporters have formed a combine to control the export trade. One hundred and fifty thousand barrels are to be sent to Old Country markets this year, and the number will be increased to two hundred and fifty thousand in 1906, if the plan works out satisfactorily. The aim of the combine is to effect a revolution in the system of distribution; heretofore Canadian apples have gone to foreign markets largely on consignment; in future they will be sold f.o.b. at a fixed price.

The movement is attracting an extraordinary amount of attention in the fruit-producing and distributing centres of Great Britain. London dealers consider it an attempt to interfere with the established system of distribution and are unanimous in their opinion that it will strike a serious blow at the market commission system. Already a market combine to offset that of the Canadian shippers is under consideration, and several large distributing firms throughout the country have signified their intention of opposing the attempt of the Canadian combine to disorganize the system to dispose of fruit at present utilized by British wholesale commission houses.

It is singular that Canadian exporters should be entirely ignorant of the formation of such a combine. The Associated Press have evidently got things twisted in some unaccountable manner; either they have taken the report from an irresponsible person, or they have unduly magnified the recent action of the Dominion Government in endeavoring to introduce in Canada a system of co-operative packing for export as well as domestic trade. It has been felt for some little time that Canadian apple growers were not getting the best possible results out of the apple business, and, as a remedy, the Government propose to start a number of packing stations in the various fruit-growing districts, where apples will be put up by exporters in uniform packages. Just how far a scheme for co-operative marketing will grow out of this is difficult to say. Growers in Eastern Ontario have been advocating something along this line for the past year, recognizing the importance of strengthening their position in the British markets. As for any actual apple combine, however, it is nothing more than an idle imagination on the part of some sly individual anxious to make capital at the expense of Canadian exporters. This is the second report emanating from the Associated Press within the last six months on the Canadian fruit situation in Great Britain which has turned out to be absolutely without foundation.

CANDIED PEEL NOT SUBJECT TO SPECIAL DUTY

SOME weeks ago reference was made in The Grocer to the action of the Dominion Government in placing candied peel on the list of articles subject to special duty under the dumping clause. It was pointed out that, although candied peel was manufactured in Canada in a small way up to the last year or two, it is at the present time a straight importation from foreign countries, and on this account not liable to the special duty imposed by the Government as a protection to domestic products against similar articles of foreign manufacture.

The trade was affected in two ways: first, Canadian importers were seriously inconvenienced in so far as there is a growing demand in this country for American peel, and the dumping clause was a serious obstacle in the way of its importation on a sufficiently large scale to make it an attractive proposition to commission men; second, the Government saw a possibility of promoting the manufacture of candied peel in Canada, and are to be commended for so doing. In any event, the upshot was that the customs authorities reconsidered the whole matter, with gratifying result, as can be seen by the accompanying letter from the Commissioner of Customs, Ottawa, in that the Government have allowed our contention and decided that "the special duty clause should not apply to candied peel insomuch as it does not appear to be manufactured in Canada at present." The ruling will be welcomed by importers throughout the country:

> Editor The Canadian Grocer,
> Dear Sir,—I have the honor, by direction of the Hon. the Minister of Customs, to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 20th ult., together with marked copy of "The Canadian Grocer," relative to the decision of the Department placing candied peel on the list of articles subject to special duty.
> I am to say to you in reply that the Department has been investigating this matter and, as a result, it has just been decided that the special duty clause should not apply to candied peel, inasmuch as it does not appear to be manufactured in Canada at present.
> JOHN BAIN,
> Assistant Commissioner.
> Department of Customs,
> Ottawa, April 3, 1905.

THE GAUGE OF SUCCESS.

ARE you making the maximum profit out of your business? This is the question the business man should keep constantly before him. There are many conditions over which a merchant has no control. The population of his town may be limited, his capital may be small and he may not be able to expand in ways in which he would desire. These are unfortunate but probably necessary difficulties. They have no bearing on the present question. Assuming the existing general conditions, are you doing the biggest and most profitable business possible?

There are many details which bulk largely in the success or failure of a business. The majority of these lie easily within the power of the average man for their accomplishment. A few instances will illustrate this. In some towns the store exteriors are uniformly dingy and ill-kept. There is no reason for this. A man is not doing full justice to his business who does not make his store as attractive as possible. It is of paramount importance in getting new business and even in retaining the old.

Similarly the show windows are not used to the best advantage. Everyone is not an expert window dresser, but with the examples which are published in The Grocer there can be no excuse for not having an up-to-date window with attractive display. It is just a matter of getting out of the rut and hustling for business and it is better to hustle for it now than after someone else has come in and compelled you to move. There should be always something new on exhibition to tempt the buyer.

The interior of the store should be run on similar principles. Only so will the business reach its highest mark. A merchant cannot afford to wait for customers to come to him. He must go after them. Vigor and enterprise are as essential in business as they are in everything else.

WHAT CONSTITUTES FRAUD?

IN these days of "get-rich-quick" schemes, the standard of business morality is not as high as might be expected even in Canada with a reputation for commercial integrity. It is to be feared that our merchants are sometimes prone to cultivate "the elastic conscience" in such matters as selling goods for price, etc., forgetting for the time being that there is little more than a hair's bredth separating honest from illegitimate profit in trade. The offenders are innocent enough, perhaps, in their own minds; at the same time it is well for the trade to be thoroughly cognizant of the fact that a vicious principle is being introduced that will in time sap the vitality of business relationship.

An important decision in the law courts this week against a St. Thomas merchant for obtaining goods under false pretences, only serves to emphasize the serious meaning of dishonesty in business. The merchant in question bought goods on a false representation of his financial standing, and in order to further postpone the discovery of the true condition of affairs mutilated his accounts. All the while he was heavily indebted to numerous friends and acquaintances, whom he was using to further his own ends.

Judge Winchester, in his charge to the jury in the above case, touched upon the vital point at issue when he said that "in commercial transactions, honesty is the only thing that men can rely upon between man and man and firm and firm; if that is gone, then commercial life is gone in our country. If we have not honesty between merchants, wholesale and retail men, then the whole fabric of our commercial enterprises is shaken. It depends upon the honesty, the truthfulness, in dealings between man and man to establish a proper commercial community. If that is gone, then goodbye to all honesty in dealings in other matters. That is the foundation of the whole of society."

VISITING THE EAST.

Mr. G. J. Wonder, of Wonder & Co., brokers and commission merchants, of Vancouver, is on a business visit to the east, and is in Toronto this week. To a representative of The Canadian Grocer, Mr. Wonder said that business in British Columbia was rather quiet at present and that shipments of freight to the Yukon were 7,000 tons less last year than the year before. As this season is the one in which a big run of salmon is due, Mr. Wonder expects that there will be a good pack of salmon. He pointed out that, owing to the refusal of the Washington Government to co-operate with the Canadian Government, there would be no close season this year.

Mr. Wonder formerly lived in Toronto, having removed to British Columbia 15 years ago.

PEPPER ADULTERATED.

An analysis by the Inland Revenue Department shows that of 60 samples of black pepper collected at points from Nova Scotia to British Columbia 31 were adulterated and 7 doubtful. Twenty-six samples were taken of white pepper, of which 10 proved to be adulterated and 3 doubtful. The Department will take steps to protect the public against this flagrant violation of the Pure Food Law. Samples of flour were also examined, which all proved to be pure.

DEATH OF J. A. MATHEWSON.

THE grim reaper has been busy since New Years among the wholesale grocers of Montreal. A few weeks ago we had to chronicle the death of Mr. J. M. Kirk and Mr. D. L. Lockerby, both of whom had been associated, and one of them closely identified with, grocery matters until his death, and on Monday last, April 3, Mr. J. A. Mathewson of Messrs. J. A. Mathewson & Co., passed to his rest.

The late Mr. James Adams Mathewson was born in Strabane, Ireland, September 1st, 1822, and was consequently in his eighty-third year. At the age of 11 he came to Canada with his father, Mr. Samuel Mathewson, who, settling in Montreal in 1833, laid the foundation of the present firm by opening a grocery business at the corner of Notre Dame street and Jacques Cartier Square, whence after a short time he removed to St. Paul street, near St. Francois Havier street, then, as now, the leading jobbing thoroughfare of the city. In 1842 the business was moved to McGill street, near the corner of Notre Dame, when the present substantial structure was erected, and where the business is still carried on. On the death of his father in 1854 he formed a partnership with his cousin, Mr. Hugh Mathewson, under the name of J. A. & H. Mathewson, and the firm continued until 1867, when, on the retirement of Hugh Mathewson, he took over the business, continuing it alone until 1884, when he took his sons, W. B. and S. J. Mathewson, into partnership, and a year or two later another son, Mr. J. A. Mathewson, was admitted as a member.

As a business man Mr. Mathewson was highly successful and prosperous, and considered one of Montreal's most prominent merchants, and his death removes one whose place in the business, religious and philanthropic life of the city cannot be easily filled. Of sturdy character, sound judgment and deeply-rooted religious principles, he carried himself before all men unostentatiously but sincerely as an example of a model business man. His benefactions were numerous and unheralded—the simple signature of "A friend," accompanied by liberal donations, has figured in more worthy causes than will ever be known. His sympathies were for his fellows in need and never did a worthy cause suffer at his hands. Many of Montreal's business men could testify to the timely and substantial help and counsel rendered them by the deceased. Though a strict Methodist and strong supporter of that denomination, Mr. Mathewson's charities knew no creed, race, or nationality, and Roman Catholic and Protestant shared equally in worthy charities. What he really gave away will never be known, as his help was always rendered in an unobtrusive manner. His convictions were strong, and as an example it may be mentioned that his aversion to tobacco was emphatic, and in 1860 he decided to eliminate this article from his business, and from that time to the present—45 years—not an ounce of tobacco has been sold by the firm. The trade can understand what the exclusion of this staple article would mean in 45 years with a firm doing the business of such a house as J. A. Mathewson & Co.

Mr. Mathewson was a strong and consistent supporter of St. James Methodist Church and a member of the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. In his earlier days he took an interest in military affairs, and was a sergeant under Colonel De Bleury, of the Home Guards. About forty years ago he bought the old Desrivieres street Mission, and ever since not only gave his personal attention to its interest and the work of this well-known mission, but personally paid all expenses in connection with its operation. Very few of Montreal's citizens were not aware of this until to-day, so quietly and unobtrusively were all his benefactions conducted.

Mr. Mathewson had a large family, of whom five sons and two daughters survive. The sons are: William B., Samuel J., and James Adam Mathewson, jr., who constitute the present firm of J. A. Mathewson & Co., wholesale grocers; Edward Payson Mathewson, superintendent of the Anaconda Mines, Montana, and Dr. George H. Mathewson, oculist, Western Hospital, Montreal. The daughters are Misses Amelia S. and Ellen Hope Mathewson. Four sisters also survive: Mrs. Andrew Donnell, Mrs. James Patton, Mrs. James Baylis and Miss Ellen Mathewson.

The funeral, which was held from the family residence, 625 Sherbrooke street, Wednesday afternoon, was one of the largest and most representative of Montreal's business men that has been seen for many years. Mr. J. W. Graham, pastor of St. James Methodist Church, conducted the service.

The Grocer extends to the family its sincere sympathy.

Are you Handling LILY WHITE GLOSS STARCH?

Live dealers realize that substitution doesn't pay. People enjoy being the judges of what is best for them, and it is wise policy to give them what they want.

The extra profit made from trial sales of unknown brands is very insignificant compared with the continuous profit from repeated sales, sure to be the lot of any meritorious article aggressively advertised to the consumer.

Lily White Gloss Starch does what is claimed for it, and the present heavy demand is the result.

IT'S SUCCESS IS A "CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCE."

MARKETS AND MARKET NOTES

ONTARIO MARKETS.

Groceries.

Toronto, April 6, 1905.

A GENERAL livening up of trade is recorded for the week. The country roads are beginning to be passable and farmers are taking advantage of the opportunity to get in their Spring supplies. Sugar continues very firm, two of the Canadian refiners having put up their prices 10 and 5c respectively during the week. List prices, however, have not been affected as yet, although the trade are anticipating an early advance in refined owing to the active demand which has set in preliminary to the opening of navigation and Spring business. In canned goods baked beans and catsups have been moving specially well while in fruits a better feeling is noticed all round. Although it is somewhat early for enquiries of salmon, the retail trade are beginning to anticipate future requirements. A good volume of business in maple syrups is the interesting feature in syrups and molasses.

Coffees, espccially the cheaper grades of Rios, are moving well, and the same remark applies to medium and low-grade Indian and Ceylon teas. The black pepper market is reported to be firm and advancing, and Rangoon rice has taken on additional firmness during the week.

Prunes continue to be the feature of the dried fruit market, smaller sizes being scarce and high in price. Dried apricots are slightly more plentiful than last week, the high price, however, is still maintained, notwithstanding a drop on the other side of the line.

CANNED GOODS.

There is very little change in the canned goods situation to report from last week. Vegetables continue firm and in active request, the feature being baked beans and catsups. Standard apples are quoted slightly lower than in last price list. Although it is somewhat early in the season there are occasional inquiries for salmon for future requirements. Haddies are scarce and high, and it is reported that one or two firms who practically control the situation are about to advance their prices. We quote the following :

SUGAR.

As the season of increased consumption approaches, the local sugar market is beginning to assume greater activity. During the week two of the Canadian refiners advanced their prices 10 and 5c respectively. This advance is not general, however, and sales continue according to price list as advised last week. The trade are anticipating additional firmness, and will not be at all surprised to hear of an advance within the next few days.

Latest European cables indicate a firm and higher market for beet sugar. Cuba, which earlier in the season was expected to give a crop of 1,200,000 to 1,250,000 tons, reports that developments are such as to indicate that her crop will fall 100,000 tons short of this figure. A prolonged period of drouth and unusually cold weather have unfavorably affected the canes, and they are reported not to be yielding as well as expected.

The raw market in New York continues strong and an advance of ⅛c is recorded. American refiners are showing increased interest as buyers, and in order to obtain supplies are advancing their bids. On this account the confidence of the trade in the future of the refined sugar market is gradually being restored. On Saturday, April 1, New York refiners announced an advance of 10c, but it was not put into effect, and refiners at the close of the market are accepting all orders on the old basis.

COFFEES

The Rio market is somewhat easier for the week under review though the high rate of sterling exchange in Brazil continues to interfere with speculative trade. Locally a good demand continues for medium and cheaper grade Rios, which are picked up as soon as they arrive on the market. There is nothing new to report in mild coffees. We quote the following :

RICE AND TAPIOCA.

The feature of the rice and tapioca market this week is the firmness of Rangoon rice. The fact that Japan has been a very large buyer of rice this year has had a tendency to give additional strength to the rice market. New Texas and Louisiana rice are arriving on the local market comparatively freely. We quote the following :

Foreign Dried Fruits.

Prunes continue to be the most interesting feature of the dried fruit market. A very healthy demand is reported. Small sizes are in many cases out of stock and 80's to 90's and 10's to 50's are at a premium. The apricot situation has improved somewhat since last week, prices having eased in the United States, although this has had no effect so far on domestic prices. Hallowee dates are quoted slightly lower than last week. We quote the following prices :

EGGS.

The market is steadily easing off on eggs, quotations having dropped from 2 to 3c. since the last issue of The Grocer. Supplies are coming freely, and the local demand from bakers and confectioners, as well as from the ordinary consuming public, brisk. Stocks are accumulating in a small way, although the price has not reached a low enough level to warrant the beginning of pickling operations. Our quotations are as follows:

New laid eggs, per doz	0 14 0 15

BEANS.

The bean situation continues practically unchanged from last week with the exception that No. 1 primes are 5c. easier. The demand has fallen off somewhat owing to excessively high prices ruling. Our quotations are as follows.

SEEDS.

The fine weather has started an unusually heavy demand for seeds. The clover seed market is considerably higher this week owing to scarcity of stocks. Lower grades are off the market and alsike is now quoted at from $5 to $9. Red clover is quoted from $8 to $9.50, and mammoth at from $7 to $10. Other prices continue unchanged.

QUEBEC MARKETS.

Groceries.

Montreal April 6, 1905.

TRADE amongst the jobbers is reported fairly good. Country orders, now that the roads are getting into somewhat better shape, are coming in better. Collections are reported satisfactory. There has been more interest shown in teas of all kinds this week. Ceylon greens are firmer and inquiries from the West would indicate that there are none too many available outside. Japans have received good attention and considerably more business has been done in same. Sugar market is dull, and locally business is of a small character. Barbadoes molasses is receiving closer attention at the hands of the trade, and the general impression obtains that on account of the uncertain conditions of the crop on the Island prices are bound to be again advanced. No firm offers will be made by planters and shippers.

Fish are dull, the soft weather having affected sales. Lake trout seem to go a-begging, and are offered in some quarters at very low figures. The strong position of butter is a feature of the trade, another advance of 1c. per lb. for fresh milk stock having taken effect. Eggs are weakening owing to more plentiful receipts, and a further decline is looked forward to. New maple syrup and sugar is making its appearance in larger supplies, and during the next few weeks an active trade will be done. The provision market weakened and a decline in price of live hogs, of which heavy supplies were received, is noted.

SUGAR.

The position of the local market is unchanged. Business is quiet and no heavy buying is in prospect as the position of the foreign beet market is weak, and New York raw cane business very quiet. A steady feeling, however, obtains in all markets. Owing to the improved condition of the country roads, jobbers have been able to fill rather more orders than has been the case for some weeks past, country dealers being in position to do safe hauling.

SYRUPS AND MOLASSES.

There is more inquiry for new crop Barbadoes molasses and offers are being made at 21 to 22c., but shippers on the Island decline to make firm quotations. Latest cable advices are not definite as to position of the crop, and uncertainty as to same is having its effect and prices have again shown a tendency upward. Corn syrups are unchanged and business is reported good by refiners as well as the jobbing trade.

TEA.

Brokers and dealers report tea business as much improved during the week. Firmness is reported from London and Colombo. Ceylon greens are in good demand and prices advanced. Inquiries from western points through local brokers would indicate greater interest outside. Ceylon blacks are also in better demand. Japans have shown greater activity and some fair-sized lots changed hands. China greens, notably Pingsuey gunpowders, are being inquired after more, and the scarcity of same has kept up the interest. Little business has been done in China blacks and inquiries for same are becoming gradually fewer.

Fish.

Fish trade is dull. Mild weather has affected the sale of frozen stock, and bad roads help to curtail demand. Shell oysters are out of season. Tom cods are practically finished, although some stock held here is offered at low prices. Besides a fair demand for smoked fish, such as haddies and bloaters, all other lines are quiet. Foreign Dried Fruits.

Business in all kinds of dried fruits is dull; this is a condition to be expected at this season. Shipments of Valencia raisins from places of growth have now practically ceased. Total shipments of the season were 24,490 tons as against 23,189 tons for last year. Malaga fruits also show an increase in quality with the result that fine grades are now entirely exhausted at primary markets. There still remain some 10,000 tons of Sultanas in Smyrna which are being disposed of at slightly declining prices.

Shelled walnuts maintain their strong position as last reported, and this is further accentuated by rainy weather, which has interfered with cracking. Almonds and filberts remain in same position as last reported. Dates have further advanced and now show prices equivalent to ¾c. per lb. above the lowest point.

NEW BRUNSWICK MARKETS.

St. John, N.B., April 6, 1905.

THERE is considerable change to note this week. In the city the snow is gone. Roads outside are still extremely bad, and this has a bad effect on business. Signs point to the early opening of the river.

In business there is nothing of special interest. The sharp advance in Barbadoes molasses at the island, in the face of the already high price, is the subject of much comment. Dry fish are still held at extreme high prices. Rice holds at quite full figures.

Oil.

St. John is much interested in the success attained by Mr. Henry A. Drury, an old St. John boy, who has been appointed German representative of the Standard Oil Co. He will reside in Hamburg. Mr. Drury has been away from St. John but a few years, leaving here to go to Cleveland in the interests of the Standard people. He had then for some time been the Maritime manager of their lubricating department. In oils there is little new; the tendency in burning oil is to lighter business. Lubricating oils are now being shipped out quite freely, filling orders given for early Spring shipment. Linseeds are firmer, while turpentine is rather lower than the ruling price of the Winter.

Salt.

In Liverpool coarse salt a fair stock is held. Liverpool steamers have largely lost this business during the present season, owing to the extreme freight rates charged. There has been so far no trouble in keeping the market supplied. Prices are firmly held. In fine salt there is improved demand, chiefly for Canadian.

Canned Goods.

Tomatoes are held very firm. While still a fair stock is held it is a long time before new goods can be obtained. Corn is also in limited supply. Prices show little change, as American goods can be bought at reasonable prices. In fruits good stocks are held. There is a fair business. Salmon seem plentiful. Lobsters are extremely high. In domestic canned fish, haddies and herring are practically out of the market.

Dried Fruit.

There is but little business. Loose muscatels are in light supply. Seeded are plentiful and cheap. Layers are very dull. Currants show steady business at even prices. Prunes are low; there is but an average sale. Few apricots or peaches seen. Dates are firmer, while orange and lemon peels are quoted easier in England after the recent high prices. Citron is still held at full figures. Evaporated apples have but a fair sale at the high prices asked. Onions are high. First shipments of Egyptians about due.

Sugar.

Prices show no change, but market is reported very firm. Stocks held are large, and carrying charges mean considerable.

Molasses.

Prices are high. The price in Barbadoes may be said to be extreme. There is quite a large stock of Porto Rico still held here. New Porto Rico not likely to be here for some time. While the market is firm it is not without interest, and it is still early to make definite statements.

Fish.

Fresh fish continue scarce and little variety. Dry codfish are held at extreme prices, with no prospect of a change. Pickled fish are in light supply, and are held at full figures. Smoked herring are quite low; this is the one cheap line of fish offered.

Flour, Feed and Seed.

Flour has shown little change for sometime. The market, however, is reported firm. Feed continues high. Hay is high and is freely shipped to Nova Scotia. Oats are also held at full figures. Oatmeal is in full stock, with prices firm. Cornmeal is in good demand; price unchanged. Barley is higher. In seeds, large sales are reported. Best red clover is quoted even higher than the high prices asked earlier. Timothy is also firmer.

Mr. W. F. Merrick.

ESTABLISHING TORONTO AGENCY.

Rose & Laflamme, Montreal, on account of their rapidly-growing business in Western Ontario, have decided to locate a permanent representative in Toronto, in the person of W. T. Merrick. Mr. Merrick, who has been associated with this firm for a number of years, has opened an office at room 501 Board of Trade Building, and will in future devote his energies to supplying Rose & Laflamme's many customers with such well-known lines as "Imperial" brand syrup, Batger's marmalades and jams, Flett's pickles, Ram Lal's Indian tea, H. Goodwillie & Son's "Home Industry" fruits, R. Patterson & Sons' goods, of Glasgow, Scotland, and several new lines of grocers' specialties.

IN THE LAW COURTS.

Further steps were taken at Osgoode Hall this week in the case of the Grocers' Wholesale Co., of Hamilton, against the Dominion Wholesale Grocers' Guild and the Ontario Grocers' Guild.

Before Mr. Justice Meredith the defendants asked that the statement of claim put in by the plaintiffs be simplified in order that the court might decide whether there was cause for action.

The claim is very long and complicated, and his Lordship directed that its numerous paragraphs be epitomized into one which shall state their entire claim, and its grounds; in other words, that the claim must be limited to a clear statement of what the plaintiffs are really suing for.

The plaintiffs allege that the defendant firms, which make up the Wholesale Grocers' Guild, have combined to compel the sugar manufacturers, refiners, producers, and wholesalers not to sell to the plaintiff firm, which is not in the Guild.

The defendants raise the point that the Guild and its Ontario branch are not incorporated bodies.

MANITOBA MARKETS.

Special Report from the Winnipeg Office of THE CANADIAN GROCER.

Quotations corrected by telegraph up to 12 a.m. Thursday, April 6th, 1905.

BUSINESS continues active and price changes are few. With the opening of Spring, orders are more numerous and the different wholesale houses are busy. Sugar is steady at the same figures which have obtained for several weeks and all indications point to dear sugar this season. Beans are firmly held and some advances have been made, but, as these are not yet general, no change is made in our quotations below.

Barbadoes molasses is firmly held, owing to the continued unfavorable reports from Barbadoes. It is likely that the tendency to higher prices in Barbadoes will divert attention to corn syrups which are likely to be cheap. We quote:

The Spring Fruit Boats.

R. REFORD & CO., agents in Montreal for the Thomson Line, report that their Spring fruit boats are expected to be in port as soon as navigation opens on the St. Lawrence. The s.s. Jacona was expected to leave Messina Saturday, April 1, and she will carry a full cargo of oranges and lemons. The cargo will be completed at Sorrento and from thence she will sail direct for Montreal. The boat following will be the Escalona, due about two weeks after the Jacona. Just as we go to press a report is received to the effect that there will be no second fruit steamer this season.

BEET SUGAR IN ALBERTA.

The past two seasons' experience in the cultivation of sugar beets has demonstrated most conclusively the exceptional suitability of the climate and soil of Southern Alberta for the production of this crop. The rich quality of the beets raised is shown by the season's run at the Raymond sugar factory, when 265½ pounds of sugar were extracted from each ton of beets sliced, a greater amount by twelve pounds than extracted last year, which then was a greater amount of sugar per ton of beets than extracted at any other factory on the American continent. In the run for 1904 there were 11,900 tons of beets sliced, and 3,160,000 pounds of sugar sacked up.

TO TAX COFFEE.

It is believed that the United States Government authorities are considering the advisability of placing a duty on coffee in order to meet a deficit in the revenue department. Such a move if carried out may be far reaching in its results, insomuch as the United States is the biggest coffee consuming country in the world, having imported no less than a billion pounds last year, valued at $88,000,000—practically half the coffee entering the world's markets.

Nearly all Governments, except the United States, tax coffee. In the United Kingdom there is a tax of 14s. per hundredweight. In Australia the tax is 6c. per lb. In Canada there is a 10 per cent. ad valorem tax. Taxes are also imposed by Austria, France, Germany, Italy, Japan, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Sweden and Switzerland.

BUSINESS FAILURES IN CANADA.

According to Bradstreet's the total number of business failures in Canada for the week ending March 30, 1905, was 29, as compared with 18 the previous week, 11 for the corresponding week of 1904, and 18 for the corresponding weeks of 1903 and 1902. Of the 29 failures in Canada 26 had $5,000 capital or less, and three were capitalized at from $5,000 to $20,000.

GREEN FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

THE Wells-Fargo Express Co. is busy this week shipping Riverside's oranges to prominent men and officials all over the United States, Canada, Europe and Mexico, says the Los Angeles Pacific Fruit World of Mar. 18.

The fruit is sent complimentary by President Dudley Evans, of the Wells-Fargo Co., who each year has his Californian officials thoroughly canvass the fruit-growing sections for the best fruit grown.

For the past two years Riverside's foothill fruit has been selected, and this year the Los Angeles officials and J. W. Allinder, the local agent, chose the fruit grown in the foothill property of the Arlington Heights Fruit Co. The fruit is of that deep, rich color, which denotes the ideal orange, and is being packed by the Arlington Heights Fruit Co. under the "Golden Orange" brand. Something over 1,200 half boxes of these oranges will be sent out over the world. For a number of years the fruit was selected in Redlands, then Highland fruit was utilized, and during the past three years Riverside foothill fruit has been chosen. Hugh Walker & Son, Guelph, Ont., control for Canada the "Golden Orange" brand, packed by the Arlington Heights Fruit Co., both in navels and late Valencia oranges.

Ontario Markets.

GREEN FRUITS.

Toronto, April 6, 1905.

THE mild weather is giving additional impetus to the green fruit business. Navel oranges are arriving now under refrigeration and are practically sound, although recent arrivals have been very racy on account of coming through without ice. Prices are up 25c. this week. The first and only direct fruit steamer from the Mediterranean for the season has sailed from Messina laden with 30,000 boxes of oranges and lemons. Formerly there have been two boats a year; the demand, however, for Spring lemons in Canada seems to be on the wane.

There is a good demand for lemons at moderate prices; with much further moderation in the weather, dealers look for an advance. Pines are hard to get and high in price, Floridas being out of the market and Havanas up 50c. Extremely dry weather in the south has caused the crop to be late, and it is reported on the street that Toronto dealers ordering for the week in carlots have only been able to get 100 to 150 cases. Advices from Havana say that the pineapple crop is a good one, and dealers are expecting lower prices in the course of a week or two. Bananas are moving well. Sweet potatoes are up $1. Florida straws are off the market, and their place has been taken by Louisiana stock, which is selling at 20-25c. per pint. Our quotations are as follows:

VEGETABLES.

The season's trade in vegetables is gradually veering around to green stuff. Importations are coming more freely, first shipments of Florida tomatoes since the freeze being reported this week. Bermuda onions and potatoes are beginning to arrive; the crop of the former is normal this year, but, owing to the scarcity of onions generally, prices will be well maintained. Cabbage in bulk is selling at 1¼c. per lb. Spinach is down 25c. and green peppers have declined $2 per crate. Among this week's novelties are Illinois mushrooms selling at 80 to 90c. per lb., new carrots, which are quoted at $1.40 per dozen bunches, and waxed beans, quoted at $6 per bush. Vegetable market unchanged. Potatoes remain firm at 50c. to 55c. for car-load lots. The rough state of country roads is still hampering shipments. The demand is good. Cucumbers are out of the market practically, though a few small lots are still obtainable. Arrivals were not in the best of condition. Dealers at Bonsecour Market complain of quiet trade, and do not expect any improvement until roads are settled.

GREEN FRUITS.

Halifax, April 6, 1905.

Apples are fairly scarce in this market especially in No. 1's. Prices range from $1 to $2.50. The "Gulf of Ancud," which sailed from here last week, took 10,000 barrels for London.

VEGETABLES.

There has been during the Winter a scarcity of potatoes and turnips here, but just now they are quite plentiful. It has been the custom for years for a number of Prince Edward Island schooners to lay up here during the Winter, with their holds full of potatoes—waiting for the higher Spring prices. During the last week or two these have been opened up, while other schooners have arrived from the Island and other points.

The feature of the market is the low price of bananas. This will mean a big business. Apples have but fair sale. In oranges, such Valencias as are being received, are below the average in quality. There is improved sale for Californias. Prices are rather higher. Some nice Jamaicas are still offered at reasonable figures. Lemons are low.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Vancouver, B.C., March 29, 1905.

AN interesting item in the budget speech delivered yesterday in the Provincial Legislature, by Finance Minister Tatlow, was that in reference to production of fruit and dairy produce in British Columbia. As he quoted from official returns, the figures he gave were very accurate. In the total of fruit shipments, just as given to The Grocer a short time ago, Hon. Mr. Tatlow estimated the quantity at 3,010 tons in all for the season of 1904, making an increase over 1903 of 466 tons. The value he placed on this fruit was $240,000, and with the value of fruit consumed in the province, he estimated the total value of last year's fruit crop at $500,000.

As to dairy produce, there are now 14 creameries in the province, the Finance Minister said, (there is a fifteenth starting on April 1 at Port Hammond) and in 1904 there was a total of 1,219,006 lbs. of butter produced from these, netting in cash to the patrons some $276,620. This he said, showed a satisfactory increase over former years. In 1902 the total production of the creameries was 715,842 lbs. In 1903, 958,845 lbs., while last year the total was close to a million and a quarter pounds, as above. It is pointed out, however, that butter to the total value of $1,179,511 was imported into the province last year.

The total importations of agricultural products into the province in 1904 is set by the Finance Minister at $7,199,438, an increase of $1,451,830 in two years. Of course, he points out, that the popnlation has also increased, while there has been an increased trade with the Yukon and the Orient, for some of which the great importations of agricultural products were required. The fact remains, however, that the province is sending out every year the millions which she needs for home circulation, and a large part of which could be kept here if the produce were raised, as it very well might be.

That the day is approaching when the agricultural products consumed in B.C. will be grown on the hitherto fallow lands of the province is evident from the movement which is gradually taking place in rural realty. Not only in the Okanagan district, but in the coast district, especially in the Fraser Valley, there is a rapidly-changing situation. Settlers are taking up every available ranch and farm, and in many cases, on the Fraser, places which were neglected and deserted a few years ago are now being occupied and improved, and the clearings extended.

Undoubtedly the Okanagan district is proving a great attraction to eastern people who are coming west to make new homes. Land there, though high in price, is very productive, and the products are of such a valuable class, being choice fruit commanding high prices, that the returns are sure and very profitable. Many people have, in the Winter months, visited the district, and, charmed with the mildness of the dry atmosphere even in Winter, zero being practically the coldest weather, have decided to make their homes there. Many small holdings have been taken up on that account, and at prices which seem too high, when compared with those paid for farm lands elsewhere.

The day of big warehouses in the wholesale quarter of Vancouver is rapidly approaching. Kelly & Burnett, the former a well-known wholesale grocer, have decided to build a big six-storey structure on Water street, just west of the row of wholesale houses which front on that thoroughfare, in order to have rail facilities on the C.P.R. direct at the rear. The new warehouse will be fitted with cold storage facilities in the basement, while its freight elevators will be the most modern obtainable.

The Yukon Winter stage trail is fast breaking up. Recent advices from the north tell of the disappearance of the snow on the hills on the road to Dawson from White Horse. Freight is practically stalled, and it will not be many days until passenger traffic will be stopped too, when the opening of navigation will be the earliest that one can get to the northern capital.

* * *

Mr. J. Y. Griffin, who had just arrived in Vancouver the day his big pork packing house at Winnipeg was burned, was called east on that account, without being able to complete the business he came here for. He stated before leaving that the damage was not so great as at first reported.

* * *

The assertion is made in legislative circles at Victoria that Mr. F. W. Morse, of the Grand Trunk Pacific, while here secured the charter of the Pacific Northern & Omineca Railway, to build from Kitimaat to Hazelton on the Skeena River. This line has a Government grant of land, and it is said that Mr. Morse stated, before leaving, that his company would go ahead with construction of the line at once.

Hon. Raymond Prefontaine, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has signified to the authorities of the Westminster Exhibition Association that he approves of the scheme to have an exhibit to show the salmon-breeding process carried out at the salmon hatcheries. The exhibit, which will be a miniature hatchery, will have pools in which will be shown every stage of salmon life from the ova to the full-grown fish.

* * *

W. J. Pendray & Sons, soap and paint manufacturers at Victoria are contemplating the location of their industries at Vancouver. The firm is heavily capitalized, and recently sold their site to the C.P.R. in connection with the improvements the latter company is making for the erection of its million-dollar hotel at Victoria. As the City of Victoria would offer no inducements to hold the soap and paint works in that city, now that they are seeking a new site, the company is looking to the mainland for a location.

TRADE CONDITIONS IN NOVA SCOTIA.

Halifax, April 3, 1905.

THE state of the wholesale grocery market for the past week is reported as fair, and about the average of what is expected for this season of the year. Considerable goods are going out and the country districts which were cut off by the railroad blockade are now again pretty well stocked up. It has been found, however, that, except in actually necessary lines, there has been quite a shortage in trade for all of February and the first half of March. Payments are about as last reported, but it is anticipated that a change for the better will gradually come about. The retail trade is reported good, though some lines, such as eggs, butter, parsnips, carrots and beets for family use, are difficult to obtain.

Oats are scarce and are now quoted at 54 to 55c. At many points oats had to be used for feed on account of the hay shortage, and this has tended to a higher price. P.E.I. vessels are now opening up stocks held all Winter, and others will be arriving with what surplus remains on the Island. Seed oats are particularly scarce, and many farmers in outlying districts are unable to procure the same. Last week the Local Legislature passed a bill authorizing the county councils to borrow money to loan the farmers for the purpose of buying seed. This scarcity of money among the farmers is accounted for by the shortage of hay crops.

This being the Lenten season, there is a great deal of fish used and the markets are fairly well supplied by coast fishermen. Fresh cod, halibut, lake trout and herring are abundant, as well as lobsters. Frozen salmon is still used. fresh-caught salmon and mackerel are freah-caught salmon and mackerel are expected.

* * *

The molasses situation is still firm, with a late advance of one cent, reported in the Barbadoes market. During the last month prices have advanced here 3c. and Barbadoes is quoted on a par with Porto Rico. The firmness in Barbadoes will reduce the quantity used here of that grade, especially if Porto Rico can be secured. One cargo of the latter arrived here a week ago and others are on the way.

Process of Shredding Wheat.

IN answer to numerous inquiries from the trade as to "How and why wheat is shredded?" The Grocer is in receipt of the following authoritative information from the "Home of shredded wheat" at Niagara Falls, N.Y.:

"Some idea of the cleanliness and wholesomeness of 'shredded wheat' may be gained from the fact that the wheat passes through twenty-two cleaning and dusting machines before it is steam-cooked ready for shredding. • Each of these machines has a particular work to do. One of them, called a 'stoner,' removes all the little stones that get mixed up with the wheat. It is of most ingenious mechanism and utilizes the principle of gravity. Another takes out the 'wild oat,' another removes the wild mustard seed, another takes out the cockle, others collect the dust, straw, chess and other foreign substances.

"After cooking, the wheat is spread upon clean white cloths to dry for 16 hours and then run through shredding machines which draw it out into fine porous shreds. These shreds are formed into biscuits and baked.

"And why do they cook and 'shred' the wheat? Of course there's a reason for it. The wheat is cooked so as to make the starch of which the white flour is largely composed, soluble and easy to digest. The 'shreds' also contain all the rich nutriment in the outer coats of the wheat kernel—which are not found in white flour. These 'shreds' are not only light and porous, readily absorbing the saliva and gastric juices of the stomach, but present a vast surface to the action of the digestive fluids."

Meeting of Keewatin Flour Mills.

THE Keewatin Flour Mills Co., Limited, held the first general meeting of the shareholders on Wednesday, Mar. 29, in Ottawa. A full report of the progress made by the directors in securing a valuable water-power at Keewatin, and preparation of plans, management, etc., was submitted and adopted. The plans are designed for a mill having a daily capacity of 5,000 bbls. The machinery for 3,000 bbls. will be first adopted, and the remaining machinery can be subsequently added without interfering with the running of the mill. The plans are prepared for the Allis-Chalmers Co., one of the largest firms in the United States engaged in designing and erecting mills. The mill will be designed according to the most modern and up-to-date ideas. An elevator at the mill, having a capacity of 500,000 bushels, will also be erected, and smaller elevators secured or erected at favorable situations throughout the West.

No Drawback on Mixed Flour.

The U. S. Treasury Department has decided that the provisions of the drawback law are not broad enough to permit drawbacks on foreign wheat brought into the United States to be exported with domestic wheat. This will operate against American millers wishing to mix Canadian with domestic wheat in order to fulfil the requirements of special brands of flour for the export trade.

Tobaccos, Cigars, and Smokers' Accessories

A DEPARTMENT FOR RETAIL MERCHANTS.

Your Tobacco Department.

THE advice which has been offered time and again in these columns, on the subject of keeping the tobacco stock attractive, will bear endless repetition. Money is lost every week that the fixtures, cigars and tobaccos are not kept clean, neat and presentable. Dust on the showcases or dirty glass, or ruffled boxes, all give the impression that the stock has not been handled much; in other words, that it is old. It will not take more than a few minutes every day to straighten up the boxes, polish the glass cases and make the whole department look as if it were the busiest in the store.

A good display can be made of the smokers' accessories. Pipes and tobacco pouches, if properly handled, will add noticeably to the profits of the department. They are easy to handle and are not perishable. Moreover, if properly shown, they will help the sale of the regular goods. Everything which improves a department and makes it more attractive to the eye, should be seized on by the grocer. They work a profit both ways. Not only do they sell themselves, but they help to sell everything else in their line.

Above all, keep the tobaccos clean and orderly. The smoker becomes in time an epicure and he will insist on having his smoking materials put up properly. The dealer cannot afford to take any liberties with his customers in this respect.

Canadian Tobacco.

Of the fourteen million pounds of tobacco consumed annually in Canada no less than five million pounds is made from Canadian-grown leaf. The production is rapidly increasing. While the quality of the Canadian leaf is of the best, the methods of curing are defective, and lectures on the subject are now being delivered to the farmers by the Government agents, who were previously sent to Wisconsin to study the methods in vogue in that tobacco-growing State. The Government is rendering valuable assistance to the industry in other directions. A number of experiments have been undertaken at the Central Experiment Farm, and it is proposed to establish experimental stations in the tobacco-growing districts.

An Improved Tobacco Pouch.

A Californian has invented a rather novel tobacco pouch, which is provided with a measuring device which will measure out a quantity of tobacco necessary to fill a pipe or make a cigarette. The measuring device consists of a cylinder formed at the upper end of the pouch. This cylinder is covered at the top by a lid, which is kept closed against the pressure of a well-actuated hinge by means of a spring latch. A sliding plate is provided within the pouch to close the lower end of the cylinder. This plate may be operated by a thumb piece, projecting through the upper wall of the pouch. In use the plate is moved clear of the cylinder and the pouch inverted to fill with tobacco. Then the plate is moved to closed position and the lid released, causing the measured amount of tobacco to flow out into the pipe. The measured chamber thus prevents waste. The pouch is particularly useful to smokers who make their own cigarettes. When adapted for that purpose the cylinder is made of a size to measure just the quantity of tobacco necessary for a single cigarette.

The Best Cigar Box.

"The best cigar box is made of Spanish cedar," said a tobacconist to a reporter yesterday. "All our imported cigars come in Spanish cedar boxes. Look here."

He opened a box of beautiful, costly cigars, and the odor diffused through the They are made from Spanish Cedar and have pleasant Odor.

Letters to Tom, the Grocer.—No. III.

HAMILTON, April 7, 1905

Dear Tom:

Are you looking after your collections sharply? Don't be "easy" in this thing. Keep your accounts clean. Get money in the bank. You'll need it there, not in your books, if you would take advantage of the markets in lots of lines.

This is sound advice. The man who pays up is always a better customer than the man who owes you and doesn't pay.

We are pleased to know you are finding our T. & B. Smoking Tobacco going so well. Remember it has gone well for a generation or two.

Yours truly,

shop was indescribably pleasant, an odor half of tobacco, half, as it seemed, of spices.

"That spicy smell—do you notice it?" said the dealer. "Well, that is the smell of the Spanish cedar. It communicates itself to the cigars, and so delicate and subtle is it, that it actually improves their flavor.

"If we put up our goods in chestnut or walnut or pine boxes, the flavor of the wood, impregnating the tobacco, would ruin the cigars entirely. Hence, moderately good cigars are put up in a box that is quite odorless, and the best cigars are put up in this aromatic and costly box of Spanish cedar."

Tobacco Notes.

J. A. Blais, tobacconist, Lauson, has assigned; A. Lemioux is provisional guardian.

The stock of S. Brown, tobacconist, Montreal, has been slightly damaged by smoke and water; insured.

P. Y. Henderson, tobacconist, Wiarton, has assigned to W. H. B. Spotton; meeting of creditors held Mar. 31.

Miller & Lockwell, cigar manufacturers, Quebec, have opened a branch in the Northwest to enable them to handle their business more readily.

Mr. Solomon Hyman, the well-known tobacconist, of Montreal, died in that city last week. Mr. Hyman had a remarkably clear knowledge of the tobacco business. His annual trips to Cuba kept him in close touch with the sources of the industry, and his opinion on anything pertaining to the island has long been accepted as authoritative. A large number of clients will miss the familiar face when they drop into the old haunt to smoke their after-dinner cigar.

FINANCE

THE past year was unprofitable for fire insurance companies doing business in Canada. Practically all of them showed an absolute loss for the year's work, and in many cases the loss was double the total amount received on premiums. One of the most conservative companies in accepting risks, paid out in fire losses $227.42 for every hundred dollars received. The number whose losses ran from 110 per cent. to 140 per cent. of their receipts from premiums, comprises practically all the companies doing a big business here. The figures are given, too, without including the running expenses of the companies, which would average thirty per cent. of the premiums. In this reckoning, account has to be taken of the extraordinary fire losses in Toronto last year. But we have the statement of a general agent of one of the big companies in Montreal, that the losses in Montreal average up with those for the rest of Canada.

If these conditions continue it will be a bad outlook for men who carry heavy insurance. The withdrawal of the foreign companies from Canada would be a rather drastic means of supporting home industry. It would simply mean that these companies could not do a profitable business here at anything like the rates they now charge. If they cannot, it is certain that local companies can not either. The result would be an inevitable raising of rates.

Much depends on the report which the present year will show. If 1905 presents as disastrous a record as 1904, a stiffening of rates will be inevitable. Insurance companies cannot and will not dissipate their profits from other countries in paying deficits here.

There are only two logical outcomes of such a state of affairs. There is either an increase in rates or improving of risks. There can be no doubt as to which horn of the dilemma should be seized. Definite steps must be taken to lessen the risks. In up-to-date factories automatic sprinklers are now being installed. The more general these become the quicker will the rates come down. The cost of these will soon be made up by the difference in the premiums that will follow their general adoption.

The Manufacturers' Association is doing a good work in establishing a department of insurance, with an expert at its head. What is required more than anything else at the present time is a systematic investigation of the conditions obtaining in the insurance world. Undoubtedly risks can be improved if a united effort is made. The Manufacturers' Association is in a peculiarly strong position to carry on a general campaign in this direction.

The present has been a remarkably good year in wall papers. The retail dealers have bought strongly, and the season promises well for them. The artistic designs whieh have been brought out for the present year's business have helped the sales greatly. The wall paper department is one whieh might be cultivated by retailers much more than it is. Extract from Montreal Star "30 years ago":

"A special general meeting of the shareholders of the Edwardsburg Starch Company was held on Monday last at the office, St. Peter St., Mr. Walter Shanley presiding. It was resolved to increase the capital to $250,000, as business prospects are considered excellent.

The late Mr. Shanley was the president of the above company. He was a member of the House of Commons for many years, representing South Grenville. He was recognized as one of the greatest civil engineers on this continent. His great achievement, Hoosac Mountain tunnel, Massachusetts, U.S., is a monument to his engineering skill. He died in the nineties."

Edwardsburg Starch Co.'s products are to-day, as they were in 1875, Canada's leading Starches and Syrups.

GROCERS, ATTENTION!

What is your most valuable asset? Is it not your list of customers? What is most necessary to insure the success of your business? Is it not public confidence? By using THE TOLEDO SCALE which INVITES every CUSTOMER TO SEE THAT YOU GIVE THEM JUST WHAT THEY ASK FOR, you gain PUBLIC CONFIDENCE, thereby ADDING TO YOUR MOST VALUABLE ASSET, your list of Customers, and the great point is that you accomplish this without having to give down or over weight. A DELIVERY AND CHARGE SYSTEM

Written specially for THE CANADIAN GROCER.

IN order to meet a growing need among grocers and general merchants doing business in the country and in villages and small towns throughout Canada, The Grocer recommends the following simple and yet effective method of conducting an order and delivery route.

At the outset it is taken for granted that the merchant sends his man into the country to take orders and deliver goods; that some of the sales are cash and some credit; and that the clerk makes up his own reports. The grocery trade is agreed to the value of an order and delivery route. The man who is content to hold his old customers without hustling after new business has become a thing of the past. Even the most conservative of city grocers spend no small share of their time hatching schemes for attracting new business their way, and take pride in perfecting their order and delivery systems. The question confronting the trade is one of method, not of policy.

Have a First-Class Man.

In conversation with The Grocer, one of the leading grocers of Ontario remarked the other day that the all-important thing in connection with the establishment of an order and delivery route in rural districts was to send out a first-class man; one who "knew the grocery business from A to Z, and human nature in the bargain." Such a man in making sales to new customers would have to exercise his judgment as to whether they were to be cash or credit, although in any event questionable orders would be discovered in the course of checking when these were handed in at headquarters. Credit, as a rule, suited the farmer better than cash, and other things being equal it suited the grocer to give credit. The solution to this difficulty, however, was easy to the man who thoroughly knew his territory.

As for the accounting side, which is of first importance, certain allowances and exceptions will have to be made according to the nature and extent of the business carried on.

Duplicate Order Book.

The clerk goes out into the country, carrying with him a small pocket order book, which contains order forms in duplicate, numbered consecutively, both copies being retained by the salesman.

Upon his return to the store, the orders are laid up and the different lines single checked on the left-hand side of the order (Figure 1) and, later on when the goods are loaded for delivery, the different lines are double checked as an extra precaution against omissions.

When the goods are delivered to the customer, he receives the original order, which has been priced and extended, and answers the purpose of an invoice, the duplicate order (or invoice) remaining in the salesman's book as a record of the sale.

If a signature for the receipt of the goods is required by the merchant, this would appear on the duplicate order retained by the salesman or delivery agent.

Cash and Charge Sales.

When payment is received in cash for the goods, the duplicate should be marked "Cash Sale"; when credit is given, the duplicate should be marked "Charged."

When the clerk returns from his delivery trip, the amounts of the individual sales, "Cash" or "Charge," as the case may be, are posted to a recapitulation sheet fastened in the end of the book, from which the amounts may be posted direct to the customer's account in the ledger and at the end of the month, or any period desired, the sales may be added and the total posted to the credit of "Sales" or "Merchandise" account (on the supposition that books are kept by double entry). As a check on the cash collected each trip, the total of the "Cash Sale" column on the recapitulation sheet will show the correct amount of cash collected from customers. If it should be found necessary to furnish the customer with a detailed statement of goods at the end of the period when statement is rendered, in case he has misplaced the original left with him when the goods were delivered, a third copy may be made with carbon when writing the order in the first place; these may be filed either alphabetically or according to account number until required, and then attached to the statement. It will be noticed in the recapitulation sheet (Figure 2) that a full record of the transaction appears; the date, ledger folio, name, sale number, and whether "Cash" or "Credit.::

THE ISLANDS OF MADIERA.

MADEIRA is a group of Atlantic islands belonging to Portugal, situated opposite and about 440 miles distant from Sali, Morocco, on the west coast of Africa, and about 600 miles southwest of Lisbon. Madeira, the principal island, and the islets of Porto Santo, Dezerta Grande and Bugio, compose the group, with an area of 505 square miles and a population of 151,-125. The main island (area 313 square miles) consists of a collection of mountains of volcanic origin, the most elevated of which is upward of 600 feet high. Through the west half of the island runs a central ridge about 5,000 feet high, on which is an extensive plain called Paul de Serra. The east portion of the island, though elevated, is less so than the west. From the central mass steep ridges extend to the coast, where they form perpendicular precipices of from 1,000 to 2,000 feet high. These cliffs are indented by a few small bays, where a richly-cultivated valley approaches the water between two precipices, or surrounded by an amphitheatre of rugged hills. These narrow bays are the sites of the village of Madeira. The most striking peculiarity in the mountain scenery of the islands is the jagged outline of the ridges, and the deep, precipitous gorges which cut through the highest mountains almost to their very base. The road round the island is in many places exceedingly picturesque, often leading between lofty cliffs or along the front of precipices overhanging the sea. The Madeiras were known to the Romans under the name of Purpurariae Insulae. They were rediscovered by the Portuguese in 1420, and the name Madeira was given to the principal island because of the magnificent forests of building timber (in Portuguese, madeira) which then covered it. It was settled by the Portuguese in 1431. Funchal, the capital (population in 1900, 37,011), is an Episcopal See. The mean annual temperature of Madeira is 65 degrees, and the climate from its constant and temperate warmth is well known for its favorable effects on those suffering from pulmonary and other complaints, which renders the island a favorite resort for invalids from Britain and elsewhere. Large and well-appointed hotels exist at Funchal.

The staple product of Madeira is wine, the quantity of which in good years, prior to the appearance of the vine disease in 1852, amounted to 2,750,000 gallons. In 1898 there was an export of 587,000 gallons valued at about $890,000.

Sugarcane, and the cactus for the rearing of cochineal, are cultivated, fruit and vegetables are grown, fisheries are actively engaged in, and linen, woolens, leather, straw hats, baskets, soap, sugar, spirits, butter, etc., are manufactured. A total of 1,635 vessels of 4,692,264 tons entered and cleared the island ports in 1899. The chief import is coal, the most important of the others being wheat, rice, Indian corn, and dry goods.

DEATH OF HUGH WILSON

ON April 4 occurred the death of Mr. Hugh Wilson, a leading merchant of Cannington, and one of the best-known throughout the trade of Northern Ontario.

The deceased was born in County Cavan, Ireland, about fifty-seven years ago, and came to Canada in the early seventies. After doing business at Bailiboro and Manilla for a short time, he took up his residence in Cannington, and since then—thirty years ago—has succeeded in building up one of the largest mercantile trades in Central Ontario, also having large lumbering interests in the north, and branch stores. The present growth and prosperity of Cannington is largely due to his energy and enterprise.

SHAREHOLDERS LIABLE

Over four hundred subscribers must pay the balance of their stock to the assignees of the defunct Wiarton Beet Sugar Co., by a judgment delivered April 4 by Chief Justice Meredith against John Jarvis, a Bruce County farmer.

John Jarvis is one of a class of 408 subscribers, and his was a test case. He had subscribed for one share of stock, $25, on which he made a cash payment of 5 per cent. The balance was to be paid out of money withheld from his payments for beets delivered during the next five years. He delivered beets for two years, and then the concern collapsed, with liabilities amounting to several hundred thousands of dollars. Jarvis still owed $14.75. He claimed that he was not actually a shareholder until his agreement had been completed. Official Referee McAndrew held that he became a shareholder in presenti on the signing of the agreement to take the stock. Jarvis appealed from this judgment, but Chief Justice Meredith in quite explicit terms confirms the judgment of the official referee. The beet-growing shares amount to $11,250, of which cash has been paid to the amount of $568.45, and beets $990.14, leaving an unpaid balance of $9,690.41. Of this amount the mortgagee claims $9,310. Wiarton bonused the industry to the amount of $50,000, and many citizens backed paper for more than $20,000. The failure has caused personal loss to a large number of farmers in Grey and Bruce. Being a test case, the costs will be paid out of the company's estate.

Fresh and Cured Fish

Fish as a Summer Diet.

AFTER a good deal of persuasion the grocery trade have been induced to feature fish for the Lenten season, with results that have exceeded their most sanguine expectations. Now that they have gone so far, a number of the more progressive grocers have decided to go a step farther and try a further experiment. Accordingly, they will stock fish for Summer trade, advertising it as a "Summer diet." We are accustomed to hear the objections "too late" when fish are mentioned as a line for the grocer to carry during the Summer season. Now, however, that codfish is put up in non-porous wooden boxes, which render it absolutely odorless, and it is so prepared that it will keep for almost any length of time even in extremely warm weather, this ground of objection is removed. Nothing remains for the grocer to do but to tell his customers of the many excellent qualities of such fish products and of the innumerable appetizing Summer dishes that may be prepared from shredded codfish. He will not forget to mention, also, the value of fish as a nutritious diet in warm weather. For picnic and outing parties the convenient packages fill a long-felt want, while for camping outfits shredded codfish will be in great demand.

A Visitor from Norway

AN interesting visitor in Toronto this week was Mr. Bernhard Sanstol, manager of the foreign department of Chr. Bjelland & Co., the fish packers of Stavanger, Norway. Mr. Sanstol was introduced to The Grocer by Mr. Henderson, of Bickle & Greening, and during a brief conversation supplied some interesting information about his firm.

Sardines are to-day one of their principal products. The industry is only about fifteen years old in Norway, but has grown to large proportions. The Norwegian fish is more delicate than the French fish and is put up by a special process, which renders it very tender and delicious. The French process of cooking the fish in oil cannot be applied there. Last year Bjelland & Co. packed 100 millions of sardines, which, if placed end to end, would extend to a length of 6,213 miles. The market for these Norwegian fish is extending. Ten years ago Mr. Sanstol could only sell a large English firm 500 cases, while to-day the same firm takes 20,000 cases.

Besides sardines, Bjelland & Co. pack millions of tins of anchovies, herrings, etc. They have now in operation six factories and employ over one thousand hands.

This is Mr. Sanstol's first visit to Canada, and he expressed himself as delighted with the country. He was particularly impressed with Niagara Falls, and the country between there and Toronto pleased him immensely. "If I had to live in any other country than Norway, I would certainly prefer Canada," said he.

Mr. Sanstol put in a good word for The Canadian Grocer, remarking that a good deal of business had come to his firm through their advertisement in this paper.

Dog Fish Again.

The destructive dog fish has been sighted off the coast of Nova Scotia. The fishing fleets started out two weeks earlier than usual this year in the hope of being able to elude the pest. It will not be known until their return whether they have been successful or not.

To Reorganize Fisheries

It is reported that the fishing industry at St. Pierre, Miquelon, will shortly be completely reorganized. A few of the leading citizens of the colony, aided by the French Government, have formed a syndicate, capitalized at $1,000,000. It is the intention of this syndicate to purchase the interests of the smaller business firms, and to control eventually the fisheries and other industries of the colony.

One of the new departures projected is the freezing of cod on a large scale. Cold storage plants will be erected for the preservation of the bait fishes, in order to guard against the possibility of such a failure of the cod fishery as occurred last year, which created such pronounced commercial depression that the industries of the colony were on the verge of ruin.

To Alter Salmon Season

One of the questions affecting Fraser River canners at the present time is whether British Columbia should alter the time of her weekly close season at the request of the Fisheries Commissioner of Washington State, who holds that concurrent close periods, such as exist at the present time in the State of Washington and British Columbia, will be of no benefit whatever in protecting the sockeye salmon.

Some canners incline to the opinion that the American canners have no right to expect the Fraser River canners to rearrange the local close period in order to suit their convenience. It is pointed out that the local close season has been established during a period of years and when preparing to legislate for a close season on the Sound the fishing interests there should have informed themselves concerning what they were doing.

On the other hand, there are canners who believe that any disinclination to help the Americans out of the hole they have put themselves in will plainly demonstrate that the Fraser River canners have not the true interests of the sockeye-fishing industry at heart despite their many protestations that such is the case.

Trade Gone to Pieces

Outside of cod, the markets in fish-stuffs throughout the West Indies have all gone to pieces. Direct advices from Cuba, Porto Rico, Hayti, and the British West Indies record a falling market with little prospect of recuperation in the near future. There will likely be a fiasco in hake, which is in heavy over-supply with waning demand. Haddock and pollock are influenced by the same causes. It transpires that scale fish has been held back during the entire season and holders of both Canadian and American hake are now confronted with the proposition of disposing of stock at any figure obtainable.

New Fishing Industry.

The British Pacific Fishing & Canning Co., Victoria, B C., with capitalization of $200,000 are seeking incorporation to enter in the northern halibut fisheries. Provisional directors, L. S. Eaton, W. F. Best, C. Royds, R. H. Ryan & Co., J. Johnstone. The halibut caught will be salted, smoked and marketed in New York and Chicago, where there is a big demand for fresh fish.

New Industry for Sydney.

A new industry is about to be establin halibut fishing in Heeate Strait, B. C., in the shape of a factory for putting up clams. The buildings have already been ereeted and prepared for the machinery, the total estimated cost being $50,000, and the capacity 100 cases per day. The industry will be known as the Saanich Canning Co.

Fish Gossip.

The Crescent Oyster Co. has applied for a lease of four oyster beds on the Turpentine River, B.C.

Owing to scarcity of bait in Halifax a shipment of 300 barrels of frozen herring was imported from Boston last week.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature of Newfoundland to increase the stringency of the Bait Act against American fishermen.

The Dominion Government has decided to cancel the exclusive privileges for fishing in Lake Nepigon granted to the Canada Fish Co. in 1902.

A movement is on foot among fishery interests in the States bordering on the Great Lakes to co-operate with Canada in securing uniform laws relative to fishing in those waters.

A generous resident of the Labrador Coast has put up a huge placard inviting New England fishermen (excluded from the Bay of Islands according to the new Bond treaty) to pursue their bait fishing off the Coast of Labrador unmolested.

MAY COME TO CANADA.

The Colgate Co., New York, manufacturers of soaps, perfumes, etc., are talking of establishing a Canadian branch factory at Brantford. On account of the anti-dumping clause the Colgate Co. have experienced considerable difficulty getting their goods into the Canadian market and the consumption has fallen off.

A movement is on foot to start a beet sugar factory at St. Alban's, N.B.

DAIRY PRODUCE AND PROVISIONS

and Cold Storage News.

Canadian Bacon Situation.

DURING the present week receipts of hogs to the packers have been lighter than usual, in sympathy with extraordinarily heavy arrivals a week ago. Local trade is steady and buying prices have reached the top level. In the opinion of the trade no further advance need be expected for some time. Speaking generally, the price of hogs continues unchanged from last week, viz., $6.25 to $6.50.

Foreign markets continue steady, this week's quotations being unchanged, viz., 48 to 53 shillings. Slaughtering in Denmark for the week averages about the same as last and there are no special indications for the future.

Object to Pedlars.

IT has been felt for some time by Toronto wholesale provisioners that steps ought to be taken to prohibit pedlars from buying produce in the country and selling to city retailers in competition with the wholesale provision trade. These pedlars pay no taxes, are at no expense for rental, etc., while at the same time the ratepayers of Toronto have contributed largely to the building of an expensive market expecting that such trading would be done there. As it is at present, however, the provision people have no way of getting at such pedlars who ply their trade unmolested.

On Wednesday, April 12, F. G. Morley, secretary, accompanied by representatives of the produce section of the Toronto Board of Trade, waited upon the Mayor of Toronto to ascertain the city's position in regard to licensing such pedlars. The mayor's answer was to read the Municipal Law, according to which the city has no power to interfere with pedlars from the country who, with farmers, are exempt from the ordinary license fee paid by pedlars. It will be interesting to watch developments as the produce section of the Board of trade is a live organization, and the members are very much in earnest over what they consider to be an injustice to the wholesale provision trade.

Mammoth Butter Combine.

The American Butter Refining Co. was recently incorporated in the State of New Jersey with a capital stock of $17,000,000. This did not seem particularly significant until a notice was sent out a few days ago to all renovated butter manufacturers throughout the country warning them that all persons using the Campbell patent process of refining butter must account to the American Butter Refining Co., making a settlement of profits recoverable by reason of infringement of the patent.

This means that the millions back of the incorporation will be used to make war on Armour and Swift, and all the big concerns which are placing renovated butter on the market.

It means to the public that renovated butter is taking the place of butter—real country butter—in the United States and that millions of pounds of the other kind are being consumed, whether the consumer realizes it or not.

Renovated butter must be branded as such and show the Government stamp. This stamp, however, is not put on the butter but on the tub or box in which it is shipped. Unless the housewife examines the tub or is a good judge she cannot tell which she is buying.

One familiar with the business thus explained:

"It costs less to prepare renovated butter than it did to put oleomargarine on the market. The man who made 'oleo' had to pay 10c. a pound for coloring the stuff to look like butter."

Water in Butter.

The British Government has reintroduced the Butter Bill, which fixes 16 per cent. as the legal amount of water to be allowed in butter. If the bill becomes law the present low percentage of moisture in colonial butter will gradually increase until it closely approaches the 16 per cent., for it would be more than human to expect the buttermakers from the colonies to wilfully lose 34 shillings per cwt. by sending it to market with only 10 or 11 per cent. moisture, when he can legally send it with 14 or 15 per cent. without at all damaging the butter."

Davies Co. Opening in Montreal.

The Davies Co., who recently acquired a number of retail provision stores in Montreal, as well as a site for a large packing house in Point St. Charles, opened the first of their system of Montreal stores on April 8. This store is situated at the corner of St. Lawrence and Guilbault streets, and has been fitted up with a most tempting stock of poultry, all kinds of fresh meats, etc., and fancy and staple groceries.

The Davies Co., which has its headquarters at Toronto, owns and operates a system of 44 branch retail stores throughout Ontario. These stores are already established in the following centres, and will be extended to others: Oshawa, Kingston, Brantford, Belleville, Brockville, London, St. Catharines, Collingwood, Galt, Woodstock, St. Thomas, and Montreal. Besides these it has a system of stores which supply Toronto and suburbs.

Dairy and Provision News.

A pork packing factory will shortly be started at Melfort, Saskatchewan.

What will be the first cheese factory in British Columbia will shortly be established at Langley.

The first Territorial Fat Stock Show held in Regina last week, under the auspices of the Northwest Department of Agriculture, has proved so successful that it will in future be an annual occurrence.

The Sherbrooke Dairy Co., Sherbrooke, have obtained a charter.

J. A. Wilson, of the Ingersoll Packing Co., has bought the Gavin Park meat and provision business, Market lane, London. Mr. Wilson will continue to act as the representative of the Ingersoll Packing Co. in London.

According to J. A. Ruddick, dairy commissioner, Ottawa, the practice of covering cheese with paraffine wax, although still objected to in England, is spreading, and can be made general in this country in a year or two. The advantage to be gained is the prevention of shrinkage and thereby keeping the cheese moist and tasty.

PROVISION AND DAIRY MARKETS.

Toronto.

PROVISIONS—Trade in provisions quiet to fair during the week. The price of hogs remains at last week's level, namely, $6.25 to $6.50. No car lots of dressed hogs are arriving on the local provision market and very few street lots. Lard tierces are ¼c. higher in price. Fresh meats in general, and particularly beef, have taken a jump as usual at this season of the year. As a matter of fact, the prices quoted below are lower than they were a year ago at this time. Our quotations are as follows:

Long clear bacon, per lb	$0 09	$0 09½
Smoked breakfast bacon, per lb	0 13	0 13½

CHEESE—A very firm cheese market is reported throughout the trade. The local demand continues good and the export market very firm at from 56 to 59 shillings. Some dealers are inclined to quote prices ½c. higher than those given below. We quote the following:

	Per lb.
Cheese, large	0 11½
" twins	0 12

BUTTER—The butter market continues in an abnormal state owing to scarcity of supplies. Notwithstanding the fact that the creameries have begun to make, there is comparatively little butter arriving on the local market and dealers in the country say that the same thing is true there. With the continued warm weather it is expected that the farmers will soon be turning in dairy butter more plentiful; both creamery prints and solids are slightly easier than last week. We quote the following prices:

	Per lb.
Creamery prints	0 25	0 27
" solids, fresh	0 24	0 25
Dairy prints	0 23	0 24
" large rolls	0 21	0 22

Montreal.

PROVISIONS.—Owing to the large supply of live hogs at present on hand and arriving, prices have receded. There is a limited demand for dressed stock, and trade is quiet. Fresh abattoir killed, $9 to $9.25. It is said that packers secured live hogs at under $6.75, though that figure is about ruling price. The demand for cured meats of all kinds is limited. We quote:

Canadian short cut mess pork	$18 00	$19 00
American short cut clear	18 50	19 50
American fat back	18 50	19 50

EGGS.—Market is steady at the declined prices of last week. Receipts are good, and in consequence the prevailing price is in the neighborhood of 14½c. The grocery trade stock is bringing 15c as a rule. Prices in the west have not lowered to the extent anticipated. We quote:

Selected Fall fresh	0 14½	0 15
Montreal limed	0 12	0 13
Strictly fresh	0 15	0 17

BUTTER.—Market steady. Owing to held stocks being exhausted, fresh creamery is in good demand from all quarters. Receipts are not as heavy as was expected, and though prices are easier than a few weeks ago, firmness is the characteristic tone of the market. Choice stocks are bringing 21c., though in some quarters this is being shaded.

Finest creamery	0 24	0 26
Fine	0 23	0 25
Medium	0 22	0 23
Fine western dairy	0 22	0 23
Fair to good western	0 20	0 22
Undergrades	0 21	0 22

CHEESE.—There are no new features to note. Market continues quiet. Spot stocks are light, prices ranging for same from 12 to 12½c. The market generally is uninteresting, and little business is doing for export account.

St. John.

PROVISIONS.—In pork, prices are higher; there is, however, but a fair business. Domestic mess, of which quite a quantity is used here, is decidedly firmer. Pure lard is rather higher, and as there has been but a slight advance in refined there is for this an improved demand. Smoked meats are very firm at full figures. Fresh beef is slightly higher. Some little lamb has been seen, but there is really no business yet, and price is very high. Fresh mutton has a fair demand. Frozen stock is very dull. Veal remains unchanged, and pork is rather higher. We quote:

Mess pork, per bbl	$16 00	$18 00
Clear pork "	16 00	17 00
Plate beef "	13 00	14 00

" " pails "	0 09¾	0 10
Refined lard, tubs	0 08	0 08

BUTTER. — Prices keep quite high. There is a rather better supply. There is prompt sale for best stock. We quote:

Creamery butter	0 26	0 30
Best dairy butter	0 22	0 24
Good dairy tubs	0 18	0 20

EGGS.—Supply continues to improve. Prices are rather lower and still falling. Cheap eggs are not expected. We quote:

CHEESE.—Market dull; prices rather higher. We quote:

started in response to the high price. The sensational reports in the daily press in Winnipeg relative to a butter famine are discredited by the local commission and wholesale houses. A local house assured The Grocer that the supply is almost equal to the demand. Owing to high prices at home there is little or no export trade, and the demands of the Canadian market will soon be supplied. We quote the following wholesale prices to the retail trade :

PROVISIONS.—The provision market is now in good condition as compared with a month ago. Considerable beef is coming in, but the quality is not up to the requirements, and much of our best table use is in small supply, and 27 to tario. Pork is plentiful and of good quality. Our farmers, however, have not yet learned the art of feeding to make a fair quantity of lean meat rather than fat, and in this respect Ontario and western product is preferred. A few Spring lambs have come in, and the supply will be more plentiful by Easter.

BUTTER.—Prices in the dairy market are at present quite uncertain. Much native butter is coming in, and is offered at less than Montreal prices. There is, however, not enough coming in to fully supply the demand, and western is still imported. Creamery butter for table use is in small supply, and 27 to 28c. is asked. This is high, as the usual retail price in former years has been about 26 to 28c. The fact is, that the putting up of butter for the West Indies has become so profitable that a large part of the Nova Scotia product never reaches the local market, and western butter and western prices will have to be depended on. There are two firms in the city engaged largely in this business, one of which (a company concern) has large factories in the Annapolis Valley, and in Colchester County.

OTHER PROVISIONS. — The situation in eggs is improving. Larger quantities are now coming in, and prices have declined, but are not yet normal. Jobbers prices are 20 to 22c. Fresh eggs retailed at the Saturday market for 25c. Potatoes from P. E. I. vessels, now opened up, are selling ex-vessel at 32 to 35c. Oats are quoted at 53 to 55c. Turnips are 10c a bushel. Parsnips and carrots, which usually bring $1.25, are now scarce, and worth $2 Hay remains scarce, and there is very little in stock here, and prices remain high. Considerable Quebec hay is coming forward.

We wish to thank our many friends for their kind sympathy on the death of our late father, J. A. Mathewson. Owing to his objection to the continuing of anyone's initials in a business after their death, we, William Black Mathewson, Samuel James Mathewson and James Adams Mathewson, his sons and partners for many years in the wholesale grocery business, have registered as the continuing firm under the style of "Mathewson's Sons," with ample capital, and owning outright the historic premises 200, 202, 204 and 206 McGill Street, Montreal.

We solicit from our friends a continuance of the trade so generously placed there with the Mathewsons since 1834, and hope to merit it. The traditions of the firm will be adhered to. We will not handle tobacco, liquor or adulterated goods, but in every other respect will compete on modern lines.
